W. C. T. U. NOTES

An article by Ethel Hubler, editor of the "National Voice" of Los Angeles, appears in the January issue of "Our Message," the state paper of the W. C. T. U.

Many Dry Victories Show Trend Toward Prohibition

Prohibition is coming back. The wets say it is. The dries say it is. But strange as it seems, the dries are not as confident of the return of prohibition as the wets seem to be.

The outcome of the wet and dry elections last fall is just a hint of what's coming. Here is a boiled-down list of recent dry victories:

In New York state, 23 towns voted dry.

In Illinois, at least 4 townships voted dry.

In the city of Chicago, eight precincts voted out liquor.

In Alabama, three counties voted dry by larger majorities than in previous elections. Since March 1937, six other counties have voted-dry in this state.

In Ohio, more than a score of townships and precincts voted dry.

In New Hampshire, in a statewide election many precincts voted by large majorities to retain their dry status and at least seven wet townships voted out liquor.

In Maine, at a statewide election held some weeks earlier, dries won in 254 cities, and towns out of 510.

THE WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The Winchester Garden Club will be entertained by Mrs. Arthur M. Jackson, 212 Main street, on Wednesday, Jan. 11. Following a dessert luncheon at 1:30, the program will consist of a tour of the Magnolia and Middleton gardens conducted and illustrated by Mrs. Richard W. Wyman.

Mothers and Dads! You'll love "Bab!" Junior-Senior Class Play, Jan. 14, High School Auditorium, 50c and 75c.

PREACHING MISSION

The First Baptist Church and the Second Congregational Church are uniting in co-operation with the New England Evangelistic Association to hold a Preaching Mission in Winchester. Two Sunday evening services, two mid-week services and two youth services have been scheduled.

The first service will be held this Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the Second Congregational Church Washington street Kenwin road. President Everett C. Herick, D.D., of Andover Newton Theological School will be the guest preacher. Dr. Herick is well known among the church people of all denominations in Winchester. As president of one of our largest theological schools he is in very close touch with the contemporary religious outlook and always brings a spiritually profound message to his congregations.

Wednesday evening at 7:45 the service will be held in the First Baptist Church with Carlton N. Jones, pastor of the Second Congregational Church, preaching. Sunday evening, Jan. 15 at 8 the service will be held in the First Baptist Church with President Nathan R. Wood, D.D., of Gordon College of Theology and Missions as guest preacher. Wednesday evening, Jan. 18 the mid-week service will be held in the Second Congregational Church with Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton, pastor of the First Baptist Church, preaching. On Sunday, Jan. 22 at 7 p. m. the High School group of the Baptist Church will be hosts to the High School Group of the Congregational Church and Mr. William F. Edge will be the speaker. The Kenwin Club of the Second Congregational Church will be the hosts of the older young people at a meeting Sunday evening, Jan. 29.

The public is cordially invited to these Preaching Mission services where every effort will be made to make the experience one of inspiring force toward spiritual dedication.

BETHANY NOTES

The annual meeting of the Bethany Society was held at the Second Congregational Church on Tuesday, Jan. 3, following the monthly public luncheon.

Five reports from each department were read and accepted amid much applause for the progress and spirit indicated in the work.

The retiring officers were presented with valuable gifts in appreciation of their efforts.

The new officers for 1939 were elected as follows:

SNAPPY RALLY TO START COMMUNITY FUND DRIVE

The Greater Boston Community Fund Drive activity in Winchester will start with a big rally at the high school on Friday, Jan. 13 at 8 p. m. A short, snappy, interesting as well as entertaining program is planned. The purpose of the rally is to give all Winchester residents an opportunity to become acquainted with important influence the agency members of the Community Fund have on the life of the Metropolitan Boston area. The Federation does the things no social agency or single group can do alone. It represents all in bringing comfort, health and happiness into the lives of the less fortunate men, women and children of Greater Boston.

The program at the rally will be enlightening for all those interested in the betterment of social conditions for the less fortunate part of our population. Everybody is welcome. The big staff of workers will assemble at the rally to learn of the specific activities of some of the agencies. Each worker will bring friends or relatives interested in the development of the great work the Community Fund represents. The program has been arranged to give all the people of Winchester an insight into the problem which confronts all charitable institutions every year.

Stuart C. Rand, chairman of the entire drive, will be present to tell of the significance of the drive to all. Ripley L. Dana, vice president of the Federation to which all the social and medical service agencies belong, will speak on the work of the Federation. The evening will be completed by the showing of this year's Community Fund motion picture, an outstanding piece of entertainment as well as being highly instructive. Music and several skits will be supplied by units from various social service agencies.

Frederick B. Craven, the Winchester chairman, will conduct the meeting.

Specific attention is called to the fact that there will be no solicitations made at this rally which is purely informative and entertaining in its purpose.

Prior to the big rally at the high school workers will be enabled to participate in one of the justly famous "Come and See" Tours which the Community Fund Headquarters conducts at this time every year. A very great exception has been made for those coming from Winchester in that the tour will start and finish in Winchester. The buses will leave in front of the Congregational Church on Wednesday, Jan. 11 at 9:30 a. m. and return before 12 noon. Everybody is welcome to go on the tour which visits hospitals, social agencies, and welfare centers of Boston. Nothing is more convincing than such a trip. No better source of information can be had than the contact with the actual social and medical service agencies which such a tour affords. Reservations for participation can be made through Mrs. William C. Cuck, tel. Win. 1706.

WEEK-END AUTO ACCIDENTS

The first of three accidents reported in the city during the holiday week-end took place shortly before 9 o'clock Saturday night when Alfred M. Lynch of 841 Woburn street, Wilmington, told the authorities that the Ford touring car he was driving south on Main street was struck in the rear, while in a line of traffic in front of the Luckenbach Motor Sales Co., by a Ford coupe driven by Forest E. Knight of 52 Hemingway street, who was also headed south. The rear of the Dodge was damaged and Joseph R. Lynch of 84 Woburn street, Noel Hovey of 41 Brentwood avenue, Clarence Burpee of 23 Brentwood avenue and Irving Wham of Woburn street, all of Wilmington, who were riding with Alfred Lynch, complained of being shaken up.

Sunday morning at 4:40 a Hupmobile sedan, being driven south on Forest street by Mrs. Florence MacNair of 22 Eliot street, Cambridge, while making the turn opposite the Hinds estate, skidded and struck a telephone pole, damaging the pole and disabling the car. No one was injured. The damaged machine was pushed into a nearby driveway and later removed by a Cambridge tow car.

A Ford sedan, driven by William O. Reed of 3 Sheffield west slightly damaged a tree at the junction of Everett avenue and Sheffield west at 8:30 Monday morning when it skidded on the icy street at that point. The car also struck a mailbox which however was not harmed and no damage to Reed's car was reported.

MASONIC OPEN HOUSE

The 19th annual New Year's get-together and open house of Winchester's Masonic bodies attracted 250 Masons to the Masonic Apartments on Monday, Jan. 2 from 11 to 2 o'clock.

Rev. George Hale Reed, chaplain of William Parkman Lodge, proposed the toast of the Grand Master of Masons in Massachusetts, Most Worshipful Joseph E. Perry of Belmont. W. Allan Wilde, Master of William Parkman Lodge, introduced the grand officers present. A musical entertainment was given by professional entertainers and light refreshments were served.

The committee in charge of arrangements, representing William Parkman and Mystic Valley Lodges and Winchester Royal Arch Chapter, was headed by Leroy M. Jordan, William Parkman's junior steward.

Home-Training the Child

WORLD'S LARGEST ARTIFICIAL LAKE STILL GROWING

Water has been pouring into Lake Mead, world's largest man-made lake, for almost four years, but it isn't full yet. The huge reservoir began to form when Boulder Dam shut its main outlet gates on February 1, 1935 and checked the Colorado River near Boulder City, Nevada.

At present Lake Mead could flood the State of Connecticut 10 feet deep, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. From the dam, backwater extends to the Grand Canyon more than 100 miles away. Never wider than 8 miles, the lake is deeper than Lake Erie.

Source of Potential Power and Pleasure

When Lake Mead is full, it will hold twelve times as much water as the Aswan Reservoir on the Nile in Egypt, nearest rival in size at present. Its eventual shoreline would reach from Washington, D. C. to N. Y. C. and back, or from Cleveland to St. Louis. Maximum depth at the dam will be 582 feet. The world's record dive in a diving suit would have to be bettered by some 82 feet in order for a diver to touch bottom there.

Silting will involve merely a reduction in dead storage of water. Less than one-tenth of the maximum reservoir capacity, say engineers who have studied the problem, will be lost by silting in the first 50 years.

Most of the reservoir's storage capacity will be held for irrigation and hydroelectric power. Water will be used for irrigation after it has passed through the power turbines. About 1,900,000 acres of irrigable land lie below the dam in the United States. Tunnels will conduct flows to the power plant that will generate 1,855,000 horsepower—more than any other hydro-electric plant has ever developed. Flood control, municipal water supplies, and improved navigation on the Colorado River are additional results.

Lake Mead is also an all-year-round recreational center in a region of multi-colored mountains and dark canyons. Blue waters (contrasting with the muddy brown Colorado River above the lake) invite swimming, sailing, and motorboating. Large-mouth bass, catfish, and blue gill perch keep anglers busy. Bathing may toll on a broad beach at Hemenway Wash, not far above Boulder Dam. Sightseeing airplanes fly daily over the whole lake region as well as above Zinn and Bryce Canyons, about 150 miles to the northeast, and Grand Canyon National Park, a hundred miles upstream. Regularly scheduled motorboat trips from Boulder Dam provide a water-level introduction to Grand Canyon.

Named for Reclamation Commissioner
Although more popular in winter than in summer, which is hot and dry, Lake Mead always affords an interesting stopping-off place for travelers. It is within a day's drive of Southern California, and Phoenix, Salt Lake City, Reno and other southwestern centers of population also lie within a convenient radius. The lake is named for the late D. Elwood Mead, Commissioner of Reclamation during the period of Boulder Dam's construction.

With the rising of Lake Mead, water has found its way into many hidden, side canyons. Now boats can explore regions once virtually inaccessible. Cliff dwellings and caves, previously unknown, have revealed evidences of prehistoric life.

Some cliff dwellings 60 miles from Boulder Dam are high enough above Lake Mead to escape inundation, and yet not too high for exploration. There traces of ground sloths and bones of prehistoric man have been found. Is other caves scientists have discovered a desiccated infant and the jaw of a dog-sized camel with traces of skin, hair, tongue, and lips. Not far from the lake a camel's skeleton was uncovered, and elsewhere bones believed to belong to the Saber-Toothed Tiger were found. Still unidentified are numerous bones of rat-sized mammals.

Lost City, Nevada, deserted more than a thousand years ago, has been partially flooded by Lake Mead. Probably about 800 A. D. this community was an active center of Indian life.

A museum at Overton Nevada, houses everything that could be saved from nearby Lost City, while a similar establishment at Boulder City grows richer with archeological finds from newly explored caves and cliff dwellings. National Park representatives at Boulder City and guides explain the treasures to visitors.

Melting mountain snows flood the Colorado River in spring. With summer the flow drops to little more than that of a creek. But the earlier floods do not pass Boulder Dam. They are caught and stored. Later, determined amounts are released, supplying water-users downstream during drier months.

Because of these periodic floods, Lake Mead grows by fits and starts. From March to July it rises rapidly, but usually decreases between August and February. Oddly enough, the record high water mark of 529.9 feet was reached last September 23. This was due to a late run-off from mountain snows.

The variable character of the Colorado makes it difficult to estimate just when Lake Mead will be completely filled. Last February authorities gave it three more years. When full the lake will weigh about 42 billion tons—greatest burden ever placed in a small area by man's labors.

SINGLE TAX PERSISTENCE

It is almost 60 years since Henry George wrote "Progress and Poverty" and 32 years since he ran for mayor of New York—not the greater city as we know it now—and would have won but for a coalition of Republicans and Democrats. He was not the inventor of the single tax principle, but did more than any living man to disseminate both here and abroad that idea that land alone should be taxed and society should collect the "economic rent" created by the community.

Never regarded as sound by "orthodox" economists, that idea has, nevertheless, persisted and is even now enjoying an increased popularity. The Henry George School of Social Science, for example, has purchased a $50,000 property in New York, which is now occupied for school purposes. Classes under its auspices meet in many sections of the country, and they are composed for the most part of persons of maturity, experienced in business and professional life. Regardless of the merits, or lack of them, in the theories propounded, the methods employed have forthright merit.

"We just follow the old Socratic way of teaching. We don't ask anybody to accept anything they don't wish to; we don't make them swallow anything they don't like, and we don't mind arguments. No holds are ever barred in our class rooms." More than 21,000 people have enrolled to study this inquiry into the causes of our economic ills and the suggested solution expounded by Henry George so many years ago. This is concrete evidence of the widespread and growing interest on the part of citizens to start doing something about the serious situation confronting the business world.

A branch class of the Henry George School has completed a course of lectures here in Winchester on Tuesday evenings. It included ten free lectures and is to be repeated beginning January 17. Particularly favorable comments have been made regarding the intensely interesting talks and discussions ensuing at these meetings. The second series of ten talks will be held at the American Legion Building, next to the Public Library. The first meeting will be on Tuesday evening, Jan. 17, at 7:45. The public, both men and women, are cordially invited to attend.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Troop 9

Jacqueline Barnes, Scribe.

Another troop which did splendid Christmas work, making stockings to be filled with candy, pom-poms, made from gumdrops and a visit to the hospital on the 22nd to sing carols and trim the tree.

Troop 3

High School juniors and seniors under the guidance of Miss Anita Wilson are taking a course in Interior Decorating and are now studying "Period Furniture."

The Girl Scout Publicity

Committees recommend a recent two reel technical film, "The Declaration of Independence" as a worthy contribution of the cinema art to modern understanding of history—a vivid bringing to life of a factual document. It is particularly timely just now, since a new biography of Benjamin Franklin has been recently published and his birthday comes on Jan. 17.

During the Girl Scout Book Week in Albany, N. Y., the council arranged to have everyone who had books to give away, put them out with their milk bottles at night, to be collected by milkmen and turned over to the Girl Scouts. A good suggestion.

Do our Girl Scouts know they can take all unused and broken toys to our firemen, to be repaired during the year and distributed at Christmas time?

We are now equipped to stamp billboards and fountain pens with names or initials in either gold or silver leaf. The Winchester Star, 3 Church street, phone Win. 0029.

NEW YEAR'S DANCE

On the evening of Dec. 31 a group of Winchester young people held a New Year's dance. The party was held in Medford at the plant of the Solvent Products Company. A great deal of preparation was made in making the upper floor attractive for the occasion.

A four piece colored orchestra furnished the dance music and refreshments were served shortly after midnight.

The patronesses were Mrs. C. R. LaRose and Mrs. Percy Walcott, both of West Medford. Bruce and Lynette LaRose of 3 Euclid avenue acted as host and hostess.

Among those attending were: Misses June Hutchins, Helen Purdy, Martha Little, Betty Dickson, Mary Dickson, Alice Tabb, Mary Louise Collier, Barbara Moulton, Ann Rivinus, Barbara Hayden, Ruth Colson, Joan Kerrigan, Elsie Burnard, Bunty Collins, Jane Wilson, Ruth Richardson, Barbara Hughes, Barbara Haines and Gene Howard.

PICOPOLIS—TOFURI

Miss Rose Tofuri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustine Tofuri of Spruce street, and Peter Picopolis, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Picopolis of Conn street, Woburn, were married Sunday afternoon, Jan. 1, at 3 o'clock in St. Mary's Rectory by Rev. Fr. Joseph E. McGoldrick.

Miss Tofuri was attended by Mrs. Mary Vespucci of this town, sister of the bridegroom, and Mr. Picopolis had for his best man James Kerogose of Woburn.

The bride wore a gown of white satin, made with a train, and a high collar of tulle. Her flowers were bride's roses and baby's breath. Mrs. Vespucci wore a gown of royal blue crepe trimmed with cardinal, and a cardinal hat and slippers. Her flowers were American beauty roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. Picopolis and his bride are spending their honeymoon in New York City and Montreal. Upon their return they will live at 97 Irving street.

The bride is an honor graduate of St. Mary's High School. Mr. Picopolis attended the Woburn schools and is employed by Beggs & Cobb, leather manufacturers.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

At the regular meeting, Monday, Jan. 9, there will be an unusually interesting combination music and dramatics program presented by Ann Newdick, dramatic reader; Thomas Wilson Hoag, concert xylophonist; and Jean Wilson, pianist. Sounds like a grand affair.

On Jan. 23, at the regular meeting, Mrs. Earl Andrews, chairman of the Preservation of Antiques Committee will present a lecture on Quilts and Quilt Lore—a theme which strikes close to the heart of every New England home maker.

Be sure to save Tuesday, the 31st, for an all day Fine Arts and Preservation of Antiques Conference, at which the Woburn Women's Club will join the Fortnightly as Hostesses. There is a grand program arranged, every single item worthy of at least four stars. More and complete details later. But mark that day on your calendar this minute—or live to regret it!

WINCHESTER WOVN LEAGUE OPENER

Johnson Starred in 27—15 Defeat of Stoneham

Captain "Charlie" Johnson paced his Winchester High School basketball team to a 27—15 win over Stoneham High Wednesday afternoon in the local gymnasium, getting the local quintet away to a good start in the defense of its co-championship of the Middlesex County league.

Blonde "Charlie" who kept his hand in at the Woburn Y during the vacation period, accounted for 18 of his team's 27 points, sinking seven goals and four shots from free tries. Captain "Johnnie" Mooradian from his right guard post was Stoneham's high scorer with seven points, three of which were foul baskets.

It speaks well for the local defense that but a single basket was made by a Stoneham forward during the entire game.

In the other Middlesex games Reading won from Concord and Belmont edged Lexington by a single basket. Following is the local summary:

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

Washington-Highland Chapter

A board meeting was held Tuesday, Jan. 3 at the home of the president, Mrs. Chester D. Kenney.

Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee called special attention to the meeting to be held Thursday evening, Jan. 12 at 7:45 in the high school auditorium. Dr. Linwood Chase, headmaster of the Newton County Day School, also a writer on the subject of "father-child" relationship, will speak to all fathers in Winchester. Supper will be served at 6:30 in the high school cafeteria. The lecture is free.

The meeting scheduled for Jan. 10, has been postponed and will be held Jan. 17. Don't miss this meeting. A fine treat is in store.

A tea for the second grade mothers will be held Jan. 10 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Muehling, 123 Highland avenue.

Most delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and the meeting adjourned at 9:30.

FLY TO MIAMI FOR AIR RACES

Miss Gertrude Meserve, Winchester's aviator aviatrix and daughter of Mrs. Anna Meserve of Cutting street, took off Monday from Norwood for Miami, Fla., where she will attend the air races there today, tomorrow and Sunday as the representative of the E. W. Wiggins Airways School.

Miss Meserve, who has her pilot's license and is training for a commercial license was sent by her school to observe the races. She flew to Miami in a "side-by-side" cub plane, accompanied by Chief Pilot Kent of the Norwood Airport, who was her co-pilot. They flew by way of Richmond, Va. and Savannah, Ga. and had to buck a severe head wind all the way to the first named, where time as a consequence being relatively slow.

Ho! for the Winton's.

The only President who never balanced a budget.

It isn't so much that the former Secretary of Commerce used that Government boat for parties in emulation of former Republican Secretaries; but why charge up wine, cigars, flowers, etc., to paint?

The President's message, we read, was conciliatory. He has been in office six years, has reiterated his intention of continuing his reforms and made other speeches of a similar nature. Why all the fuss?

After spending a half day filling in, as we thought, a quarterly Social Security payment form, we found it was only just a report. The quarterly payment form came in the next day. Not content with robbing us, they have to rub it in.

Marjorie Mills and husband Bob Burns gave not a few of us laudatory publicity New Years Day. We are glad to note that Whiting's Milk and Wilson's egg-nog mix well together.

We never before realized what an important part we play in the affairs of the celebrated New Deal. No less than ten important tax papers have greeted our well-linked and facile pen over the peace on earth and good will toward men holiday.

We can think of few forms of mischief more despicable than tampering with the life-saving equipment maintained by the Park Department on the shores of the town ponds. Yet we have Superintendent McGowan's word for the statement that every few days the ladders are taken from their holders and the safety lines cut from the ladders and removed entirely by people, young or old, who have strange ideas of a good time, to say the least. Life-saving equipment surely should be inviolate. It is maintained for instant use in emergencies which can mean life or death to some one, perhaps a relative or close friend of the misguided individual who thought it a joke to take the ladder or cut away its life-line. The Police should show absolute consideration to anyone apprehended tampering with life-saving equipment. The safety of the public is a vital matter and anyone endangering it must be taught the error of his way.

SOCRATES SAYS-

IS THERE NEED OF THE NEW DEAL?

It has been said that America must have a New Deal, that the youth of the United States must be given a chance.

The achievements of Mr. James Roosevelt seem to prove that the youth still has the opportunity for success and wealth in this great, free country. In a few short years James Roosevelt, young, fresh from Groton and Harvard, made good in the highly competitive insurance field, and recently was made vice-president of one of the greatest motion picture concerns in the world.

The success and progress of this young man clearly shows the opportunities of the youth of America. To any who still condemn our form of government we can only suggest the re-reading of Horatio Alger, for it still can happen in America.

The Only Real Wealth

Dr. Isador Lubin, Commissioner of Statistics of the Labor Department, stated that our rate of population growth has been diminishing, that our rate of producing goods has been diminishing, and that wages and employment have diminished.

What he may be saying is that as our population has not been increasing, our volume of national income has thus been decreasing.

Perhaps it would have been common sense if we had not so limited immigration. This country is the greatest nation on earth, with the highest standard of living of any nation in the history of the world, by the millions of sturdy immigrants who entered America and made it what it is.

It is said by some that with the unemployment in America it would be foolish to let more in. Can this possibly be so? We have lost our foreign markets every immigrant must have lodging, clothing, food, etc., which means production, and in turn, more employment.

Why not get our foreign markets back through immigration and save ocean transportation at the same time? Who are to shut our doors on others after we get in? Let the Economists, the Labor Department, the Unions—and any others who admit lower population causes lower production, lower wages, unemployment—forget monopoly and re-open our doors to the greatest wealth on earth—human beings—God's child.

open our doors to the greatest wealth on earth—human beings—God's children.

Monopolies

The real danger—in the United States—will prove to be "Big Government," not "Big Business."

LEST WE FORGET

To the Editor of the Star:

The people are slowly learning what the wise knew long ago, that the present Administration is incompetent, unwise and singularly incapable of using unlimited means and a choice of assistants, six years on a job is long enough to test any man's ability and fitness for the task allotted him. President Roosevelt has been tested for more than six years. He became governor of New York in 1929, served his full term and left the state worse than he found it, increasing its debt and leaving a deficit of a hundred million dollars for his successor to pay. Add to his governor's term six years in the presidency and we find his administration always in the red, deficit piled on deficit, the country worse than he found it six years ago and this in time of peace.

The old sayings, birds of a feather flock together and a man is judged by the company he keeps are of significant value and especially applicable to a group of New Deal politicians that campaigned in last fall's election. Son James and Postmaster Farley exhorted the voters of Massachusetts to elect James M. Curley governor. The President beseeched the people of Minnesota to re-elect Governor Benson, a Curley type politician. He asked for the re-election of Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan, who refused to support his income court in its effort to protect the people and maintain law and order; but instead tolerated the illegal seizure of private property by a communist mob of hoodlum sit-down strikers. The President congratulated Governor Murphy for doing it.

Any blow at the Supreme Court, state or federal, seems to meet his approval and excite the slaver to high reward—a place on the United States Supreme Court or attorney generalship. He tried to wreck the Supreme Court himself and failing, appointed to the bench an ex-member of the Ku Klux Klan. The election to the United States Senate of Governor Earle of Pennsylvania, a New Deal politician of the same stripe, was also won. One of the most heartening signs of the times is the fact that all these friends of the President were defeated. Contravise the President went into the home States of a number of honorable Democrats and the result was that he was defeated. Contravise the President went into the home States of a number of honorable Democrats and the result was that he was defeated. Contravise the President went into the home States of a number of honorable Democrats and the result was that he was defeated.

Now let us pose these conenial souls. In the center President Roosevelt, on his right ex-Governor Curley of Massachusetts, on the left Governor Benson of Minnesota, by Murphy of Michigan, Earle of Pennsylvania and Farley of New York in line on one side or the other. Harry Hopkins, Irving Berlin, Perkins fit into this group and a few others are eligible. You may have this picture to hang on the wall for memory's sake. There are, however, good Democrats who cannot be placed there. Garner, Senators Byrd, George, Tydings and Carter Glass are birds of a different feather and would be out of place in such company.

After his candid defeat in the election of the fall elections the President is quoted in the press as saying "Our liberal policy will go on." The truth is he has had no policy, for six years he has just passed around in play-boxes with one already discredited experiment after another. If he had been consistently liberal, reactionary or conservative the people would have known where he stood and could have rejected him accordingly. In another sense he has been liberal, liberal in spending other people's money wastefully; in tolerance of illegal seizure of private property by mob labor and in the strike; in "Admiration" holding an all time record for the number of times; liberal in appointment of small men to large positions; in creating multifarious, incompetent bureaus; in the lack of wisdom in the most direct and too poor to buy it; in supporting labor at the expense of industry, in creating jobs for the incompetent; in piling deficit on deficit; in paying farmers a loan of off-fallow ground compelling consumers to buy beef, wheat, butter and eggs in foreign lands; in increasing taxes and en-slaving the poor who have to pay them; liberal in methods that have held this country behind every European nation in industrial recovery when naturally it should have been first; in abuse of industry and con-temeration of the rich while his self is the promoter of a child of an "economic royalist" liberal in promises unfulfilled.

In a speech at St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 21, 1932, Mr. Roosevelt said, "It is the greatest nation on earth, with the highest standard of living of any nation in the history of the world, by the millions of sturdy immigrants who entered America and made it what it is." It is said by some that with the unemployment in America it would be foolish to let more in. Can this possibly be so? We have lost our foreign markets every immigrant must have lodging, clothing, food, etc., which means production, and in turn, more employment.

Why not get our foreign markets back through immigration and save ocean transportation at the same time? Who are to shut our doors on others after we get in? Let the Economists, the Labor Department, the Unions—and any others who admit lower population causes lower production, lower wages, unemployment—forget monopoly and re-open our doors to the greatest wealth on earth—human beings—God's child.

eral spending unparalleled in American history. This is his sole "contribution to business."

In a message to Congress Jan. 4, 1935 he said, "The Federal Government must and shall quit this business of relief." That was three years ago. The government is still wasting millions in mismanaged relief spending.

At Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 29, 1932 he said, "I propose to discuss up and down the country, in all seasons and at all times, the duty of reducing taxes . . . of getting the most public service for every dollar paid in taxes. That I pledge you." Another promise unfulfilled.

Some men must be judged by their deeds, the words of others are as good as their bonds. By their deeds and the character of their chosen associates they may be correctly classified. To judge accurately it is necessary to ignore all organized government propaganda, ghost writings and editorial camouflage, because, as has been shown, the Administration's speech and performance are not related.

The power and menace of organized propaganda is not appreciated by the majority of people. Propaganda Minister Goehlies by broadcast lies and half truths, by control of public speech, schools, press and radio, has made German youth into an army of deluded fanatics and egoists. We have the same thing in a lesser degree in this country. The art of detecting deceitful propaganda and ghost writing should be taught here the truth may be known and democracy and free government preserved.

The Administration is to blame for the fact that no foundation has been laid for prosperity in this country. As it is organized and functions today it would wreck any country no matter how great and powerful. Business men who, by honest toil and thrift, increase profits are disheartened when government mismanagement takes them away by increased taxes. They willingly carry their full share of the burden of wise and righteous government but they are discouraged by exploitation by novitiates in administrative affairs of the brain trust type—men of knowledge but no wisdom. They are not inspired by a profitless prosperity.

Taxes will continue to mount, deficits will increase and there will be no real prosperity in this country until somebody with plain, common sense who knows how takes charge of our national administrative affairs. Somebody who knows that real prosperity was never made by spending, made only by honest toil, creative industry and thrift. You cannot draw from the piggy bank forever without refilling at the bung-hole. The President is in the act of draining the cash dry, leaving it for the next administration to fill just as he did in New York. Yes, Mr. Roosevelt has been tried for years in Mystic Lake, let him try his measure. Having been given everything to do with by a generous people, more than David and Solomon and our present dictators put together, he has made a mess of it. Things by mismanagement unprecedented in our political history. These facts must be borne in mind if conditions are to be improved. "Lord God of Hosts be with us yet lest we forget, lest we forget."

REGARDING MYSTIC LAKE

Dec. 31, 1938

To the Editor of the Star:
Perhaps you'd like to publish this letter which I received from the Metropolitan Commission regarding the lack of water in Mystic Lake. As no doubt other people have noticed this condition and may be wondering about the why of it.

At the rate the men seem to be working on the dam of Mystic Lake, where this project is being developed, we ought to have some high water in the lakes again about 1942!

Sincerely yours,
Ernest Dudley Chase

Dear Mr. Chase:
This is to acknowledge yours of Dec. 21 in regard to the low waters in the upper reaches of Mystic Lake.

The waters have been lowered at the request of the U. S. Government who are installing a flow gate in the Aberjona River, and in order to assist them in the project it was necessary to have the waters lowered.

As soon as their work is completed and the contractor is not ready to

It is, however, expected that the contractor will be in a position to commence work at an early date and may require the waters to be maintained at a low level while this work is in progress.

I trust that the butting owners will bear with us while this work is in progress as we believe that it will be such a vast improvement after it is completed that the admirers of the beautiful Mystic Lake will be repaid for the inconvenience at the time the contractor is at work.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The Art Study Group will hold its January meeting on Friday the 13th at 10 a. m. at the Addison Gallery in Andover. There will be an exhibition and talk with graphic examples on "Methods and Processes of Painting." Members of the group are urged to be on time in order to be able to view the permanent exhibit, also, which alone are well worth the trip.

The History Study Group will meet on Wednesday, Jan. 11 at 9:45 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Walter Wentworth, 68 Pinehurst road, Belmont. The subject of discussion will be, "Colonial Brazil and the Beginnings of Independence in other Spanish American Countries." If the weather is stormy it may be necessary to change the place of meeting, members will please call Mrs. Lyman Smith, Win. 0802 for information.

The final meeting of the Music Study Group is to be held on Friday, Jan. 6 at the home of Mrs. Daniel P. Morse, Jr., 316 Highland avenue. Mr. Grosvenor Cooper of Harvard is to discuss "The Structure of Symphony" using Haydn's G Major No. 13 Symphony as an example. The Group, under the chairmanship of Mrs. John Chipman has had a very successful first season, and the members are enthusiastic about going into the broader fields next year. Plans for organization and a program for 1939 will be discussed.

MRS. SUSAN MARY GRAVES

Funeral services for Mrs. Susan Mary Graves, sister of Mrs. Annie Frances Grant of High street, were held Wednesday afternoon in the Kelly & Hawes Chapel with Rev. Henry Francis Smith of the West Mead Congregational Church, officiating. Interment was in Edson Cemetery, Lowell.

Mrs. Graves, who died Monday evening, Jan. 2, was the widow of Charles B. Graves and formerly for some years a resident of West Medford. She was born in Lowell June 22, 1854, the daughter of Benjamin L. and Mary (Roche) Cook. Besides Mrs. Grant she leaves a niece, Mrs. Harry Locke, and a nephew, Kenneth Grant, both of this town.

THE MOUNTAINEERS

Quite a little trip "The Mountaineers" took over the New Year's weekend, a party of 14 motoring up to Rumney, N. H., for winter sports and a general good time.

About three hours were consumed in the drive to Rumney and quite another three hours in shovelling, picking and blasting out the road into the camp. Weather was reported as very cold, in fact VERY cold; four blankets plus a complete outfit of heavy clothing being described as about right for partial sleeping comfort. News of the winter sports is scattered and fragmentary, like the skiers, but it is understood that several world records were equalled and one bettered in the field of high and lofty tumbling. "Moose" Capone won the salom, and "Sleepy" Farrell the prize for the best dressed mountaineer. "Shelly" Hamilton was cook, assisted by Betty Cannon of Woburn, and complaints were voiced about the eggs which were ordered sunny side up and didn't arrive in that condition. The "Dere" claims the quest for the cold near the Abbott residence on Arlington road. Two minutes later there was another alarm for burning grass on Cemetery land off Middlesex street.

A chimney fire at the home of Mr. Alfred S. Higgins, 68 Church street, got out the apparatus at 7:23 Saturday evening and at 8:33 Box 411 came in for a fire in a gasoline snow-plov owned by James Callen of Canal street and at the Texaco Filling Station on upper Main street.

Sunday's first alarm was at 3:07 a. m. from Box 231 for an oil burner fire at the residence of Mr. James S. Murray, 97 M. V. Parkway. At 8:20 Sunday morning Box 16 came in for an overheated boiler at the residence of Mrs. Annie O'Melia 18 Lorin avenue.

Monday at 3:36 p. m. there was a gas fire on Wood street at the residence of Mr. William DeCamp. At 4:06 there was another grass fire on the estate of Mr. E. A. Tutin and while putting this blaze out, the firemen discovered a third grass fire at the rear of Russell's on Cambridge street.

DANCE AT RECREATION CENTER

The third in a series of dancing parties at the Winchester Recreation Center will be held on Friday evening, Jan. 6, with music by Bill Partridge's orchestra. The Recreation Committee wishes to thank all those whose generous donations have made this and the previous dances possible.

BUSY WEEK-END FOR FIREMEN

Last week-end was no holiday for the members of the Fire Department who were kept pretty much on the jump answering alarms that commenced at 11:35 last Friday morning when a grass fire was reported on Allen road near the residence of Mr. J. J. Keefe. Two minutes after this alarm another came in for a brush fire in Wildwood Cemetery at the rear of Chesterford road east.

Friday afternoon at 2:08 there was a second brush fire in the Cemetery at the same spot as the morning blaze. At 3:21 there was a brush fire on the property of Mr. E. A. Tutin on Wildwood street.

At 8:25 Friday night the Department was called to investigate the cause of a fire which started under one of the bufile machines at Boggs & Cobb's plant on Swanton street. The Police Department reported a grass fire near Leonard Field at 10:15 p. m. Saturday's first alarm came in at 3:50 in the afternoon for a grass fire near the Abbott residence on Arlington road. Two minutes later there was another alarm for burning grass on Cemetery land off Middlesex street.

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

The Ski Dance for Friday, Jan. 20 is rapidly taking shape. Filene's of Boston is taking over the small hall for an exhibition of skiing, skating and general winter sports clothing and equipment. Filene's Fashion Show with their own models and several chosen from Winchester will model the skiing, after skiing, skating and evening clothes which is a decided attraction to all who have seen or heard about these shows in the past. This is the first time that such a show, especially the featuring of winter sports apparel, has ever been shown in Winchester.

Complete arrangements have been made for Ken Bartlett's Dartmouth Carnival Orchestra and an amplifying system will assure that this excellent music may be enjoyed in all parts of the hall.

New Year's week-end saw many members of the club in the mountains for the excellent skiing there. Harry and Hazel Bean with Will Grush spent a most enjoyable week-end at Marcus Fowler's and Ted Disrael's new ski spot in Brainerd, Vt. They report perfect skiing facilities with a fine old ski tow and many trails from the easiest to the most difficult as well as beautiful open slopes for the newest skier and the youngest.

Dick and Janet Harlow spent New Year's Day on Cannon Mountain. Dave Schenieder was at Jackson. The Twombly brothers and their father Harold Twombly found skiing in the Monadnock region. Many others were away but the above are all who have been definitely heard from.

The Worcester Ski Club of Worcester, Mass., is host to the Massachusetts Junior and Sub-junior Downhill Slalom Championship this year. The race will be run on Mt. Wachusett, 15 miles west of Fitchburg in Priceton, Mass., on Sunday, Jan. 22 at 1 p. m. This race is sponsored by the U. S. Eastern Amateur Ski Association and is limited to qualified junior members of this association and its affiliated clubs of which the Winchester Ski Club is one.

The Junior race is open to members between the ages of 15 and 18 years and the Sub-junior race to members between the ages of 12 and 15. The age on January 1st is the deciding age. Junior members interested in entering this race should contact Gray Twombly immediately at 84 Walnut street, or telephone Winchester 0484.

It is the hope of some of the members of the club that Winchester will have some snow itself soon and that downhill and slalom races between members may be run.

A week-end is being arranged for Jan. 28 and 29 and the club would be interested in hearing from lodges and hotels as to rates and facilities for these dates. If the turn-out is anything like last year, about 40 or 50 will go.

Don't forget the dance on Friday night, Jan. 20 and wear your ski clothes.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, January 8.
The Lesson Text is: "The bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and is the bread of life" (John 6:32).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "The preparations of the heart in man, and the answer of the tongue, is from the Lord. As the ways of man are clean in his own eyes, but the Lord weigheth the spirits" (Proverbs 16:1, 2).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus once said: 'I thank Thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that Thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes; even so, Father, for so it seemed good in Thy sight. As it is, the spirit of the Christ, which taketh away the ceremonies and doctrines of men, is not accepted until the hearts of men are made ready for it' (p. 131).

NEW TURKEY, CREATED BY KEMAL ATATURK, MOURNS PRESIDENT'S PASSING

The death of Kemal Ataturk, first and lifetime president of the Turkish Republic which rose in 1923 from the ruins of the Old Ottoman Empire, wiped out one of the world's most dynamic personalities.

To him, Turkey owes its position as a modern power, points out a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. His vigorous driving force, plus a keen psychological sense, has virtually uprooted an Asiatic land sunk in lethargy and fatalism.

Social and Economic Changes. With the exception of Soviet Russia, probably no other nation has made such swift and complete changes in social and economic character. Today, although most of Turkey's 40 million citizens and some 204,000 miles of territory are in Asia, the country as a whole looks toward Europe and America. Votes for women, farm machinery, dynamo, typewriters, and jazz are only a few of the Western innovations. Rails are being pushed across the country. Planes are manufactured at Kayseri. A regular airline runs between Istanbul (former capital at Constantinople) and the new capital of Ankara, that modern miracle town, once known as the home of Angora wool and Angora cats.

Born in Salonika in 1881, Mustafa Kemal, a young man of ambition and determination, rose rapidly in school, entered the army, joined the Vatan (a revolutionary party), and was imprisoned later he served with distinction in the Turkish Army, becoming Military Attache in Sofia, Bulgaria, just before the World War.

After the Armistice, when defeated Turkey was available to almost any bidder, Kemal returned to Constantinople. The occupation of Smyrna in 1919 by the Greeks resulted in his appointment as Commander in Chief of the Turkish forces. The victory for his country in 1922 earned for him the title of "Gazi," or Conqueror. The rule of the Ottomans, dating from the first Sultan, Osman, in the 13th century, was over.

That same year Kemal abolished the Sultanate. On October 28, 1923, Turkey became a republic, with Mustafa Kemal its "George Washington."

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

"DRUMS" AT THE UNIVERSITY

"Just Around the Corner" with Shirley Temple, Charles Farrell, Joan Davis, Bert Lahr, Bill Robinson, Amanda Duff, Franklin Pangborn and Cora Witherspoon as the stars, will open a seven day run at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. The best picture Shirley Temple has ever appeared in. The picture opens with Shirley returning home from boarding school to find her father, Charles Farrell, has lost all his money. He tells her it is Uncle Sam's fault, and if Uncle Sam would help everything would be all right. Shirley assumes that Uncle Sam is the fabulously wealthy Samuel Henshaw, who is "Uncle Sam" to her playmate, Bennie Bartlett. So she conspires with Bert Lahr, Joan Davis and Bill Robinson to put on a big benefit show, with "Uncle Sam" Henshaw, to be the beneficiary. The newspapers get wind of Shirley's show, which is a tremendous success, and what follows provides a thrilling and completely satisfactory climax for everyone concerned.

"Arrest Bulldog Drummond," with a cast of favorites including John Howard, Heather Angel, Reginald Denny, E. E. Cline, and H. B. Warner as the stars, will be the second attraction on the bill starting today. "Arrest Bulldog Drummond" concerns the efforts of Scotland Yard to track a gang of crooks who have come into possession of a death ray. It is by far the most exciting of the series.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"The Citadel," with Robert Donat and Rosiland Russell as the stars, will head the program opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. "The Citadel" is a story of life in the coal mining districts of Wales. Robert Donat is cast as a young physician who goes into the mines fresh from medical school. He meets a school teacher, portrayed in the picture by Rosiland Russell, with whom he falls in love. Their struggle against poverty and his heroic labors in the pits provide a dramatic background for the action.

Blondie, Dagwood and Baby Dumping step onto the screen in "Blondie" the second attraction on the bill starting today. Penny Singleton, vivacious young musical comedy star, will be seen in the title role, with Arthur Lake making a perfect "Dagwood Bumstead," the irrepressible young husband. Baby Dumping is played by four year old Larry Sims, who bears a remarkable resemblance to his mischievous comic strip counterpart. "Blondie" takes the Bumsteads over the well known bumps, both financial and domestic.

In "Five of a Kind," the companion feature, the Quins are revealed as real troupers and entertainers. They sing, dance, and make music in a modern big-town story that whirls in and out of New York's Broadway as two romantic-minded reporters race after the year's biggest television scoop.

LARGEST NON-POLAR ICECAP STRETCHES OVER 235 MILES
IN ALASKA AND YUKON

Discovery of what is believed to be the world's largest ice field and glacier group outside the polar regions has been announced in dispatches from Bradford Washburn, leader of the Harvard University-National Geographic Society Expedition to Alaska.

Heads of the Martin River and Miles Glaciers are also connected to the long icecap reaching from Cape St. Elias, in Alaska, to the Alek River valley, in Yukon, discovered on our flight of Aug. 20, Mr. Washburn wired to the Society's Washington, D. C., headquarters.

More Ice Than All European Glaciers Put Together

On a spectacular flight which circled Mount Logan and Mount St. Elias, second and third highest peaks on the North American continent, the expedition made aerial photographs of an unexplored area of south-eastern Alaska, to be used later in mapping, the report to the Society continues.

This flight over icebound fastness, previously unvisited by man, reveals that the Bering Glacier and the Malaspina Glacier, whose known extent had already won for them the titles of the world's largest non-polar rivers of ice, are merely two overflows from a vast highland ice field spread ing a stretch of Alaska about 235 miles long, equal to the distance from New York City to Washington, D. C.

Explorations of the Harvard University-National Geographic Society Expedition have outlined a coast range of mountains, stretching from the Copper River valley above Cordova, Alaska, to the Alek River valley in Canada's Yukon, which walls in a mighty reservoir of ice. Completely hidden behind the mountain wall, the mammoth octopus of ice has lain unseen and unapproachable, its size being guessed only from the tentacles of glaciers it has clamped around the coastal range, largest of the numerous streams of ice overflowing from this giant ice bowl, cupped high above sea level, are the Bering and Malaspina Glaciers—30 and 50 miles wide, after they have broken through the mountain wall and ground their way down to the sea.

In a single flight of discovery over Alaska's newly revealed ice giant, members of the expedition saw more ice than is known in all the famous glaciers of Europe put together.

Glaciers Link Names of Explorers and Geographers

Most of the newly discovered ice bowl lies athwart and to the west of the Alaska-Canada boundary line, just where it turns due north to the Arctic ocean. In surveying this frontier, famous as one of the longest straight-line borders ever marked, some of the difficulties in running the line along the 141st Meridian were due to the eastward overflow of glaciers from the then unknown ice field. The massive glacier bowl pours its slow and irresistible flood across the border southward, between Mount Logan and Mount St. Elias, into the Seward Glacier, which in turn adds its congealed volume to the great Malaspina.

The great glacier system explains why there is no land communication between the southern "panhandle" of Alaska, containing the capital, and the major portion of the Territory to the north. The land link is "broken" by a glacier barrier of more than 200 miles of perpetual ice.

The Malaspina Glacier is so extensive that it was not recognized as a glacier until 1880; ricks and soil cover the ice around the edges, and forests take root in the ice-borne earth. It is a convoluted stream formed by about a dozen coalescing glaciers, the largest of which is the Seward, named for the Secretary of State who negotiated the purchase of Alaska by the United States. One of the eastern fringes of the newly discovered giant ice field is the Hubbard Glacier, named for Gardiner Greene Hubbard, the first President of the National Geographic Society.

When the new glacier system is mapped, there is little doubt that Alaska will be confirmed as the world's largest stronghold of the ice Age outside the polar regions.

The South Pole is capped by ice covering Antarctica and grinding down from the polar plateau in glaciers which break off at the sea and launch huge icebergs into the southernmost ocean. The North Pole, covered with water, must wear its icecap slightly askew on the nearest terra firma—Greenland.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony
Director of the A & P Kitchen

Eating for health is not a bad idea after the holiday eating for pleasure is over. The best protection against colds is plenty of milk, milk products, eggs, fruits and vegetables plus plenty of rest.

The best values in fruits and vegetables will be found in apples, grapefruit, oranges, tangerines, green beans, leeks, cabbages, salad greens, white and sweet potatoes, spinach and rutabaga turnips.

Meat and poultry prices show little change from last week except that turkeys are higher. Eggs are not yet much more plentiful. Butter continues to be much cheaper than last year.

Here are three dinner menus:

Low Cost Dinner
Beef and Kidney Pie with Vegetables and Mashed Potato Crust
Coke Salad
Bread and Butter
Chocolate Tapioca Cream
Tea or Coffee
Medium Cost Dinner
Baked Ham
Mashed Sweet Potatoes
Spinach with Creamed Onions
Bread and Butter
Apple Pie

READING THEATRE

On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Reading Theatre, there will be one of the outstanding pictures of the year, "Men With Wings." A beautiful technicolor picture that shows aviation from the beginning to the present time. The story is well told and has a valuable history of aviation.

The cast includes Fred MacMurray, Ray Milland, Louise Campbell and Walter Abel. Everyone concerned in its making achieved an unforgettable performance.

The co-feature will be "Ladies in Distress," a delightful comedy, starring Allison Skipworth and Polly Moran.

RADIO STARS IN PERSON AT THE WINCHESTER THEATRE

By special arrangement with the National Broadcasting Company the Winchester Theatre is privileged to present Adrian O'Brien and Alise O'Leary in person Sunday evening only, Jan. 8 in addition to its regular double feature program. Mr. O'Brien and Miss O'Leary will be pleased to meet their many friends at this radio concert.

BOARD OF APPEAL DENIES AP-PEAL OF COUNTY BUILDING
SUPPLY COMPANYAppellant Sought to Build Small Houses in West Side Hill District

In a well written decision, dated Jan. 7, 1939, the Board of Appeals denied the appeal of the County Building Supply Co., Inc., arising from the refusal of Town Building Commissioner Maurice Dinneen to grant to the appellant permits to construct ten houses on building lots located at 69 Highland street, 1, 7 and 11 Emerson road, 8 Squanto road, 96 and 107 Arlington street extension and 11, 15 and 23 Manomet road.

At a hearing held by the Board of Appeal on Dec. 13, about 150 persons were heard, all but representatives of the County Building Supply Company recording themselves in opposition to the granting of permits for the proposed development.

Feeling that the matter was of unusual importance, the Board of Appeal requested the town council to make an investigation of the title to the land in question and restrictions on this land and adjacent land, and to advise the Board on other matters pertinent to the questions involved. Before this investigation was completed, however, the County Building Supply Company filed suit in equity in the Middlesex County Superior Court to compel the Board of Appeal to render a decision. As a result of this action the Board made its decision without having the results of the title search nor the benefit of the town council's advice in other pertinent matters.

The land, on which the County Building Supply Company seeks to build, is highly desirable and situated on the margin of a district already occupied by a number of beautiful estates. It is also near the golf course of the Winchester Country Club which was recorded in opposition to the granting of the proposed building permits. Adjacent to the south is a large area restricted to large lots and houses of a fine type. To the north a development is in progress in which the lots are large and the dwellings of artistic merit. Almost immediately adjacent on three sides is a zoning district in which under Zoning By-Law building lots must be not less than 15,000 feet.

The ten houses which the applicant seeks to build are one story dwellings, about 24x32 1/2 feet, containing three rooms and a combined living and dining room. Estimated cost of the houses is $4,200 with a selling price of about $5,000. Opposition to the development is based upon the inferior character of the houses proposed to be built.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH MEN'S CLUB

Annual meeting on Thursday evening, Jan. 19 at 8 p. m.

The Men's Club of the First Congregational Church will hold its annual meeting and the election of officers for the coming year.

The present officers, namely Richard J. Johnson, president; Hazen H. Ayer, treasurer; R. H. B. Smith, secretary; and the directors who have completed one of the most successful years that the club has had.

Following the business meeting Mr. John Ward, treasurer of the City of Medford, will speak on his European travels and show his illustrated pictures in color. His talk is entitled "The Beauty Spots of Vienna, Budapest and Bavaria." Mr. Ward is an old friend of the club and those who have heard him in the past will have seen his pictures, know that a very interesting and colorful evening is in prospect.

At this meeting the new administration will take over the running of the club and it is hoped that the full membership will be in attendance and assist in the election of the new officers.

TO ATTEND CLUBWOMEN'S SES-SION IN WASHINGTON

Mrs. Henry W. Hildroth, president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, and Miss Elvira Hudson, chairman of the Federation's division for the Preservation of Antiques, are Winchester women who are going on to Washington to attend the mid-winter meeting of the board of directors of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to be held in the Nation's Capitol at the Hotel Mayflower from Jan. 17-20. Miss Hudson is directing a prize essay contest which the division of preservation is sponsoring and entries are being received up to March 10. Further information may be secured from Miss Hudson by addressing her at her home, 39 Prospect street.

MISS BLANCHARD ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney C. Blanchard announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Katharine Blanchard, to Paul Herriek Comins, of Boston, at a tea Sunday afternoon at their home on Everett avenue.

Mr. Comins, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert K. Comins of Highland avenue, attended Governor Sumner Academy and the Babson Institute. He is now associated with the Industrial Chemical Company.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

Mrs. Archibald C. Jordan will entertain the Young Republican Business and Professional Women's Club at her home 118 Highland avenue on Tuesday evening, Jan. 17 at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon will be the guest speaker.

STUART C. RAND
General Chairman, Greater Boston's 1939
Community Fund Campaign
TOWNSPEOPLE INVITED TO IM-PORTANT RALLY AT HIGH SCHOOL TONIGHT

Frederick B. Craven, Winchester Chairman of the Greater Boston Community Fund Drive, has arranged a short inspiring rally to enable Winchester townspeople to secure information about the work of the social and medical agencies to be benefited by the drive.

The entertaining program which has been arranged includes selections by the Charleston Boys' Club Harmonica Band, the professionally produced motion picture, "The Open Door," and a unique style show by the Hazel Newton Co-operative Workshop.

RIPLEY L. DANA
General Chairman, 1939 Community Fund Campaign

Three eminent speakers will develop the significant points about the great social importance of the Community Federation. Stuart C. Rand, general chairman of this year's campaign; Ripley L. Dana, general chairman of the 1939 campaign and Sam Hoar, this year's metropolitan chairman will be present to start the campaign in Winchester with the proper enthusiasm. All of these men are celebrated for their widespread activities in helping many welfare problems which face the Greater Boston area.

All volunteer workers will be present at this important rally. They have been urged to spread the word of the rally to all the residents of Winchester that they are cordially invited to be present at the high school auditorium this evening at 8 o'clock.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Welsh of Valden announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Louise G. Welsh, to Dana J. Kelly, son of Mrs. Daniel J. Kelly and the late Mr. Kelly, of 45 Myrtle avenue at a tea held in the Copley-Plaza on Sunday. Miss Marguerite Murray of New York City and Mrs. Henry Kiley of Cambridge were the pourers.

Miss Welsh is a graduate of the Girls Catholic High School in Malden and Sargent College of Boston University. She is vice president of the Sargent Boston Club.

OBSERVED 10TH ANNIVERSARY

Dr. and Mrs. Clarke H. Staples entertained at their home on McCall road last Saturday afternoon and evening in honor of their tenth wedding anniversary. About 100 guests enjoyed their hospitality and extended the host and hostess their congratulations and best wishes for the future. House guests of Dr. and Mrs. Staples were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McBee and Mr. and Mrs. F. Russell Smith.

REPUBLICAN CLUB

The next meeting of the Women's Republican Club will be held Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 1, at Fortnightly Hall. This meeting will open with a dessert at 1:30, after which Mrs. Warren C. Whitman and the Educational Committee will discuss on the subject, "The Eyes of the World." This meeting promises to be an instructive, vigorous and stimulating.

REHEARSALS STARTED FOR
WINTON CLUB CABARET

Once again the residents of the town are co-operating with members of the Winton Club to help produce the annual Winton Club cabaret which is being given this year on Friday and Saturday evenings, Feb. 3rd and 4th at the Winchester Town Hall. Every year the Winton Club members work very hard, but even this could not accomplish the overwhelming success the cabaret has always enjoyed, without the help of the townspeople, both working in the cast and generously donating to the re-creative program. Of course, the beneficiary of this undertaking is the Winchester Hospital Linen Fund, for it is a well known fact that since 1911, when the club was organized, the Winton Club has supplied every ward and many gifts of money.

"Promptly at Nine," the title of the show this year, is being looked forward to with great interest as Mrs. Charles H. Woolley of Glen road, one of the star performers herself for the past few years, heads the general committee for entertainment. She has planned some enticing and novel numbers which will be coached by a newcomer to Winchester, Mr. Chester Brooks of the John B. Rogers Co., of Fostoria, Ohio; and has engaged Ruby Newman's orchestra, led by the inevitable Sam Fox, to provide the musical setting for the show and dancing afterwards.

Helping Mrs. Woolley on the general committee are Mrs. Frederick B. Craven of Winchester road, Mrs. M. Walker Jones of Ridgely road and Mrs. James O. Murray of Crescent road, and these ladies will be very busy for the next three weeks at the Winchester Country Club managing the rehearsals which started there on Thursday. Over 160 people appeared for tryouts in the morning and evening, among whom the committee has discovered a lot of attractive, new talent. Several of these will be doing numbers again this year, notably Mrs. Harold V. Farnsworth, Mrs. Loring P. Gleason and Mrs. Guy Howe who will appear in an original sketch which promises to give them a good laugh. Perhaps the best news is that Mrs. Fulton Brown will again plan and design the finale. Everyone who has seen Mrs. Brown's scenes in the past will anticipate this year's with great interest.

Scenes and use of brilliant and unusual effects will surpass any other stage-set.

Besides the general committee there is a large group of members working on various jobs that make up the cabaret. Mrs. Thomas M. Righter, Jr., with Mrs. Clarence G. McDavitt, Jr., as sub-chairman, will handle the very important work of the advertising and program. Mrs. Paul P. Elliott heads a large committee which is taking charge of the sale of tickets, and Mrs. M. Walker Jones is planning all the music for the show with Sammy and the orchestra.

Mrs. Harold F. Meyer has the difficult job of transforming the Town Hall into an alluring night-club scene, and Mrs. T. Price Wilson, assisted by Mrs. Loring P. Gleason will have the gigantic task of fitting and completing the hundreds of costumes that will be needed. Other committee heads are: Mrs. Percy Bugbee, refreshments; Mrs. John A. Taybitt, flowers; Mrs. James O. Murray, properties; Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, J. publicity; Mrs. John B. Kenerson, gardenias; and Mrs. Charles C. Clarke, smokes and last but not least, Mrs. Henry K. Spooner, president of the club this year is of course assisting in many ways.

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

The whole town talking about the Ski Dance to be given by the Winchester Ski Club at the Town Hall a week from tonight with Ken Bartlett's Dartmouth Carnival Orchestra, a style show of skating and skiing apparel and an exhibition of ski equipment and clothing. See advertisement on Page 7.

Some of New England's best skiers plan to be there and it is hoped that Strand Mikkelson and his Eastern Jumpers can be present.

The Ski Club is to have its first week-end trip of the season on Jan. 28-29. The second trip is scheduled for February at the beginning of school vacation.

Next week's class in Ski Patrol first aid given Tuesday night by Mr. Han-on, the Red Cross instructor, in the Visiting Nurses' quarters at 8 p. m. will be the last opportunity to enter this intensive course which is offered for first aid patrol. Those interested should get in touch with Duncan Ferguson, Win. 0777-M.

Many juniors are entering the Massachusetts Championship Race for Sunday, Jan. 22 on Mt. Wachusett.

Watch next week's Star for final word on the Ski Dance.

ENSER EXHIBIT AT LIBRARY GALLERY

The Art Association has brought another outstanding exhibition to Winchester in the group of 30 oil paintings by John F. Enser, now on display at the Library Art Gallery.

There is great depth in Mr. Enser's pictures. One gets the first impression that they are restful, subdued in tone, most realistic and generally pleasing. The artist does not need to use striking colors and a broad approach to cover defects in technique. His well drawn pictures will stand the closest scrutiny, both for composition, and for color treatment which to him would seem a means to a balance, rather the goal in itself of your mere colorist.

Mr. Enser is a master of landscape painting, handling with equal facility delicate subjects such as his Spring Landscape, with its suggestion of budding green freshness, October Afternoon with its glory of autumn foliage; and rugged studies like Mt. Monadnock and After the Shower, the latter showing bits of blue between angry grey-black clouds above a sharply outlined upland with a typical bit of New England rocky evergreen studded country land in the foreground.

Of the large studies, Mt. Monadnock is most striking, the rugged quality of the scene being very faithfully portrayed. The suggestion of depth of wind-blown open space is effectively attained and the artist has been very successful in avoiding a sense of flatness in his handling of the mountain, which is cleverly lightened and softened with clouds along the skyline.

There is much charm in October Moonlight, showing a tall, regularly lined house standing among tall trees and shrubbery, with a single light shining from a corner window through the shrubbery under a deep blue sky. The suggestion of brooding calm in this study is finely portrayed.

Among Mr. Enser's small pictures are several charming studies of the quaint rambling time-mellowed buildings and quiet scenes that have made the English countryside famous. "Ostwald afternoon is an intriguing view of a tree lined by-way winding past a small station. The scene and quiet outbuilding under a darkening sky, while Snow's Hill shows sharply peaked roofs and a tall chimney against a rolling upland. Devonshire Farm, a large canvas, with its spread of elm shading a pink walled long outbuilding with tall barn and irregular stone wall in the right background will appeal to all lovers of the rural.

A wholly charming small study is New England Farm with its typical weathered red clump of buildings nestling in a hilly setting. Especially fine are the sky effects achieved in The Meadow and Dartmoor Farm.

There is a world of rugged appeal in the sombre colors and masculine treatment of the Hill Country. Such studies as Rockport Day, New England Village and in New Hampshire show clearly the artist's ability fully to portray the picturesque which is peculiar to this part of the country.

Enser's restraint in the matter of color is shown most strikingly in his painting, The Native Hut, which would hardly meet the approval of those having a flare for the impressionistic. His skill in color and composition is shown in The Red Maple, showing a single flaming tree against an old gray barn and the deep green of other foliage.

Appealing both to the artistic sense and the general station is The Mill, a water with its non-descript group of tumbledown buildings surmounted by a minaret-crowned weathered brown tower, nestling amidst a clump of trees beside a shallow red-grown bit of water.

A sense of clear freshness is apparent in that fine study of trees and deep perspective called Humarock No. 1. The single still life in the show is that of a beautifully painted bouquet of iris in a tall pewter flagon standing beside a low blue-green jar against a light plum-colored backdrop.

The exhibition will remain at the library through January and all are urged to see and enjoy it.

COMMENDED BY TAX COM-MISSIONER

The town report will show that there is outstanding on the books of the tax collector Jan. 1st, 1939, $171,229.29 and on the books of the town collector $6,385.50, a total of $177,614.79 less than a year ago. Collector Nathaniel M. Nichols has received a congratulatory letter from Commissioner Henry F. Long, commending his high percentage of collecting taxes, despite the lowered interest rate.

Mrs. Frederic V. Cary who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Carl L. Eaton of Bacon street, has returned to her home on New York.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Three members were absent from the meeting of Jan. 12. Which goes to prove that it is still possible for the club to assume a good position in the attendance column. And three little makeups would place us beyond reproach.

District Ralph is positive that Warren Hersey has the best long-distance memory of any of our club members. Why? Because Warren called, today, for a report from the committee on investigation of traffic signals in Winchester center. When was this committee appointed? Answer, about two years since. Who is chairman of said committee? One guess only is allowed.

District Governor Abo is calling incisively for a report from this club on club activities. This report consists largely of an outline of the work of the major committees of the club during the current year. A careful investigation leaves a strong impression that the secretary is chairman of all of these committees. Which leads further to the conclusion that the said individual is amazingly efficient in the matter of office, seeking. The question remains: What degree of satisfaction, if any will Governor Abo receive when he sees this report?

The mid-year assembly of this district will convene in Boston at the Hotel Statler on Friday, Jan. 27. Arrangements are in charge of the Rotary Club of Boston. An innovation, for as far as the district is concerned, in the program consists in having business sessions assigned to the afternoon of the 27th, beginning at 2:30 p. m. and adjourning at 5:15 p. m. An essential part is being made to secure the attendance of all members of the major committees of each club. Walter D. Head of Montclair, N. J. who has held important positions in the organization of Rotary International over a long series of years will be the principal speaker on the evening program which will be featured by a grand banquet at the Hotel Statler. The ladies of Rotary will be welcome at this banquet which, as usual, will be a prominent social feature of our Rotary year. Dress will be informal. The club secretary has tickets for the banquet but that without which is so effective in cementing acquaintance and friendship. So let everyone be present next Thursday the 19th to give Allen Kimball the warm welcome which he so thoroughly deserves.

Percentage of attendance Jan. 5, 91.18 per cent.

STATE TAX FIGURES

Winchester's State Tax for 1939 will be boosted considerably over its 1938 level due to the necessity of making up the difference between the Commissioner's March estimate of last year's state income tax in actual tax assessed on cities and towns.

The Commissioner's estimate for the State was $8,000,000 making Winchester's share $18,800 and adding $12,120 to the tax bill. Also required by the Commissioner was an amount of $749,490 underestimated in 1937, of which Winchester's share was $359,912, adding 11 cents to the tax rate. Total for these estimates was $849,490, which Winchester's share was $429,392, adding $1.21 to the local tax rate.

Actually however, the 1938 tax assessed to meet the bills of the outgoing administration on the Benson Hill was $17,000,000, which Winchester's share was $82,450 adding $2.55 to the local tax rate.

This staggering increase in the State tax means that for 1939 the Commissioner will require the inclusion of the under-estimate represented by the difference between the actual and estimated state tax in 1938. This figure is a mere $9,000,000 which Winchester's share is $4,650 boosting the tax rate $1.35.

The estimated 1939 state tax is at least $25,000,000 of which must be added the 1938 underestimate of $9,000,000 giving a total of $34,000,000.

Winchester's share of this amount is $164,900 adding $5.10 to the tax rate exactly $3.79 more than last year.

However, the Highway Fund distribution in 1938 can be used to reduce the 1939 tax rates there will be a saving of $5,000,000 reducing Winchester's share $9,739.30 to $112,160.50 and leaving an excess of $3,490 over 1938.

MISS AVERY LOOKS BACK

In her fifth lecture in the Smith College Club series, on Jan. 4 in the Wyman School Hall, Eunice Harriet Avery made her annual appraisal of the year past. In this remarkable year Miss Avery feels that the United States has matured, that our fibre has toughened morally, financially and economically. We are no longer a world apart but are part of the world. We are surer than ever before of the nature of democracy. We feel that human dignity comes first, then the happiness and freedom of the individual. Democracy is the only system of government that offers this; and religion is the source of democracy.

Scientifically we have achieved new vividness of the news; we have broken all speed records; we have made the best public health record to date; we have seen important advances in industrial research and in pure science and medicine. We have a wide interest in slum houses, shown by over 200 organizations studying it. Living costs went down, shipping and airplane business went up. The year that gave us the Munich situation also gave us Canadian and English trade treaties and new trade connections with Brazil.

The general question of foreign relations came to us with strange results. We are more appreciative of our blessings and less reliant on our geography. Our policy is changing and many of our views have changed. The big point is that the United States is making a place in world affairs. In doing this we must be careful to weigh all possible information so we may choose sanely which part and what method. Statesmanship has become primarily important and must be watched lest it go too far in our country or in any other.

Internally, we have recovered from the days when we thought of Roosevelt as inevitable. We know now we can go on without him. There is no longer wholesale condemnation of him but a more balanced appraisal; and this again shows national maturity. We have the same old problems in taxes, regulations, unemployment and railroads. But with them we have a national determination to get going on a dynamic, constructive program; a hopeful indication for 1939.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

An article on the editorial page of the "Union Signal" dated Dec. 24, 1938, might well be used not only at holiday but in the year. It is headed "Papers Please Copy."

"Leave your obituary at the office, please" is the front page suggestion which greeted readers of the Manchester (N.H.) Daily News Journal on Thanksgiving Day. The plea, which appeared in a number of papers a year ago around the holiday season, reads:

"The editorial staff would greatly appreciate it if all citizens planning to take a few quick moments of fire-water before getting into the car to drive to grandma's or the football game would first stop by the office and leave a few notes on their obituaries. This thoughtfulness will do away with the necessity of our having to chase around hospitals and undertaking establishments Thanksgiving night trying to find out who you were."

Perhaps the insertion of such a notice in all the newspapers preceding the Christmas and New Year holiday season would noticeably lessen the list of casualties at this time of year.

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

An afternoon of home talent will fill the program at the next meeting of the Better Homes Garden Club on Wednesday, Jan. 18, at 2:30 p. m. in the downstairs committee room of the Wyman School Hall.

Frank W. Howard will show colored pictures of the club's fall flower show, of Winchester gardens and of hurricane damage. A round table on "Plant and Garden Successes and Failures in 1938" will be led by Mrs. Morrell Walker Gaines.

WINCHESTER CHAPTER, GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

At the regular meeting held on Tuesday, Jan. 10, the hostesses for the day were Mrs. Michael H. Hintlin, chairman; Mrs. William T. Connell, Mrs. Charles A. Farrar, Mrs. Walter J. Henry.

The beautiful buff puff donated by Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini was drawn and awarded to Mrs. T. N. Farrell.

On Friday morning, Jan. 20, the first of a series of four morning lectures will be held at the home of Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini. Coffee will be served from 10 until 10:45. A musical program arranged by Mrs. Cora H. Hintlin will consist of songs by the well known soprano, Mrs. Arthur Donnellan assisted by Mary Ranton Witham, pianist.

Miss Mary Catherine McDonough will be the speaker for the day. Her subject being "Interesting Personalities I Have Met."

Miss McDonough was Paris correspondent for the New York Times and is now a feature writer for that paper. She also writes special articles for a Boston newspaper as well as for numerous magazines. At present Miss McDonough is giving a series of lectures at University Extension. She numbers among her many friends such well known people as Kathleen Norris, Elizabeth Arden and Helen Rubenstein and the Guild feels privileged in being able to secure her for their first lecture.

Tickets may be secured from Mrs. Charles L. Doherty or may be purchased at Mrs. Ghirardini's home the morning of the lecture.

At the next regular meeting on Jan. 24 the needlepoint footstool donated by Mrs. Michael H. Hintlin and the breakfast set donated by Mrs. James F. Gaffney will be awarded. Chance books should be in by that time.

Miss Maryalice Parker from John H. Pratt Co. will speak on "Interior Decorating" at the Jan. 24 meeting.

FLORENCE CRITTON SEWING MEETING

Members of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Critton League who are interested in sewing are planning to meet Thursday, Jan. 19, at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Walter L. Rice, 236 Mystic Valley Parkway. All members are urged to come, bring a box lunch, and help with the sewing.

MUSICAL

On Sunday afternoon, Jan. 15, at 3:30 o'clock, a selected group of pupils of Minnie Wolk (Mrs. Edward Siegel) prominent concert-pianist and teacher, of Boston and West Medford, will be heard in an informal musicale at the home of Mrs. W. O. Thompson, 25 Swan road, Winchester.

Anne Carolyn Thompson, unusually gifted 12-year-old pianist, will appear on the program, and will play Anitra's Dance from "Peer Gynt" by Grieg, Prelude in C Minor by Chopin, and Valse by Mokrysz. Miss Thompson, at the age of seven, won a gold medal prize for her playing at a competition sponsored, in connection with National Music Week, by Bergen County, N. J. There were about 90 performers in this piano tournament which took place in the high school at Ridgefield, N. J. Since coming to Winchester in 1936, she has been a pupil of Minnie Wolk, and has appeared many times at her Boston recitals. Her musical performances and technical achievements have already aroused much enthusiastic comment both from the public and well-reputed musicians, among them F. Addison Porter, noted teacher and composer.

Among other pupils appearing on the program will be Nancy Knox, Virginia Farrar, June Smith, and Jean Mitchell of West Medford. Lois Knapp of Wellesley, eight-year-old Patricia Morey of Melrose, included also will be performances by advanced students, Catherine Wingate, June Balladins and Cynthia Lucas of Brookline and executor Ethel Cooper-Smith, Boston University College of Music, 1940; and Helen Marette, New England Conservatory, 1940, the latter playing works by Beethoven, Chopin and Schumann. This duo will also be a cello solo by Ellen Priscilla Siegel of West Medford. She will play the Roslin-Helden Fantasia by Fitzenhagen.

WILL ATTEND MEETING

P. A. Randall of the Randall Candy Store and a member of the New England Retail Confectioners Association, composed of leading candy stores in New England, will attend the meeting of the Association to be held at the Fritz-Carlton Hotel, Boston, Tuesday evening, Jan. 17.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans for the promotion of sales and advertising for the ensuing year.

The guest speaker of the evening will be Dr. George Sanford Foster, noted author and physician, who will speak on candy as a health food. He is also a well known philanthropist.

The meeting will be attended by approximately 150 officers and members from all parts of New England.

HERE FOR THE HOLIDAYS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Greco of Sheldahl were in town during the Christmas holidays. Mrs. Greco's son in law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Emmons of Swarthmore, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Garvais, the former "Connie" Greco, of New York City were their guests at New Years and on Sunday gave a tea in Mrs. Gervais' honor.

Have you played Automobile? A new and fascinating game. At the Star Office.

OBSERVED 12TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Merenda entertained a large gathering of relatives and friends Sunday evening at their home on Washington street in honor of the 12th anniversary of their marriage.

Out-of-town guests were present from Medford, Everett, Malden, Somerville and Woburn, including Mayor William E. Kane of Woburn and Chief Michael Kane of the Woburn Fire Department.

The house was attractively decorated, and during the evening refreshments were served. Talented guests and instrumental trio provided an excellent entertainment program with Mayor Kane acting as master of ceremonies. Mr. and Mrs. Merenda were the recipients of many anniversary gifts, together with the congratulations and best wishes of all present.

O. E. S.

The Round About Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Hilda B. Zarse, 8 Felsdale close Thursday, Jan. 19, at 10 o'clock. Basket luncheon.

OUR MODERN AGE

AN ENDLESS JOY

What is it that makes this old world ever new and bright? Is it wealth? Health? Learning? Yes, of course, but each in its own way and in its own good time. Companionship and good fellowship possess that certain indefinable something that provides a unique and satisfying happiness to all who yield to its spell. This happiness is not of a fickle nature. It is ever changeless and as certain as night and day.

FIREMEN PREPARING FOR BALL

Fireman John J. O'Melia has been elected to head the committee in charge of arrangements for the Fireman's Relief Association is staging on Friday evening, Feb. 17, in the Town Hall, for the first time since 1931.

Up to that year the Fireman's Ball was an annual event and one of the highlights of the winter season. The committee in charge of the coming event plan to make it bigger and better than ever before, with a high grade entertainment program and a big time orchestra to play for both the show and for dancing.

Firemen are starting their rounds of ticket selling, and as proceeds from the ball go to swell the relief funds of their association it is expected that the townspeople will be as generous as possible.

WINCHESTER SET BACK LEXINGTON

Winchester High returned to the victory column in Middlesex League basketball competition Tuesday afternoon, defeating Lexington High 24-18 in the local gymnasium. A big third quarter gave the locals their victory, for they were behind at the half, 8-11, after trailing at the opening quarter, 4-6.

Returning for the third quarter Winchester staged a rally that came the Minutemen's lead and put the locals out in front at the start of the final period, 21-16. Both clubs guarded closely in the final quarter, Winchester making three and Lexington two points during that time.

Big Byron Horie led Winchester in scoring with seven points. Buss, Lexington guard, had nine points to lead both clubs, equalling Horie's for baskets and making two more foul shots good than the local center.

Between the halves of the varsity game the Lexington seconds won from the Winchester seconds, 25-12, with Farnham scoring 10 points for the victors. The varsity summary follows:

WINCHESTER GIRLS WON INTER-CLASS TILT FROM LEXINGTON

Winchester High Girls made a clean sweep of its inter-class basketball series with Lexington last Friday afternoon, winning the senior game, 9-8; the Junior game, 33-4; and the sophomore contest, 40-0. It is not often that even an inter-class team can be held scoreless throughout a game, making the local sophomores' feat the more unusual. Following is the senior summary:

PRESIDENT OF BEAVER COLLEGE SPEAKS TO STUDENTS

In the high school auditorium Jan. 9, Dr. James Burton Greenway, president of Beaver College, spoke to the Winchester High School students. This is the second time Winchester High School has been honored by Dr. Greenway's presence, having spoken to the students four years previous to this. He is now on a tour, speaking at various schools. Dr. Greenway is an educator, public speaker, and author besides his various activities as president of Beaver College. He classified himself as a Moonshiner, the oldest and handsomest of 11 boys. He proudly explained he was Irish, born in Tennessee and never saw the inside of a school room until the age of 12.

Dr. Greenway spoke on "Living on Top of the World," getting the idea for his speech from Admiral Byrd who, while talking to Dr. Greenway, continually referred to "When I was living on top of the world."

Dr. Greenway claimed there are three words which help extremely in putting a person "on top of the world." They are: grace, grit and gratitude. He illustrated all of these "e's" in order that the students could understand his topic more readily.

When called back after his speech had been completed, he told the students not to think that there is any person who has never made a mistake sometime during his life.

The students paid the closest attention to Dr. Greenway throughout his entire talk and hope to have the privilege of hearing him again at some later date.

SPEAKER AT LECTURE COURSE

Malcolm Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Watkins of 2 Ridgefield road, was the speaker of the evening in the Boston Public Library lecture course, Thursday, Jan. 5, when he gave an illustrated talk, "Man's Struggle for Light." In his lecture he covered the story of man's attempts to obtain better lighting and traced the development from the most primitive types to those in use today. Mr. Watkins is curator of the Wells Historical Museum in Southbridge, which houses one of the largest collections of lighting devices in the country.

PRESIDENT OF FRESHMAN CLASS

Helen Marie Welch has been honored by her classmates at Lowell State College for the College by being elected as freshman class president. Miss Welch graduated from the Winchester High School last June. She made a fine scholastic record at high school and was prominent in extra-curricular work. At the graduation exercises in June, Miss Welch received a Mothers' Association Scholarship.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Christmas Greetings from President Roosevelt

Continuing a custom of several years, President Roosevelt sent to national headquarters his Christmas greetings for Girl Scouts throughout the nation:

"I am especially glad to send my Christmas greetings to members of the Girl Scouts. And with these greetings go my best wishes for your program during the year 1939. At this greatest time of the year you have many opportunities to express those ideals of love and of helpfulness for which your organization stands and of which the whole world is greatly in need. Good deeds which make for the happiness of others bless both those who receive and those who give."

Franklin D. Roosevelt

The Scout Council held a meeting Jan. 11; the registrar reported 307 Girl Scouts in Winchester, 232 Scouts, 95 Brownies, 12 Captains, 10 Lieutenants, 6 Brown Owls, 5 Tawny Owls.

Mrs. Albert Gale is coming Feb. 14 to Mrs. Harold Farnsworth's. She will be there all day to give instructions in nature to the leaders and council members.

Miss Eva Greig, director of the Day Camp, is coming soon to teach Arts and Crafts to the leaders.

There will be a meeting for Council training, Jan. 18 in Arlington conducted by Miss Lee and Miss Stevens. For further details see next week's Star.

MINOR CALAMITY AT HIGH SCHOOL

A minor calamity occurred at the Winchester High School Jan. 5. The bells would not ring and every time periods were to be changed the fire alarm would ring. Students went that day without clocks and bells, changing periods when police whistles were blown. Two traffic officers on each floor blew the whistles when periods were to be changed. The bells were fixed that afternoon and the next day they were in regular shape once more.

MISS AVERY'S LECTURE

Eunice Harriet Avery will give her sixth lecture in the series on world events sponsored by the Smith College Club for the benefit of its scholarship fund on Wednesday, Jan. 18, at 2:30 p. m. in the Wyman School auditorium. Miss Avery will discuss the Mexican situation and the outcome of the Lima conference. Mrs. Merton Grush is chairman of the lecture committee.

The second Union Preaching Mission service of the Second Congregational Church and the First Baptist Church will be held Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the First Baptist Church. President Nathan R. Wood, D.D. of Gordon College of Theology and Missions will be the speaker. President Wood will speak on the subject, "Are You an Optimist, A Pessimist, or a Realist?"

The Vested Choir of the First Baptist Church will sing. Mr. Jones and Mr. Rushton, pastors of the co-operating churches will conduct the service.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troop 7

On Jan. 2, 12 Scouts and Mr. A. O. Weld, Scoutmaster, the assistant Scoutmaster J. C. Casler, two committeemen, Mr. E. Butterworth, chairman and Ray Bohannon went to Camp Lane for the day. The following boys walked the 14 miles: Steven Powers, Hugh Hawkes, Guy DeFilippo, Robert Huckins, Thomas Flaherty and Edward O'Connell, Jr. Dinner was served in the dining room at 12:05 noon. The menu consisted of beef stew, sandwiches, apple, squash and cherry pie, cheese and hot cocoa.

Mr. Butterworth, Mr. Weld and Ray Bohannon should receive merit badges for storing away pie and cheese.

Richard Walls passed fire building, cooking and tracking.

Guy DeFilippo, tracking and fire building.

Tom Flaherty passed cooking, fire building and knife and ax.

Edward O'Connell passed knife and ax, cooking and fire building.

Philip Ewell passed knife and ax and fire building.

During the week of Dec. 25, David Burnham and Richard Swanson slept in a tent and did their own cooking and the temperature was close to the zero mark. Those two boys and Paul Butterworth are to receive Eagle badges at the Exposition held in the Town Hall, Feb. 11.

WINCHESTER LOST AT WAKEFIELD

Winchester High lost both ends of a hard fought Middlesex League basketball game to Wakefield High at Wakefield last Friday evening, the varsity going down, 30 to 25, while the seconds were nosed out, 19-18.

Wakefield built up an 18-10 lead at half time, and successfully withstood the locals' second half surge during which Winchester outscored the winners, 15-12. Wakefield did a pretty fair job of covering the local forwards, Byron Horie's goal being the only basket registered by a strictly offensive player during the entire first half.

"Carlie" Johnson with seven points on two floor goals led Winchester in scoring, while Conroy had 17 points for Wakefield's high, scoring seven baskets from scrimmage.

Roberto of Wakefield had eight points to lead the second team scorers. Hultgren's seven being high for Winchester. Following is the varsity summary:

The President has not sensed the November 1928 mandates. Regardless of the ability that Governor Murphy of "sit down" fame, or Mr. Hopkins of "blow it" fame may have, he has appointed them to high office. On top of it all comes the message of billions more and the "call to arms." When is a mandate not a mandate? Is the "date" part of the "men to come in 1940?"

WHAT—NO PARKING LIGHTS?

28 Symmes Road,
Winchester, Mass.,
Jan. 12, 1939

To the Editor of the Star:
Those who are interested in injuring Winchester's good name with the residents of other cities and towns and who are interested in earning for our town the appellation of being a "chick town" will applaud the recent action of the police in the vicinity of Symmes Corner in enforcing the antiquated and unnecessary regulation regarding parking lights on automobiles. I do not know of a single other community, not only in this vicinity but in the eastern part of the United States, that enforces this regulation any more and visitors when informed that they must burn parking lights are uniformly incredulous. This regulation has long outlived its usefulness and no longer serves any useful purpose, and it is exceedingly irritating to be tagged for violations of it. I suggest that the regulation either be repealed or police be given instructions to enforce it only in exceptional cases manifestly requiring the display of lights, not in case of cars parked in front of an occupied residence.

Very truly yours,
G. C. Manning

OLD BASS DRUM

At the second hand shop of Edward H. Maguire there is being shown the old bass drum formerly owned and used by the Woburn Brass Band, of which T. H. Marriann was director. The booming beats of that drum have been heard in many concerts and parades throughout New England when the Woburn Brass Band was in its Hey Day and rated with the best in this district. The band played for several years each Saturday afternoon on the streets of Manchester, Field and among the local musicians in its ranks were George Bigley, E. flat clarinet and Paul Dorton, trombone. It is said that Roscoe Plummer used to carry the brass drum which now reposes at Maguire's.

CARSONIAN MUSIC CLUBS

The Carsonian Senior Social Club held its 100th anniversary on the evening of Dec. 29, at the home of Miss Anita, 1000 of Lombard street. A varied musical program and refreshments were enjoyed. The club's next meeting will be Feb. 3 at the home of Miss Virginia Sargent.

The Junior Carsonian Music Club met Dec. 28 at the studios of Clara Fountain Carson, 79 Montvale avenue Woburn. Dancing numbers augmented the musical program which was followed by a social hour and refreshments. The club's next meeting will be Feb. 25 at the studios. A group of Winchester young people are members of the clubs.

END OF DEPRESSIONS LOWER TAXES

It is almost 60 years since Henry George wrote his book entitled "Progress and Poverty" which shocked "orthodox" economists by expounding the theory that civilization would continue to have recurring industrial depressions until private ownership of land was recognized as a basic injustice to the people. He proposed as a practical equivalent to the abolition of private ownership of land, the single tax idea. Although he was not the inventor of the single tax principle, he did more than any living man to disseminate the idea that land alone should be taxed and society should collect the "progress" rent created by the community.

The single tax principle has persisted and is now enjoying a greatly increased popularity. This is evidenced by the fact that in the last five years, starting from one case of 11 students assembled in New York City, 21,000 persons have since enrolled to study the ideas of Henry George and a $50,000 five-story building has been purchased in New York for headquarters and classrooms for the Henry George School of Social Science. Funds for the purchase of this building and maintenance of the school have been voluntarily poured in by those who have read "Progress and Poverty," the textbook used by the school and in consequence consider that Henry George proposed the right solution to the problem of industrial depressions with their resulting tangle of woe and misery.

Dr. Frank Chodorov, director of the school in New York, when asked to what he attributed the present great increase of interest on the part of the public, said "Well, everything else has been tried (to solve depressions and poverty) and nobody seems to know the answers, so more and more people are turning to us."

"It's also partly the way we teach and our wholly non-profit and non-political methods," Dr. Chodorov continued. "We just follow the old Socratic way of teaching. We don't ask anybody to accept anything they don't wish to; we don't make them swallow anything they don't like, and we don't mind arguments. No holds are ever barred in our classrooms. We have Communists, Republicans, New Deal Democrats, Townsends, Coughlins, and what have you. They're everything from rawboned to dentists, and lawyers and accountants are the largest groups."

Branch classes are being held in over 200 cities of the United States, and the school is offering free lectures concerning this very interesting and absorbing subject. Right here in Winchester, on Tuesday evenings at the American Legion Headquarters, a class has been in session. The course comprises ten free lectures, and the first series was completed Dec. 27. The classes were conducted by Morris K. Hand, R.R.A., a resident of Winchester, who married the sister of Henry George. Mr. Hand has been asked, and has consented to give another series of ten lectures which will begin on Tuesday evening, Jan. 17. Meetings are open to both men and women of Winchester and nearby towns. No previous study of economics or other sciences is necessary to gain a thorough understanding of this important subject which should interest every thinking citizen in these troublesome times. Part of the evening is open to general discussion which gives each one a chance to express his own ideas, either for or against the ideas of Henry George.

Everyone has a desire to do something constructive for the community. This is an excellent opportunity to add your part to the progress of the people as a whole. Should the single tax be adopted in Winchester you, as a house owner, or payer of rent, would pay lower taxes than under the present plan of assessing.

The public, both men and women, are cordially invited to attend this series of ten free lectures here in Winchester beginning Tuesday evening, Jan. 17 at 7:45 at the American Legion House, 84 Washington street, next to the City Library.

The meetings are non-political and non-religious.

BACK TO HORSE AND BUGGY DAYS

"Member the 'good old days' when you didn't need to be a contortionist to make a tumble to venture onto a dance floor. Member the dreamy strains of the 'Beautiful Blue Danube' and other lilting waltz tunes to which graceful dancers glided over the floor, before the advent of jazz. Member the formal grand march and the fun of the square dance? If you do, there will be no need to tell you that you should not miss the Old Fashioned Barn Dance given for the benefit of the Unitarian Men's Club is staging in Metcalf Hall Friday evening, Jan. 27; for all these old time favorites will be on the program and you couldn't be kept away anyhow."

But for you who have yet to experience the pleasure of a party such as this will be we say in all sincerity, "Don't miss it!" The grand march will start a 8 o'clock and the band will play a slow waltz for the first time. The "Beautiful Blue Danube" party a few years ago it is safe to say that the winner will have to be good! An original and a new twist to the old time favorites will be given under the direction of Harry E. Brigham will furnish the music.

Social features will include some special food and a ball which is expected to make the late P. T. Barnum quite jealous. Tickets, limited in number, may be obtained from any members of the Men's Club or at the Star Office. Make no note of the date Jan. 27, Friday evening.

Everyone is playing Autobridge. Cards for this fascinating game are $1 and $2 at the Star Office.

FROM JEST TO EARNEST

Friday afternoon, Jan. 20, at 2:15 Mrs. David Graham will read the second play in the series sponsored by the Tuesday Luncheon Group, at the Epiphany Parish House. The drama will be one that critics have pronounced one of the most interesting of this season has brought to Broadway, and that the play-goers have made one of the most popular, "Oscar Wilde."

Two men's names are on the playbill as authors, but they themselves say that they did not in a strict sense write the play. Life did that. Wilde himself did that. They selected from the jests that Wilde himself made the epigrams that create the Wilde of the first 8 part of the drama tossing up witty comment and response like a juggler playing with glittering baubles. Wilde's own perverse and wilful self-indulgence gave the plot that brought his really valuable gifts to waste and misery. The men who have brought his story to Broadway have had to their hand a drama that flashes with laughter and yet shows honest and stern tragedy. They could wisely follow Othello's poignant formula, "Nothing extenuate; nothing set down in malice." Out of the scraps of their knowledge of Wilde some of Mrs. Graham's audience will perhaps have fashioned in shadowy outline their own version of his drama, recalling the Wilde of the fairy tales of Hansy Prince and Selma's Giant, the Wilde of the witty and wily plays, the Wilde of destructive and mocking paradox, the Wilde who sometimes doubted whether a man made a good bargain when he had "given away" his ancient wisdom and "received" control.

And they will see how many of these Wildes the play on Broadway has captured. Mrs. Graham's first audience expressed their liking for her first reading of a bright comedy with moments of romance, by enthusiastic applause. They will be interested in seeing her show another type of power.

No matter at what time a buyer takes the six admission ticket she gets the full worth of his money, for no money admissions as one likes may be used for any play.

The afternoon will provide both tea and repartee, to recall a punning title. The repartee by Wilde, the tea by the Symmes Corner Group. Those in charge on Jan. 20 will be Mrs. John Hopkins, Mrs. Francis Booth, Mrs. Edward French, Mrs. Fred Abbott, Mrs. E. F. Gallagher, Mrs. Charles Cary, Mrs. Arthur Farrell, Mrs. Donald Heath, Mrs. Maurice Tolman, Mrs. Gerald Hills and Mrs. William Martens.

THE WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The Winchester Garden Club met Wednesday, Jan. 11 at the home of the hostess, Mrs. Arthur M. Jackson. Luncheon-Dessert was served in the picturesque dining room of this historical home. A beautiful centerpiece, accented with choice blossoms and the delicately tinted china, gave added charm to this perfect setting for the guests. Mrs. Theodore von Rosenberg presided.

The speaker for the day was Mrs. Richard W. Wyman, the treasurer of the club. Her subject was "Magnolia, Middleton and Cypress Gardens." Mrs. Wyman, in an earnest and charming way, brought vividly a detailed description of these beautiful gardens which she had visited. In addition, she gave the historical background of the garden and showed several colored scenes of exotic beauty. It was interesting to hear that the Magnolia Gardens are 250 years old and have been continuously in their highest glory are to be found in Magnolia Gardens, near Charleston, South Carolina, U. S. A.

John Galsworthy wrote: "To this day I have seen no garden so beautiful as Magnolia Gardens." The Middleton Gardens, the grounds and garden covering 60 acres, was once owned by Arthur Middleton, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. And that the Cypress Gardens are beautiful as a work of nature, not of man. His contribution was the accidental thought to make visible and accessible a lake and great groves of cypress trees and what he saw in the way of bloom was secondary.

The hospitality and the tour through these gardens blended harmoniously, making a constructive and happy day.

LT. COL. WILLIAM H. MOBBS

Lt. Col. William H. Mobbs, retired officer of the Massachusetts National Guard and former resident of this town, died Tuesday night, Jan. 10, at his home, 83 Middlesex avenue, Wilmington, after several months of failing health. He was 56 years old. Col. Mobbs was widely known in Winchester where for many years he had been identified with the plumbing business, working for some time for the firm of J. A. Laraway Co., before acquiring the old line plumbing business of George E. Pratt which he had conducted in recent years with headquarters on Common street. At the time of his death he was president of the Mystic Valley Plumbers' Association.

Col. Mobbs was the son of James G. and Emily H. (Thorn) Mobbs. He was born in Woburn, but spent his boyhood in this town, receiving his education in the old Wadleigh and Winchester High schools.

He had a long military career that included service with both the U. S. G. and the United States Army. Enlisting in company G, 5th volunteer militia, in 1903, he rose through the ranks to first lieutenant in 1913.

At the outbreak of the world war, he joined the 3d Pioneer regiment of the regular army, with the same rank. In August, 1917, he was promoted to captain in the 60th Pioneer regiment. He was honorably discharged from the national forces in 1919.

Returning home after the war, he was selected to form company G, 5th infantry. Shortly thereafter, on the reorganization of the state militia, he was assigned to organize a unit of the M. N. G. in Woburn, and formed the first supply train in June, 1921. He rose to the rank of major in the national guard and was promoted with a rank of lieutenant-colonel on June 11, 1935.

As a militiaman he was well known in Winchester, his soldierly bearing always exciting the admiration of those who saw him lead his men through the town's streets in many military parades. As captain of company G of Woburn he participated in the big parade which was a feature of the dedication of the Winchester War Memorial on Oct. 3, 1926.

Col. Mobbs was a member of both the state and national plumbers' associations. He was a member of the Army and Navy Club, Winchester post of the American Legion, Wilmington chapter of the Eastern Star, Royal Arch chapter and Reading commandery of the Knights Templar. He was a past master of Friendship lodge of Masons, Wilmington, and a member of the past Masters' Association of the sixth Massachusetts district.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Mary Wallace Mobbs, and two sisters, Mrs. Thomas F. Grady of Lynn and Mrs. Andrew Goldis of Winchester.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the Wilmington Congregational Church with the Rev. George A. Batters of Arlington, formerly of the Crawford Memorial M. E. Church of Winchester, officiating, assisted by Rev. Arthur A. Simmons of the Wilmington Church. The service will be Masonic and semi-military with escorts from the 26th division train and Winchester Post, American Legion.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

"Listen Darling," which comes to the University Theatre Sunday featuring Freddie Bartholomew and Judy Garland, is a rollicking comedy of adolescent youth. Adapted from Katherine Rush's magazine story of the same name, it deals with the exploits of two members of the younger generation who take it upon themselves to find a suitable husband for the mother of one and run into an amazing set of complications in so doing. Mary Astor plays the mother and the prospective suitors are portrayed by Walter Pidgeon, Alan Hale and Gene Lockhart. High adventure along one of the world's last frontiers is thrillingly depicted in "Heart of the North," the companion picture, a tale of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The three girls who could each be nominated as heroine. They are Gloria Dickson, Gale Page, and little Janet Chaplin, six-year old starlet who recently captured the hearts of a host of fans in "Broadway Musketees."

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "Dodsworth" co-starring Walter Huston and Ruth Chatterton and Peter Lorre in "Thank You, Mr. Moto." Based on what is said to be the most original story ever conceived for a Shirley Temple picture, "Just Around the Corner" opens Thursday with America's Number One star surrounded by a splendid cast. The story concerns the hilarious but happy consequences which arise when Shirley confuses a wealthy old banker (whose name happens to be "Uncle Sam" Henshaw) with the lean and well-whiskered gentleman who is the symbol of our national life. Charles Farrell, Joan Davis, Amanda Duff (a promising newcomer), Bill Robinson, Bert Lahr and others are featured.

"Arrest Bulldog Drummond," with John Howard playing the suave amateur detective, is the associate picture. The story, from the pen of H. C. (Sapper) McNeile, traces the campaign of "Drummond" to round up the spies and murderers, hampered as he is by the stubborn opposition of Scotland Yard and his fears that his fiancée, "Phyllis Clavering," will be the next victim.

BOARD OF APPEALS DENIES APPEAL OF COUNTY BUILDING SUPPLY COMPANY

The Board of Appeal has found that the lots for the proposed houses are a part of a large tract of some 15 acres, 40 lots of which have been sold subject to residential restrictions setting $7,500 as the minimum cost for houses. It has further found that these restrictions may not be enforceable at law because of the fore-closure of a mortgage given before the restrictions were imposed, although equitable right may exist. The Board did find, however, that a standard for all buildings in the tract was established which the proposed buildings fail to meet, and that about 40 persons bought lots relying upon the security of the restrictions. The Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts has said that "The preservation of the property of others in the neighborhood growing out of established restrictions is important." It has also said that "The beauty of a residential neighborhood is for the comfort and happiness of the residents and it tends to sustain the value of property in the neighborhood."

In declining to order the grant of the building permits requested by the County Building Supply Company, the Board of Appeal is of the opinion that the granting of the permits would result in a menace to the welfare of the neighborhood in which the lots are located.

The Board also believes that the erection and use of houses of the character indicated on the plans filed with the application would be injurious to the welfare of the community in the district in which the property is located and in adjacent districts, and harmful to property therein.

The town building laws require that each application for a permit to construct a building shall be accompanied by plans and specifications so that the Board of Appeal may determine whether building regulations are being complied with. The Board of Appeal found the papers filed with the application for permits to build the proposed houses are not sufficiently full and explicit to indicate whether or not the buildings which it is proposed to erect would conform with the building laws of the town. It appears to the Board that some of the garages indicated on the plans do not conform to these requirements. There is nothing in the specifications to indicate how the water and sewer requirements on lots are to be met for houses on Arlington street extension and Squanto road, in both of which there are neither sewer nor water mains.

The Board found that the building lots in question are in a single residential district in which dwelling houses may not be constructed on lots of less than 10,000 feet. Three of the lots, on Emerson road are substantially less than this area, and while the law provides that in certain cases lots smaller than 10,000 feet may be used, they shall not be used, under the law, if they adjoin other land of the same owner available for use in connection with them. Finally the Board of Appeal found that the applicants' affidavits of title are not supported by any evidence of title records and so cannot be accepted as proof at least until such time as the Board shall have the opportunity to verify them by a title examination of its own. As a matter of fact the Board says it has been shown no proof that the applicants actually have title to the property in question. With certain other provisions of the Zoning By-Laws pertaining to notices and advertisements the Board found that the applicants have not complied. The case, in the opinion of the Board in making its final decision, involves questions of the application of the Zoning By-Law and the provisions of that law were invoked by certain persons who appeared at the hearing in opposition to the grant of the permits.

The decision of the Board is signed by Harrison P. Lyman, Edward R. Wait and Leon D. Hughes.

STRAND THEATRE, MALDEN

Outdoor action, thrills and suspense are the keynotes of the Technicolor special, "Heart of the North" starring Dick Foran, Gloria Dickson, Patrick Knowles, Gale Page, Allen Jenkins and Janet Chapman, will open a seven day engagement at the Strand Theatre in Malden on Friday. It has adventure, it has romance, it has thrills, it has humor, and it pictures with a loveliness the Technicolor camera has never surpassed the wild and little known country in which the action is laid. "Heart of the North" acquires a special interest because it shows the actual conditions under which the famous Canadian Northwest Mounted Police do their hazardous work. The action takes place in a country which is one of the world's last frontiers, the thinly populated Mackenzie River region, where the Arctic Circle. The story revolves around the successful efforts of Dick Foran, an officer in the "Mounties," to track down and capture the leader of a band of outlaws which has held up a river steamer carrying expensive furs and many pounds of newly-mined gold from a frontier trading post. It is fast-moving, thrilling stuff, which doesn't lose its pace for a moment even though an engrossing love story is into the web of exciting incidents.

"Sharpshooters" starring Brian Donlevy, Lynn Bari and Wally Vernon, is the second attraction on the bill starting Friday. Brian Donlevy and Wally Vernon are news-reel camera men. The film opens with them in a jam with the police of a foreign country because they got exclusive shots of the assassination of a monarch. Assigned to cover a coronation they become involved with a band of conspirators who are plotting to kill the young prince. Inspired by their love, a momentary love affair, Donlevy and Vernon, incidentally, Donlevy falling in love with Lynn Bari, who is governess to the young prince, they utilize their wits and talent in behalf of the king to help the young prince escape.

In the east are C. Henry Gordon, Douglas Dumble, John King and Sidney Blackmer.

The Princess Theatre lives up to its name, it has that rich royal atmosphere of luxurious carpets, grand big opera chairs and engineering which has made the theatres so supreme. This cozy little theatre is very convenient, just a few minutes drive over to Wakefield Square and there is always free parking. Now showing and opening tomorrow is a great French triumph, "Life Dances On." The French title is "Un Carnet de Bal." Next week for five days starting Sunday is Eryn Flynn and Bette Davis in "The Sisters" and next week Friday and Saturday, another French importation the international hit, "Carnival in Flanders."

READING THEATRE

One of the best pictures of the year will be shown at the Reading Theatre today and tomorrow.

"Brother Rat" starring Wayne Morris and Priscilla Lane. A picture that you will never forget, so do not fail to see it.

The co-feature will be "I'm from the City," starring Joe Penner, a hilarious comedy that will keep you laughing from start to finish. On Saturday evenings there are always 20 good reasons why you should attend our show.

On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, the feature will be "That Certain Age" starring Deanna Durbin and Jackie Cooper.

First to Visit Foreign Country

Theodore Roosevelt was the first President of the United States to visit a foreign country while in office (Panama, in 1906).

Not an 'Oil' State

Although the second oil well to be discovered in the United States was located in Colorado, the state never became known as an "oil" state.

The gasoline thief who has been operating in the vicinity of Woodstock road was busy again Thursday morning when eight gallons of gas were stolen from a car in the garage of Sidney H. G. Straghan at 12 Woodstock road. The police were notified.

The Fire Department made a trip to Woburn Wednesday afternoon in response to an alarm from Wob. Box 56 at 2:33. The men found burning grass just over the town line. At 2:47 there was a grass fire near the residence of Mr. James Noonan on Sheridan circle and at 4:42 another grass fire on town land at the rear of 410 Washington street. At 7:50 the department put out another grass fire near the Boston & Maine tracks on Cross street.

Winchester High goes to Concord tonight for a Middlesex League basketball game with Concord High. The Concord haven't been doing too well this far this season and the locals are odds-on favorites to win this one handily.

Miss Nan Scully of Wedgemere avenue has been visiting with her cousin, Miss Ellen MacPherson in South Orange, N. J., where she was entertained at a tea-dance in her honor on Sunday afternoon.

Kappa Delta Psi of Melrose is presenting "Rollin' Rhythm," a musical revue, followed by dancing at Memorial Hall, Melrose, Jan. 20, at 8:30 for the benefit of the Melrose Well Baby Clinic.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Wiswell of Fletcher street, accompanied by their son, George, Jr. and Byron, returned Sunday by plane from a two months' vacation at Miami Beach, Fla.

The Fire Department was called twice yesterday to Burgess & Cobb's tannery by fires in the dust bins under the tanning machines. The first run was at 2:27 p. m. and the second at 6:14. At 3:43 there was a brush fire on cemetery land.

Mrs. Thomas G. Hodgeson has Forsythia in bloom at her home, 132 Forest street, last week a youth was around town selling pussy-willows and last week-end the Palmer Beach Horsehoe Association got in its regular session of games. Cross our hearts!

Lightning Through Openings

There is no scientific knowledge to support the general belief that lightning strikes buildings usually comes in through open doors and windows. Stimpson's Nuggets of Knowledge says that lightning might have a tendency to follow a draft only when the air stream is filled with smoke or vapor, thus creating a better conductor of electricity than the surrounding atmosphere. Electricity generated in the clouds follows the line of least resistance to the earth and would not turn from its normal course to run horizontally merely because a door or window was open.

EN KA MEETING

The mid-winter meeting of the En Ka Society was held at the Nurses Home on Tuesday, Jan. 10, at 2 o'clock. The president, Mrs. Guy B. Howe opened the meeting by greeting the new provisional members who attended this, their first meeting.

The business meeting that followed brought to light many interesting things among which were the appointment of Mrs. Paul Golds as Society Historian, the work to consist of compilation of all records from the date of reorganization to date and from thence on. Also the coming 1939 Street Fair will be run for En Ka Winchester charities, and the sum of $25 was given the Winchester Welfare at Christmas along with another Christmas gift of money sent to Miss Minna Noyes, an honorary and charter member of En Ka.

Mrs. Harold F. Meyer of the Finance Committee reported two large dish sterilizers installed at the hospital, two successful dances run at the Recreation Center, the sum of $100 given to the Winchester District Nursing Association, the purchase of two steam tables to be installed in the pantry of the Home for Aged and the redecorating of the En Ka room at the hospital.

Mrs. Francis E. Booth of the Civic Committee reported that her work had increased so rapidly that it necessitated the division of her committee into subcommittees, thus, Mrs. Percy Hughes, in charge of teas and entertainment at the Home for Aged, Mrs. William Cusack in charge of all knitting and surgical dressings, Mrs. Warren Jenney, furnishing Sewer workers for the local chapter and Mrs. Charles Wexley assisting Mrs. Booth on the two Community Crusade Drives also Mrs. Campbell Ross acting in the capacity of secretary by sending greeting cards to the family at the Home for Aged on momentous occasions and to all En Ka members who are ill.

Mrs. Clark Collins gave a brief talk concerning Scouting, its work and demands, this activity being recently voted to be supported by the Society.

An important and long looked for report was given by Mrs. Allen Kimball, chairman of the Street Fair Committee, who told in an amusing and exciting manner about the old fashioned New England County Fair that would descend upon Winchester Saturday, May 25, about her efficient committee, Mrs. Ober Pride, secretary; Mrs. Clarence Russell, treasurer; Miss Gladys Marchant and Miss Clara Butterworth, proprietors; Mrs. Alfred Pierce, publicity; Mrs. Franklin Lane, tickets; Mrs. Robert MacArthur and Mrs. Allen Lindblad, midway.

Great applause greeted the reading of the subscription for charity which this year are even bigger and better. A new Ford and who wouldn't like one? A $100 Vacation Fund (payable June 1 to some lucky person) and a luxury ticket that embraces four wonderful items to tempt the most discriminating purse. Two tickets weekly for one year to the Winchester Theatre donated by Mr. E. M. Loe and the kindness of Mr. George E. Carter. One youth's subscription to Mary Spaulding's lending library donated by Miss Mary Spaulding. Permanent wave donated by the Mystic Beauty Shop and last but not least $100 for for Sweeney products donated by Kenneth Grant.

Movies of last year's Street Fair were shown through the kindness of Mrs. Marshall Symmes and Mr. Chas. Ladd and tea was served.

FINAL PREPARATIONS MADE FOR COMMUNITY FUND DRIVE

Excitement is spreading through the ranks of the many thousands of Metropolitan Boston area as the zero hour for the 1939 Drive beginning approaches. Each community in the Greater Boston area is making final preparations.

Winchester volunteers have started work in the Thompson street location which Mr. Albert J. Locatelli has so generously placed at the disposal of Chairman Frederick B. Craven for the duration of the Drive. The big, friendly store at 14 Thompson street is the location; 1470 and 1471 are the telephone numbers; 12 to 12 in the morning and 1 to 9:30 in the afternoon and evening are the office hours.

Every effort is being made to have the headquarters as convenient and attractive as possible. Big red folders adorn the walls; unique filing cabinets are ready for the returns; busy fingers are sorting contribution pledge cards; the two telephones are constantly busy—real excitement prevails.

The race against time is reflected in many of the volunteer workers. Churches are being supplied with suitable material for Community Fund Sunday which will be celebrated on its Sunday, the 22nd. The clergy has been supplied with information to be utilized in this Sunday's messages from the pulpits.

The big Boston rally at Mechanics Hall on Monday, Jan. 23 will start thousands on their unselfish, neighborly quest—the collection of the funds necessary to carry on the important social, charitable and medical service supplied by over 150 agencies which will benefit by the big Drive. Senator David I. Walsh, Gov. Leverett Saltonstall, Mayor Maurice J. Tobin and Stuart C. Rand will be the speakers. The presence of the agencies will thrill the hearts of all the workers and their friends who will attend this great rally. Most of the Winchester workers are planning to be present.

All residents of Winchester are urged to stop in at the Thompson street headquarters and ask for any information they wish to have. Every body is welcome. Tuesday, Jan. 24, the solicitors will start making their calls. The increased interest in the work of the Greater Boston area promises to make 1939 a banner year—even to exceed the generous response of last year.

PASTOR RETIRES

Rev. William H. Smith, for more than 30 years pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church will preach his final sermon as pastor, Sunday evening, Jan. 22 at 7 o'clock thus retiring from the pastorate. During his long pastorate Mr. Smith won many friends both for himself and the church.

Among the outstanding accomplishments during his pastorate was the uniting of the people who were divided at the time of his coming and the purchasing of the old Washington School house which was used at the time as a place of worship, after a few years a modern little house of worship was erected on the site where the old school house stood.

During Mr. Smith's pastorate he has enjoyed the fellowship of the ministers of the town irrespective of denomination. At the time of retiring the church voted unanimously to honor him with the title of Pastor Emeritus.

Mr. Smith desires here to express his personal appreciation to the churches and the people of the town for their generous encouragement and support during his struggle to build the church.

OLD FASHIONED BARN DANCE AND JAMBORE

Don't miss the Old Fashioned Barn Dance and Jambore which the Unitarian Men's Club is staging in Metcalf Hall, Friday evening, Jan. 27, all old time favorites will be on the program including the good old square dances, music furnished by an original old fashioned seven piece orchestra under the direction of Harry E. Brigham.

The grand march will start at 8 o'clock and there is going to be a prize awarded for the most original costume. Refreshments free.

Special features will include some trained ducks and a bull fight. Tickets, limited in number, may be obtained from any member of the Men's Club or at the Star Office.

The date, Friday, Jan. 27 at 8 o'clock in Metcalf Hall, comes up in that old-fashioned costume.

WILL INTERVIEW WINCHESTER GIRL

A Winchester girl, Miss Edna McCormick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. McCormick of Wedgemere avenue, and leading lady in the recent High School show, "Bab," will be interviewed over the radio this Friday afternoon at 9:30. She displayed much talent in her leading part in the show and the radio interview will cover various phases of her acting. The interview will take place in conjunction with the High School News Program, a popular feature originating from Station WCOP.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. Alfred O. LaForte, formerly of the town, now of Lowell, announces the engagement of his daughter, Rita LaForte of Winchester, to Mr. Cyril L. Cutlip, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cutlip of Medford Hillside. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mrs. Charles H. Woolley of Glen road, a professional amateur in winter club sports, is this year's chairman of "Promptly at Nine," the cabaret to be given for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital on Friday and Saturday evening, Feb. 3 and 4 at the Winchester Town Hall.

DE MOLAY DOINGS

Middlesex Chapter, Order of De Molay, will hold a public installation in the Unitarian Church, next Wednesday evening, Jan. 25, at 8 o'clock.

Arthur W. Bowler of Winchester will be installed as master counselor with Norman M. Clarke of Winchester, senior counselor, and John E. Goodridge of Reading, junior counselor.

The installing suite for the evening is comprised of the following past master counselors of the chapter: Kenneth C. Latham, Reading, master counselor; Ronald N. Taylor, Reading, senior counselor; Clarence H. Hanson, Stoneham, junior counselor; Robert H. Woodford, Winchester, chaplain; Clifton H. Turner, Reading, marshal; Louis C. Goetz, Stoneham, senior deacon.

A DeMolay installation is the only opportunity afforded the public to see the work of these young men who are absolutely in earnest in carrying out the splendid virtues inculcated by this order. It is not only a pleasure but a privilege to watch a DeMolay installation, so remember the time 8 p. m., Wednesday, Jan. 25, the place, Metcalf Hall, Unitarian Church.

There will be dancing after the work of the evening.

REPUBLICAN CLUB

On Wednesday, Feb. 1, at 1:30, the Women's Republican Club of Winchester will offer a dessert at Fort-nightly Hall under the capable direction of Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, Mrs. Harold Bates and Mrs. Chester F. Wolfe. The dessert will be followed by a group exercise conducted by Mrs. Leo W. Blaisdell, Mrs. Frederick S. Hatch, Mrs. Warren C. Whitman and Mrs. Gerald E. Monroe. Their topic will be "The Eyes of the World," with a question and answer discussion.

Arranged by the educational board, this meeting is a result of much study and thought by certain members of the club and will be invigorating, informative and stimulating.

COMMITTEE OF SAFETY CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The regular January meeting of the Committee of Safety Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held on Monday afternoon, Jan. 16, in the Historical Room at the public library. It was a great privilege to be able to meet at this place, and our thanks go to the trustees, who graciously permitted us the use of this room. The regent, Mrs. Sewall D. Newman, presided.

One death was reported since our last meeting, that of Mrs. Harriett Wagner, one of our oldest and most valued members, who passed away on Dec. 4. Attention was called to the fact that the National Historical Magazine published in the D. A. R. has been placed in the Library for two years. Mrs. Jessie Perley and Mrs. Laura Baudry were elected alternates to attend the annual Continental Congress in Washington the week of April 19.

We had as guests at this meeting Mrs. Nathaniel Nichols, president of the Winchester Historical Society, Miss Cora Quimby, librarian, and Mrs. Leon Hughes, daughter of our late member, Mrs. Lucius Symmes. Mrs. Nichols spoke briefly, tracing the history of the Historical Society and extending a cordial invitation to the members not already members to join the society.

The meeting was then turned over to the speaker of the afternoon, Miss Jean McEllan, who is well versed in the history of the American Revolution and has had charge of cataloging the objects belonging to the Historical Society. Her talk was entitled "Around the Room of the Winchester Historical Society." Starting with the drawing of the famous Edward Converse house, Miss McEllan explained the significance of many of the outstanding pictures and other objects contained in the room. Special attention was devoted to the old Black Horse Tavern, demolished in 1892. This old tavern is of special interest to us, for when the Committee of Safety (for which our chapter is named) met Mr. Cooper's Tavern in Arlington on the night of April 18, 1775, it adjourned to meet next day "in Woburn" and it is supposed that Black Horse Tavern was the place where the meeting was held.

Another object of interest to us was the wooden tablet on the wall, which played a part in the 18th anniversary of the battle of Concord, 1890 commemorating the Indian Massacre in 1676, in which the wife, twin son and infant belonging to Mr. Samuel Richards, perished. Mr. Richardson and Mrs. Newman, a direct descendant of this twin.

Miss McEllan was a most interesting speaker, and we are very glad to have had in the room the history of Winchester, which furnished 10 of the men we saw service in the Revolution.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS LUNCHEON

The annual legislative luncheon of the Winchester League of Women Voters will be held at the Shaker Glen House, Woburn, on Friday, Jan. 20, at 12:30 p. m. This meeting was originally scheduled on the league calendar for a later date.

At the morning session the department chairmen and the legislative committee will also be outlining a list of bills under consideration by the state organization for their support. This gives an opportunity for every league member to express her views on the bills and enables the legislative chairman to convey the opinions of her local league group to the state organization before final decisions are reached by them. The league's national legislative program will also be outlined.

Mrs. Harry C. Eaton, state chairman of government and foreign policy will speak at the morning session on "The Problems of Neutrality." She is already acquainted with Mrs. Eaton and appreciate her ability in this field.

Following the luncheon Mr. Henry R. Atkinson, president of the Massachusetts Civic League, will speak on "State Civil Service." He will be particularly with the point program which the public service committee of the league submitted to the recess commission, and also the report of this commission which was filed on Jan. 14.

Mr. Atkinson will also touch upon a bill filed by Representative Baylies of Taunton, to correct the present practice by which a so-called "lame duck" administration, no longer responsible to the people, has large powers of patronage, as demonstrated by the December appointments of former Governor Hurley.

All league members are urged to attend and bring their friends.

Charles L. Chamberland, husband of Mary A. (McGory) Chamberland, died at the Winchester Hospital yesterday afternoon, Jan. 19, at the age of 60 years. He was a native of this town, being born here 60 years ago and always making his home here. Besides his wife he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Anderson, of Somerville, two sisters, Mrs. Louise Veniot of Woburn and Mrs. Rose Laville of Cambridge, and three brothers, Joseph and Fred of this town and Francis of Woburn.

Funeral services will be held from the home, 306 Main street, Saturday morning at 8:15, with high mass of requiem at St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited. The interment will be in Calvary Cemetery, Woburn.

H. G. S. S. S. BRANCH BEGINS

Last Tuesday evening a group of Winchester citizens met at the American Legion Hall to hear the first of a series of ten free lectures and discussions concerning the basic causes of modern industrial depressions and the widespread poverty which exists today in the face of the continually increasing wealth of the United States as a whole.

These meetings are a branch class of the Henry George School of Social Science of New York City and are conducted by Morris K. Hand, B.B.A., who lives at 22 Governor's avenue. Mr. Hand recently completed one series of ten lectures here in Winchester and, being asked to repeat them, has consented to do so.

Underlying the lectures are the economic and philosophy ideas of Henry George, a man of the 19th century, who devoted a large part of his life to a thorough study of the political economy of his time—about 60 years ago. The following quotation from one of his several books shows the deep wisdom of this remarkable man:

"Whoever, laying aside prejudice and self-interest, will honestly and carefully make up his own mind as to the cause and nature of the social evils that are so apparent, does, in that, the most important thing in his power toward their removal. . . . Social reform is not to be secured by noise, by controversy, by denunciation; by the formation of parties, or the making of resolutions; but by the awakening of thought and the progress of ideas. Until there be correct thought, there cannot be right action; and when there is correct thought, right action will follow."

Those attending the lecture last Tuesday evening were well rewarded for the evening devoted to the meeting. After this meeting on the subject of "The Social Basis of the Problem," the audience said, "I was agreeably surprised to find that the lectures are not confined to a concentrated discussion of Henry George's single tax theory, as one might assume from learning that this series of meetings is sponsored by the Henry George School of Social Science. Rather is the subject of our industrial depressions and widespread poverty presented in a broad basis—includes a full discussion of many different theories of outstanding economists offered in explanation of our economic ills. I can readily see that this is a most interesting and profitable evening to take in all of them."

Even though you may not agree with the principles advanced, the series of meetings, there is not a doubt but that every participant will develop a much clearer and more logical alignment of his own thinking on this question of depression, which is such a prime importance to the welfare of each and every citizen. Inasmuch as the United States is a summation of the condition of its individual citizens, this series of meetings is a link in the chain of improving the future of the entire nation.

A most interesting part of the meeting last Tuesday was the reading of the introduction to "Progress and Poverty," the textbook used by the class, written by Henry George in 1879. This introduction, without the change or omission of a single word, could be published as an editorial by newsmen tomorrow morning and would accurately fit the conditions existing today. This is definite proof that fundamentally we have made no progress during the past 60 years in solving the economic difficulties. It is therefore time for every thinking citizen to begin an intensive investigation directed toward doing something constructive to solve this problem.

The Tuesday evening meetings provide you with the opportunity to take the first step—an awakening of the right thinking of the public concerning our political economy. It is necessary to have a proper understanding of the economic and the science in order to benefit from these talks and discussions. Common sense, coupled with a desire to tackle the problem in an unbiased way, is all that is essential.

The meetings are non-political and non-sectarian. The public, both men and women, are cordially invited to attend. The Winchester Post of the American Legion has kindly allowed the use of their hall, 81 Washington street, for the public library for these Tuesday evening talks. The second of the series of ten talks and discussions will begin at 7:45 p. m. Tuesday of next week. After this second meeting, no more will be enrolled in this series.

These lectures are free. Mr. Hand is contributing his time because of his deep interest in the principles laid down by Henry George and his desire to have every citizen have knowledge of Henry George's suggested solution to our difficulties.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

Income Tax Deputy will be in the General Committee Room at the Town Hall for consultation on Feb. 8 from 9:30 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m.

A letter was received by the Board from a business man in town highly praising the work of Officer John F. Hogan and congratulating the town on having such an efficient police department.

David H. DeCourcey has been appointed local Forest Warden for the coming year.

George M. Byrne has been re-appointed local fish and game warden for the year ending Jan. 1, 1940.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Two members were absent from the meeting of Jan. 19, one of whom has already made up his absence. When a channel will be a chance for a 100 per cent meeting.

Heartfelt farewells are now being issued gratis to our after-luncheon walkouts.

Reports of the hat committee received and placed on file. And now members are considering the most plausible methods of losing their hats at $12 per.

Remark (sotto voce) attributed to Allen C. What? No singing? Alas! Too true.

A new seating arrangement at the dining tables was tried today and it met with much approval. More plates can be laid than the former plan and more room for table service is achieved.

It has been considered unwise to expose our sergeant (and others) to a schedule of official tours to the June Convention of Rotary International at Cleveland, Ohio, as applying to New England Rotarians. Members interested may obtain a copy from the secretary.

Again we call attention to the mid-year assembly of this district which will be held in Boston at the Hotel Statler on Friday, Jan. 27. In order to make it as easy as possible for Rotarians to attend, District Governor Abraham Glosky has condensed the business sessions into the period from 2:30 p. m. to 5:15 p. m. During this time there will be separate group meetings for presidents, secretaries and chairmen and members of the four major committees.

Thus it will be possible to conduct a great deal of business in the short space of three hours in the afternoon. It is a golden opportunity for our club members to get an insight as to how the business of Rotary is pursued and to discover what makes the Rotary wheel revolve. Frankly, we are disappointed that so few of our members have signified their intention of going to the assembly. We hope for some "last minute" changes of mind on their part.

Next week we shall listen to an address by Mr. Charles T. Cahill of the United Shoe Machinery Corporation. And this will be an outstanding member of our district fully as many members as attend was the case at last year's meeting.

Percentage of attendance, Jan. 12, 97.06 per cent.

MRS. HILDRETH ATTENDING MEETING

Two of the six Massachusetts club leaders attending the mid-winter meeting of the board of directors of the General Federation of Women's Clubs this week in Washington, D. C., are Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, and Miss Eleanor Hudson, chairman of the division of preservation of antiques in both the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and the Massachusetts State Federation.

Miss Hudson gave a report on the work of her division and told how she and her mother, the late Mrs. George S. Hudson, founded the pioneer Fortnightly preservation of antiques group in 1932, which is now one of the 75 or more, similar groups in Massachusetts. Various state federations of women's clubs are establishing divisions of preservation of antiques and organizing local groups.

All sessions were held in the Hotel Mayflower, beginning with a huge reception for the board of directors of the General Federation. Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt was guest of honor and principal speaker at one session and for the subject, "Club Women and Their Responsibility to Democracy." The first lady also received the members of the board for tea at the White House on Wednesday afternoon.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs has a membership in excess of two million its members residing in many parts of the world, and it is said that the sun never sets on the General Federation. Its next meeting will be held in San Francisco on Wednesday, Feb. 2, 1939.

JUNIOR-SENIOR CLASS PLAY DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

Edna McCormick Stars in First Appearance on High School Stage

Not since "The Goose Hangs High," presented as the Junior-Senior Class play in 1927, has a more enjoyable production been chosen than this year's selection of "Bab," a four-act comedy by Edward Childs Carpenter. And it is equally certain that seldom in the history of the Junior-Senior class plays at Winchester High School has a more happy choice of leading lady been made than was made this year in selecting Miss Edna McCormick to play the part of Bab.

While one may forget the many amusing incidents of the plot itself, there will still linger in the memories of those who saw the production a well-defined enjoyment of the excellent portrayal of Bab, the sub-plot, by this quiet, demure, young high school junior, whose genuine interpretation of her part so completely dominated the play from the moment when she flows into the room in the midst of a tense situation to the final curtain.

If one were to attempt to convey the feelings of the audience, he might say, "Thank you, Miss Edna McCormick, for a thoroughly enjoyable evening, and, incidentally, thanks to her supporting cast: to John Kishler, who at several points in the play was delightfully convincing and real as James Archibald; to Bab's gruff, genial, understanding father; to Miriam Nash, whose part as Bab's socially ambitious mother, while a difficult part with little opportunity for variation, was well played; to Constantine Bond, Bab's older sister Leila, whose concern about her own matrimonial problems at first amused one and then won a grudging sympathy; to David Burnham for an amusing impersonation of a very English Englishman, monotonous, and all; to Margaret Hall, especially, for a very genuine interpretation of Jane Raleigh, excitedly romantic girl child of Bab's; to Robert Kitchen, who as Carter Brooks, Bab's neighborly admirer, improved in his part as the play progressed; to Wallace Howard, for a natural portrayal of himself as Eddie Perkins, upon whose mental horizon the idea of girls as girls had not yet impinged, but to whom the actual smoking of a real cigar meant the final gesture in masculine maturity; to Elbert Smith, to Elizabeth Nichols, and the other girls, whose parts were minor ones, but essential to the success of the others.

The play consisted of four acts of good comedy, lively, natural and genuine. It is especially adapted to a high school cast and the dialogue was full of clever lines and situations. Not the least factor in the success of the production lay in the fact that the members of the cast were not enter into their parts enthusiastically and with a natural appreciation of the very human motives behind much of the action and dialogue.

Before the first act and between acts the high school orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Delzell, played several numbers and gave a very finished performance.

Financially the play was a real success. The house was well filled, both upstairs and down. Something over $200 will be realized from the play for the two classes.

A great deal of the credit for the success of this year's production is due to the fine work of Mr. Kenneth Meinke of the high school English department, whose selection of the cast and direction of the rehearsals made possible such a splendid performance.

OUR MODERN AGE

By J. J. DOHERTY

AN ENDLESS JOY

What is it that makes this old world ever new and bright? Health? Learning? Yes, of course, but each in its own way and in its own good time. Companionship and good fellowship possess that certain indefinable something that provides a unique and lasting happiness to all who yield to its spell. This happiness is not of a fickle nature. It is ever changeless and as certain as night and day.

BALANCE

One requisite of good health is balance, balance of the functions of internal organs. When all these synchronize a healthy body and a poised mind are developed.

Sinus infection, acutely painful, disturbs this balance. A dubious "cure" could increase it and drive it deeper. But medical or surgical measures, undertaken by your physician, can clear it and restore your health to harmony and equilibrium.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

The Winchester District Nursing Association announces the appointment of a new staff nurse, Miss Alice Peterson of Marion. Miss Peterson began her duties at the beginning of the new year, when Mrs. Clewley left Winchester to become director of health in Reading.

Miss Peterson's training and experience should admirably qualify her for her new work. She is a certified public health nurse, and a graduate of both the Massachusetts General Hospital and the Simmons College public health courses. Under the auspices of the Red Cross she did general school nursing in Concord, and in Vermont, and she has served as staff nurse for the Visiting Nurse Association of eastern Delaware County, Penna., and Rockville, Conn.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Regular Meeting "Quilts and Quilt Lore"

At the regular meeting, Monday, Jan. 23, the President of Antiques Committee, Mrs. Earle E. Andrews, chairman, will present Lenice Ingram Bacon, of West Newton, who will speak on "Quilts and Quilt Lore." Mrs. Bacon has made quilts a hobby and brings her own colorful collection as a background for her talk which she gives in Colonial costume.

There will be an exhibition of quilts by members. Mrs. Andrews and her committee have charge of the tea tables, at which Mrs. Jesse Wilson, Mrs. Harris LeRoy and Mrs. George Dutton will pour.

The tea hostesses include Mrs. George Budd, Mrs. Carl Zimmerman, Mrs. Andrew Cornwall, Mrs. Arthur Speedie, Mrs. Charles Johnson, Mrs. Alfred Drew and Mrs. Florence Scales.

Dramatics Afternoon

"Toast and Tea," a delightful one act comedy, a Fashion Show of midwinter styles, presented by Edith Clark, Inc. of Winchester and tea, will be the order of the day at the open house afternoon of the Dramatics Committee on Friday, Jan. 27, at 2:30. Coached by Mrs. Fred B. Chamberlin, capable chairman of the Dramatics Group, this charming little skit will appeal to all club women, whether or not they have ever tasted tea or heard the word "Gossip." The cast is made up of talented Fortnightly members and in the fashion show which follows, the gorgeous models are all well known club members famous for charm as well as beauty.

Tea will be served as only that grand Dramatics Group can serve it—which is absolutely the best word on tea service. Do come, one and all, and have a cheerful and informal afternoon of entertainment with the Dramatics Group.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Seven Council members attended the Council training meeting at the Robbins Library in Arlington on Wednesday. An all day meeting.

Miss Lev of the National Educational Department of Girl Scouts, formerly of the Lee School in Boston, told how well the "New Program" is fitting in to the real democracy of the United States, teaching girls to be individuals.

The afternoon was spent with Round Table discussions on the functions of the Council.

Notice Captain of Troops!

National Headquarters has requested that the Juliette Fund be in before March 1. Send money at earliest convenience to Mrs. Wood, 65 Wedgemere avenue.

This money is collected each year to defray expenses of girls sent to the National Convention.

Troops 2 and 5 are putting on a play for the other Scout Troops on next Thursday, Jan. 26 at the Unitarian Church.

Troop 6, Scribe, Ellen Kenerson, held a skating party, Jan. 5 on Winter Pond, the girls clearing a section of the pond and later selling to Captain Gumbys for hot lemonade and cookies.

This troop also had a trip to Lever Bros. in Cambridge and saw how soap is made. Some departments were not a pleasure to go through, but each girl enjoyed bringing home a package of lux and soaps.

The Winchester Council of Girl Scouts has asked for no contribution this year and will not do so until April, when the Winchester Community Chest will solicit its funds. We hope all the friends of Girl Scouting will remember us at that time.

M. S. P. C. A.

On Jan. 12 members of the Winchester Auxiliary Branch of the M. S. P. C. A. met at the home of Mrs. Alfred H. Hildreth, 371 Highland avenue.

The president, Mrs. Richard Taylor, opened the meeting by reading two very lovely poems, following which were heard the reports of the secretary and treasurer.

For the benefit of the many guests present at this meeting, Mrs. John H. Clarke, chairman of the Shelter Committee, spoke of the work being done at the Shelter, and reported that since its establishment at 432 Washington street, 200 cats and 47 dogs had been cared for, and she added that the most recently acquired resident is a small and very vestful white rabbit!

A letter from Dr. Francis Rowley of the Angell Memorial Hospital was read, thanking the Auxiliary for its contribution toward the annual Christmas for horses. In connection with this occasion it may be here reported that 16 Winchester horses received magnificent dinners at that time.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mrs. Taylor presented the guest of honor, Mr. Frederick A. Ewell, who, with his beautiful shepherd dog, Grafmar Bedonna, C. D. X., demonstrated the benefits brought to both dogs and their owners through scientific training. Mr. Ewell, a resident of this town, who is connected with the New England Dog Training Club of Boston, spoke at great length of the four classes through which the dogs progress. They are, successively, the Companion Dog, the Companion Dog Excellent, the Utility Dog, and last, the Tracking Test.

The dogs are trained to walk close to the side of the master, "heeling" in technical language. At a given gesture they lie down, and upon receiving another signal, merely sit down.

They are taught to retrieve articles by means of scent alone, and to track total strangers for a considerable distance. These, however, are but a few of the achievements of the dog who has graduated through all departments.

From Mr. Ewell's explanation it was obvious to everyone that whether a dog is trained for show purposes or simply to become a better domestic companion, the results must be of inestimable value to dogs and owners alike from the points of view of obedience, protection and deportment.

"Donna" went through her paces like a veteran. Not only did she perform her duties with grace and animation, but she gave her delighted audience the very definite impression that these duties were executed happily and with understandable pride.

The entire demonstration proved to everyone's satisfaction that neither cruelty nor coercion is used in course of training.

It was an exciting and illuminating afternoon, brought to a memorable conclusion through Mrs. Hildreth's delightful hospitality.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

A short but significant notice appears in the December third issue of the "Union Signal."

Just three days after the fall of Hankow, according to the Chicago Daily News, 2,000 cases of Japanese beer were unloaded on the Hankow and, salesmen arriving almost with the flag in the fallen Chinese city.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

Washington-Highland Chapter

The regular meeting of the Washington-Highland Chapter of the Mothers'
Association was held Tuesday,
Jan. 17 in the assembly hall of the Washington School.

Mrs. Francis Barrett, 1st vice president very graciously took charge of the meeting.
Following the transaction of business, Mrs. Barrett introduced Mr.
Roscoe, well-known piano instructor from Stoughton. His rendition of "The Second Hungarian Rhapsody" by Liszt and "The Butterfly Etude" by Chopin was an introduction to the play, of which she was coach, Mrs. George Elwell presented Gloria Stevens of West
Medford, reader and pupil of Miss Marjorie Shepard. Her selections,
"Homework" and "Movie Pests" were much enjoyed and we hope to hear her again in the near future.

Barbara Slack, a Winchester miss and pupil of Mrs. Rutina of Malden gave her own interpretation of the "Skater's Waltz."

A one act comedy "A Light from the Hill House" presented by the mothers of the school was indeed very well done. The able coaching of Mrs.
Elwell and her fine selection of characters resulted in a delightful half hour.

The scene of the play, the living room in the home of Mrs. Mary Harrow, was a work of art. A new window beautifully painted and placed in the rear of the stage was made by Mr. Chandler. It will be a welcome gift to the school for use in future assemblies and plays.

Following the play, refreshments were served by Mrs. George Byford and her committee, Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes and Mrs. Lucius Smith, past presidents, poured.

BOYS' SCOUTS

SCOUT COUNCIL MEETING

The fourteenth annual meeting of the Fellsland Council, Inc., B. S. A., was held last week Thursday evening at the Winchester Country Club. A program of music and entertainment followed the dinner, which was held at 6:30 and the reading of the year's reports and transaction of business rounded out the evening.

Of interest to Winchester was the district report of Chairman Franklin
J. Lane as follows:

Scouting is progressing in Winchester—both in quantity and in quality as evidenced by the five Scout Troops and three Cub Packs now registered. Moreover, in most cases the number of boys in the various Troops has increased over previous years.

The leadership personnel of these various Troops, who organized this year than previously, but we are continually faced with one problem that retards our growth more than any one thing. I refer to the matter of manpower, that is, the lack of interest by the men of this town in giving a small share of their leisure time to help in the Boy Scout Movement. Previous experience is not necessary but active co-operation is necessary. We hope next year that we can interest more men to help us with the various Troops.

Our drive for funds this year was satisfactory because we raised the sum of last year which the Fellsland Council had given us. This coming year we shall participate in the Winchester Community Chest and lend every effort to make that drive a success. I think it probably come in early April and should not be confused with the Boston Community Chest drive which occurs the latter part of January.

There is plenty of room in this town for more Troops in certain sections and activities are under way now to have certain organizations launch a Troop in these localities. A program for older boys, especially in Sea Scouting, is now being formed and by next year we should have an active Ship in town. This ship will draw boys from the various Troops in town.

Camp Lane has been used throughout the year by the Troops, both for day hikes and overnight trips, and in this coming year with improved equipment, the Camp will be used to a greater extent.

Boys from the various Troops participated recently on Armistice Day, in a ceremony at the new athletic field when the local American Legion Post presented a flag pole to the town.
Winchester Scouts and Cubs have been active throughout the year in other community projects, good turns and activities—ever ready to do their good deeds.

We are looking forward to having the Exposition on Feb. 11, at the Winchester Town Hall, which, we all feel very sure, will build up a greater interest in Scouting in Winchester.

Sincerely,
Franklin J. Lane,
Chairman, Winchester District

Troop 2

Troop 2, in the past month has advanced quite far. The object of the Troop is to attain all possible advancement. This, however, does not prohibit enjoyment and pleasure for the troop. In the past month Earle Spencer, who recently joined the Troop, passed his tenderfoot tests. John Maynard and John Eaton both passed their second class requirements. John Spaulding received his first class badge and has qualified for several merit badges. Donald Spaulding passed his reading merit badge and is nearing the Star mark. Robert Harris received his life pin.

Troop 2 will illustrate second class requirements at the Scout Exposition, which, by the way, will be held in Winchester on Feb. 11, in the town hall. Yes, Troop 2 is looking forward to a happy, prosperous and advancing new year.

Troop 7

Troop 7 held their regular meeting last Monday night in the recreation room of the First Baptist Church.
A. O. Weld, is scoutmaster, with J.
C. Carter, assistant scout master, Ernest Butterworth, chairman, Martin Swanson and Ray Bohannon, committeemen. Bugler Ralph Swanson sounded the call to fall in. The Scout master made several important announcements, dues were collected and an investiture service was held. Tasker Hatch received his Star badge; Donald Johnson merit badges for physical health and athletics; Ellsworth Post merit badge for pioneering;
Proctor Jones safety; Ralph Swanson safety; David C. Burnham camping; Paul Butterworth bird study and camping; Richard Swanson bird study, camping and automobilizing. Several boys received service stars. Special awards of a silver dollar were presented to Paul Butterworth, Richard Swanson and David Burnham by the Scout master, as these three boys have completed all of the study to become Eagle scouts and probably will receive their Eagle badge at the Exposition to be held at the town hall on February 11.

BOYS TAKEN FROM CAR

Officer Farrell noticed a Ford sedan acting in a suspicious manner early Sunday morning on Main street, and in investigating and ordering the car to stop was very nearly run over by the driver. Two of the three occupants had left the car and attempted to start a truck in the yard of the Shell station. He took them in custody and to the police station, learning that they were Winthrop boys and that the owner of the truck reported it stolen. The third boy in the sedan was apprehended by the Everett Police. The three were turned over to the Winthrop authorities.

WINCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL MEETING, GREATER BOSTON'S COMMUNITY FUND CAMPAIGN, JAN. 13

HIGH SCHOOL SCENE OF COM- MUNITY FUND RALLY

The leaders of the Greater Boston Community Fund Campaign, many Winchester volunteer workers and their friends assembled at the High School last Friday night to get the campaign under way.

The meeting was conducted by Frederick B. Craven, Winchester chairman of the drive. Some of the most prominent officials of the Community Fund movement since its inception were present to tell about the activities of the fund and to help and advise those active in the drive. Sam Hoar, metropolitan chairman, was the first speaker on the program. He was followed by Ripley L. Dana, and Harold Bates. The program of speaking was augmented by selections played by the Harmonica Band of the Charlestown Boys' Club, a fashion show conducted by Miss Hazel Newton of the Co-operative Workshops, and a solicitation sketch demonstrating to workers the right and wrong way to make a solicitation. The sketch was acted by Miss Doris Perry and Oscar Crawlers. It was a remarkable piece of work, for we are told, it was conceived, written, rehearsed and learned in one day.

Stuart C. Rand, general chairman of this year's Greater Boston Drive, rushed over from a rally in Bedford to be present to speak to those assembled in the suitably decorated high school auditorium. His talk was extremely interesting for in it he told of his contacts with the many agencies that are members of the Community Federation and how these contacts keep convincing him of the inestimable value of the agencies to the areas in which we live.

It was one of the fastest moving, most interesting rallies held in town for some time. Those that were present were pleased to see the drive, which opens officially on Monday, get off to such a good start.

WINCHESTER LOSES AT BEL- MONT

Winchester High was sent down to third place in the Middlesex League when it lost to Belmont Monday afternoon at Belmont by a score of 24 to 19. The versatile Captain Johnson was again high scorer with 12 points while Burns with 10 led Belmont.

The Belmont seconds won from the Winchester seconds 27 to 26.

"EDDIE" O'MELIA TO BE AS- SISTANT COACH AT HOLY CROSS

"Eddie" O'Melia of Sheridan circle has been elected as assistant coach at Holy Cross. O'Melia is only 22 years of age and is unquestion-ably the youngest college football coach in the country. He recently returned from Europe with the American All Star football team.

O'Melia played end at Holy Cross during the seasons of 1935-36-37 and prior to that was a three sport star at Keith Academy, Lowell. During his grammar school days he resided in Billerica but while in high school his family changed their address to Sheridan circle. He has been active in Woburn sports assisting with the coaching in Woburn for a while last year. He also pitched for the Glen-more in the Woburn Amateur League a few years ago and currently plays basketball with the league leading Varsity in the Woburn WPA League.

WINCHESTER TOPPED CONCORD

Winchester High had no trouble in winning from the weak Concord team at Concord last Friday. The score became 19 to 0. Captain Johnson scored 19 points to account for more than half his team's scoring. Antononi with seven points led Concord. In the other games played Reading won from Concord 14 to 0. In the game from Belmont 40 to 33. The sum-

THE JUNIOR FORTNIGHTLY

The next meeting of the Junior Fortnightly will be held Monday evening at the home of Miss Barbara Berry, 5 Stratford road, at 7:45 o'clock. "Amateur Photography" will be the topic of the evening, and Mrs.
Reginald Robinson and Mr. Edward Berry will show some of their moving pictures. Miss Ruth Rennet, the president, will preside, and Miss Marie Poirer and her committee will serve refreshments.

The Junior Fortnightly will hold a Valentine Dance with the Valiantine Junior Old and New Friday evening, Feb. 10, at Fortnightly Hall, which is to be very attractively decorated by Dennison's. Ned Marshall's orchestra will supply the music, and refreshments will be served. The committee planning the dance consists of the Misses Ruth Rennet, Marie Poirer, and Colette Gaffney. A large attendance from both Winchester and Malden is expected.

WINCHESTER SKI ENTHUSIASTS DEVELOP NEW SKI CENTER IN VERMONT

Prominent among Vermont's new winter centers this season is Brain-tree Valley, where an 1100-foot ski tow feeds five trails, a ski school is in operation, and a roaring fire in an unique fireplace offers cheer in a newly-furnished two-story log cabin.

Located on the Central Vermont Railway and 170 miles from Boston on auto route 12-A, Braintree Valley ski slopes has an enviable reputation as a "snow pocket" even during winters of sparse snow cover. Marcus Poirer and Ted Dismel of Winchester have developed the 15 mile valley for skiing with the co-operation of the Randolph Chamber of Commerce.

Sportiest of trails is the Whisk-away, which drops about 900 feet over three-quarters of a mile. The ski school, which teaches the Arlberg technique is headed by Brad Adams, former Williams College skier who taught last winter in Oregon. Among his assistants is Stan Hunt of Randolph.

Outstanding among the features of this new ski region is the log cabin situated 200 yards from the base of the tow. One unique part of the cabin is the fireplace, which is built in the center of the room and has a teepee chimney suspended above the burning logs. This construction allows the fire to be seen from every corner of the room. Also in the lodge is a ski shop with complete facilities and stock of latest equipment. A small kitchen provides light lunches, and perhaps best of all, is the provision for buying ski tow tickets within the cabin, thus saving the time and trouble of provided at the tow, and overnight accommodations are available in the Valley for over 300 persons.

The Central Vermont Railway, on which the Boston-Montreal train runs, winds through the Valley, a quarter of a mile from the tow. Weekly barndances are held on Saturday nights at the Braintree town hall. Skating rinks at both Braintree and Randolph are kept cleared all winter.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS WIN

The Winchester High School girls' basketball team played their first game with the alumnae last Friday in the high school gymnasium beating them by a score of 19-12. Pris-the high scorers for the high school scoring ten and nine points respectively. Following is the summary of These Social Security fellows have evidently found out that we do not like the scheme. How they got the information is a mystery, but what they are doing with it is not tending to alter our opinion in the least. Following the demand for weekly payroll data for the past four years, we now receive no less, no more, than 16 blanks and forms which we presume they intend to have us fill out. We wonder where the limit is; just how long a little business man will put up with this imposition besides being robbed. We have sent out checks to the tune of $526 during the past year as our tribute to the rulers of our fair land for permission to do business. Along with this sum was $100 for workmen's compensation, a $23 payroll excise tax, $154 for revenue and some $887 in other taxes—all just because we run a little one-horse business! Now it does seem that in our case at least, there is a limit—not only to the amount of money our rulers are sucking out of us, but to the unnecessary work and detail required. As Social Security now stands those who are striving to do business and those who are willing to work for their living are just a lot of suckers for the bunch who don't work and don't intend to work. No wonder we hear that from now on we are destined to have 11 or 12 million idle continually with us. No wonder that business does not show any increase. Unless we are different from others in our class we may as well forget the business and devote our entire time to filling out nonsensical blanks and giving repeat information. Now that the Republicans have some little say in affairs we might, we suppose, apply for a Social Security job. The Lord knows they must have plenty of them, to judge by the mass of data they demand from this little plant. Whether we have reached the limit of our endurance has not at this point been settled. This last batch—and batch is the name, of blanks, a good inch in thickness—has been laid away. We hate to anticipate a solid week's work on top of giving them practically all the money we make. On the other hand, while we will willingly go to jail, we know it's money they want and that we will get a nice fat fine, if they can soak it to us. There is no question but what this Social Security should be enlarged and extended. If they will only do that there will be no one to furnish the labor nor pay in the money.

SOCRATES SAYS-

BUDGET HOWLERS

It is said that "budget howlers" for 100 years, since 1837, have been just like the present day "bellyachers." (Apologies to Mr. Kennedy.) Thank the Lord that Uncle Sam has always had just enough sound citizens at the right time—that's why we are still eating at all—from the fat they saved by "howling."

Socrates

Now Mr. Adams if you were a Scotchman, would the words "Thistle Dhu" have any special meaning for you? Place their possible origin, Adams—"The origin of the word is definitely Scotch of course—Scotch thistles like Scotch bairnies are equally important in the Scottish theme. The Thistle Dhu must be done in Scottish with bairnies."

Fedimen. "Not bad Mr. Adams. Come to the cabaret and you will find you are correct in your answer. Now our second question should be a third question, one for you Van Doan. What date and event in 1938 is associated with a storm leaves, the Congregational Steeple and Darkness at Beirgams?"

Kieran. "Eating in the dark was a general pastime on Sept. 21 when the hurricane was at its height. The Congregational Steeple was a bit blown and as for the leaves—they rode to earth on the branches. Ha! Ha!"

Fedimen. Correct Mr. Kieran. The Town Hall is staging a Hurricane you can't afford to miss. All the thrills with none of the fright. Now our third question, one for you Van Doan. What form of action with the human hands rhymes with tapping and what is meant by the term strobite? These questions were submitted by Mrs. Clarence Whorf of 2 Central green.

Van Doan. "Clapping rhymes with tapping of course and as for strobite, isn't that the radiated process that acts like radium in the dark?"

Fedimen. "Exactly right, and you can't see and hear the patter of illuminated hands in the darkened Town Hall on Feb. 3 and 4."

Skinner. Now we have just two more groups to answer, the first was sent in by Mrs. Jesse Wilson of 22 Lakewood road.

What radio program uses, in its title, the name of a valuable metal and second—what famous dancer, of the fair sex, is a leader in the Moderne School of Dance?"

Kieran. "That's my question, Mary Wigman for the Dancing and would "Hi Yo Silver" do for the radio program?"

Fedimen. "Quite correct. Both these entertainments will be represented in the Cabaret and now last of all her. Raymond Wilkins of Cabot street has sent in a group of Mother Goose Rhymes.

You are asked to fill in the missing words, four out of four.

"Here we go round the Mulberry Bush
On what kind of a morning?"

Skinner. "Cold and frosty."

Fedimen. "Correct. The second one. There was an old woman tossed up in a basket Seventeen times as high as—what?"

Skinner. "As high as the moon. Very simple."

Fedimen. "Now you are to give the title of these two rhymes.

"Higher than a House, Higher than a tree
Of what ever can it be?"

"It lives in winter. Dies in summer
And grows with its roots upward!"

What no answers? That means $5 for the Winchester Hospital on that one. Ping! The answer is a star and an icicle. If you come to the Town Hall you will see Mrs. Fulton Brown's spectacular finale of the Cabaret which is built around a Celestial Symphony of cold and frosty icicles, moon-ford to miss it!

I doubt it!
Good night. Until next week at this hour.

FOR FATHERS ONLY

Parent-teacher education hit a new high (to use the slang expression) on Thursday evening, Jan. 12, when about 300 fathers assembled in the High School Auditorium and enjoyed a most inspiring and unusual talk by Dr. Linwood Chase on the father-child relationship. Dinner was prepared under the direction of Miss Gladys Niven of the Domestic Science Department of the High School, and served to 201 fathers previously to the lecture. It was a deliciously cooked meal with generous servings and great appreciation is due Miss Niven for her efficient management.

In his talk Dr. Chase proved himself the humane, reasonable and understanding educator as his reputation well deserves. He stressed the importance of habit and emotions and their ultimate effects on the entire community. He advocated the cooperative system in the family whereby the helpfulness and attitude of the child was for the good of the family as a group as well as the future development of the child himself. A question period carried well over into the second hour and gave a tremendous breadth of reactions to this age-old problem which is so vital to good healthy living. And fathers are even now offering suggestions as to the subject to be handled for a similar evening next year!

The tremendous success of this evening is of course due to the efficient organization and co-operation of all those mothers of the Winchester Mothers' Associations who eagerly gave their time in the matter of arrangements. Particular credit is due the various chairmen representing the elementary schools, Mrs. Stanley Barnes for the George Washington School, Mrs. H. Nutter of the Mystic School, Mrs. Ernest Clark of the Lincoln School, Mrs. Robert Byer of the Noonan School and Mrs. Marshall R. Phil of the Wyman School, who also acted as general chairman.

The Winchester Mothers' Association therefore wish to thank these people, Miss Niven, and the School Department, which, with Mr. Quinn's leadership and support, was an inspiring attribute. Mrs. Charles E. Greene as president of the Central Board of the Mothers' Associations was in constant touch with the chairman of arrangements for this event and as always was an enthusiastic help in its success.

We are now equipped to stamp billfolds and fountain pens with names or initials in either gold or silver leaf. The Winchester Star, 3 Church street, phone Win. 0029.

MYSTERY CLEARED UP

Through the vigilance of Mr. Frank H. Knight of Ridgeway, the Central Hardware Company was absolved of complicity in house robbing last Saturday forenoon, although the police were really the deciding factor in discovering the perpetrator of the near crime. When Mr. Knight saw someone attempting to remove a window in the residence of Mr. Philip S. Sawyer next door, and enter the house, he decided to investigate. By the time he got to the house he could find no one there, although the window was gone. So he notified the police, who responded in force. The mystery was dark and deep until Sergeant Cassidy decided to inquire at the Central Hardware Company regarding its orders for glass setting. Thereafter the sun broke forth and all was serene, for Mr. Sawyer had decided to have the glass set in the window and the Central workman decided it was easier to do it at the store than at the house. All parties connected with the incident received compliments for their vigilance and perspicacious handling of the matter in one way or another.

HOUSE-WARMING PARTY

On Wednesday evening, Jan. 18, a group of young people attended a house-warming at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Capone on Linden street. Mrs. Capone lived up to her reputation as a superb cook when it comes to spaghetti and meat balls. Unanimous in their praise of Mrs. Capone's cooking ability, the guests promised to return at a future date. After the delicious repast the guests enjoyed impromptu singing and games, with Andrew Capone rendering one of his famous solos. Among those attending were: Barbara and Lenore MacNiff, Ruth Collins and Dorothy Hamilton of this town, and Betty Canning, Rita Clark and Jean Mersom of Woburn; Robert Ambrose, Frank Murphy, Ralph Ambrose, John Lynch, Thomas Donaghey, R. Sheldon Hamilton, Harry Collins, Thomas McPartlin and Gordon Farrell, all of this town.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"The Great Waltz," with Luise Rainer and Fernand Gravet, plus Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol," starring Reginald Owen and little Terry Kilburn, is the double feature program opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden Friday. Musically the picture is outstanding. Symphony orchestras of 90 pieces, augmented by rare Stradivarius and Amati violins are recorded through nine separate sound channels, the largest recording in screen history. So perfect is this recording that single instruments stand out in this group. Toscha Sidel, the famous violinist, acts as concert master. All musical arrangements are by Dmitri Tiomkin, the Russian pianist-composer, with lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein II. "The Blue Danube" and "Tales of the Vienna Woods," sung by Miss Korjus with a solo violin and full orchestral accompaniment, are the highlights of the musical score. "A Christmas Carol," based on Charles Dickens' story of the Yuletide, brings to the screen Scrooge, Tiny Tim, the Cratchits and the rest of the characters loved for nearly a hundred years. Terry Kilburn plays the crippled Tiny Tim, with Gene and Kathleen Lockhart portraying the Cratchits.

AMERICA BUILDS WORLD'S SAFEST SHIPS

AMERICANS may justly be proud of the fact that the Panama Railroad Steamship liner "Ancon," now being built at Quincy, Mass., and her two running mates, the "Panama" and the "Cristobal," will be the safest ships in the world. Walls, ceilings, floors and other structural parts will be built of steel. All-metal furniture and decorations of aluminum, glass plastics, will combine to make the ship completely fireproof, according to specifications recently adopted by the United States Maritime Commission. Special safety construction also makes these vessels practically sink-proof. All three ships will enter service early in 1939, plying between New York, and the Canal Zone, via Haiti.

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, January 22.

The Golden Text is: "Ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect; for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he." (Deuteronomy 32:4.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon are the following: "And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sicknesses and all manner of diseases among the people." (Matthew 4:23.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The question, 'What is Truth?' is answered by demonstration, by healing both disease and sin; and the demonstration shows that Christian healing confers the most health and makes the best men." (p. viii: 118.)

HIROGLYPHIC TABLETS FOUND IN EGYPT NEAR WHERE ROSSETTA STONE WAS DISCOVERED

Reports that workmen at Rosetta, in northern Egypt, have recently found four large slabs of basalt bearing Egyptian hieroglyphics recall that there the famous Rosetta Stone, key to the history of Egypt, was discovered by Napoleon's soldiers in 1799. The newly uncovered slabs are reported to be identical in material and somewhat similar in appearance to the famous Rosetta Stone, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Although a mere slab of black basalt, the Rosetta Stone is one of the chief treasures of the British Museum in London, for it proved to be worth its weight in gold to historians as spokesman of ancient Egypt's hitherto mute civilization.

Found by French Officer in Napoleon's Army

Measuring three feet, nine inches long, two feet, four and one half inches wide, and 11 inches thick, it bears three inscriptions, identical in meaning, but different in writing, the bulletin continues. Fourteen lines are written in hieroglyphics, or picture writing used in state and ceremonial documents; 32 lines are written in demotic, or the simplified, popular form of the day; and 54 lines are written in ancient Greek. As Greek was known, scholars for the first time had a clue with which to decipher a hitherto closed tongue.

The now priceless tablet was uncovered in August, 1799, by a French officer named Bousard, of Napoleon's Egyptian army, near Fort Julien, of Rosetta, at the mouth of the west branch of the Nile. Taken by him to the home of a General Menou, it stayed there for two years until Napoleon ordered it removed to the Imperial National, which he founded in Cairo.

In 1801, with the surrender of the French to the English in Egypt, the stone, by Article XVI of the Treaty of Capitulation, was taken by the British and sent to England, where in 1802, it was eventually turned over to the British Museum.

Several translations were attempted, but Dr. Thomas Young, a British scientist, was the first to decipher the hieroglyphic writing. He succeeded in reading the name Ptolemy on the cartouche, or oval bearing the royal name, which appeared on the Stone. In 1822, a young Frenchman, Jean Francois Champollion, after 14 years of study, finally announced the key to the decipherment of the Stone and the understanding of hieroglyphic writing.

Rosetta Looks Like Old Turkish Town

The inscription of the Stone is a copy of a decree, issued in 195 B. C., by the General Council of Egyptian priests assembled at Memphis, ordering that additional honors be paid to the king, Ptolemy V, Epiphanes. The occasion was the commemoration of the coronation of Ptolemy and occurred during the 36th year of his reign. Rosetta is 36 miles northeast of Alexandria. Known today chiefly for the stone which bears its name, Rosetta was, in the Middle Ages, a flourishing port and a center of trade and communication between Alexandria and Cairo. However, with the opening of the Mahmoudia Canal, in 1819, joining Alexandria to the Nile, trade was diverted to Alexandria and Rosetta lost its prestige as an important commercial port at the west end of the great river.

Many Winchester residents attended the auction of the furnishings of the Dow Estate in Woburn last Friday. The home, which was badly damaged by fire sometime ago, was at one time one of the finest dwellings in Woburn. It is now being torn down.

A new collection of cruise, resort and travel hats, together with immediate models for stay in towners at Miss Ekman's, 15 Church street.

Mr. Charles Murphy of the Texaco firm of Murphy & Reardon is confined to his home in Stetson Hall with the Grippe.

The building, once used by Warren Academy on Academy Hill, Woburn, is now being used for a sewing project. Many Winchester residents went to this academy 60 or more years ago. Among antique collections in the older families one frequently finds pictures of the building and pupils. Many years ago it was turned over to the City of Woburn for use as an industrial school. It is sad to note that a very fine marble statue of Abijah Thompson, who was a great benefactor of this academy and who died about 1793 has had his face painted a bright red. Another marble statue of Mr. Warren who founded the academy has been knocked off the pedestal and broken.

Mr. Fred Fiske of Chelmsford died last week-end. He was married in Winchester to Harriet Lydia Locke at her home on Ridge street in 1890. He leaves a brother-in-law, Samuel S. Symmes, a niece, Mrs. Curtis W. Nash, and a nephew Marshall W. Symmes in this town. He was 80 years of age and had been in poor health since November.

Mr. James Hennessey, who passed away in Woburn Thursday leaves a brother, Patrick Hennessey of this town. Mr. Hennessey before taking up his residence in Woburn resided in the north end of the town.

"THE CITADEL" AT THE UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Described as the most impressive screen adaptation of a popular novel in years, "The Citadel" based on Dr. A. J. Cronin's best-seller, begins a four-day engagement at the University Theatre next Sunday. Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer at its British studios in Denham, England, on an American scale more pretentious than is customary abroad, the picture co-stars Robert Donat, distinguished young Englishman, and Rosalind Russell of Hollywood, with a cast of more than 100 players. "The Citadel" is a story of the adventures in courage encountered by an obscure young physician and his school teacher bride in the coal mines. He rises to an exclusive society practice in London, forgets the high ethics of his craft, but is brought to his senses by the influence of his wife following a faulty operation on his best friend.

Cronin develops several years to practice in the colliery section and much of the novel was based on his own experience.

"Spring Madness," the associate feature with Maurine O'Sullivan and Lew Ayres in the leading roles, offers a new and sophisticated slant on the contemporary American college scene. The picture presents the problem of boy and girl on the threshold of stepping from the campus into a broader world and faced with the difficulties of marriage on a shoestring.

"Submarine Patrol," which starts Thursday, is the never-before-told story of the heroic "Spitfire Fleet," focused on the Sub Chaser 599 and its motley, ill-assorted crew of civilian odds and ends—the strangest crew ever to man a fighting ship.

When the fiery wooden craft is plunged into the thick of the U-boat warfare the men learn to stand and deliver in the face of danger. Such stellar players as Preston Foster, George Bancroft, Slim Summerville, John Carradine, Joan Valerie, Henry Armetta, Warren Hymer, Douglas Fowley, J. Farrell MacDonald and Maxie Rosencloob are included in the cast.

Between Rehearsals for Winton Club Cabaret
(Candid Camera Shot by Mrs. James N. Jones)

WINTON CLUB CHATTER

As only one week remains before the Winton Club will present its annual Cabaret at the Town Hall on the nights of Feb. 3 and 4 for the benefit of the Winchester Hospital, the cast and its many directors are keeping all other engagements secondary to the all important task of attending rehearsals, arranging costumes, assembling tickets and the numerous other items that revolve around the tremendous undertaking of the show. The holidays are barely over when rehearsals begin and if it were not for the plans laid far back in the summer months, it would be impossible to achieve results of a smoothly run entertainment.

The rehearsals at the Country Club are very serious affairs! Mr. Chester Brooks, the coach, assembles the groups and Mrs. Charles Woolley, chairman of the Cabaret, often stands beside him, offering suggestions as the pattern of each dance is worked into shape. There is always a group of girls watching from the sidelines, some of whom are giving their time as alternate performers for each number, a thankless but necessary assurance of the security of the final performance. Members of the various committees, like Mrs. Sanford Petts, are busy taking names and sizes of shoes to be procured for the performers. Mrs. Fulton Brown drifts in and out, discussing costumes and scenery for her number, the finale, "Celestial Symphony." Though Mrs. Woolley has a policeman's whistle in her hand most of the day, it is used only when the gaiety of rehearsal begins to eclipse its serious purpose.

Mr. Harold Hovey is most co-operative on an unexpected situation that may arise at the Club and thanks to his interested attention; he always sees a part of the group who are making the Cabaret possible. When rehearsals cannot be held at the Country Club due to other engagements, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Farnsworth very kindly offer the hospitality of their home, and the large basement room of their new residence on Central Green is an ideal place to assemble. Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. French have also opened their lovely home on Lodgepole road for the choral and quartette rehearsals which are under the skilled direction of Mary Ranton Witham who has already put in hours of work with these groups.

Mrs. M. Walker Jones shares honors with Mr. Brooks as one of the most important persons at rehearsals. She has charge of all the music, of which playing at rehearsals is the most arduous job. Mrs. Churchill Hinder is doing a large share of this playing, and as in the past, her marvelous skill and perfect rhythm make it easy for the cast to learn their parts. Another of Mrs. Jones' helpers is Mrs. Harold Blanchard, and these three make an unusually strong foundation for the musical end of the show.

The flower girls and those who will sell smoke, are to wear blue birds cut out and entirely assembled by Mrs. Sanford Petts and Mrs. Kenneth Pond. This is a task that means hours of work, as there are 16 girls in this group, all daughters of Winton Club members. Mrs. T. Price Wilson is in charge of the costumes which arrived on Monday in countless trunks sent by the Rogers Co. She and her committee have been busy hours ahead, for they are desirous of making each performer feel completely satisfied with their individual costume.

On the night of the Pre-View Mrs. Lucius Smith will be in charge of a spread for the cast. They will be served coffee and doughnuts to refresh them after their first nervous plunge into theatrical life. In 1939, "Taking part in the Cabaret is often a bit terrifying but when Saturday night is over, it always brings regrets that the end has come of a very exciting and delightful adventure. Everyone has made new friends, and all those who have given so generously of their time and energy and money cannot help but feel the satisfaction that comes with "a deed well done."

GEORGE FREEMAN ARNOLD

George Freeman Arnold, for nearly 40 years a florist in Winchester, died Monday morning, Jan. 23, at his home, 7 Dix terrace, after a long illness.

Mr. Arnold was born March 6, 1862, in Haverhill. After receiving his education in the Haverhill schools, he spent 14 years in the State's service as a gardener before coming to Winchester in 1900 to accept a position with John Newman & Sons, florists, whose greenhouses were located on Cottage avenue.

In 1901 Mr. Arnold opened his own florist shop on Common street and continued to conduct a successful business at that location for 30 years, numbering his patrons in many cities and towns throughout the Mystic Valley. He attained a wide reputation for the excellence of his floral designs.

Mr. Arnold became associated with the Winchester Conservatories Inc. in 1931, and from that time until his death acted as manager of the Conservatories' shop in the center, first located on Common street, later in the Museum Building and latterly on Thompson street. He was widely known by people of all walks in life and was held in esteem by all who knew him.

For seven years, during its reorganization period, Mr. Arnold was president of and active in the Winchester Chamber of Commerce. He previously had been active in the old Board of Trade. He was a member of William Parkman Lodge of Masons, of the Royal Arch Chapters of Winchester and Woburn; Hugh de Payens Commandery, Knights Templar; Alejo Temple of the Mystic Shrine; Eastern Star, Waterford Lodge of Odd Fellows; Victoria Rebekah Lodge, Winchester Lodge of Elks and Winchester Council, Royal Arcanum.

He was a member of the Church of the Epiphany serving for a time as vestryman and some years ago singing in the church choir. He was interested and active in civic affairs, serving as town meeting member in Precinct 5 and acting as teller at many of the regular and special meetings.

On Jan. 6, 1885, he married Miss Josephine E. Parker of Woburn, their golden anniversary having been observed with a largely attended reception in 1935.

Mrs. Arnold survives, with a daughter, Mrs. Arthur N. Little and Ernest R. Eustis, representing William Parkman Lodge of Masons; Paul N. Shiverick, representing Mystic Valley Lodge; George B. Cummings, Winchester Royal Arch Chapter; George P. Wyer, Woburn Royal Arch Chapter; and A. B. Wilson, representing Hugh de Payens Commandery, K. T. Intimate was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany with the rector, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, officiating. Representative of the various organizations with which the deceased had been associated were present.

Bearers were W. Allan Wilde, John R. Wallace, Arthur N. Little and Ernest R. Eustis, representing William Parkman Lodge of Masons; Paul N. Shiverick, representing Mystic Valley Lodge; George B. Cummings, Winchester Royal Arch Chapter; George P. Wyer, Woburn Royal Arch Chapter; and A. B. Wilson, representing Hugh de Payens Commandery, K. T. Intimate was in Wildwood Cemetery.

On the night of the Pre-View Mrs. Lucius Smith will be in charge of a spread for the cast. They will be served coffee and doughnuts to refresh them after their first nervous plunge into theatrical life. In 1939, "Taking part in the Cabaret is often a bit terrifying but when Saturday night is over, it always brings regrets that the end has come of a very exciting and delightful adventure. "STAGE DOOR"

"Stage Door," that most popular hit by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman, will be presented by the Parish Players on Feb. 10 at 8:15 p. m. at the First Congregational Church. Combining comedy, drama, and farce, this play had a long run on Broadway supplying Margaret Sullivan with her first real success. Later it provided excellent starring roles for Katharine Hepburn and Ginger Rogers in their moving picture version.

Laid in the "Footlights Club," Stage Door tells the story of the theatre from the unusual angle of the private life of the potential stars in their struggle for success and shows the conflict between the theatre and Hollywood with its glamor and quicker pace.

In the large cast are all types of characters from the simple and girlish to the tragic and super sophisticated, each supplying her share of tears and laughter.

The Parish Players are presenting Stage Door in its entirety as it was provided in the Music Box Theatre in New York. To accommodate the huge cast, which will include many new players, the stage of the "Little Theatre Beneath a Spire" has been enlarged. With rehearsals and production well advanced under the direction of Francis Hart, Jr., Stage Door promises to meet the standard set by the work of the Parish Players.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Six members were absent from the meeting of Jan. 26, one of whom has already made up for his absence.

The average monthly attendance percentage for our district has been steadily increasing until now it stands at a figure substantially larger than that of the Winchester club; which is another way of stating that this club is becoming a drag on the district instead of a booster as it should be. We expect to better our standing this month, however, and it is to be hoped that our members will take care to see that we do not lapse from our customary standard of a "better-than-average" attendance record.

Again a change of scene in our dining quarters with members, visitors and guests paying their devotions in the delightful sun-room at the Country Club.

Harry Winn has succumbed to the lure of the southland with the result that we shall miss his cheery greetings for the next few weeks.

George Bernard Shaw defends his opinion that there will never be another world war in an interview secured by the "Rotarian" for its February issue. And the debate of the month has to do with the proposed control of inter-state chain stores, a question which directly affects a majority of the American public. We know you will want to read at least two or three articles, so watch out for the February "Rotarian."

At this writing attendance of Winchester Rotarians at the Mid-Year Assembly in Boston on the 27th inst. promises to be disappointing. But we shall learn what our district officers have done and are doing to bring their charge to its present high state of efficiency, we shall meet other Rotarians from all points in the district and enjoy delightful social events and doubtless obtain ideas for the betterment of our own club service. And we hope to be pleasantly surprised by a larger attendance of Winchester Rotarians than is now in prospect.

Charles T. Cahill, Boston Rotarian and representative of the United Shoe Machinery Corporation appeared at our meeting today as guest speaker. His topic was "The Romance and History of Shoes." From the museum of the corporation he brought an intensely interesting exhibit consisting of scores of shoe specimens dating from ancient Egypt to the present day; shoes once in the possession of Mary, Queen of Scots; King Edward VII of England; Tom Thumb; shoes from the polar regions, the tropics, the mountains and the deserts; shoes of most unusual patterns and astonishingly crude materials. And at the close of his talk Mr. Cahill assured us that the modern shoe has reached its highest development and most extensive production right here in our own Massachusetts.

Mr. Cahill was a rare presentation indeed and we would express our sincere appreciation to him and to the great corporation which he represents.

RAYMOND HOLDSWORTH
Associate Community Chairman in Winchester for Greater Boston's 1939 Community Fund Campaign

COMMUNITY CAMPAIGN ORGANIZATION COMPLETE

The Community Fund Drive is under way. The exceptionally large Winchester group of volunteers has been equipped for the unselfish work to be carried on this week and next. The district directors, their assistants and the many district captains have marshaled their forces for the "red feather" campaign.

The red feather has come to be the emblem of Greater Boston's Community Fund, the badge of a better neighbor to the sick, the needy and the unfortunate. The wearer of the "red feather" has given to the Fund and has done his bit to help little children, to guide youth to aid families in distress and to give people a chance to become self-respecting citizens. Every dollar given makes possible three dollars worth of service, since the total raised for the Community Fund Campaign provides but one third of the amount actually expended by the 150 agency members each year.

Raymond A. Holdsworth, administrative chairman, when interviewed at headquarters last night said: "The splendid work of over 500 volunteers can be completed with greater ease if contributions are made early in the Campaign. We know that our fellow-townsmen will welcome their 'neighbors,' whose task it is to put the Campaign over the top, in a truly friendly spirit. It is this very spirit which makes the activity of all concerned with the Drive so gratifying.

MRS. BERTHA WHITEMORE LAULER

Mrs. Bertha Whitmore Lauler, widow of Walter A. Lauler, died suddenly Wednesday morning, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Wilbur 63 Swan road. She was 70 years old.

Native of Reading, Vt., Mrs. Lauler formerly resided in Brookline, coming to make her home with her daughter in Winchester 10 years ago. She was a member of the Woman's Republican Club of Boston, the Woman's City Club and of the First Church of Christ Scientist in Boston. Her daughter is her only survivor.

Christian Science funeral services were conducted by Mr. George Lauler Thursday afternoon in the chapel at Forest Hills Cemetery where the interment was made.

RETIRING PASTOR GREETED BY CHURCH OF THE EPIPHANY

Flowers from the altar of the Church of the Epiphany on Sunday morning, Jan. 22, went to carry greetings of the rector and the parish to Rev. William H. Smith, who was on that evening to end 30 years of public and official service to their parish church, the New Hope Baptist Church. The rector, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, spoke of the significance to all Winchester of Mr. Smith's life and work. As he puts aside his official ministry, Winchester is glad to know that he remains here and that the ministry of his Christian personality and his right-minded attitudes and relationships will continue to be fruitful in the community.

Mr. R. H. B. Smith of Fenwick road, spent this week in New York City at the National Lumberman's Convention.

CLUBWOMEN TO HOLD FINE ARTS AND ANTIQUES CON-FERENCE IN WINCHESTER

Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, Federation President, a Guest

Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs is to be among the guests and will speak at the all-day conference of Fine Arts and Preservation of Antiques for the eighth district, to be held next Tuesday, Jan. 31, in Fortnightly Hall with the Fortnightly and the Woburn Women's Club as joint hostesses. Other guests will be the Federation's third vice president, Mrs. Olaf Hoff, Jr., and Mrs. John F. Capron, chairman of the division of the Preservation of Antiques.

During the morning program Mrs. Evans will speak on "What Shall I Read," and will present Mrs. Miriam Scott whose subject is "Plays of the Moment." Miss Hudson will present Sidney N. Shurcliff, who will speak upon and show colored pictures of "The Restoration of Williamsburg—the Colonial Capital of Virginia."

Mrs. George W. Hayden is in charge of reservations for luncheon which will be served at one of the local churches. Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds, president of the Fortnightly, will welcome the morning's guests, and Mrs. Leroy M. Johnson, president of the Woburn Women's Club, those of the afternoon.

Mrs. Snyder will open the afternoon program with an address upon "Appreciation of Music." The Fortnightly Glee Club, accompanied by Miss Lucy L. Wilcox, will sing a group of songs under the direction of Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham. Mrs. Seymour will present Mrs. Bertha Ashby-Snyder in a colored illustrated lecture on "Byzantine Paintings—Distinction, Charm and Influence."

The afternoon program will be closed by Mrs. Snyder, who will present Ernestine Bayler, soprano, in a group of songs.

STREET FAIR MEETING

On Monday, Jan. 23, the En Ka Society held its first Street Fair managers' meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Guy B. Howe, 319 Main street.

Some twenty 28 managers (chairmen of booths and other activities) present along with the Street Fair general committee. After enjoying box lunches the hostess served coffee and dessert.

At two o'clock, Mrs. A. Allen Kimball, chairman of the Street Fair committee, called the meeting to order. Committees were then selected and extensive plans formulated and discussed. Mrs. Kimball outlined organization and policies and the more recent interesting data to be used in the forthcoming fair; to be held all day on the Town Hall grounds, Sat., May 20.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The following humorous story is taken from the "National Voice," and is copied in the January issue of the state temperance paper, "Our Message."

The Cure
A doctor called to see a sick man. Having done all he could for the time being, he told the patient's wife to take her husband's temperature in the morning. When he called the next day he asked her if she had done as suggested.

"Well," she replied, "as we didn't have a thermometer in the house, I put the barometer on his chest and registered 'Very Dry,' so I gave him a pint of beer and he's gone to work."

It is a striking characteristic of devotees of beer that it is panacea for almost all bodily ailments, an important ingredient in culinary recipes, and has also been known to raise hair on a fence rail.

The faith of a beer drinker in his beer is something almost sublime.

SUCCESS

Along the silvered halls of time there rises a voice, soft but clear, that if we would our lives resign to him whom Charlemagne held most dear. This creed will serve our purpose here.

Not what you get, but what you give; Not what you preach, but how you live; Not what you win, but how you strive to keep your faith and hope alive.

And when at length our life is spent—So short and insignificant—How shall we know if we have won Or lost the race that all must run?

If you have real friends by the score—A few who love you even more; And if you leave some works behind That live on in the hearts of men—Then your success is great, my friend!

Linden Callhoun

How many recall the good old days when the children of the neighborhood would give a show in the cellar or barn, and the admission was paid in pins, five extra entitling one to a reserved seat?

GUAM COMMANDANT FORMER WINCHESTER RESIDENT

Many in Winchester have been especially interested in the focussing of Congressional attention upon the problem of providing a stronger defense for Guam, because of the fact that a former resident of this town, Lieut. Walter S. Duffon, is Naval Commandant of the island.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Duffon formerly made their home in the Winchester Chambers while he was attached to the Boston Navy Yard. They left Winchester last May to go to Guam, leaving behind them many friends made during their residence here.

WINCHESTER GRANGE

Winchester Grange, 343 Patrons of Husbandry, held its first regular meeting of the new year Tuesday evening in Lyeon Hall, having as its guests patrons from Reading, Saugus and Medford Granges.

Newly installed Worthy Master Harry E. Gardner presided and the entertainment program, directed by the Worthy Lecturer, Blanche V. Brown, P.M., included the interesting motion picture, "Give the Fresh Eggs a Break." There was a large attendance.

And how many Winchesterites remember the days when we bought our coffee and had to roast it in the oven, and then we kids had to grind it in the old coffee mill for mother?

WINCHESTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Winchester Historical Society will hold its midwinter meeting on Thursday, Feb. 2, at 8 p. m. in the Winchester Public Library. The lecture will be given by Rev. Laurence L. Barber, pastor of the Orthodox Unitarian Church of Arlington. Mr. Barber is the president of the Arlington Historical Society and was formerly the president of the Clock Club. He is a most interesting speaker.

The members who heard his talk last winter on "The Quest of the Quaint" will enjoy hearing him on the subject, "Makers of Time."

Anyone who is interested in old clocks is cordially invited by the Historical Society to attend this meeting.

RECREATION CENTER

The fourth in a series of five dances will be held at the Community Recreation Center Friday night, Jan. 27. Boys 16 and over and girls 15 and over who have registered at the center are invited.

The tournaments are now under way and considerable interest has been shown in the different classes.

EVENING BRANCH AT TRINITY, BOSTON

Ten members of the Evening Branch of the Women's Division of the Epiphany Church Service League attended a diocesan dinner and conference at Trinity Church, Boston, Jan. 18.

The Winchester evening group has been very active in the parish for years, but it was their first participation in a diocesan meeting. But it is only in recent years that the Diocese of Massachusetts has realized how many women's time during the daylight hours is claimed by home or business or a profession and that a special meeting for them has been arranged as a part of the annual meeting of the Church Service League. The large number present confirmed the forecast made by the diocesan leader of the Women's Division of the Church Service League, Miss Eva D. Corey of Brookline, that in the future much important work of the church will be done by these evening branches.

An interesting fact about the Winchester delegation was the number of presidents and ex-presidents. In addition to this year's president, Mrs. W. James Horn, there were three former presidents: Mrs. John Hanlon, Mrs. John Hodson, Jr., Mrs. George Osborne, and Mrs. John Sharon.

Before dinner the Winchester group saw the new chancel and altar of Trinity with a member of the Trinity staff giving interesting information about the choosing of the plan through an open competition by church architects, the sources of the material and workmanship, and the symbolic and historic significance of many details.

Mrs. John Sharon reported to the Winchester League Tuesday, Jan. 24, on the pilgrimage aspect of the visit and on the dramatic sketches and addresses.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The first of the season's morning musicales will be held Wednesday, Feb. 1, at 10 o'clock at the home of Mayola Wood, 65 Wedgemere avenue. Mary Ranton Witham will direct the program which will include folk songs of various countries and English Country Dances, the latter in instrumental arrangement and played as piano solos by Lucy L. Wilcox.

Alice Bennett of Ipswich, who gave so much pleasure a year ago, will sing a group of Irish and Norwegian songs; Welsh melodies will be sung by Sadie Horne; Sophia Gardner will sing English songs; French folk tunes will be sung by Annette Hughes and Adelaide Winslip will sing Scotch airs.

All are urged to come and enjoy the simple charm and poignant appeal of folk music, and to have coffee, which will be served preceding the program. Madeleine Zimmerman, chairman of the music committee, is in charge of arrangements.

MISS MABEL S. REED

Miss Mabel S. Reed, who died Friday morning, Jan. 29, in Stoneham, was the sister of Mr. Albert A. Reed of Stevens street.

Miss Reed, a native of Hingham, formerly lived in Allston and was for some years employed as a bookkeeper for the Boston firm of James Townsend, Inc. She was the daughter of George R. and Ella (Harriman) Reed.

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Universalist Church in East Boston. Interment was in the Hingham Center Cemetery.

Winchester youth recently wrote in his school composition that "out in the great open spaces men are men and Indians are old men and golfers." How times have changed from the days when many of our old timers went to school!

WINCHESTER HOST TO SCOUTS

"Winchester will be host to more than a thousand Boy Scouts on Feb. 11, when the seventh annual rally and exposition of the Fellsland Council will be held in the town hall from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 in the evening.

The 264 Scouts of the Winchester Boy Scout, and Scouts of Medford and Burlington, it being one of the most active and successful councils in Massachusetts.

One of the features of the coming exposition will be the presentation of Eagle awards to 10 Scouts of the council. It is the hope of the committee to secure the services of a man of national prominence to make the presentations.

Clayton Colcord is general chairman of the exposition committee. Associate chairmen are: Edward Grosvenor, Stafford Rogers, Warren Maynard, John Casler, Harry Moore, Clarence Thompson, W. Allan Wilde, John Kenerson, Whitelaw Wright, Ken Hall and Edward Nelson, scout executives of the council.

Admission will be 25 cents.

MRS. ROGERS RETAINS HER COMMITTEES

Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers will retain her membership on the three important committees she has had: Civil Service, Foreign Affairs and Veterans Affairs, in the new assignments, despite the increase in Republican membership.

Mrs. Rogers is the ranking Republican member of both Civil Service and Veterans Affairs and it was felt that her long experience was too valuable to lose on either committee.

In the event of Republican organization of the House following a future election, a chairmanship of either committee would go to Mrs. Rogers.

Her interest in foreign affairs and her work on that important committee was retained in the new assignments as well, despite the fact that membership on three important committees is not common. During the last few years when the Republican membership was at its lowest, the minority members were given various additional assignments but the increase in members at the last election provided more minority members for assignment.

WINTER WEATHER

Winchester experienced real winter weather this week. Following the extreme cold which hit Sunday night, the light snow of Monday, followed by thawing weather Tuesday, made the worst driving conditions as far as this season. Tuesday night the streets were as though covered with vaseline, and damaged autos were the rule rather than the exception. Bacon street was particularly bad, no less than 20 cars being tied up on the grade around five o'clock and the street closed to traffic for a time. Church street also was bad and many cars were stuck or damaged there. Following the thaw and a light snow early Wednesday morning, the glass dropped during the day from above 30 to 6 above at 10 p. m., and yesterday morning temperatures about town ranged from 6 to 10 below. The Man says snow and warmer.

HEADS TECH LODGE

This lodge has its jurisdiction limited to those connected with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where Dr. Reynolds is an associate professor or in the civil engineering department.

The installation was public and was attended by about 300 guests. It was preceded by a dinner with 150 attending. Following the ceremony dancing was enjoyed until midnight.

WINCHESTER GIRLS NIPPED ARLINGTON

Winchester High School girls' basketball team won an important game last Friday afternoon in the local gymnasium, nipping Arlington High school team, 15-16.

The local girls led 6-4 at the half, but with the resumption of play both teams improved their scoring. Rose Gaudioso, Winchester's right forward, scored five goals for 10 points during the second half and with a first half basket led both clubs with 12 points. Misses Healey and Bullock each scored six points for Arlington.

Between the halves of the varsity game the Arlington seconds swamped the Winchester seconds, 26-4, with Miss Powers, center, scoring 10 points for the victors. The first team summary follows:

WINCHESTER AT STONEHAM

Winchester High's embattled basketball team goes to Stoneham tonight for a game that will have plenty to do with the locals' final standing in the Middlesex League.

As things stand now Winchester is tied with Belmont for second place, Belmont having gone and gotten itself knocked off by last place Concord Tuesday. Wakefield is heading the league parade with a 4-1 rating.

If Winchester loses to Stoneham, its chances of championship repeat are only mathematical for the locals have already dropped two games. Stoneham was only six points worse than Winchester in their previous meeting here and on its home court should be harder to beat. The locals figure to take this one and on paper at least should get by, perhaps quite easily.

Next Wednesday Wakefield comes to Winchester and this game should pretty much decide the league fight.

WOBURN WON OVERTIME CONTEST 21-22

Winchester blew a 21-16 third quarter lead in its basketball game Tuesday night at Woburn, finally bowing to Woburn High in a sudden-death overtime period, 21-22.

A big crowd saw the game which was at all times close enough to keep every one on edge with excitement. The locals made the going most of the way, dominating the early stages of the game and building a 7-2 lead in the first few minutes of play.

Woburn knotted the count at 7 at the end of the quarter, but trailed Winchester at the half 12-10. Near the end of the third quarter Winchester led 21-16, but here the Orange forced the going, baskets by Tedesco and Hutchinson reducing this advantage to a single point as the final quarter got under way.

Both clubs were playing rugged defensive basketball in the final quarter and "Fucker" Flaherty of Woburn was the only player to score from scrimmage during the last period, his basket giving the Orange a one point lead for the first time in the game.

Time was running out and excitement was high when Winchester's "Ed" Kenney sank his fourth shot from a free try to once again tie up the ball game and send it into an overtime period.

Under a new ruling, scholastic basketball games ending in ties shall be decided by a three minute overtime period with the team to win being the first to score two points.

Woburn got the tapoff to start the overtime and never lost it, working it up to the Winchester end of the court where several shots narrowly missed the hoop before Flaherty shot his game-winning basket.

Winchester's chances were badly dimmed when Capt. "Carlie" Johnson was forced out of the going by exceeding his quota of fouls in the final quarter. "Carlie" might well have meant the difference between defeat and victory in the waning moments of play as he was one of Winchester's most effective workmen while in action.

The locals were outscored from the floor, 11 baskets to 7, but had a big edge at the foul line, making eight of 13 free tries good, while Woburn capitalized on only two of its five chances.

Hutchinson led both teams in scoring with six floor goals and a foul basket for 13 points. Kenney's 10 points on three floor goals and four foul baskets was high for Winchester.

Between the halves of the first team game the Woburn seconds edged the Winchester seconds, 23-21, in a see-saw contest. Following is the varsity summary:

WINCHESTER SWAMPED READING

Winchester High School's basketball team bounced back into the victory column last Friday evening, swamping Reading High in a Middlesex League game in the local gymnasium, 32-9.

As the score would indicate, the game was too one-sided to be interesting, for after the first quarter, at the end of which Winchester had a 9-4 advantage, only the size of the score remained for speculation. The locals led at the half, 14-5, and despite the fact that Coach Lauer used about all his available substitutes, his club rang up 18 points the second half while holding Reading to four.

Kenney, Winchester's left forward, returned to the score form he showed in the alumni game, leading both teams with 11 points on five floor baskets and a free try, apt. "Carlie" Johnson had eight points on two floor goals and four foul baskets. Wright and Hrynowsky each had three points to tie for the visitors' scoring honors.

Between the halves of the first team game the Reading seconds won a slam-bang 19-17 victory over the Winchester seconds with Wright of Reading having 11 points to lead the scoring parade. The teams were deadlocked at eight at the half. The varsity summary:

Growing children need the right amount of Vitamin D. It helps to develop bones and teeth properly—strong, straight backs—fine sturdy legs and arms. And that's just why our Irradiated Milk is especially good for children and for grownups, too. Creamy, delicious, it has in addition a supply of that precious Vitamin D, the vitamin formed in our bodies on exposure to the sun. Now that days are shorter and children are indoors so much, Irradiated Milk is a convenient and economical source of Vitamin D.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The first meeting of the Drama Study Group was held on Friday, Jan. 20 at the home of Mrs. G. S. Slocum, 11 Crescent road and was well attended by an enthusiastic group. Thirty-two members are enrolled. The program presented by Mrs. William C. Spaulding, Mrs. A. A. Haskell and Mrs. Fred H. Abbott was an excellent introduction to the course, explaining the development of the Theatre Guild which grew out of the activities of the Washington Square players before the war, and of the Group Theatre which was started by younger actors of the Guild. The theatrical season in New York and Boston was reviewed and it was good to know that the old glamour of the theatre is returning. Plays may be poor, but acting is excellent and public interest is increasing. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, Feb. 9 at 10 a. m. at 11 Crescent road. Mrs. Richard Wyman will be director.

Due to the great interest shown by members of the Music Group which concluded its original program early in January, a new course has been arranged by the committee. Mrs. John Chipman, Mrs. Howard A. Morrison, Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. G. E. Phipps. A series of ten lessons in "Musicianship" will be given by Miss Louise Parkhurst at her studio in the Waterfield Building, meeting on Wednesday mornings at 10 a. m. beginning Jan. 25.

The History Group will meet for the balance of the year on the first and third Wednesdays of the month, the next meeting to be on Friday, Feb. 10, at the home of Mrs. Lantz, 11 Copley street. The subject of discussion will be "Latin America during the 19th Century."

The next Gallery trip of the Art Study Group is to be on Friday, Feb. 10, when the members will meet promptly at 11 a. m. at the Fogg Museum in Cambridge for a Gallery talk and tour of French and American paintings.

WINCHESTER YOUNG PEOPLE PRESENT AT BOSTON MEETING

Officers and delegates of the Epiphany Fireside Group and the director of young people's activities, Mr. Dana Cotton, attended a dinner and conference of diocesan young people at the cathedral church of St. Paul's, Wednesday, Jan. 18. Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill presided at the meeting and Bishop Baymont of Hartford addressed the young people on "The Drama of the Episcopal City Mission." Like many of their elders young Episcopalians can hear a lot of things they did not know about their church at a diocesan meeting, and any who went into that Massachusetts meeting with a fear that the church is only a backward-looking institution busy in sustaining parish routine got a new sense of its flexible energy moving creatively in the problems of Boston.

LEGION ENJOYED ITALIAN SUPPER

Last week's spaghetti supper at Legion headquarters attracted a large gathering of Legionnaires, all of whom paid tribute to the ability of Mr. Antonio Cefali of Washington street as a purveyor and preparer of Italian good things to eat. The occasion was repeat performance for Mr. Cefali and every one present voiced the sentiment that his spaghetti, meat balls and Italian sauce were better, if possible, than last year. Supper was buffet style, presided over by the Board of Stewards under Head Chef Jack Moynihan, and "Monk's Special" coffee was served.

WINCHESTER GIRL PRESIDENT

Miss Eugenia Parker, well known Winchester girl and Wellesley graduate, was elected president of the New England section of the American Camping Association last Friday. The Association held its 18th annual meeting at the Hotel Statler on that date, over 200 attending. The meeting, covering Friday and Saturday, discussed problems of operating and organizing private summer camps in New England. Miss Parker has for a number of years operated a successful summer camp, "Blazing Trail" at Denmark, Me.

BRYANT AND STRATTON

The Evening School is pleased to announce a brand-new course—Effective speaking. The instructor is Gordon Saltonstall Worcester, a man who has had years of experience and practice in speaking effectively.

In this course, young men and women are given individual and class instruction in talking extemporaneously before small groups. They are taught poise and self-confidence, to think quickly, and to speak convincingly.

The latest addition to the curriculum is in line with the School's policy of offering ambitious young people practical, up-to-the-minute training that will lead to successful living.

Substantially increased enrollment in the secretarial courses has made it necessary to add two more experienced teachers in the Evening Division—Miss Florence D. Smith in Shorthand, and Miss Ruth Scariott in Typewriting.

Bryant & Stratton now has the largest Evening School Facility in its history—a fitting tribute to the splendid work that is being done.

In the Day School a heart-to-heart conference with every young man and young woman precedes enrollment. The School's directors want to be certain that the course selected fits the student's educational background, ability, and desires. Courses run from 40 to 60 weeks. Then, qualified, the student graduates. At this stage the School's Employment Bureau enters the picture—a placement service which the graduate is free to call on whenever in need of employment.

No, we don't need any more accounts at the Star Office yet. Our advice is to apply to the Social Security Commission. It ought to be an easy job with good pay. We're not Social, we have no Security and the Commission seems to be after us.

Incidentally we have received another "hatch" of those Social Security blanks. We think there's on our trail. The latest lot has a letter with them, informing us that we hired eight people in our plant and were therefore subject to Social Security taxes. Furthermore the pith of the situation appears in an indefinite mention of penalties. And the word is fill 'em out or else! Well, it seems to be "else." We kicked some ago over the injustice of taxing us for giving employment to eight persons and letting any competitor with a lesser payroll go untaxed. Our rules gave orders should be like it. We have; and we still don't like it. As it looks now—we'll see you in jail.

An interesting illustration of the clear thinking of our present-day rulers of America is in one little bit of propaganda. The bit most heralded today is that applying to present-day conditions. We are being increasingly bombarded with that old axiom relative to the fact that America will come through as in the past; that it is founded on solid facts; that Democracy will prevail; that no matter what happens we need not worry, etc. In other words, our country has been solidly founded and solidly conducted, and from "past" experience we will come through the present difficulties (?) as well as we always have in the "past." This is the opposite side of the propaganda sheet! America is all wrong. What we have done in the "past" may be relegated to the "horse and buggy days"; our people do not have a chance we must provide an abundant life (which presumably they do not and never had); our method of Democracy is all wrong; States rights must be subordinated to National rights, etc., etc. What is the answer? Why, the answer (out of Washington) is that we must take and swallow everything fed us by our rulers. Any crackpot scheme is justified by the fact that we are out of horse and buggy days; any question of progress is answered by the fact that in the "past" we have always been a "sound" nation. How absurd it all is. The "past" is used to argue for sound foundations for the extreme experiments: condemned for argument for other wild schemes. Truly we don't know where we are going, or when we will get there.

JOHN JOSEPH MURPHY

John Joseph Murphy, a widely known resident of Winchester for more than 20 years, died Tuesday morning, Jan. 24, at the Choate Memorial Hospital in Woburn, after a short illness with pneumonia. He underwent an operation Jan. 16 for a broken shoulder which he sustained in a fall.

Mr. Murphy was born 58 years ago in County Kilkenny, Ireland, the son of Thomas, and Ellen (Brennan) Murphy. He came to this country 25 years ago and after a short residence in Dorchester he came to Winchester where he had since made his home, conducting a gardening and trucking business. His business brought him in contact with many residents of the town. He was a member of St. Mary's Church, of his Holy Name Society and was a former member of Winchester Lodge of Elks.

Mr. Murphy leaves his wife, the former Ellen Fowler; three daughters, the Misses Helen A., Mary A., and Katherine C. Murphy, all of Winchester; three sons, John Joseph Murphy, Jr., studying for the Jesuit priesthood at Shadowbrook; Thomas H., of Woburn and James F. Murphy of his town; three grandchildren and three brothers and three sisters.

The funeral was held Thursday morning from the late residence with requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church celebrated by Rev. Fr. Joseph E. McGoldrick. Seated in the sanctuary were Rev. Fr. John J. McElroy, S. J.; rector at Shadowbrook; Rev. Fr. John W. Chapman, S. J., professor of Classics there; Rev. Fr. James Burke, S. J., professor of History at Boston College; and Mr. Deely, S. J., Mr. King, S. J., of St. Mary's, and Mr. Sullivan, S. J., all of Shadowbrook.

Bearers were Patrick J. Murphy, William E. Murphy, Thomas Murphy, James Murphy, Richard J. Hogan and Frank M. Leonard, all of this town. Interment was in the family lot in Calvary Cemetery.

OPEN LETTER TO SENATORS

To the Editor of the Star: Jan. 23, 1939

One of the members of the Winchester branch of the National Economy League is sending the enclosed letter to Senator Walsh and Senator Lodge. I thought you might be interested in it, and I got permission for you to print it if you wish.

Sincerely,
Euse M. Dawber

Winchester, Mass., Jan. 23, 1939

My dear Senator Walsh: The decision of Congress to reduce the relief allotment has been long enough in coming to cause a great deal of suffering. I know that I am only one of thousands who hope the Senate will be able to make the necessary changes. I thought you might be interested in it, and I got permission for you to print it if you wish.

In a little park up in a small town not far from here, 15 men were put to raking leaves this Fall. Three could have done the work, and the rest of the money could have been spent on others really needy. If some of the other men are in need let other work be found for them, but for the taxpayers, who are paying the bills, to see these men idle away their time while THEY work to pay them, it is evidence of gross mismanagement and injustice. And there is much of this in RELIEF. A few REAL honest investigations into those receiving relief, a great many cut off the rolls, and many, even so affected, would have a healthier respect for the Government!

In the matter of Labor, too, is there none who has the courage and ability to put before the whole country (and give it teeth), the fact that those belonging to a union or not if anyone wants to work, it is his privilege and right, and that no intimidation will be tolerated. Many times one knows that members of some union do not want to strike, but because some weak excuse is found, a strike is called, and anyone willing and anxious to work dares not, because of threats to himself and his family. This is certainly not FREEDOM!

I remember President Cleveland's settling a strike when I was a child, and how proud the country was of him. Have we no men of that caliber now? Why, the answer (out of Washington) is that we must take and swallow everything fed us by our rulers. Any crackpot scheme is justified by the fact that we are out of horse and buggy days; any question of progress is answered by the fact that in the "past" we have always been a "sound" nation. How absurd it all is. The "past" is used to argue for sound foundations for the extreme experiments: condemned for argument for other wild schemes. Truly we don't know where we are going, or when we will get there.

Where are our real patriots today? Have we none with real courage and straight-thinking and ability, and real honesty of purpose to lead us out of this quagmire? The unfair taxation on business, the exemption of those in Government, the fear-to- offend-Labor, and lack of Government co-operation, are but a few of the things which thinking people in all walks of life are struggling under. Government demands, demands, but in the last few years has been so Labor-minded that all else has been overlooked, and soon the demands will have so taxed the business man that he cannot go on. No business, no tax money for the Government. That is plain.

Why not require that the Administration use a bit of discretion. Let the "procession of dimes" for infantile research and care, be set aside and real attention paid to helping get important matters seen to. With prosperity people would help the charities and research anyway. And perhaps the next President might be interested in the children and the next in orthopedic work. This might be a good way to get things before the eyes of the public, though it seems a most untheatrical way to use one's position to further one's personal interest? Admittedly the cause is good, but we all have our charities, quite as deserving, fully as much needed, and unable to advertise, and quite as important medically and in the interest of the nation's health.

Hoping that all courage and determination to help CUT wasteful spending, will be given to your splendid group.

Sincerely yours,

WINCHESTER TOWNSEND CLUB

The Winchester Townsend Club, I, hold a very interesting meeting last Thursday evening, Jan. 19 in Old Fellows Hall on Vine street. The hall was filled with an interested audience to hear the Rev. Dr. Arthur Nichols of Shadowbrook, who spoke on the subject "The Townsend Plan, Its Relation to the Social Life of the Nation." Miss Jean MacLellan rendered a few solos in her usual pleasing way and several readings which were enjoyed by all. Visitors were present from Woburn and Arlington, including Mrs. F. D. Knight, president of club 2 in Arlington, during the social hour refreshments were served.

A turkey will be served at our next Townsend meeting March 16.

You'll hardly believe you can get two smooth writing pencils with your initials for 5c. You can at the Star Office.

WELLESLEY COMMUNITY FUND CHAIRMAN CLAIMS SUPERIORITY OVER WINCHESTER

The chairman of the Wellesley division of the Greater Boston Community Fund Campaign, Dwight B. Billings, has taken it upon himself to draw comparisons between his organization and the excellent Winchester organization created by our own Greater Boston Community Fund Chairman, Frederick B. Craven. Your reporter, hearing of this strange situation, spent many hours in the local headquarters of the Drive trying to get to the bottom of it all. Through the indiscretion of an unnamed individual your reporter was able to see—and finally make off with—replicas of the correspondence which has been exchanged between chairman Billings and chairman Craven. We reproduce it here:

(Letters and Telegram)

The facts of the matter are that Wellesley, with a population of 13,376 souls, has five more inhabitants than Winchester with 13,371 souls. Wellesley boasts of 3,241 families, while Winchester can hold its head high because of its 3,343 families. Both towns have the identical quota and both towns gave practically the same amount last year—although Winchester showed its definite superiority even as long ago as last winter by topping Wellesley by several U. S. dollars.

At first it was Mr. Craven's contention to ignore the rally from the Wellesley stronghold, but then he felt that a strategy of direct attack was superior to silent defensive measures. Here is the last minute message (hot off the wires) which we got from Mr. Craven, he telephoned the 8-12 train for Boston this morning. "I always found Mr. Billings to be a perfect gentleman and will continue to respect him in every way, but I must draw the line of respect for his ideas about the results which our Winchester workers will achieve. My fellow townsmen have never let any good neighbor down and they would not think of starting to do so at this time. There is no doubt in my mind that the Wellesley organization is a good one and will do a job which will enable them to reach their quota. We in Winchester do not look upon the quota of contributions and number of contributors as our goal—we look upon it as the starting point. We know that Wellesley will make every effort to keep up with us, but it seems hard to see at this time how they can keep up with so excellent an organization as we have here in Winchester." Mr. Craven wanted to continue, but the train whizzed into the station, he boarded one of its luxurious cars and with a puff of smoke, Mr. Craven, the car, and the train disappeared around the bend toward West Medford.

GREATER BOSTON'S 1939 COMMUNITY FUND CAMPAIGN

Mr. Frederick B. Craven

Lewis Wharf, Boston, Mass.

Dear Mr. Craven:

When I met you at Community Fund Headquarters the other day I was somewhat bored by your rather brazen request for his support. The remarkable job which your organization intends to do in the 1939 Community Fund Campaign. Of course, I know that last year Winchester made a very fair showing, but I think you ought to realize that there are other towns which have a splendid organization and which expect to make an extra good showing this year. In fact, my own home town of Wellesley has a dandy organization and I say so as I shouldn't—and I believe we are going to outshine you in every way.

We have a lot of civic-minded citizens in Wellesley, and I want you to understand right now that we do not intend to let any town exceed us in our generous response to such an appeal as Greater Boston's Community Fund.

Because the populations of both Winchester and Wellesley are practically identical, and because our quotas this year are the same, and since the amounts raised in each town last year were approximately alike, I don't intend to allow the Wellesley comparison to keep you from your Winchester record. We are already hard at work and expect to roll up a total of contributions and dollars which will make it quite clear that Winchester is distinctly taking a back seat.

Of course, we all hope that Winchester does nicely this year, but don't feel too discouraged if you find yourself trailing Wellesley when the final figures are read.

With best wishes to yourself and your organization,

Sincerely yours,
(Sgd.) Dwight B. Billings

Dear Mr. Billings:

I appreciated your letter of the 23rd concerning Greater Boston's Community Fund Campaign, and was happy to see that Wellesley's chairman is at least loyal to his own town. Please bear in mind that Winchester citizens are also civic-minded and generous and are proud of their prestige in community giving. I am sure of it that I would like to make a bet with you that Winchester will be leading Wellesley both in dollars and number of contributions when the last ledger is in. If I lose, you may lead me across the stage with a rope around my neck at the Victory Dinner. If I win, I will lead you.

Let's see now how much faith you have in Wellesley.

Sincerely yours,

HENRY ARNOLD HENSHAW

Henry Arnold Henshaw, who died suddenly Friday, Jan. 20, at his home, 17 Wolcott road, was a retired teacher who had spent much of his life teaching in the Woburn schools. He retired 16 years ago and had spent the past eight years in Winchester, making his home with his sister, Miss Ann M. Henshaw, who is his only survivor.

Mr. Henshaw was born 80 years ago in Woburn, son of Thomas A. and Susanna (Clemson) Henshaw. He was graduated magna cum laude from Harvard in 1886, celebrating the 50th anniversary of his graduation three years ago. He was elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic fraternity, and following his graduation continued his studies at Harvard, receiving first the degree of A. M., and later the degree of S. T. B. from the Harvard Divinity School.

Mr. Henshaw was a Mason, a member of Mount Horeb Lodge of Woburn, and was also a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in that city.

Funeral services were held at the Kneass & Haves chapel on Tuesday afternoon. Interment was in the Henshaw family lot in Woodbrook Cemetery, Woburn.

TUNE IN

Samuel Hoar of Concord, chairman of the Metropolitan Division of Greater Boston's 1939 Community Fund Campaign, will be heard on the program, "WBZ presents," Tuesday evening, Jan. 31 at 7:30 p. m. over Stations WBZ and WBZA.

As Winchester is one of the 45 cities and towns included in the Metropolitan Division, local Community Fund workers and "Neighborhood" are urged to tune in on Mr. Hoar's message to them," requested Frederick B. Craven, community chairman for Winchester.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The Guild of the Infant Saviour held its first lecture at the home of Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini on Friday,

Jan. 20.

The guest speaker was Miss Mary

Katherine McDonough whose subject was "Personality and Charm." Miss

McDonough is internationally accepted as an authority on her chosen subject and since it is a topic of universally interest to all women it was most interesting. Mrs. Arthur Danner of West Medford was the soloist accompanied by Miss Mary Witham and their contribution added materially toward the occasion's success. Members who were unable to attend should make a special effort to be present at the next lecture which will be held at the home of Mrs. Michael H. Hinton on March 17 when the Rev. Terence

Connelly will speak on "Ireland."

The eighth regular meeting of the Guild of the Infant Saviour was held in Lyceum Hall on Tuesday, Jan. 20.

The guest speaker was Miss Mary

Chase Parker of the John H. Prays of Boston who spoke on interior decoration. Some fascinating combinations of floor and drapery materials were shown with suggestions for chair coverings. She extended to all an invitation to visit the firm's new store and view the many attractive displays of house furnishings which have been arranged.

The drawings of the exquisitely hand-drawn needlepoint footstool designed by Mrs. Hinton and the lovely set of dishes donated by Mrs. James Gaffney were made. The winners were Mrs. Holland of Chelsea and Mrs.

Martin J. Fraser of West Medford, respectively. The hostesses for the day were Mrs. Thomas Feeney of Woburn,

Mrs. John J. Gorman and Mrs. Edward J. Gallagher and Mrs. John

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Quilts and Quilt Lore

The romance of quilts and quilting was cheerfully portrayed to the members of Fortnightly at the regular meeting on Monday, when Mrs.

Earle E. Andrews, chairman of the Preservation of Antiques Committee, presented Mrs. Lenice Ingram Bacon,

a noted authority on "Quilts and Quilt

Lore." Mrs. Bacon, in a lovely colorial costume with an effective background of her unusually beautiful quilts, added much to the charm of her program as she sang several old familiar songs and played her own accompaniment on a tin box-elephant. "The origin of quilts is usually a mystery," said Mrs. Bacon. "Each has a story, however, and, as a quilt maker gathers scraps of cloth and puts them together to form a quilt, so must we gather scraps of information and make them piece out the story of quilts for us."

Many beautiful old quilts were exhibited by members and friends including Mrs. Daniel Lincoln, Mrs.

George Durling and Mrs. Robert

Kenney poured on a tin box-elephant. Mrs. Carl Zimmerman, Mrs.

"THERE GOES MY HEART" AT THE UNIVERSITY

The merry romantic adventures of a madcap heiress who runs out on her fortune and into a roving reporter who's out to get her story but comes back with her heart, are gaily depicted in Hal Roach's "There Goes My Heart," in which Fredric March and Virginia Bruce romp into the University Theatre for a three day stay on Sunday. A great cast, headed by the new streamlined Patsy Kelly, Alan Mowbray, Nancy Carroll, Eugene Pallette and Etienne Girardot, supports the stars in this comedy romance of a girl who threw away a million dollars, deserted her yacht for a bargain basement and found that you can have a barrel of fun eating hamburgers, riding subways—and falling in love.

A wild, roistering Cossack from the bleak plains of Russia who tries to transplant his mode of life to rural America and rule his son's life by gangster methods forms the exciting central figure of Paramount's "Ride a Crooked Mile," the associate picture with Akim Tamiroff, heading a large cast of popular players.

"Stand In" co-starring Leslie Howard and Joan Blondell and "Thoroughbred Don't Cry" featuring Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney will comprise the University's review day attractions for Wednesday, Feb. 1.

Romantic Vienna of the days of Franz Josef, the haunting waltzes of Johann Strauss, the poignant romance of the life and loves of a great composer, blend with the pomp and pageantry of Europe's gayest court and the brilliancy of its people in "The Great Waltz," drama of the life of the Waltz King, coming Thursday. "The Great Waltz" brings to the screen Louise Rainer, Fernand Gravet, and Miliza Korjus, the sensational new singing discovery from Vienna.

The children's show on Saturday morning, Feb. 4, includes Gene Autry, the singing cowboy in "Man From Music Mountain," Jackie Cooper in "Scouts to the Rescue, No. 6," and a Mickey Mouse and Popeye Cartoon.

MEXICO ATTRACTS TOURIST TRAVEL

Mexico, a land of charm, is much less known to most Americans than its importance warrants. Being nearly a mile high, Mexico has the most delightful climate, wonderful scenery, tropical beauty, interesting temples and ruins, quaint Spanish customs and peoples.

The Colpitts Tourist Company are featuring their annual personally escorted all-expense tour to Mexico leaving Feb. 10, which makes a perfect vacation trip, going by steamer via Havana and Vera Cruz, with an optional return via rail to San Antonio, Tex., New Orleans and Florida.

It really is an investment in good health, and the moderate rate includes every expense, transportation, pullmans, stateroom, all meals, room with bath at best hotel in Mexico, complete sightseeing in private automobiles.

To know the pleasure this tour offers you should secure illustrated itinerary from the Colpitts Tourist Company, 262 Washington Street, Boston.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Philip Chittell and Ida Chittell, his wife, in her own right, to the Winchester Savings Bank, dated November 3, 1928, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 5035, Plan 17, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the first day of February, 1939, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein substantially described as follows: "The land with buildings thereon, including furnaces, heating, radiators, gas and electric light fixtures, and all fixtures at present contained or hereafter attached thereto in said Winchester, Middlesex County, lying the premises now owned by Lot A and Lot B, and the western portion of Lot A on a Plan of Land in Winchester and Eaton Streets, dated June 22, 1914, P. H. Brock, Engineer, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 4225, Plan 32, bounded and described as follows: Northwesterly by Washington Street, one hundred thirty-nine and 60 (199) feet; Northwesterly by Lot B supposed to be owned now or formerly by John G. Perry, one hundred twenty-eight (128) feet; Southwesterly by land now or formerly of Mary F. Laraway, one hundred and twenty (120) feet; this boundary line being the division line between Lot B and Lot C on said Plan, extended in a straight line to Eaton Street, and Southwesterly by Eaton Street one hundred thirty (130) feet; East of said measurements more or less, the same being the same premises conveyed by said mortgage deed, Book 4225, Plan 32, subject to the rights of way of record in or over a twelve foot wide passage-way extending along the northerly side of said premises as shown on said Plan, South of building line established by the Town of Winchester." The said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, taxes, assessments or other municipal liens. $200 in cash will be required to be paid at the time of the sale and the balance to be paid within ten days from the date of the sale at Room 312, Church Street, Winchester, Mass. Other particulars made known at the time of the sale. Winchester Savings Bank, by William E. Priest, Treasurer, Mortgagee and present holder. For further information apply to Winchester Savings Bank, Winchester, Mass.

The many Winchester friends of Wendell D. Mansfield, former high school director of athletics, now at Springfield College, were interested to see his picture in last week's "Life" in a series of views showing Springfield students and executives in their everyday college activities. Mr. Mansfield is shown watching a class in basketball, of which he is freshman coach. His bullpup "Jack" does not show in the picture, but is around the college almost as much as his master and is nearly as popular with the boys.

Miss Phyllis Lybeck, a student at Jackson and daughter of School Committee and Mrs. Robert F. Lybeck of Everett road, sustained a broken wrist in a fall while skating last week at Brooks Pond. The break is described as a bad one.

Mrs. Charles Murphy, who was ill at the Winchester Hospital last week with an infected throat, was able to return to her home in Stetson Hall Monday. Mr. Murphy, who was also on the sick list with a bad attack of grippe returned to his duties at the Texaco Station the same day.

Police Headquarters received a call from a resident of the West Side early last Saturday morning requesting an officer be sent to disconnect the horn of her car which was blowing incessantly and annoying the neighborhood. The cruise responded and made the necessary adjustment to restore peace and quiet.

MISS JULIETTE TODD

Miss Juliette Todd of North Reading, a former teacher in the Winchester schools, died Saturday, Jan. 21, at a convalescent home in Wakefield, in her 74th year.

Miss Todd was the daughter of William S. and Julia (Adams) Todd. She was born in Gloucester, was educated in the Gloucester schools and at Gloucester High School, subsequently attending a special high school training class there and taking courses at Boston University.

She taught school in North Reading, at Lynnfield and in Winchester, being appointed third grade teacher at the Wyman School in 1899 and continuing in the town's service until June of 1926.

For more than half a century Miss Todd had made her home on Haverhill street in North Reading with her sister, Mrs. Mary T. Todd, her only survivor. She was for 40 years a teacher in the Sunday School of the Union Congregational Church in North Reading.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Elderly & Besseford Home in Reading, with Rev. E. Leslie Shaw of the North Reading Union Congregational Church officiating. Interment was in the family lot in Oak Grove Cemetery, Gloucester.

How the New England Tel. & Tel. Co. met the challenge of the Sept. 21 hurricane will be vividly shown by a sound effect lecture at the meeting, commencing at 9 p. m.

These storm pictures are remarkable in the extent to which they show the wreckage caused by the river floods, tidal waves and winds of hurricane force. Most of the shots were taken at the height of the storm and with the sound effects are truly remarkable.

Preceding the pictures Mr. John E. Sullivan, local manager of the Telephone Company, will speak briefly about the mechanical and other problems created by the hurricane.

The magnitude of the havoc wrought by wind and rain can be gauged by the fact that in a normal year the New Eng. Tel. & Tel. Co. has about 125,000 trouble calls for repairs, whereas the great winds and floods of Sept. 21st, 1938, produced 100,000 trouble calls in a single week necessitating calling for aid from telephone companies in 12 states outside of the New England area.

WAS HUSBAND OF MARGARET McCALL

Alfred Hebard Chappell, 46, former assistant to Prof. William Lyon Phelps in the English department at Yale was fatally injured in an accident aboard the steamer Lapaz off the coast of Chile, Jan. 21, according to word received by his brother, Frank Valentine Chappell of New London, Conn. He was the husband of Margaret McCall, daughter of the late Gov. Samuel W. McCall.

Details of the accident were lacking. Mr. Chappell was buried at sea Jan. 23. The Lapaz was en route from Valparaiso to London.

He was born in New London, Conn. Aug. 9, 1892, the son of Alfred H. and Adelaide Chappell. He was educated at the Hotchkiss School and Yale University. He taught school after being graduated from Yale, and later assisted Prof. Phelps.

He leaves his widow, a son, Samuel McCall Chappell, a student at Haverford College in Pennsylvania; a daughter, Margaret Chappell; a sister, Mrs. Edith Sheffield, and two brothers, Frank W. Chappell, of Waterville, Me., and George S. Chappell, New York architect and author.

EXHIBITION OF LOCAL TALENT

The Winchester Art Association announces that there will be an exhibition of local talent in the Library gallery during the month of April.

The exhibition will include paintings, drawings, etchings, and work of similar character, and sculpture.

The gallery is not equipped to make possible, for safety's sake, the exhibition of the other kinds of "art work."

Anyone may enter but each person is asked to offer not more than three entries.

There is no entry fee for members. One dollar entry fee must accompany the entries of non-members. (Fifty cents for those under 18.)

Entries should be left at the Library on March 27, 28, and 29, during Library hours, except on the evening of March 29 when the judging will take place.

The jury alone will be responsible for the work that will be chosen for exhibition. They are: Richard Briggs, John Ensor, Bernard Keyes.

All work must be original. No work thought to be a copy will be accepted.

Oil should be framed. Water colors, drawings, etc. should be mounted. Large sculpture should be accompanied by stands suitable for displaying the sculpture.

All possible number of the entries will be taken, but of course each entry must be at the risk of the owner.

If entries are accepted it is understood that they will remain on exhibition during the entire month of April.

You are cordially invited to enter this exhibition, and to inform anyone that you think might be interested.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS

Chilean Earthquake Disaster

Mrs. George A. Duttling, chairman of the Winchester Red Cross Chapter, has been notified by National Headquarters that the chapters of the American Red Cross will accept contributions to be remitted to National Headquarters for the Chilean disaster.

The National Red Cross has sent $10,000 to the Chilean Red Cross also vaccines, serums, powdered milk and other supplies. With a list of over 30,000 dead and 50,000 injured there is a great need of additional help immediately. The catastrophe has overwhelmed the nation and its resources are being taxed to the limit.

Won't you help by sending your contribution to Mr. William E. Priest, treasurer, at the Winchester Savings Bank.

OLD FASHIONED BARN DANCE GREATLY ENJOYED

Opening with a grand march, in which 75 couples in costume participated, an old fashioned barn dance was held last Friday evening in the "Unitarian Meeting House at the Four Corners near the Abejona."

The stage of the Metcalf Hall was decorated to represent a harvest shed and all sorts of farm implements were ranged about the hall for atmosphere. Brigham's old time seven piece orchestra played for modern and old fashioned dances, the latter including the Virginia Reel, Portland Fancy and glide waltz.

President William B. Wood of the Unitarian Men's Club led the grand march with Mrs. Wood and was followed by Committeemen and Mrs. A. Russell Ellis, Committeeman and Mrs. George Byford and Committeeman and Mrs. George Rivinius. Miss Jane Robinson won the ladies' prize for best costume and Mr. John Mosier, that for gentlemen. Judges were Mrs. Josephine Arrowsmith, Mrs. Henry Hildreth and Mr. Frank Howard.

Included in the entertainment program were xylophone selections by Ray Wilkins, accompanied by Ted Rosenberg, a "Talk in Fruit" by Russell Ellis and Russell Ellis, Jr., Ken Pratt and his trained ducks, Mike and Ike; songs by John Jenkins, bass; and a bullfight, in which the bull was impersonated by Bowlin Burbank and Thad Smith and Russell Ellis was the torador.

Refreshments were served throughout the evening and everyone had such a good time that already insistent demands have been received for a repeat.

THREE PAST GRANDS OF WATERFIELD LODGE TO BE IN CHARGE OF ARRANGEMENTS FOR WILDEY NIGHT, ARTHUR CAMERON ACTING AS CHAIRMAN AND BEING ASSISTED BY LEE RALPH AND FRANKLYN PLYNN

Waterfield Lodge of Odd Fellows and Victoria Rebekah Lodge held their annual observance of Wildey Night, in honor of the founder of Odd Fellowship, Thomas Wildey, Monday evening in Association Hall on Vine street.

Dinner was served to 100 persons by a group of Rebekahs headed by Mrs. Susan Foster, Mrs. Kathleen Cameron and Mrs. Sadie Fancie.

The address of welcome was made by T. Parker Clarke, and the roll calls of the lodges were read by the secretaries, Mrs. Maude Dover for Victoria Rebekah and Carl Morse for Waterfield.

A most interesting address on Thomas Wildey and the significance of Wildey night was made by Louis Burns of Medford Hills, past grand master of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows in Massachusetts.

An excellent entertainment was furnished by a group of gymnasts from the Malden Y. M. C. A. under the direction of Archie Pollock, featuring boxing, tumbling, calisthenics, Indian clubs and fencing. Miss Jane Beattie danced several tango and waltz numbers and her brother, William, sang a group of songs. Director Pollock and his son, Bruce, gave an excellent saber drill, and "Sparky," an educated horse impersonated by Bruce Pollock and Robert Thompson, was very amusing.

The program was concluded by Rev. Carlton N. Jones, pastor of the Second Congregational Church, who spoke of the need of fellowship and the principles of Odd Fellowship in the world today, stressing the desirability of forsaking the lonely attitude of isolation for one of brotherhood and service.

BETHANY NOTES

The vestry of the Highland Church was a gay scene the evening of the Calendar Supper. Each table representing a different month of the year was an artistic triumph; beautiful centerpiece, handmade favors and delicious condiments all showing great originality and skill.

Comments of pleasure and satisfaction included the menu from chicken pies to strawberry shortcake and the musical entertainment provided by the members of the church choir under Mrs. Lochman's able direction. Mr. T. Parker Clarke and Mr. Richard MacAdams as guest artists were warmly applauded for their kindness in adding their talents to the entertainment being much appreciated.

The only regret of the evening was the knowledge of having refused tickets to all who waited until the day before to buy. A sell out is a great satisfaction in any venture where quality instead of quantity is the goal.

The ladies of the Bethany Society met with their president, Mrs. Farnham, whose untiring devotion and enthusiasm make possible such red letter days in their calendar.

TWO ACCIDENTS MONDAY

Monday morning at 6:45 a Ford coupe, owned by John Thomas Papolowski of 11 Hudson street, Woburn, while headed south on Washington street, just north of Forest street, collided with the rear end of a parked Red truck, owned by Fred Schneider of 372 Salem street, Woburn. The rear end of the truck was damaged and the Ford was demolished, the latter having to be towed away. No one was injured.

At 8:40 Monday morning Emerson W. Brooks of 7 Yale street reported to the Police that as he was driving south on Yale street and turning right into Calumet road his Dodge sedan was in collision with a Plymouth sedan, driven west on Calumet road by Mary L. Fuller of 56 Fletcher street. Mr. Brooks reported damage to his machine but no one was injured.

TALKED TO HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

Mr. Dana M. Cotton, director of guidance at the high school, is arranging to have representatives of various educational and vocational institutions address the student body whenever possible with a view to opening up possible channels for pupils after graduation.

On Tuesday Mr. William H. Dimick, secretary to the Board of Commissioners of the Massachusetts Nautical School, spoke to a group of 40 boys, three or four of whom have already made application for admission.

Yesterday Miss Helen R. Moore, admission counselor of Stoneleigh College at Rye, N. H., spoke upon the opportunities at Stoneleigh and met the girls who were interested in more complete information concerning admission there.

MRS. ALFRED S. F. KIRBY

Word was received this week of the death of Mrs. Alfred S. F. Kirby, a former well known resident of Winchester, who passed away at New Canaan, Conn., Sunday morning, Jan. 22.

Mrs. Kirby, with her husband, was an active worker in the Highland Bethany Sunday School and the First Congregational Church while residing here. Some years ago they moved to Wellesley Hills, and after Mr. Kirby's death, Mrs. Kirby went to New York.

She is survived by two daughters, a son, and one grandson. Interment was at Wellesley.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The crew of the Mariner ship "Amoy" were privileged to be the guests of Captain Grey of the training ship S.S. "Nantucket" last Sunday. The ship is in winter dock at Charlestown Navy Yard and at the present time is being used as a school. There are between 100 and 120 boys training on the "Nantucket" now and in the summer these boys will take a four months cruise. The girls toured the ship and learned much about the engine room, the speed of the boat and the extent of the training received. The ship's log was especially interesting. After inspecting the S.S. "Nantucket" completely, the girls boarded the Frigate "Constitution" where they were again the Captain's guests. Every part of the historic "Old Ironsides" was visited, including the Captain's quarters which are seldom open to visitors. Pled with numerous questions about the ship and its belongings, the Captain readily answered them to the girls' satisfaction.

CAR RAN WILD ON LAKE STREET

John F. Bagley, Jr., of 4 Copley street was injured and his Pontiac sport coupe was badly damaged Sunday evening about 7:15 when his car got out of control on Lake street as he tried to shut an unlatched door. According to the police, Mr. Bagley was driving north on Palmer street into Lake street and was at the intersection of Middlesex street when he tried to shut the left door of his car which had come unlatched and swung open.

In doing so the machine swerved to the left of the road, sideswiped an Edison pole, struck a hydrant, bounced off a catch basin and continued across the sidewalk and through a hedge, stopping just short of the front porch of Mr. Stanley W. Mobbs' home at 61 Lake street.

Mr. Mobbs called the police for assistance and Sgt. Charles Harrold responded with Patrolman William Cassidy in patrol 51. Patrolman Henry Dempsey following with the police ambulance.

Mr. Bagley was taken to the Winchester Hospital and treated by Dr. Milton J. Quinn for a double fracture of the left forearm and other injuries. His car was so badly wrecked it had to be towed away Monday morning.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The Board of Directors held their second meeting of the year on Tuesday evening, Jan. 31, at the home of Commodore Simonds.

The following appointments were announced by the Commodore: House Committee Chairman—Alden W. Sherman; Membership Committee Chairman—Theodore E. Burleigh; Entertainment Committee Chairman—Dr. and Mrs. Allan R. Cunningham; Regatta Committee Chairman—Edward B. Bean; Sailing Committee Chairman—Dwight B. Hill.

It is planned to hold an open meeting on April 19, at the club house, at which time reports from the chairman of the various committees will be heard, and further plans for the summer will be discussed.

Several members are already planning new boats and, with better water for swimming, the club is looking forward to an interesting and successful season.

WINCHESTER AT LEXINGTON

Locals Can Stay in Race With Win

Winchester High can stay in the fight for first place in the Middlesex League by winning from the pace setting Lexington High team tonight at Lexington. The locals' overwhelming defeat of Wakefield Wednesday afternoon makes them favorites to win from the Minuteboys who took over the league lead with 5 wins and 2 losses as Wakefield faltered.

Winchester goes to Lexington virtually in fourth place in the league standing, behind both Belmont and Wakefield, one of which has won five games and dropped two for a second place tie. Winchester also has five wins but has lost three times. Lexington, in first place, has won six and lost two.

In the event Wakefield and Belmont win tonight and Winchester beats Lexington the first two named will be tied for first place. If both Wakefield and Belmont win, Lexington, which has won five straight, showing any great consistency, Winchester, on form, is the best club in the league and if it wins tonight should have a good chance to tie at least for the championship since it will have only Concord, Belmont and Reading left to face with only the Reading game away.

Coach Lauer will probably start Horie at center with Capt. Carl Johnson and Kenney, forwards and DeTeso and Graham, backs, against the Minuteboys, whom the locals defeated 24-18, earlier in the season. At Winchester, many who saw that game feel that Lexington will be hard to beat on its home court, but at best Winchester should win.

Following is the league standing:

Lexington	6	2	251	171
Wakefield	5	2	251	171
Belmont	5	2	202	208
Winchester	5	3	231	173
Concord	2	6	196	218
Reading	2	6	176	270

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

Two junior members, 20 senior members and six guests of the Winchester Ski Club had their first ski trip last week-end at Braintree, Vt., where they were guests of Vinton's Farm and the Valley Guest House, the latter being the ski lodge of Mrs. Doris Goddard McLeod, a well known native of Winchester until last fall when she moved to Braintree to open her Valley Guest House.

Saturday night, the members and their guests took in the Barn Dance at the Braintree Town Hall, where Percy Gifford of Braintree called the square dances as he did last year.

The actual skiing was done on the facilities provided by Marcus Fowler and Ted Dissel, formerly well known Winchester men, and both former members of the Winchester Ski Club. Their ski tow, trails, open slopes and large log lodge with its central fireplace were very much appreciated by all as well as the instructional facilities.

Good snow was reported except for Sunday when it was a little soft, but not enough to cancel the junior slalom, downhill and cross country races between the high schools of Northfield and Randolph, Vt., Lebanon and Lancaster, N. H., and Winchester, Mass. Winchester Ski Club's own "Bubbles" Larson came through with second place and the blue ribbon in the downhill race.

The Massachusetts junior and sub-junior down hill championship, in which six of the junior members of the Winchester Ski Club had entered, was postponed due to lack of snow. This race will be run on Sunday, Feb. 19 and all applications must be filed again and in the hands of the committee by the 17th at the latest. Those interested should get in touch with Gray Twombly, tel. Win. 0481 or 84 Walnut street. Membership in the U. S. E. A. S. A. is required for entry in this race. Watch the Star for further details.

There will be an open, informal meeting of all senior members of the Club at Ted Elliott's house, 11 Herk street, next Monday night at 7:30 p. m.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Daniel J. Doherty of Woburn, former national commander of the American Legion and first New Englander to achieve that distinction, will make the presentations of Eagle badges to nine boys from Fellsland Council at the seventh annual Boy Scout rally and exposition in Winchester Town Hall, Feb. 11.

Those boys who have passed a minimum of 21 merit badge subjects to become eligible for the Eagle award are: Frank Hatch, Troop 10, Medford; Arthur Wykes, Vernon Huber, and Jack Cushing, Troop 9, Medford; Paul Butterworth, David Burnham, and Richard Swanson, Troop 7, Winchester; and John Ahearn and Kenneth Hancock, Troop 3, Stoneham.

The average age of these boys ranges between 16 and 17 years.

It has been announced by the committee that arrangements have been completed for the occupation of 21 booths at the exposition and rally by as many troops from the council area of Medford, Stoneham, Winchester, Woburn, and Burlington.

One of the feature exhibitions will be a model replica of Camp Fellsland, the council's summer headquarters. Sea-captain Shil "Pantom" of Woburn promises an interesting display of rope splicing and the making of model ships and sails.

The exposition opens at two o'clock in the afternoon and closes at ten in the evening.

WINCHESTER OUTCLASSED WAKEFIELD

Winchester High knocked off the Middlesex League pinnacle Wednesday afternoon by outclassing the erstwhile circuit leaders, 42-20, in the local gymnasium.

The locals showed a complete reversal of form displayed against Woburn and Stoneham, and though they failed to stop Wakefield's star center, Conroy, they were never in danger, leading 12-3 at the quarter and 21-13 at the half.

Capt. "Charlie" Johnson and "Ed" Kenney each tallied six times from scrimmage. "Charlie" sank two shots from free tries and Kenney one. So closely did the local guards cover the Wakefield forwards that Martino's early game basket was the only one garnered by the visitors from the floor. In addition to his fine defensive play "Doug" Graham caged four shots from scrimmage. Conroy, visiting star, tallied eight floor baskets and one foul goal to lead both teams with 17 points.

Between the halves of the first team game the Wakefield second defeated the Winchester seconds, 20-11. Following is the varsity summary:

STONEHAM SET BACK WINCHESTER

Winchester dropped into a third place tie with Belmont as the result of its 30-26 defeat in a Middlesex League game last Friday evening by Stoneham High at Stoneham. Before the game Winchester was tied with Belmont and Lexington for second, but the Minuteboys tripped Belmont and jumped into second place alone.

The game at Stoneham was close all the way, but the winners played much the better ball game during the closing minutes when they rather outclassed the locals.

Stoneham led at the quarter, 5-4, but trailed at the half, 11-12. Pressing strongly with the resumption of play, Stoneham forged to a 23-21 lead at the three-quarters mark, retaining its advantage to the final whistle.

Capt. Carl Johnson was Winchester's high scorer, tossing three goals from scrimmage and four from free tries for 10 points. Scrappy "Tony" DeTeso had seven points on three floor goals and a foul basket. "Doug" Graham played a strong defensive game.

Co-Captain "Johnny" Mooradian led the Stoneham parade with 11 points, shooting successfully three times from scrimmage and five times from the foul line. Stoneham's score was held down by the fact that its players were able to capitalize only eight of their 23 opportunities at the foul line.

Between the halves of the first team game the Stoneham seconds edged the Winchester seconds, 23-19. The varsity summary follows:

FORMER WINCHESTER COACH TO RUN HOOP TOURNAYS

Wendell D. Mansfield, former faculty director of athletics at Winchester High School, is busy these days arranging for the Western Massachusetts and New England basketball tournaments which he is to manage for Springfield College where he is now a member of the faculty, football end coach and head coach of freshman basketball.

The Western Massachusetts tourney will be held in Westfield Feb. 8, 10, 11, and the New England, in the Springfield Armory, Feb. 16, 17, 18.

Incidentally Coach Mansfield, having become acquainted with the new Boston College football coach, Frank Leahy, at some of the many football schools he has attended, believes the Eagles have done all right for themselves in selecting the former Notre Dame tackle and late line coach at Fordham. Coach Mansfield is sorry that Winchester's Andy Lentine is not high at the Heights as he believes "Andy" is the type of player that Coach Leahy would want to have around. He surely looked good against Detroit last Oct. 12.

MAN STRUCK BY CAR ON CHESTER STREET

James Violante of 233 Washington street reported to the police that as he was driving a Pontiac sedan south on Chester street shortly after 11:30 Monday morning his machine struck and knocked down Andrew M. Grierson of 58 Jordan avenue, Wakefield, who was crossing the street in front of the residence of Mr. Simon Barksdale.

According to Mr. Violante Mr. Grierson was crossing the street to deliver a loaf of bread from his truck and stepped from behind the machine directly into his path. He applied the brakes and his machine skidded, the front fender striking Mr. Grierson on the left leg and knocking him down. The latter complained of injuries to his head, left leg and side.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

Miss Blanche Eaton will act as hostess to the members of the Winchester Garden Club at her home, 30 Everett avenue, on Wednesday, Feb. 8. Dessert-luncheon will be served at 1:30 p. m.

A representative of the Massachusetts Audubon Society will speak on "Planting to Attract Birds," and there will be an informal discussion of birds visiting the gardens of members.

"Measure it by Telephone, son"

"TN miles it's a big country, son. But by telephone it's no bigger than a telephone."

"Throughout this country, just as in New England, people have the best telephone service in the world at the lowest possible cost. They turn to it for help in emergencies. To save time. To do business. To be near loved ones."

"Our country is like a neighborhood, son, because the telephone fits its needs so well."

It fits them today and will fit them tomorrow, because in Bell Telephone Laboratories thousands of keen minds work constantly to improve service.

It's a centralized job, benefiting all Bell System companies and their customers. No one company could do it so well or so cheaply.

To use that old hack—we see by the papers—President Roosevelt was voted the “most loved” by 50,000 boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 16 years in a recent New York poll. God is second! It's still not too late to send in your dime.

According to Monday dispatches a new system of lower taxes to encourage industrial expansion has been advocated by Dr. William L. Thorpe, personal economic advisor to Secretary of Commerce, Harry Hopkins. Welcome news. But listen! It would apply to new enterprises. “As long as the business habits are struggling for a foothold, their tax rates should be below those of established industry.” Now how does that sound to you? It sounds like just another typical New Deal headache to us. We have been doing business since 1880, although how we have continued to do so since 1932 is a mystery even to us. Likewise we have been paying taxes since they were started, although how we have continued to do so since 1932 is another mystery. Now if any competitor is hardy enough to try and take us on, he goes scot free of taxes as a reward. What is it they propose to do now—make an even distribution of business along with wealth? Well—it sounds as reasonable as any other New Deal scheme.

It has been an interesting point in our dislike of this milking of America and our broadcast aversion to the so-called Social Security robbery, that up to lately we have felt largely alone in our criticism. Outright hostility, or at the best humorous tolerance seems to have been the ultimate result of our scolding. We, apparently, have been the one individual who is peeved over this gigantic experiment of our ruler. Others have little interest in the feature other than to class it at best as another New Deal sop to the masses. And yet we see it as a distinct deterrent to business and a chimerical gesture to the masses—still and notwithstanding the mess of favorable propaganda fed to the nation. And as a member of a democratic nation we have failed to note wherein anyone other than the rulers stood up and waved a flag to get it. But we have it and “must” the word! However—we are finding lately that we are not wholly alone in our opinion. Several small business men like ourselves, who are hard pressed to pay their tribute to our rulers and have not the means to hire accountants to give all the time answering silly questions, have ventured to extend to us a word of concord in opinion. This is nice; but of course it does not get us anywhere. The fellow who sobbed on our shoulder just now and deplored that his tribute amounted to $250 last year, and that he has had to hire a $23 a week accountant to avoid future fines, and the other fellow who let two assistants go to avoid paying the tribute and is now facing a fat fine of some sort, seem to be willing to get on their boat along with us. We don't think it leads anywhere. It just shows that there is a little opposition and that we are not absolutely alone in our opinion. And until the mass are all out of work or are all taxed in proportion to the employer, any opposition is like a horse pawing the air while still hitched to a post. To the public at large any small dribble story are called upon to pay their wages is handed over in the nature of a “bribe” for an uncertain future dividend or at best a possible chance to figure in on what might possibly be over after the ruler has finally completed their experiments. By all means enlarge the tribute. By all means bring everyone into the fold and make them pay a levy. Let them get a taste of filling out blanks for all household expenditures. Let them keep accurate records down to the last penny. Let them see how many jobs they will hire done if they are fined for doing it. Then we may have a few (7) more supporting our views. Beyond our scolding over the robbery, we are not yet in the clutches of our (?) government. We have heard from several who seem to be barely eluding it and who are wondering what will happen when it catches up with them. So are we! We don't really anticipate going to jail. So far as we can see now, we are just sticking our neck out for a fat fine. But no matter how unjustifiable we may feel such a fine, we would not think of taking it to the Supreme Court. We have had nothing to do with any of the Court's appointments. And our wealth (?) has not yet been all distributed, we suppose the route of fines is just as quick and somewhat easier than taxation. So—all this seems to get nowhere. The injunction against our struggle to do business seems still held up and possibly we will be permitted to see the Winton Club Show—after which the Little Woman will be in better condition to come down to “Bill” Roger's hotel and see us through the bars.

DEFINED

Socialism: If you have two cows you give one to your neighbor.
Communism: You give both cows to the government, and the government gives back some of the milk.
Facism: You keep both cows, but give the milk to the government, which sells some of it back to you. New Dealism: You shoot one cow, milk the other, and then pour the milk down the sink.

SOCRATES SAYS-

“SO YOU WON'T TALK, EH?”

According to the press the W. P. A. are to teach women in Boston “how to talk”—they are “to learn how to avoid those painful lapses which occur when nobody can think of anything to say.”

If Dr. Morgan of T. B. A. fame had only attended a W. P. A. jam-talk fest, “contumacy” might not have closed in on him. Now “abundant talk” for everyone in the nation is decreed—not free speech, but free speech—say something, no matter what—but down with “contumacy.” (How about opposition talk?) It was once upon a time said that “talk is cheap”—now the New Deal is to include “talk” as part of “the spending program.”

—A good neighbor suggestion —“Give up prohibition and return to prosperity.”
“Buy silver at a high price—it will help silver countries to buy of us.”
“Limit immigration—it will increase employment.”
“Give up the gold standard—it will protect foreign trade.”

After we own all the gold in the world, dentistry should cost less anyway.

The world may use sea shells for money again by the time of the “fourth term,” so why dig gold from miles underground and store it 60 feet deep in Kentucky?—we are not even holding our own this way.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The Winchester League of Women Voters held its regular mid-winter legislative session at Shaker Glen, Friday, the 27th.

Speakers at the morning session included Mrs. Errol Horner, Legislative Chairman of the Winchester League, and Mrs. Henry Eaton, Chairman of Government and Foreign Policy of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters. Mrs. Horner spoke on legislative bills pending in the Legislature and bills to be presented to the Legislature at this session in which the League is particularly interested.

Mrs. Eaton gave a clear view of the Neutrality Act of 1937, how it worked and how we worked out, and presented the bills which have been introduced to repeal the Neutrality Act, to make it even more rigid in its application, and to apply embargoes in special instances. The Winchester League of Women Voters is on record in favor of application of embargoes against countries which have violated treaties to which this country is a signatory, as the best way to protect the general interest of the United States. The League is also in position to support embargoes on essential raw materials as well as munitions and implements of war.

Lechen was served at 1 o'clock by Mrs. Buckmaster's efficient maid.

The afternoon session opened with a talk given by Mr. E. Morton Jennings, Jr. on the Community Fund.

Mr. Henry R. Atkinson, President of the Massachusetts Civic League, spoke on the State Civil Service and reported most encouragingly for the Merit System, believing it was coming into its own, and calling the attention of the group to many bills being presented to the Legislature this session for the members to contact their Senators and Representatives about.

Government and Economic Welfare Group, Mrs. Theodore Moore, chairman, has finished its course of study of Public Housing for Low Income Groups, which was under the direct supervision of Mrs. Malcolm Nichols. The next of the League's study group, Mrs. Theodore Moore, chairman, has finished its course of study of Public Housing for Low Income Groups, which was under the direct supervision of Mrs. Malcolm Nichols. MRS. MARION CHANDLER NEWTON

Mrs. Marion Chandler Newton, whose husband, Rev. D. Augustus Newton, for many years pastor of the First Congregational Church, died Wednesday, Feb. 1, at her home, 26 Church street, Westboro. She was 80 years old.

Mrs. Newton was born in Sturbridge, the daughter of Bela J. and Martha (Chandler) Stone. She was widely known in Winchester during her husband's pastorate which extended over more than 10 years prior to 1914 when he left town to accept a pastorate in Reading. In Westboro she was a member of the Evangelical Church and of the Benevolent Society, president of the Sewing Society and a member of the Women's Club.

Surviving, besides her husband are three sons, Howard Augustine Newton of New Haven, Conn.; Dr. Francis Chandler Newton of Newton Center; and Dr. Harold Augustus Newton of Brookline; a daughter, Mrs. Christine Newton Means of Newton Center; a sister, Miss Alice P. Stone of Westboro; and 11 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Evangelical Church, Westboro with Rev. Mr. Beardslee and Rev. Mr. Fisher officiating. Interment will be in Westboro in Pine Grove Cemetery.

TWO ACCIDENTS TUESDAY

The first of two automobile accidents in Winchester Tuesday took place at 12:15 in the afternoon when a DeSoto sedan, driven by Dorothea S. Raff of 89 Lawson road, Brookline, while headed east on church street at Bacon street was in collision with a Chevrolet sedan, driven by Barbara M. Fifield of 8 Woodside road who was going north from Bacon street to enter Fletcher street. Both cars were badly damaged and both operators were injured. Mrs. Raff complaining of injuries to her right leg and Miss Fifield of injuries to her back and left hip.

At 11:35 at night the police were notified of an accident on Woodside road at Winter Pond. Sgt. Charles J. Harrold went to investigate and found that a Plymouth sedan had left the road and had demolished the box protecting the pump owned by the Water and sewer Department. No one was in the car and a checkup was made to determine its ownership. It was found to be registered to a Winchester man who denied driving it at the time of the accident.

TEA DANCE

On Saturday afternoon, Feb. 11 from 4 to 6 p. m. the boys and girls of Winchester are invited to a tea dance at the Epiphany Parish House. There, Bill Partridge, well known high school orchestra leader, will direct his men in all the latest dance numbers. Delicious refreshments will be served.

Tickets are only 50 cents per couple and may be obtained at the Star Office or from David Riley and his corps of Epiphany ticket sellers at the high school. They may also be obtained from Mrs. P. S. Newton, Mrs. 1626 and her committee, Mrs. Guy Howe and Mrs. Herbert Kelley.

INVITATION

Miss Mary Bowditch Forbes cordially invites the readers of this paper and their families and friends to the Lincoln Cabin at 215 Adams street, Milton, on Lincoln's birthday, Sunday, Feb. 12 from 2 to 5 p. m. to see her interesting collection of Lincoln relics and the reproduction of his birthplace. Admission free.

REPUBLICAN CLUB

The women of the Winchester Republican Club gathered Wednesday afternoon for a dessert and meeting at Waterfield Hall. The Club was almost fully represented for the ice cream, cake and coffee offered by Mrs. Harold Meyer, Mrs. Chester Wolfe and Mrs. Harold Bates, and for the following meeting capably conducted by Mrs. William Baker.

Mrs. Warren C. Whitman deserves much praise for the arrangement of the afternoon program which gave facts behind recent state and government bills.

Mrs. Leo W. Blaisdell, first speaker, discussed the proposed sales tax, stating that the recent drop in real estate values and the jump in relief-demand from 14 to 50 million dollars since 1929 necessitate increased taxation somewhere. She explained how the compensating tax was its worst feature and how it hits the lowest income group the hardest but suggested that it was useful in making the average man realize the price that he is paying for corrupt public officials.

Mrs. Gerald E. Monroe, second speaker, discussed the recent Supreme Court decision that no utility has the right to sue another company for competing with it. She gave two sides of the question as represented by Gov. Aiken, spokesman for states rights, and President Roosevelt, spokesman for governmental rights, in the matter of water power and flood control. She sought to solve the question as to whether the rivers should be in or out of politics.

Mrs. Frederick Hatch, third speaker, enlightened her listeners examining the pardon and parole system in Massachusetts. She explained that the parole system was a racket because the man with the money, not the deserving man, was the one who was freed. She told how robbery and murder were committed every day by paroled prisoners and said that without exception they were guilty of the kidnappings of the past few years. Mrs. Hatch commented on the workings of the parole board, pointing out its strength and weakness. She mentioned the traditional, genial acceptance of dishonesty in our public men.

Mrs. Warren C. Whitman, final speaker, revealed the truth behind other bills. She spoke of Col. Harrington, new head of the W. P. A. as a man of discipline and diplomacy. She said W. P. A. needs to eliminate political hangers-on and aliens, needs to force political time markers to make a living, and needs to put over competent men in control.

Her regard to the armament bill Mrs. Whitman said that it was a question of policy and psychology. She said that Guam island as a first class naval base would serve as excellent nuisance value. She suggested that the U. S. may have to take Britain's place in policing the world since security of our commerce and our persons must be assured.

The neutrality bill was thoroughly explained, its weaknesses revealed and the argument for its revision expounded. The law ties our hands against collective action with other countries and names armaments with no mention of materials used for war.

REPRESENTED GOVERNMENT AT HYANNIS P. O. DEDICATION

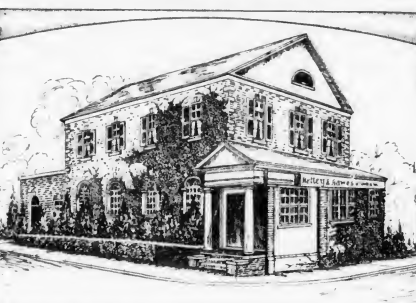

Harold F. Ambrose, director of public relations for the National Postoffice Department and son of Mrs. M. C. Ambrose of Vine street, was the official government representative at the dedication of the new postoffice building at Hyannis on Monday.

Mr. Ambrose delivered the dedicatory address in the afternoon and was one of the principal speakers at the banquet in the evening. He announced during his remarks that the government is planning to establish a trans-Atlantic air service from New York to Marseilles, France, commencing May 1 with 40-thrton-ton planes capable of carrying 30,000 pounds with 73 passengers. The planes will be powered by four 1500 horsepower engines and will carry a crew of 12. Construction of the planes will permit mechanics to make repairs to any portion while in flight and the planes will be capable of flying 6000 miles without stop.

Mr. Ambrose stated that the Postoffice Department spent $15,000 for the Hyannis postoffice site and $99,000 for the building, the expense being a part of a Government program instituted five years ago to aid employment. Prior to establishing a building program he said the Government paid $11,000,000 annually for postoffice rentals throughout the country. Postoffice receipts in this country, he stated, in any year equal the combined postal receipts of Great Britain and France, $728,000,000 being taken last year.

WINCHESTER MOTORISTS IN WOBURN ACCIDENTS

Winchester motorists figured in two automobile accidents which were reported in Woburn over the past week-end.

Saturday night James C. McDonough, 66, of 9 Glenwood avenue, was struck and knocked down on Main street between Ash and Buckman streets in Woburn by an automobile which the police say was driven by Raymond E. Murphy of 28 Pierpont road who was headed south. According to reports of the accident Mr. McDonough stepped from the curb at the side of the road and was struck by the right nudguard and headlight of Mr. Murphy's machine. The injured man was taken to the Choate Memorial Hospital in Woburn by Mr. Murphy, Martin J. McGah of 21 Main street and Maynard McElhinney of 5 Upland road, both of Woburn. He was found to have sustained head injuries and a bad leg fracture.

Four year old George Gately of Acadia street, Woburn, was injured Sunday when he was struck by an automobile which the police say was being driven west on Lexington street in that city by Miss Gertrude L. Davis of 88 Hemingway street.

According to reports of the accident the injured boy was seen by Miss Davis standing with two older brothers on Lexington street near Parker street as she approached. She was unable to account for his sudden rush into the path of her machine which struck him and knocked him down. The youngster was rushed to the Choate Memorial Hospital where his condition was reported as serious.

Eggs are a food whose use fluctuates greatly with price. Fortunately they are at their best when most plentiful and cheap. At present, even grade B eggs are fresh and delicious enough for poaching and boiling and they are as cheap as at any time last year. Butter too, and cheese are low in price.

Meats are a trifle higher while poultry is steady. Frost has injured the crops of green beans and peas so that these vegetables are high. Spinach is cheap and broccoli, cauliflower and mushrooms relatively so. Salad greens are reasonable.

JANUARY MEETING OF W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. held their January meeting at the First Baptist Church, Mrs. Harry Kempton presiding. She read selected verses from the 119th Psalm, all referring to God's law. Mrs. Alice Winn offered prayer. Some interesting items were read from Mrs. Nelle Burger's loyal tribute to "The Union Signal" to Mrs. Lillian M. N. Stevens, who succeeded Frances Willard in 1898 as national W. C. T. U. president. Guests from many lands visited her fine residence in Stroudwater, Me. Her love for humanity prompted her to open her home to many unfortunate women and children. In 1896 she arranged for the receiving into Maine homes of 50 Armenians, fleeing from Turkish atrocities.

At her funeral service Rev. Daniel A. Foling said: "Mrs. Stevens was a prophet. The whole history of our form presents no more inspiring scene than that enacted on the closing day of the campaign against the resubmission of the Maine Prohibition Law, when the woman whose memory we are met to honor, surrounded by her exhausted comrades in that unparalleled fight, and with a defeat that would have broken the temperance heart of the world staring her in the face declared: 'We hereby proclaim that within a decade prohibition will be placed in the Constitution of the United States.'" And it was so, Congressmen Hobson carried the resolution through successive sessions of Congress, until on Jan. 16, 1920, it became law.

January is the month when we stress our Lillian Stevens Legislative Fund for the support of Dr. Izora Scott, our Legislative Representative in Washington who, through her weekly Washington letter in the "Union Signal," keeps us (and our National W. C. T. U. President) in touch with the doings of Congress, suggesting personal letters, resolutions, petitions to be sent to our Senators and Congressmen on important bills, for or against. She gives information to many visitors, and has but one secretary. Her work is of vast importance. Without it we would be ineffective in making contacts between our homes and Congress.

We made Mrs. Alice Winn our honorary secretary. A motion picture was made and carried for a vote of thanks for money received from the Baptist Women's League and the Methodist Ladies' Aid Society. We are grateful for the contributions received from Winchester friends outside the Union in the last two years, toward our million dollar fund for alcohol education. We need outside assistance. This is the last year in our campaign.

We also voted to send to Senator Walsh and Senator Lodge and to Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers a resolution in which, as an organization, we petition Congress for anti-liquor-advertising legislation.

Our speaker was Mrs. Charles Livingston of Woburn, our county director of citizenship and legislation, who referred to certain bills put through the state legislature, and spoke of the procedure following in carrying through a bill, readings, hearings, debates, engrossment.

The churches in the United States, beginning last April, have been petitioning Congress to pass legislation to stop as far as possible by Federal law, the great advertising campaign now going on through press and radio. The states cannot adequately regulate or prohibit liquor advertising so long as Congress permits it through interstate commerce. The W. C. T. U. goal is 10,000 petitions. Our first Winchester petition was started in the First Baptist Church last Sunday.

W. C. T. U. Founded in 1874

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

America's favorite comedian of the airwaves, stage and celluloid, Jack Benny, returns to the screen in the lavish new musical comedy, "A Crooked Mile" starring Akim Tamiroff, Frances Farmer, Leni Riefenstahl and Lynne Overman. The picture opens Sunday at the University Theatre. Using the glamorous Paris Exposition as its background, the story plots the screwball adventures of Benny, an American who keeps one step ahead of the gendarmes and his madcap romance with Miss Bennett, the daughter of an oil tycoon posing as another pauper. Prominent in the cast are the Yacht Club Boys, as hilarious as ever, who play members of the Benny troupe, Mary Boland, as Miss Bennett's social-climbing aunt, Charley Grapewin, as the girl's father, and Fritz Feld. The hilarious struggles of a newlywed couple to get ahead in the world despite the mad ministrations of their fun-loving friends forms the main theme of the new romantic comedy, "Thanks For The Memory," the companion feature. Bob Hope and Shirley Ross are the couple in question, and you will remember them for their inimitable rendition of the number "Thanks For The Memory" in the "Big Broadcast of '38." Others who have featured roles include Charles Butterworth, Otto Kruger, Hedda Hopper and Roscoe Karns.

There are two leading ladies in Bing Crosby's latest comedy venture, "Paris Honey-moon," which opens on Thursday. They are lovely Shirley Ross and Franciska Gaal. As the young American millionaire "Lucky" Brown, Bing goes to Paris in order to see about a minor detail which keeps Miss Ross from marrying him—namely, a divorce from a French nobleman. While waiting for the divorce he is wheedled into buying a castle for the honeymoon by Akim Tamiroff, who is not only in the realty business in the principality of "Pustalnick," somewhere in the Balkans, but is also its mayor, its dealer in political offices, operator of the town's only slot machine—which he introduces from Chicago—and hotel man. There's music, of course, this time four tunes, written expressly for this production by the songwriting team of Robin and Rainer.

"Comet Over Broadway," which Cosmopolitan Magazine readers will remember as one of Faith Baldwin's greatest stories, will be the associate feature. The Berkeley directed picture which stars Jay Francis and features Ian Hunter, John Littel, Donald Crisp, Mina Gombel, Sybil Jason, Melville Cooper, Ian Keith, Leona Marical and many other prominent players. Miss Baldwin's story, told as the title suggests—about the rise and fall of a great actress and the behind scenes drama of her life, which causes her to give up her brilliant career and the man she loves in order to pay for a youthful mistake.

READING THEATRE

"Heart of the North," which is to be shown at the Reading Theatre, today and tomorrow, is an exciting production, beautifully photographed in color, and deals with an episode in the Canadian North in which two of the Royal Mounted Police risk their lives and reputations to apprehend the criminal. The production furnishes lusty entertainment with fine acting by a good cast. The co-feature will be "Sharpshooters," starring Brian Donlevy and Lynne Bari. This is a vivid portrayal of the experiences of the brave men who during the world war manned the submarine chasers and of the danger to which they were exposed. The co-feature will be "Gangster's Boy," starring Jackie Cooper.

Attend our shows and enjoy an evening of real entertainment. Each picture is carefully selected, so that the whole family may enjoy it.

NEW PRINCESS THEATRE

Undoubtedly at the new Princess Theatre in Wakefield lovers of winter sports will gather on Friday and Saturday to see "The Ski Chase." This picture could not come at a better time with everyone's attention focused on the great outdoors. Skiing, snowshoeing and tobogganing are right now at their prime.

"The Ski Chase" is thrilling, exciting and it is surely the best way for every one to learn the correct way to ski.

With lofty Alpine peaks forming a majestic background the breathtaking chase swirls down vast stretches of pristine snowy wastes, and as the skiers gather momentum the snow is churned into billowy waves. Jumps which are thrilling from precipice to precipice, even from house-top to house-top are executed in mass formation by the entire cast.

This film is especially good for the novice skier, for the story is about a lesson given by Hans Schneider to the beautiful Viennese, Leni Riefenstahl. Schneider as the enthusiast knows is perhaps the most famous of all the European teachers of this sport.

This picture which has outstanding photography is surely a winter masterpiece, and the camera angles are remarkable, showing clearly the snows and intricacies of the art of skiing.

MAIDEN STRAND THEATRE

"Say It In French," with Ray Milland and Olympe Bradna, plus "Ride A Crooked Mile" starring Akim Tamiroff, Frances Farmer, Leni Riefenstahl and Lynne Overman is the double feature opening at the Strand Theatre in Maiden on Friday. "Say It In French" combines sophisticated farce and merry romance. It tells the amusing tale of Ray Milland's young American playboy arrives from a trip abroad with his French bride, Miss Bradna, only to find that he must announce his consent to a wealthy debutante or allow his father to go bankrupt.

"Ride A Crooked Mile," presents Akim Tamiroff as a wild Cossack who tries to bring the life of the Russian steppes to the plains of Kansas and who is completely dumfounded when the authority of the United States Government and his high-spirited efforts to break out of Leavenworth, aided on the outside by his son who has joined the army for that purpose, provides the main action of the picture.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Out West With The Hardy's," the fifth and latest of this popular series of films opens at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. "Out West With The Hardy's" follows them through another action-filled episode of their colorful doings, replete with hilarious comedy, human, heart-warming pathos, trials and tribulations. It brings new honors to the favorites of millions of motion picture fans who have come to love and know Lewis Stone as the Judge, Mickey Rooney as Andy, Cecilia Parker as Marian, Fay Holden as Mrs. Hardy, Sara Haden as Aunt Milly, Ann Rutherford as Andy's "steady" girl friend, and Dennis Hunt as Marian's boy-friend. It also introduces a new guest star in Virginia Weidler, who gives one of the pictures' best top performances as Jake Holt.

"Young Doctor Kildare," starring Lew Ayres, Lionel Barrymore, Lynne Carver and Nat Pendleton, will be the second feature on the bill starting today. The story of Young Doctor Kildare, presents Lew Ayres as an ambitious interne in a metropolitan hospital, in love with his boyhood sweetheart back home. He wins the esteem and friendship of a veteran surgeon, portrayed by Lionel Barrymore. The grim drama of what exists in a great hospital has been captured by the cast and the film moves to a powerful climax.

THREE GIRLS FROM "DOWN IN FRONT," OPENING NUMBER, WINTON CABARET
Winton Club Stages Annual Revue

The high spot of the social season in Winchester was reached last week-end when the Winton Club presented its annual Cabaret, an entertainment that for some 20 years has been the means of raising funds to supply the Winchester Hospital with a well-stocked linen room. This work is taken seriously by its members and their responsibility toward this end is reflected in the thought and effort put toward the Cabaret each year.

The 1939 Cabaret, "Promptly at Nine" was a nine-act musical revue that easily falls into the group of "best Winton Club shows." Attractive performers, good dancing, bright colors, pep and splendid music all combined to make a hit. Mrs. Charles H. Woolley of Glen road was the chairman of the Cabaret and her experience as an ideal choice for this position. The cast found her enthusiasm and good humor quite contagious and rehearsals were fun for everyone.

She was ably assisted by Mrs. Frederick B. Craven, Mrs. M. Walker Jones and Mrs. James O. Murray, all well known for noteworthy ability in many civic and social activities.

Mr. Chester H. Brooks, of the John B. Rogers Co., directed the Cabaret. A newcomer to Winchester, he is well known around Boston as the director of the famed Vincent Club shows and other amateur musicals. An amiable, clever and versatile coach, familiar with all branches of entertainment, his perseverance and thoroughness in training the cast was well rewarded, for one of the outstanding points of the whole show was the splendid execution of the routines.

The show opened with a vivacious chorus of pretty girls who cautioned the audience to get "Down in Front" to see the show. Then, with the stage darkened, they did a routine with illuminated gloves which was most effective. "Hey Hey," the second number, was a lively dance with four attractive couples dressed as farmers and their sweethearts, reminiscent of hay rides and corn shucking.

"Hurricane" deserves special mention as one of the loveliest scenes for many years. The lovely dancers in billowing, organically costumed, lighted by warm amber light, created a beautiful spectacle.

By whatever name it is called from year to year, the drill is always popular. This year, they came from the land of the thistle, and marched on the floor to the ever-thrilling music of Scotch bagpipes, played by a professional. A smart and surprising routine, performed magnificently by girls trained to what seemed to be perfection brought down the house.

The opening scene of the second act was "Powerhouse," a modernistic dance to strange, beating music that symbolized the power of pulsing engines, a refreshing contrast of sharp and defined movements against pale and eerie lights.

One of the most delightful numbers was "Sophistication" with ten stately men and a girl. Miss Jeanne Moran, who was the personification of beauty and grace as the star dancer in this scene.

"Hi-Lo Silver" had a fast-stepping chorus of cowboys and girls, with banjos and guitar, accordion and a fine male chorus, which sang the familiar favorite, "Home on the Range" with (Continued on page 6)

GLEANSING FROM THE SELECT-MEN'S CURRENT REPORT

The town's excellent financial condition is attested by the audit report made by the Division of Accounts, Massachusetts Department of Corporation and Taxation. No new bonds have been issued since 1932. On Dec. 31, 1938, the town's bonded indebtedness was $357,000, approximately $500,000 below the statutory limit. The total amount of debt maturing in 1939 is $88,000; interest payments to be made on outstanding bonds during 1939 total $21,104.25. Corresponding figures for 1932, when the town's bonded indebtedness was $1,165,000, were $102,000 and $44,887.50 respectively. This comparison clearly shows the progress that has been made in reducing the town's debt during some of the most difficult years in the nation's financial history.

The Board believes that while the substantial use of this fund (Excess & Deficiency) should be made to meet 1939 expenses, the balance should not be drawn below $150,000. This last loan ($100,000 Dec. 12, '38 due Nov. 10, '39) which was the only one outstanding at the end of the year, carries the lowest interest rate, which the town ever borrowed, 0.11 per cent.

The total expense occasioned by the hurricane amounted Dec. 31, '38, to $19,750.75. Several hundred dollars more will be necessary to repair signs done. This year the town included $5,000 for street patching and $10,000 for surface treatment which has made it possible to make a substantial start upon our long neglected streets.

To keep the secondary streets in good condition and to avoid reconstruction costs they should be given surface treatment about once in five years.

The Board has petitioned the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the County of Middlesex for assistance under Chapter 90 for the construction of the remaining portion of High street through to Ridge street as the major construction activity in 1939.

A new surface drainage project to care for the water from the west side hill streets, formerly drained into a small pond, has been accepted by the Board. The project would be undertaken by the town and federal funds amounting to $86,000.20. Work on this project started in the fall of 1938 and will last through '39 and into '40. It is one of the largest surface drainage projects ever undertaken by the town.

Under an agreement with the Boston & Maine Railroad the town is to lower the level of Cross street under the railroad bridge 10 1/2 inches, and the railroad is to raise the level of its tracks by 10 1/2 inches, making a minimum clearance of 11 ft. The wooden pier in the middle of the road is also to be removed. The Board recommends the appropriation of $2,400 for the construction of a traffic circle at the junction of Washington and Winthrop streets with the parkway where the trees have been lopped off and considerable area of road space added.

Traffic lights apparently are not popular in Winchester. The efficiency of our (Fire) Department continues to be evident in the care of a couple of accidents.

The Board believes that from now on it will be sufficient to buy each year only the amount of hose condemned during the preceding year.

In 1939 it is planned to buy a new car for the (Police) Chief and put his Dodge into service as a patrol car.

The Board considers it good business practice to trade in at least one (Police) car each year. The Ford truck with ambulance body receives constant criticism as a rough rider. It was used only 42 times last year. The Board feels this need must be postponed in view of the urgent necessity of adding to the personnel of the Police Department.

To adequately cover the existing six routes, add a man for route seven from Lebanon street to the town border and keep the patrol cars running all night would require a force of 25 men (present personnel 21).

The Board has voted unanimously to recommend the appointment of two additional patrolmen and the employment of special officers to take the place of men on vacation has proved most helpful and should be continued. The Board recommends that the main auditorium of the town hall be painted during 1939.

FIREMAN'S BALL NEXT WEEK

The concert and ball of the Winchester Fireman's Relief Association will take place in the town hall next Friday evening, Feb. 17, from 8 until 1 o'clock with the entertainment program from 8 until 9:30, followed by general dancing. The entertainment program will appear in next week's Star. Fireman John J. O'Neil is chairman of the ball committee with Lieut. D. J. Meskell, treasurer.

Mrs. H. Arthur Hall has been ill during the past week at her home on Madison avenue west.

WINCHESTER ART AS-SOCIATION

Sponsoring New Exhibition

The Winchester Art Association gave a tea last Sunday afternoon in the art gallery of the public library for Nellie Littlehale Murphy, Sally Cross, Bill, Ralph Gray, William Jewell, C. H. Richert and C. Scott White, artists who are exhibiting water colors at the library this month. Mrs. Hollis Nickerson was in charge of arrangements for the tea and the painters were Mrs. William T. Carver and Mrs. Alphonse S. Campbell.

Quite a wide range of subjects is included in the current exhibition. Mrs. Murphy is showing several carefully painted small English scenes, the outstanding among which is the House in the Wood, a charming study of a tall house in a setting of trees and shrubbery, the outlining of the trees against the sky-line being particularly well done. Cotswood Cottage is sharper and rather more conventional with regards detail, but like its companion pictures, Dartmoor, English Cottage and On the Way to Wildcombe, is subdued in coloring and well drawn.

Very striking is Mr. Gray's snow, showing clumps of evergreen standing in rocky snow-covered ground under a steel blue bit of sky. The half buried rocks in the foreground are finely done. The same artist shows use of deep blue for the shadows, arresting; though hardly as natural appearing as the shade used by Mr. Gray to tone the snow in Loggins. A study of a team of horses hauling a sled piled high with good sized logs. The suggestion of freshly fallen, feathery snow upon the bare branches of the trees is finely made. The Falls, by the same artist, shows a stream dashing over a stony stream bed against a background of evergreens.

Picturesque and having an indefinable appeal is Mr. Jewell's The Old Mill, showing a grayish ramshackle structure leaning against a fresher white house under tall trees. The Marshes, also by Mr. Jewell, depicts a scene of a marshy landscape, flanked by the wall of a tall building and bit of tumble down fence to the left and the prow of a long boat at the right with the golden bronze of the marshes stretching away to a horizon of a hazy blue.

Mr. Jewell has achieved a fine perspective in his Village Street, one of the outstanding studies in the exhibition showing white colonial type houses and a church, lining a narrow tree-shaded street in a country town.

There is a fresh wind-blown air in Mr. Richert's Petit Manan with its weather-beaten fish shanty in a setting of sandy beach vegetation and water with a dark green high land at the rear and banks of fleecy white clouds. The Farm by the same artist is broadly painted and shows a square white house and a barn with a suggestion of late fall foliage. Very luminous is Mr. Richert's Rocks with its great masses of well drawn ledge, warm with the rays of a late afternoon sun, life with the highland seen across shimmering water under a greenish golden sky.

Three very colorful studies are Mr. White's The Red Tree, Hill and Water. The first shows a red tree with a greenish purple background of shadowy highlands with angry deep gray clouds breaking away to show a blue sky. The second shows a tall red tree with a greenish purple background of shadowy highlands with angry deep gray clouds breaking away to show a blue sky. The third shows a tall red tree with a greenish purple background of shadowy highlands with angry deep gray clouds breaking away to show a blue sky.

Miss Bill shows several studies of flowers, of chief interest being a vase of lilacs, contrasted with a shallow deep blue pan of red. The only sun life in the exhibition, Fruit and Flowers, is by the same artist. The exhibition will continue at the library through February.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

The world day of prayer which comes annually on the first Friday of Lent will be celebrated this year on Feb. 24, in Ripley Chapel of the First Congregational Church, at 2:30 p. m.

The world day of prayer is sponsored and observed by Christians of many denominations around the world. The local meeting is co-operated in by women of each of the Protestant churches.

All who believe that Christian influence would be more effective if churches were pulling together, all who feel the world's desperate need of an undiscoverable good-will to offset the hatreds now menacing so many areas; all who believe that power somehow has the power to tune in to more perfect reception of God's love; all these are invited to share in this world service.

WINCHESTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Rev. Laurence L. Barber, president of the Arlington Historical Society, was the speaker at the winter meeting of the Winchester Historical Society held on February 2 at the public library.

Previous to Mr. Barber's talk Miss Quimby, for the gifts committee, displayed two framed photographs of Winchester which had been presented to the society by Mr. Henry Robinson. The largest of these was taken from the top of the Rev. Joshua Coit's house, and gave a very fine idea of how Winchester looked 50 years ago in the vicinity of Main, St. Pleasant and Washington streets, showing several old landmarks among them the Unitarian Church, which was burned in 1807 and which stood near the present Warwick terrace. The other picture was a section of Wedge Pond, showing the birches, which was very beautiful.

Mr. Barber's subject was "Makers of Time," and he presented the Clock Club, he spoke with authority. He traced the methods of measuring time through the centuries. The earliest method was the sun dial which was used with various markings almost from the dawn of history until the development of clocks during the 18th century. The next method was the water clock, a contrivance for measuring time by the graduated flow of water through a small aperture which indicated on a dial the passing of time. That graduated dial was the beginning of the clock dial. The third means of measuring time was the hour-glass.

There was no very rapid development of clocks for a considerable period of time, but from 1700 to 1750 certain developments came. From the earliest times the clock was the center of the industry and from the beginning was interested in making a cheaper clock, while Massachusetts, with Boston as a center, was more interested in a quality product.

Strictly speaking a clock is not a clock unless it has a bell. Simon Willard made that distinction. If it hasn't a bell it is a timepiece. The two important parts of the clock are the works or movement and the case. The works were made by master mechanics and put into some kind of a case by the local cabinet maker. Many of the cases were of the finest workmanship, but sometimes the most beautiful clock dials were put into atrocious cases, even a coffin-maker sometimes making the case.

Mr. Barber had a number of dials which he carefully explained to the society, tracing the development of various types and telling some interesting anecdotes. There were first the grandfather clock, then the shelf clock, grandmother clock, banjo clock and finally the cathedral clock. He also showed photographs of many rare and beautiful clocks. These old clocks were remarkably well-made, many of them made 150 years ago keeping accurate time today.

This is the second time the society has been privileged to hear Mr. Barber, and his talk was a real treat.

WINCHESTER SPEAKER AT EPIPHANY YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEETING

At their annual Fireside meeting in the Parish Library Sunday afternoon, Feb. 5, the Young People's Fellowship of the Church of the Epiphany had as guest Miss Mary R. Mackendon, who spoke to them on a subject to which no one of her hearers was indifferent. The speaker who announces Miss Mackendon's subject has no need to begin with a funny story to angle for the interest of an audience; the topic of happiness interests every one from the very beginning of consciousness, and the interest goes with all the way. Perhaps it is keenest in an audience like the Fireside Group, where the average age falls in the teens, among people so young that no one of them is quite sure yet whether he is carrying into life the merry heart that "goes all the day" or the sad that "tires in a mile-a-go" whether happiness is an endorsement by fate or an art that the practitioner of living can learn.

Miss Mackendon's announced title placed her among those who believe happiness comes from the individual's mastery of the art of living, for she called her talk "A Recipe for Happiness."

The metaphor from the fudge-kettle or the camp fire piqued the interest of her young hearers beforehand and set them to asking themselves two questions: what materials must I have for happiness, and what skill must I have in using them? They were interested in seeing how their own answers compared with the recipe worked out and trusted by someone who had sat a few years longer at life's table and has observed what people have happiness as daily bread and who know it only as an occasional and capricious feast. They enjoyed also the good humor and merriment with which the speaker sided the wisdom.

Miss Mackendon compared happiness to a cake. Flour is a basic ingredient, and we may compare the fundamental equipment of knowledge which we bring to the work of every day, to bring an efficient butcher or baker or candlestick maker, or admiral of the fleet, or prime minister. The milk is our sympathy for others, our courtesy, our power to live with people. The sugar is kindness, humor, laughter. Eggs that lighten are recreation, sports, fun. The flavor is given by the special assembly of qualities and attitudes that we term personality. But all these materials cannot alone make a cake. Without one thing they will be heavy and flat. This indispensable thing which lightens and sustains a happy life, Miss Mackendon called faith in God.

To many of her listeners Miss Mackendon was already known, and happily for she is a teacher of French in the Winchester High School.

LENTE OBSERVANCE

The Second Congregational Church has made early announcement of an extensive and profoundly devotional Lenten observance. The pastor and church leaders have carefully planned an observance based upon the needs of the Highland community and a careful consideration of the specific task of the church. It is the earnest prayer of the leaders and people that the Highland church may offer itself in devotion through the various types of the great services of worship.

The Lenten observance will include services for all age groups and organizations of the parish and the general public. The following divisions of the Lenten program have been announced: Special Sunday morning services of a broad liturgical character; the Lenten Sunday evening services with one of the choirs at each of these services and outstanding guest preachers. There will be a pre-Lenten officers and leaders corporate Communion. The Lenten Youth activities will include fellowship hour for the Kenwin Club following the Sunday evening services, children's services each Friday afternoon in connection with the choir school; Special Friday evening meetings for the High School group; the Pastor's class for church membership, and the Youth Corporate Communion early Easter morning. Weekday quiet hours will be held at the church and also a special service for the Women's Bethany Society.

VALENTINES. Large assortment. Make-up boxes, three styles, at the Star Office.

WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND CHAPTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

A board meeting was held Monday, Feb. 6, at the home of the president, Mrs. Chester D. Kenney. It is hoped a large group of mothers will attend the meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 14, at which time Mrs. Pitirim Sorokin will speak on her experience in Russia. The other chapters in the town are cordially invited to attend.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PARISH OF THE EPIPHANY

About 125 members of the parish of the Epiphany had a cheerful family gathering in the parish hall the annual dinner, Jan. 31. The dinner was arranged by the Ways and Means committee, Mrs. William Martens, chairman. High school boys and girls assisted in the serving, and then had their own dinner party, which Mrs. Martens had especially arranged, in one of the smaller rooms of the parish house, while their elders held the annual business meeting in the parish hall.

Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, the rector, presided at the business meeting, and Mr. Percy Gleason as clerk, recorded the proceedings. Reports were heard on parish finances on religious education, and on various activities carried on by women's organizations. Applause greeted the report of one fairly small group of women, the Evening Branch, which told that in four years this circle, in addition to building up a spirit of friendly fellowship, had earned and given $983 for the parish. The annual elections gave the parish the continuing services of Mr. Gerald Y. Hills as treasurer, Mr. Percy Gleason as clerk, and Dr. Torr W. Harmer as warden, and these new officers:

Vestry, Mr. Walter L. Hawkes, Mr. Guy E. Howe, Mr. Henry Elton Moffette.

Representatives to the annual diocesan convention, Mr. Bradford U. Eddy, Mr. Roland Fletcher, and Mr. Donald Heath. Representatives to the Archdiocese of Lowell, Miss F. Louise Nardin, Mrs. Howell Stillman, Mrs. Alfred Sweet.

The meeting expressed its appreciation of the services of the three men who, by the system of three-year rotation, were retiring from the vestry: Mr. Bradford Eddy, Mr. Charles Hart, and Mr. Elbridge Wyman.

As a nominating committee to find officers for 1940, the parish chose Mrs. Henry R. Sawyer, Mr. Ellsworth Snow, and Mr. Elbridge W. Wyman.

MISS ELISABETH SNOW BRIDE OF MR. BISSETT

Miss Elisabeth Snow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Allan Snow of Reading, formerly of Winchester, became the bride last Saturday evening of Mr. Norman Thomas Bissett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Carvell Bissett, also of Reading. The wedding took place in the home of the bride's parents with the Rev. Howard J. Chidley of the First Congregational Church, Winchester, officiating at the ceremony. A reception followed.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory satin and rose point lace. Her finger tip veil was caught to a coronet of rose point lace and she carried gardenias and lilies-of-the-valley. Miss Dorothy Bullard, the bride's cousin and maid of honor, was gowned in coral taffeta trimmed with violet velvet ribbons. In her hair she wore a wreath of violets and rosebuds, matching her old-fashioned bouquet. Little Miss Lonna Wylie, also a cousin of the bride, wore a frock like the maid of honor's and a wreath of violets and rosebuds matching her old-fashioned bouquet.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Snow, wore a gown of periwinkle blue chiffon and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Bissett, mother of the bridegroom, wore tallmaison roses with her gown of bitersweet tulle.

Mr. Bissett had his father for his best man and included among the ushers were his uncle, Mr. Warren Towne of Hollis, N. H., and his cousin, Mr. Stephen E. Bissett of Belmont, and Mr. Ralph W. Lakin of Baintree, cousin of the bride.

Mr. Bissett and his bride will make their home in Reading. The bride attended the Cambridge-Haskell School and Lowell Junior College. Mr. Bissett attended Tilton Academy.

DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

The monthly meeting of the board of the Winchester District Nursing Association was held Friday, Feb. 3, at the home of Mrs. W. N. Homer, with the following 16 members present: Mesdames Kugler, Pearson, Jope, Spencer, Horner, Bradlee, Shoemaker, Homer, Sloan, Poni, Schneider, Grenier, McDavitt, Nichols, Dyer and Taylor.

The board is delighted to welcome Mrs. John Pearson as a member. An interesting report was made by Mrs. Nichols of the education committee and tentative plans were discussed in regard to the annual meeting.

This year in April the Community Chest Drive will take place and as the nursing association is one of the organizations to benefit by the drive, any member or friend contributing to it will assist the nursing association. In becoming a member of the group of organizations which make up the Community Chest, all dues of the nursing association will be automatically discontinued. The three dollars dues formerly paid directly to the association will, in the future, be paid directly to the Community Chest, with the provision that the contribution shall be credited to the Winchester District Nursing Association.

Mrs. Gormley reported a busy month as follows:

- 334 calls made on 72 patients
- 218 full pay calls made on 51 patients
- 82 part pay calls made on 15 patients
- 37 free calls made on 8 patients
- 3 O. R. S. calls
- 1 operation
- 12 Child health conservation calls
- 48 Metropolitan Insurance calls
- 25 John Hancock Insurance calls

MRS. BRIDGET E. CADY

Mrs. Bridget E. Cady widow of Patrick Cady and a well known resident of the north end, died Tuesday afternoon at her home, 846 Main street, after a long illness.

Mrs. Cady was 72 years old and a native of Ireland. She had made her home in Winchester for more than half a century and had a wide circle of friends among older residents. She leaves five daughters, Mrs. Mary Stuart of Meadville, Pa., Mrs. Katherine Drayer of Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. Josephine of New York, Mrs. Sarah Mullen of Belmont and Mrs. Ellen Kelley of Winchester; a son, Patrick Cady of Meadville, Pa.; three sisters, Mrs. Michael O'Toole, Mrs. John Flaherty, both of Winchester, and Mrs. M. J. Flaherty of Portland, Me.; and 13 grandchildren.

The funeral was held Friday morning from the late residence with high mass of requiem in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

BRIDGE PARTY AT MYSTIC SCHOOL

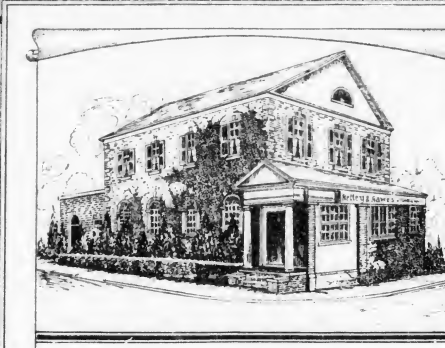

The Bridge held at the Mystic School on Tuesday proved an enjoyable and successful function despite unfavorable weather conditions.

St. Valentine furnished the keynote for the decorations of the hall and tables as well as for the refreshments. The candy vendors were gaily dressed in red-hat aprons and hair ornaments. Betsey Allen, Shirley Fellows, Mary Kumer, Margaret McCarthy, and Nancy Nutter, all from the sixth grade, worked with maximum efficiency selling all of the candy provided.

The door prize, a most unusual and attractive hostess tray, donated by Robert Lowe, a Winchester cabinet-maker, was won by Mrs. James Daschbaugh of Lawson Road.

The Mystic Mothers' Association wishes to thank all the members and friends who co-operated to make this party a success.

CABARET HUGE SUCCESS

fine feeling. A peppy tap dance enlivened this number, and a tap solo was beautifully done by Edith Jones, always an outstanding performer in the Cabaret, whose delightful "Rag Doll Dance" of two years ago will be long remembered.

Three leading comedians, Helen Gleason, Carol Howe and Georgia Farnsworth took part in a "Bantam Bout" which was clever and amusing, and of course well done by these popular favorites.

The final act "Celestial Symphony" was a scene of great beauty, introduced by Virginia Warren Voorhis, who sang "Night and Day" to the great pleasure of the audience. A serene white moon mounted high, stars which moved with graceful dignity and the sparkling Aurora Borealis group, combined to make this last act a brilliant spectacle. A choral group sang behind scenes, the only music to accompany this gorgeous finale. The club has ever felt fortunate to have Mrs. Fulton Brown, a recognized artist, as one of its members and her creations in this scene were, as always, surprisingly lovely.

Several things stood out this year as being conspicuously good. One was a splendid musical accompaniment by Ruby Newman's orchestra, under the direction of the popular "Sammy" Eisen, whose experience with musicals is well known and commended. And of course the dance music before and after the show was superb. Mrs. M. Walker Jones, a member of the Cabaret committee, had charge of the music, and consulted many hours with Sammy to select the most fitting tunes for the different acts, also playing the piano for many rehearsals. Good music is as important to a good performance as a good cast, and through the co-operation of these two, the results left nothing to be desired.

Over 200 people were invited to "try out" for the show, and the finished performance revealed many new attractive faces and a gratifying amount of talent. There were also "alternates" who rehearsed with each number as extras; in some cases they were in the show—in other cases they stepped aside for the regulars to perform. Surely much praise should be given these understudies, who worked as hard as the performers.

An experiment was made with sound equipment this year, and the results were highly successful. One of the obstacles in the planning of a program is the poor acoustics in the town hall, but this difficulty was to a large extent overcome, to the great satisfaction of many who sat at rear tables. The lighting effects were much commented upon as being extremely lovely and adding greatly to the beauty of the costumes and scenes.

The hall was decorated enchantingly, with silver stars and moons against a blue background, the tables covered in star-studded blue net. It was a stunning effect and quite transformed our town hall. Mrs. Harold S. Meyer was the clever chairman of this committee.

The program, under the capable leadership of Mrs. Thomas M. Richter, Jr., was a most attractive book of good length, in which nearly 200 advertisers, tracked down by the energetic committee, appeared. The cover, by Mrs. Fulton Brown, was most arresting in design and color.

During intermission, most of the audience worked industriously to find and list mis-spelled words in the program, competing for a $10 prize. Mr. Bradford Bentley acted as announcer, and the winner on Friday was Miss Priscilla Armstrong, on Saturday Mrs. Alfred Pierce, Jr.

The costumes were fresh and colorful, and due to the tireless efforts of Mrs. T. Price Wilson and her committee, they fitted each performer perfectly.

RUSTIC DANCERS FROM THE "HEY-HEY" NUMBER

Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., ably handled the publicity which is always so important; Mrs. Charles C. Clarke and Mrs. John B. Kenerson were the capable chairmen of the flowers and smokes, and Mrs. John Tarbell handled competently the duties of the floor. Refreshments were dispensed from the black and silver bar under the direction of Mrs. Percy Bugbee, and Mrs. James O. Murray took charge of properties and scenery, a backstage job of small glory but great weight.

Several people deserve mention for their generosity with their time and talent toward the success of the show. Mary Norton Witham, well known musician, arranged the score and directed the rehearsals of the choral groups, whose fine singing was such a delightful part of several acts. Isabelle Winship was another whose suggestions and advice also proved invaluable to the music committee. Mrs. Harold Blanchard contributed many hours at the piano during rehearsals. James Woolley and George Hayden, whose scenic and background work is well known in local amateur groups, added much beauty to the stage effects.

JUNIOR FLORENCE CRITTENTON

The second meeting of the Junior Florence Crittenton was held at the home of Mrs. Ellsworth Nichols, 56 Emerson road, on Feb. 7, at 3 p. m. Reports were submitted by the secretary, treasurer, and membership committee. The social service chairman for the Maternity Home described the successful Christmas party given by the Winchester Junior Circle to the girls at the Brighton Home.

The ways and means chairman announced a fair profit from the rummage sale in December. The bazaar chairman also made a beneficial report from the sale of pewter, fortune telling, and chances at the bazaar last fall.

Miss Helen Fowler of the Maternity Home then gave several case histories which were gratifying in their care of the girls while at the Home and in the placing of the mothers in positions where they could care for their children after they left the Home.

The second speaker, Mrs. M. Lawrence Higgins, who is on the board of directors and is chairman of the house committee at Maternity Home, talked of her experiences traveling with her son who is in the diplomatic corps. They had been stationed at government posts in Mexico, Panama, Spanish Honduras, Norway, and Paris. Their different modes of living in these foreign countries and the brilliant entertainments in connection with government houses made up the substance of her talk.

Mrs. Higgins was glad to be in Paris when the King and Queen of England made their recent visit to France and also to be there when Hitler delivered his ultimatum and she was privileged to observe the strenuous activities in moving troops to the south of France and in building concrete emplacements on which to mount the guns near the southern border.

Tea and a social period followed the business meeting.

WINCHESTER RESIDENT WILL PRESIDE

The North Shore District Telephone Association will hold their annual dinner at the Myles Standish Hotel in the Captain's Cabin and Silver Lining room on Thursday evening, Feb. 10 at 6:30 p. m. Election of officers for 1939 will take place on the same evening. Speakers at the dinner will include the District Superintendent of Plant, Traffic and Commercial.

Entertainment will be provided by the MacDonald Children of Revere. Mr. Tom Farrell, Everett and Mr. Howard A. S. Dixon, Revere, chairman and secretary-treasurer in charge of the dinner, expect about 150 members of the Association and friends to attend.

The present officers of the Association are: Mr. Charles Farrar, Winchester, president; Mr. Frank Blake, Malden, secretary; and Mr. William Mather, Malden district, treasurer.

VALENTINES. Also tablecloths, napkins, crepe paper, at the Star Office.

In Mrs. Woodrow Wilson's article this week in the Saturday Evening Post it makes no mention of the numerous presents that they received from the various crowned heads of Europe. This fact was denied by President Wilson himself during his lifetime but one Winchester resident took the rope and packing materials over to the President's home in Paris and spent some three days packing it up along with a crew of men. When the presents were finally loaded they filled two freight cars. The cards telling who they were from were still on them at the time.

Carmine "Stutz" DeMinico, former high school all around athlete, is now spending his time with razors and scissors instead of catching forward passes and making base knocks. He has opened a barber shop on Swanton street.

M. S. P. C. A.

On February 9, the Winchester Auxiliary Branch of the M. S. P. C. A. held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes, 243 Main Street.

The president, Mrs. Richard Taylor, presided at the meeting which was largely devoted to discussion of plans in preparation for Humane Week. The program for that week, commencing April 17, promises to be of varied appeal, and should be of great community interest.

In response to an invitation requesting the Auxiliary's assistance on the days of March 9 and 10, when a sale of articles made by the blind will be held at the town hall, several members offered their services for those days.

Mrs. Edith Washburn Clarke, high ranking official of the M. S. P. C. A. and of the American Humane Education Society, was the guest speaker. It was most reassuring to hear of the subsequent happy fates of several animals rescued by the S. P. C. A. whose previous deplorable circumstances have been recently recorded in the newspapers.

Not so reassuring were the cases cited of cruelty inflicted upon animals employed in certain moving pictures. In protestation against these practices, Mrs. Clarke brought petitions from the M. S. P. C. A. headquarters, which were circulated amongst the members present. It is earnestly hoped that Winchester residents will give these petitions their full support and co-operation.

At the conclusion of the meeting, which was exceptionally well-attended, everyone stayed to gather round the tea table, presided over by Mrs. Symmes and her mother, Mrs. Edward B. Ladd.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Master Richard Irving Spencer entertained a group of his friends at luncheon and movies last Saturday in honor of his ninth birthday.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Many people believe you can't change the world.

Girl Scouts believe you can—if you're persistent about it.

Twenty-seven years ago when Juliette Low brought Girl Scouting to the United States it was her dream that this recreational movement would foster friendship among the world's youth.

"A Girl Scout is a friend to all," she said. Girl Scouts' busiest activity is making friends, particularly international friends. They correspond with sister scouts all over the world. Their program includes projects concerned with customs and traditions of other lands the better to understand these friends.

February has been set aside as International Month when celebrations of international aspect are held in many local communities.

Most important of Girl Scout international friendship activities is their personal friendship with girls of other lands made possible through the Juliette Low Memorial Fund.

This fund was created by the Girl Scouts in 1927 in tribute to their founder, "for the promotion of Girl Scouting and Girl Guiding throughout the world, as a contribution toward peace and good will." In 1930 the first interchange of Scouts and Guides began between Canada and the United States.

Two years later, the scope of Girl Scout international friendship grew when Mrs. James J. Scorrow of Boston presented a Chalet at Aelboden, Switzerland, to the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts. Transportation of Girl Scouts from all over the world to this international community house became the fund's chief function.

For an invitation to represent her country at the Chalet, a girl must be 17 or over, must have been in Scouting three years, and must be known for her loyalty to Scouting ideals. Thus, it is assured that each nation will be represented by girls whose interest in the welfare of their nations and of the world may be expected to continue.

During their three weeks at the Chalet democratic methods—Girl Scout methods—of planning daily activities are used. Discussions are held, with the girls deciding what they want to discuss, and how they want to discuss it. Scouting problems of each country are learned first-hand—how the program had to be adapted for each country—why the various nations stress different points of the Scout program. As discussions progress, national problems become clearer, and the first seeds of international understanding are sown.

Out of these Chalet encounters comes the desire to settle differences peacefully, for to these girls the map of the world is changed. No longer is it made up of bits of colored paper but of living faces, the faces of friends.

What does Girl Scouting's emphasis on international friendship accomplish? The results are no more calculable than those of any educational project.

There is the story of M. who was passing on to a silent counselor the "truths" she had been taught about R's country. Suddenly she interrupted herself.

"But how strange!" she cried. I have met R. and she is not at all like this."—one triumph for international understanding.

Troop 1

On Feb. 2 the Girl Scouts of Troop 1 met outside of Wyman School to go skiing at the Country Club.

Some of the mothers took us up there. When we got to the club we all went in different directions.

At 4 o'clock Mrs. Pike invited us all to go to her house for hot chocolate. It was a lovely day for us all.

CORPORAL O'LEARY SPOKE AT MEDFORD RALLY

On Wednesday evening, Feb. 8, Corp. Arthur T. O'Leary of the State Police, whose home is at 104 Church Street, this town, delivered an address entitled "Problems of the Highways" before the members of the Medford Safety Council.

Corporal O'Leary based his talk on the three "E's" of safety, Engineering, Education and Enforcement and cited a number of horrible crashes which he has seen on the highways. He listed the Newburyport Turnpike as the most dangerous state highway and said that 75 per cent of accidents there are caused by speeding, while the drunken driver is a worse menace on the road than a gunman. He concluded with this admonition: "When you're traveling on the roadway, if you'll stop to think, you'll think to stop."

A feature of the program was the presentation to the audience of a group of youngsters who had formed as a Junior Safety Council, and had asked and received special permission to attend the talk by Corporal O'Leary. It was in the midst of this absorbing part of the program that one of the young members was suddenly taken ill and toppled to the floor. Quick as a flash, Speaker O'Leary became Officer O'Leary and with the aid of John Dwyer, a member of the Safety Council, the unfortunate young man was hurriedly carried to the rear of the hall and given first aid. He came to in short order and was taken to his home, but it was a dramatic bit of action for the audience, who cheered Corporal O'Leary to the echo for his quick work.

BOARD MEETING OF WINCHESTER CRITENTON CIRCLE

Mrs. William Casack, president of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League, opened her home Thursday morning, Feb. 9, for the third meeting of the board of the circle.

After morning coffee was served, the meeting was presided over by the president and devoted to business and reports from the recording secretary, Mrs. Percy Bugbee, the treasurer, Mrs. Benjamin Hill and the committee chairman.

Mrs. Wilbur E. Kinsley, Mrs. Walter Winship, Mrs. Raymond Dexter, Mrs. Arthur Rudge, Mrs. Edward C. Grant, Mrs. Kingman Cass, Mrs. Loring P. Nichols, Mrs. E. Ober Pride, Mrs. Harold B. Richmond, Mrs. Ernest Dudley Chase, Mrs. Harry G. LeRoy, Mrs. J. Herbert Waite, and Miss Gretchen E. Stone were all present.

TO ATTEND SPECIAL SERVICES

Mr. Bradford U. Eddy of Bacon Street is president of the Men's Division of the Massachusetts Church Service League arranging special services to be held in 15 Episcopal Churches of Eastern Massachusetts on Washington's Birthday. These services are held annually on Washington's Birthday, which this year has the double significance of being also on Ash Wednesday and the beginning of Lent. Episcopal laymen in this vicinity will attend services at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Watertown.

WASHINGTON - HIGHLAND CHAPTER MOTHERS ASSOCIATION

The regular meeting of the Washington-Highland chapter of the Mothers Association was held Feb. 14 in the assembly hall of the Washington School. Included in the group of 80 ladies attending, we were pleased to welcome mothers from the Wyman and Mystic Chapters.

After a brief business meeting, Mrs. Chester D. Kenney, president, introduced Mrs. Marion Edwards who contributed much to the Russian program with the following piano numbers:

Meditation, Tchaikowsky
Troika, Slonchikoff
The Music Box, Lindoff

The following vocal selections by Mrs. Edwards were heartily received by the mothers:

Oh, Sad Indeed My Heart, P. Tchaikowsky
Through the Silent Night, Rachmannoff
Sing a Joyful Song, from Bible Lieder, Dvorak

We feel very fortunate in having such a fine musician in our chapter. Following the musical program Mrs. Pitirim Sorokin was presented and in a most gracious manner discussed her experiences in Russia from 1918 to 1921.

The social committee, Mrs. George Byford, chairman, served tea. Mrs. Partridge and Mrs. Charles Greene, president of the central board, poured. Two Samovars loaned by Mrs. Partridge, and the Russian shawl loaned by Mrs. Elwell, added much color to the tea table.

HERBERT RUTLEDGE
Elected Freshman President at Northeastern

Herbert Rutledge, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Rutledge of Sanborn street, has been elected president of the freshman class at Northeastern University where he is majoring in Sociology and Economics preparatory to taking a course in law.

Rutledge was graduated from Winchester High School with the class of 1938, by the members of which he was voted the class' best actor. He also won his letter as a member of the varsity track team. His popularity with his classmates at Northeastern is indicated by his election as freshman president, in which post he will preside over 1,000 students in both the Engineering College and the College of Business Administration.

JUNIOR FORTNIGHTLY PLANS SPRING FASHION SHOW

A group of Junior Fortnightly girls have met and have plans well under way for a fashion show to be held at Fortnightly Hall on March 27. Filene's have consented to come and show their latest spring styles for both misses and matrons, using two of their own professional models and six Winchester girls. All types of costumes will be shown, from sports to evening wear.

The committee planning "Fashions by Filene's" consists of the Misses Ruth Renner, Natalie Chandler, Barbara Berry, Colette Gaffney, Martha Hill, Marie Poirier and Nancy Robinson.

WINCHESTER LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Prof. Bruce C. Hopper of Harvard University will be the guest speaker March 7 for the Winchester League at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradley at 8 p. m. Professor Hopper will speak on Russia.

"13 LUCKY THIS YEAR"

Thirteen will be a lucky number this year for the high school boy or girl winning first prize of a free trip to Europe in the 13th National Competitive Examination for High Schools on the League of Nations. In addition to visiting important places, such as Paris, London, the Louvre, the Tower, Westminster, Notre Dame, the prize winner will have the opportunity to spend a week or more in Geneva.

Lucky, too, will be many other winners of national and local cash prizes and scholarship awards in this annual contest held at the high schools on April 14.

Winchester High School was represented in last year's competition by two pupils, Frances Glidden and Eleanor Greene, who both won honorable mention and received a year's subscription to the Chronicle of World Affairs.

In addition to the national and local prizes, there are special scholarship awards amounting to $500 at Smith College, $300 at Carleton College, $100 at Radcliffe College, $200 at Mt. Holyoke College and a $100 scholarship at Boston University for the Massachusetts high school senior submitting the best paper.

The examination is based upon facts in connection with the League of Nations, the World Court, the International Labor Organization, and the Covenant of the League, and study material on these subjects is supplied by the League of Nations Association to each school registering in the competition.

WINCHESTER BEAT BELMONT

Winchester High went into undisputed third place in the Middlesex League standing last Friday evening when it defeated faltering Belmont, 23-19, in the Tryout game. The locals had to come from behind for the victory, the visitors leading 6-5 at the quarter and 10-9 at the half. The third quarter was all Winchester, the locals wiping out the slim Belmont lead and running up a six point 19-13 margin as the final quarter got under way.

Belmont outscored Winchester 6-4 in the final period, but the latter's third quarter advantage withstood the visiting assault with something to spare.

Capt. "Charlie" Johnson had nine points to lead both teams in scoring. Burns' night being next best. The Winchester seconds made it two in a row by outscoring the Belmont seconds in the preliminary game, 15-13. Following is the variety summary:

TO RESIDE IN CAMBRIDGE

The ladies' parlor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist church was the scene of happy activity last Sunday evening from 5 to 7 p. m. when the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Welburn gathered to honor them, their son Robert and John and their daughter Ruth at a farewell reception.

For nearly 20 years Mr. and Mrs. Welburn have been identified with various organizations in the civic and social life in Winchester, including the Moose, Eastern Stars and W. C. T. U. To their church they have given unstintingly of their time, strength and resources, in the Men's Club, Ladies' Aid, Epworth League and Sunday School. For ten years they have acted as Communion Stewards and by their services in each department they have endeared themselves to the church people. Ruth Welburn has been an officer in the Epworth League and a teacher in the Sunday School.

As tokens of affection and esteem they were given a double waffle iron by their church friends, a picture painted and presented by G. H. McMillan, book of the Sunday School and flowers for Mrs. Welburn. Delicious refreshments were served to many friends from Winchester and the surrounding towns.

WINCHESTER ATHLETES AT ST. BENEDICT'S

Gerald Ficciello and Libonio Gaudioso, two of Winchester's recent athletic stars, have entered St. Benedict's College in Atchison, Kansas.

Both boys were three sport stars at high school. Ficciello, because of his football prowess, is perhaps the better known of the pair, though Gaudioso is a much better basketball and baseball player than the rugged "Ficcy." The many friends of both will wish them the best of luck at St. Benedict's, where "Borny" Styles and big "Danno" Delorey plan to join them next fall.

This year in order to raise the money for its scholarship fund, the board of the P. T. A. at the Junior High School is planning to have a card party on Friday, March 31.

As there are no facilities for anything of that sort in the Junior High building as it now stands, Mr. Quinn has graciously allowed us to use the assembly room in the Wyman School.

Every effort is being made to make this a delightfully informal party symbolizing the joyous spirit of Spring. So be sure to save the date and watch for further announcements.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB LENTEN PREPARATION AT THE SECOND CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The Drama Group had an interesting morning on Thursday, Feb. 9, when they met at the home of Mrs. Jameson S. Slocum, 11 Crescent road. Mrs. Richard Wyman discussed Stage Directors, the all powerful czars of the play business like Daly, Belasco, George Abbott, etc., whose fame overshadows that of their actors. Mrs. Waldo Lyon described the activities of several group producers, the new Playhouse Company which has just started a repertory theatre in New York, the Group Theatre, the Federal Theatre, and the Playwrights Group. The next meeting will be devoted to the subject, "Playwrights" under the direction of Mrs. Theodore Brown, on Thursday, March 2, at 11 Crescent road.

Because of a conflict in dates between the History and Music Groups, a new schedule has been arranged. The Music Group will continue to meet on Wednesday mornings at 10 in the Waterfield Building with Miss Louisa Parkhurst, the History Group will meet on alternate Tuesday mornings, beginning Feb. 28, at 9:45 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Frederick Hatch, Jefferson road. The subject of discussion will be the "Latin American Countries in the 19th Century."

The Art Group gathered at the Fogg Museum in Cambridge last Friday morning for one of the most satisfying of all their Museum trips. All the treasures of the galleries were displayed and explained in a most scholarly and delightful way by the doctent of the Museum and everyone felt more than repaid for venturing forth in very inclement weather. The next trip on the schedule is to be on Friday, March 10 when the Group will meet at the Worcester Art Museum at 11 a. m. Everyone is urged to make the trip if possible, because this is the red letter day of the season. The special exhibition will be the collection of Flemish paintings, sent to this country by the Belgian government and to be shown only at the Worcester Museum. There are so many other rare treasures to be seen also that everyone will probably want to arrive early and stay late, to make the most of this opportunity. There is plenty of transportation available and Mrs. Albro (tel. Win. 6527-J) will be very glad to arrange for anyone, if it would be unwise to have empty cars make the trip or to have anyone stay at home who wishes to go.

Mrs. J. Churchill Hinds left last week for a stay at Corpus Christi, Texas, where she is visiting her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hinds.

A special preparation for Lent will be made in the form of a corporate Communion for all officers, teachers, and leaders of the Second Congregational Church, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. By means of this special celebration of the sacrament the leaders of the Highland Church will prepare themselves for the devotional emphasis of Lent, during which season the church will offer itself to the community in the widest possible ministry of devotion.

Much preparation has already been made for the Lenten observance in organization and equipment. Some of the preparations and general equipment additions have included a fine new pulpit Bible given last Sunday by the Ladies' Bethany Society. This beautiful new Bible was presented to the church by Mrs. Edie Farnham for the Bethany Society; the president, and received by the pastor for the church. A special dedicatory prayer was offered. The church has also procured 30 new hymnals to replace some that are badly worn and also for the convenience of the large choirs and congregations.

Three new members have been welcomed into the adult Vested Chancel Choir. This choir together with the large Children's Choir causes every seat in the chancel to be filled at most of the services.

Several new altar and pulpit hangings are now in preparation. These decorations, with symbolic beauty, will be a valuable addition to the growing supply of worship symbols. New service orders for the special Lenten services are also being prepared and the Lenten announcements give promise of many and varied types of devotional services from the high liturgical celebration of the sacrament to the plain informal "Channel Hours" of personal prayer nature.

EYE OPENER! With all its extra value, this Buick sedan lists at $71 less than a year ago!

Easy on the eye—easy to buy—on Motors terms!

Spring's on the way! Get out and meet it!

NO, we're not trying to beat the gun—we'll be seeing quite a lot of winter before the spring buds burst.

But spring always has come—and with it, all too often, the discovery that to get the new car you want, you've got to wait!

So what? So take steps now!

Take steps to retire that slow-motion number you're driving—and replace it with a Buick bursting with newness and get-up-and-git.

Put a Dynaflex straight-eight under your toe to do battle with tough winter going—get the comfort of BuCoil Springing to float you smoothly over rough and rutted roads.

Get a new outlook for winter horizons or for spotting the first flush of green on the meadows in Buick's "visibility unlimited"—as much as 412 more square inches of safety plate glass!

Then consider also: Your present car is worth less each day as a trade-in. The risk of repair bills grows steadily greater. Old rubber's dangerous, tired batteries a bore—and a bright new Buick is sound and supple all through.

Besides—Buick's prices—as of course you know—are lower than a year ago, lower than you'd expect, lower than some sizes!

So why not drop in to talk it over? You'll probably want to get your Buick while the getting's good!

NO OTHER CAR IN THE WORLD HAS ALL THESE FEATURES

- ★ DYNAFLEX VALVE-IN-HEAD STRAIGHT-8 ENGINE
- ★ BUICOIL TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING • GREATER VISIBILITY

"Mind" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, Feb. 19.

The Golden Text is: "Be ye all of one mind, having fellowship of one another, love one another, be pitiful, be courteous" (1 Peter 3:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "My son, attend to my words; incline thine ear unto my sayings. Let them not depart from thine eyes; keep them in the midst of thine heart. For thou shalt not find them, and health to all their flesh" (Proverbs 4:20-22).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science, Health, and Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Held thought steadfastly to the enduring, the good, and the true, and you will bring these into your experience proportionally to their occupancy of your thoughts. Let the perfect model be present in your thoughts instead of its demoralized opposite. This spiritualization of thought lets in the light, and brings the divine Mind. Life not death, into your consciousness" (pp. 261, 407).

Winchester residents and others who were willing to brave the elements last Friday evening saw in "The Little Theatre Beneath a Spire" one of the first amateur productions of "Stage Door" by Edna Ferber and George S. Kaufman in the capable hands of the Parish Players. Daring to attempt a play that is barely off the silver screen of neighborhood theatres, the Parish Players furnished Winchester with a very creditable performance.

The story opens in the Footlights Club in New York where many aspiring actresses and starlets are living under the watchful eye of Mrs. Orcutt (Esther Caldwell). Fortune is fickle and whereas Jean Maitland (Margaret Hall) rises to stardom in Hollywood, her one-time friend and peer as an actress, Terry Randall (Hersilia Elmer) struggles on with a blind love for the stage and its rich tradition to become a radio recipe raconteur. Into the life of Terry come two important men: David Kingsley (Alfred Pennell) offers her sage advice and tries to keep her interested in the stage. Though none of his previous contracts has been lucrative, one gathers that his last will be a marriage contract. Keith Burgess (Francis Felt) is really first in the heart of Terry, but when, after she has helped him make a success of himself as a playwright, he has to leave for Hollywood without her, things change. On his return he seems to have nothing that Terry wants, so he goes his way. Dramatic tension is raised to its highest peak when we watch the unsuccessful Kaye Hamilton (Marjorie Harrow) struggle for recognition pawning her expensive personal possessions, gifts from her estranged husband. Miss Hamilton finds herself defeated before she has a turn on the stage and, indebted to her roommate Terry, and the landlady, gives up her struggle in her best dramatic gesture, early in the second act.

The show's best scene was the first in act two, in which Kaye made her tragic entrance, holding the audience spellbound with her attitude of impending catastrophe which was soon enough forthcoming in her suicide offstage.

Whereas the episode in act two was easily the most compelling, the general excellence of the scenes in which Terry appeared were all good. Mrs. Elmer played a very convincing Terry, making easy transitions from the happy vivacious successful young actress to the futile young woman who made one man's life successful and another's happy. At one moment she could be impressively alive, and in the next, sympathetic, helpful, though dejected.

Judith Canfield (Isabelle Rogde) brightened up the play on many occasions when the going became difficult for the supporting cast of girls in the living room scenes. On occasions her gestures alone were superb. In fact all through the play she pointed up scenes, put humor into the lines, wisecracked, or carried the atmosphere as needed. To Mrs. Rogde goes credit for maintaining pitch and tempo while Terry was off the stage. In repose, rare occasions for her, Judith Canfield was an eloquent member of packed group scenes.

The general excellence of the play of Mrs. Caldwell was definitely announced by her opening scene and followed through even the episode of the spilled telephone. Her expression of surprise, shock, and disgust was genuine enough to please the audience and hold their attention until a curtain almost immediately closed the scene.

Among the men of the cast two members stood out. Dr. Randall and Keith Burgess played by J. Waldo Bond and Francis Felt. Both were very much at ease and were well cast. Perhaps Mr. Felt had the more difficult task of changing mood and temperament, sometimes a lover, sometimes a pawn for the quips of Judith Canfield, and finally as a successful playwright.

Nathan Thumim, cast in the small part of Adolf Gestel, made the most of his time on the stage, convincing everyone that he was a hard-boiled producer who knew his own business, which did not include a certain actress. Incidentally, Mr. Thumim gave the proper tempo to the scene with Terry and Kingsley, aiding the latter to his best acting of the evening and allowing the curtain to fall on a satisfactory ending.

The large cast of 30 furnished other entertaining characters such as Powell and Milhauser, (Edward Bartlett and Mulford Oliver) the two lumber salesmen with odd ideas of a big time, and Mattie and Frank, (Dorothy Wills and Frank Nardin) capable servants with the usual amount of walking to and from the door. Others were Sam Hastings (John Kishler) and Jimmy Devereaux (Clifford Cunningham, Jr.) whose chief function was to furnish certain of the club members with escorts and who did their work faithfully. Of the many girls who were on the stage at times, two were forever thrusting themselves upon the visitors to the reception room, the prone-to-peek Bernice Niemeyer (Margaret Greene) and the prancingly athletic and ubiquitous Pat Devine (Betty Wright).

Two newcomers to the Parish Players were Alfred Pennell and Margaret Hall, both of whom performed creditably in rather large parts. Miss Hall's performance was punctuated with entrances. Mr. Pennell had the bearing and suavity to look the part that he had been elected to play. Only brief mention can be made of the remaining members of the large cast. Madeleine Zimmerman as Olga Brandt, Marjorie Dickson as Mary one, Mary Jane Dickson as Mary two, Jane Sexton Jones as Madeleine Vauclair, Lois Whitten as Ann Braddock, Stella Rogers as Bobby Melrose, Pamela Mitchell as Louise Mitchell, Marguerite Thving as Susan Paige, Margaret Cooper as Kendall Adams, Alice Bowie as Tony Gillette, Doris Perry as Ellen Fenwick, George Grant as Larry Westcott and Russell Francis as Billy. Without them the play could not have been, but like Macbeth, they had "their brief hour on the stage and then were heard no more," although they did reappear to furnish scenery now and then.

Obviously "Stage Door" was a very difficult play to cast and direct, for the many members of the support made direction difficult without the necessity for teaching the art of stage business to the many newcomers, all of whom did well under the circumstances. Possibly the chief criticism would be that so much drilling had been done with the leading members of the staff of actors that too little attention had been paid to the girls whose task it was to open the play on the right note. In bringing "Stage Door" to The Little Theatre Beneath a Spire the many committees are to be awarded a prize for their ambitious undertaking.

A word of commendation is also due the members of the construction or stage design staff who functioned under Samuel M. Graves. The bedroom scene drew unanimous approval from the audience before the principals appeared for the continuity.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS

Chilean Disaster

Further request was received this week by the Winchester Chapter from the National Headquarters of the American Red Cross to solicit contributions for the Chilean Disaster Relief Fund.

The large list of injured and homeless is appalling and there is urgent need for money to buy food, clothing, and shelter for these unfortunate people. In order that these people who have lost everything may be cared for the American Red Cross appeals to you for your co-operation.

The people of Winchester have never failed to respond to the call for assistance in time of disaster, and the directors of the Winchester Red Cross Chapter earnestly hope that this appeal will not go unanswered.

Any amount will be gratefully received by the Treasurer of the Winchester Red Cross Chapter, Mr. William E. Priest, c/o Winchester Savings Bank.

AMERICAN BOY MAGAZINE COMPANION TO THOUSANDS

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read The American Boy Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "The American Boy seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in The American Boy." Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their acting to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in The American Boy Magazine. Virtually every issue of the magazine contains a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys clubs also recommend The American Boy enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of The American Boy advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it. Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in The American Boy, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

The American Boy sells on most newsstands for 15c a copy. Subscription prices are $1.50 for one year or $3.00 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to The American Boy, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan. f17-2t

K. OF C. CAST ENTERTAINED

Winchester Council, K. of C., was host to the members of the cast of its recent minstrel show Tuesday evening at a banquet and dance held at Scholl's banquet hall. The large gathering overflowed into the main dining hall and the staff of the establishment was kept on the jump serving the happy party.

A full course turkey dinner, with steak for those preferring it, was the menu, and was followed by dancing, with Norman Harrold, pianist, and the Winchester Hill Billies furnishing the music. Leo F. Garvey headed the committee in charge of arrangements and served as toastmaster for the banquet.

Miss Ekman has just returned from New York with a large variety of lovely hat creations.

Mr. Benjamin R. Davis of High street sailed last Saturday to Savannah for a month's sojourn in the South.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gardner left for the South Tuesday. They will return to their home in Mamaroneck, N. Y. in a month. Mrs. Gardner was the former Mercedes Speedie.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden Symmes of Ridgefield road are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son, Robert Alden, born Lincoln's Birthday, Feb. 12, at the Winchester Hospital.

Monday, shortly after noon, a big plate glass window at the Winchester Laundry plant was broken by two boys who were engaged in a friendly scuffle while on their way home from Junior High School. The Police were notified.

The Police box in the center was split on one corner from top to bottom, Monday forenoon when an Eastern Massachusetts bus, driven by Prosper R. Perry of 89 Green street, Reading, sideswiped it while making the turn at the Winchester Drug Co. to go south on Main street. The operator of the bus did not know he had struck the box until informed by Officer John J. Regan who was on hand as the accident occurred. A rear window in the bus was broken but no one was injured.

Miss Priscilla Jones of Mystic avenue is recovering from measles in the infirmary of Westbrook Junior College, Portland.

Ann Rivinius and Jane and Bonney Wilson were home from Abbot Academy and spent last week-end with their families. They had as their guest Marguerite Hall of Salem.

Frederick R. Bates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bates, of 52 Oxford street, a freshman at Middlebury College, will be initiated into the Middlebury chapter of Delta Upsilon, one of the seven Greek letter societies on the men's campus, on Feb. 19. Bates attended the Winchester High School and Kimball Union Academy, Meriden, N. H., before entering Middlebury last fall.

The fire department was called last Saturday morning at 11:03 by an alarm from Box 411 to the home of Mrs. Frances Sullivan on Vine street. Hot ashes in an overheated heater filled the house with heavy smoke and did considerable damage. Sunday evening at 6:00 the fire department was called by telephone to put out a chimney fire at the home of A. L. Sodergren at 130 Forest street.

Mr. Merton E. Ober, Jr., of Salisbury road has two classmates from Phillips-Exeter Academy visiting with him over the week-end. Mr. Schuyler Earl and Mr. Philip Earl, from Rochester, N. Y.

Patrolmen Winthrop Palmer and Joseph Quigley were called Tuesday afternoon to a home on Thornton road where a stray rifle bullet had broken a front window facing Cambridge street. The family had been away temporarily and reported that the damage was done sometime between Monday and Tuesday afternoon.

Chairman Harry T. Winn of the Assessors and Mrs. Winn, who have been enjoying a vacation in Florida, are at present located at the Edgewater Hotel in St. Petersburg. Harry reports meeting several Winchester people in the "sunny south," among them Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Coffin of Fairmount street.

Tuesday night shortly after 11:30 o'clock Patrolmen John Hanlon and James Noonan brought a Woburn man to Headquarters whom they stopped while driving his automobile through town. He was said by the Police to be under the influence of liquor, but not drunk and was permitted to go home. His car and the keys were held at Headquarters.

Mr. F. Percival Lewis, assistant registrar and the town's complete census taker, now transferred from the Assessors to the Registrars of Voters, has again covered the entire town well within the prescribed two months. A severe storm on his final day prevented him from equaling his best record made several years ago.

Shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning Mr. Warren F. Goddu of Marshall road notified the Police that a Ford coupe was apparently abandoned in front of his home. Patrolmen John Dolan and Joseph Quigley brought the machine to headquarters where it was found to have been recently stolen from Playstead road in Medford. It was the property of Mr. Bernard A. Marvin of 8 Chesterford road.

Dana M. Cotton, director of Guidance at the high school is to attend the 24th convention of the National Vocational Guidance Association to be held at the Hotel Cleveland, Cleveland, Ohio, from Feb. 21 to 25. He will attend this convention as a delegate for the New England Vocational Guidance Association.

Mrs. Lewis L. Wadsworth of this town has been in Washington this week, visiting friends at the Shoreham Hotel.

Mr. Edward Bartlett of the high school faculty went up to Dartmouth last week-end for the winter carnival and to attend the Dartmouth-Harvard basketball game which was the athletic feature of the affair. "Bart" would probably have liked to stack his Beverly City Club against either of the college outfits.

Max Mayer, proprietor of the Winchester Drug Company has written Police Chief William H. Rogers complimenting him for the efficiency of his department, members of which on one occasion discovered trouble with the refrigerating system of Mr. Mayer's pharmacy in time to prevent serious trouble and on another, prevented the theft of his car.

Mrs. M. I. Quinn of Church street is at the Baker Memorial Hospital, Boston, where she underwent a slight operation the first of the week.

Mr. Edward Fleming of Pond street quietly observed his 74th birthday Sunday at his home, receiving the congratulations and best wishes of his friends. No celebration was planned because of the illness from which Mr. Fleming is recuperating and which kept him on the inactive list for about three weeks.

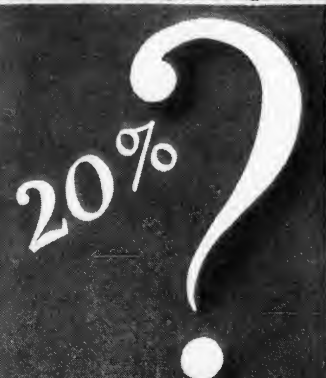

The Winchester schools close next week for the regular mid-term vacation, reopening Feb. 27.

Bradford Darling of Maxwell road as leader of his section, was one of the ushers at the freshman tea given Tuesday by President Carl T. Compton of M. I. T. and Mrs. Compton, at their home on Charles River road.

Robert F. Guild of this town, former Harvard athlete, was one of the judges at the B. A. A. games in the Boston Garden last Saturday evening.

Miss Adelaide Fletcher of this town has been placed on the dean's list for high scholastic standing at the Hickox Secretarial School in Boston.

Sherman Saltmarsh, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman W. Saltmarsh of Highland avenue, was the winner of the children's event in the skiing races at Groton Sunday. Sherman, who is nine years old, topped his field in the slalom, easily taking first over the 30 or more entries.

ELKS TO OBSERVE AMERICANISM WEEK

Preliminary plans for Americanism Week, March 1 to 8, have been completed by Winchester Lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Joseph T. Callahan, Exalted Ruler, announced yesterday.

Fifteen hundred other American communities will conduct Americanism Week programs simultaneously.

Mr. Callahan states that "some half a million Elks and their families and friends are at work today planning this huge nation-wide demonstration of Americanism. Elks lodges from coast to coast are seeking to unite school, church, professional and business groups in this work that Americans may in this manner have called to their attention the multiple advantages of life in this country under a democracy."

"Dr. E. J. McCormick of Toledo, Elks' Grand Exalted Ruler, has urged every Elks' lodge to set aside this one week in which every Elks in the country will reconsecrate himself to service in the practice of charity, justice, brotherly love, fidelity and patriotism. At the same time, Elks in all parts of the country are vigorously practicing Americanism by backing needed civic projects and by carrying on local programs designed to aid their fellowmen."

In Winchester John J. Doherty, E. L. K., with the assistance of an able committee is working on a very interesting program for the observance of Americanism Week by local Elks and the community.

SALE FOR THE BLIND

The Winchester Fortnightly and other church, civic, and social organizations are sponsoring a sale of articles made by the blind, in the Town Hall, on Thursday and Friday, March 9 and 10.

There will be a meeting of the committee arranging the sale and representations, in Fortnightly Hall, on Tuesday, Feb. 28 at 10 a. m. when Miss Rose Trainer, executive director of the work among the blind in Massachusetts, will give another of her interesting talks on the story behind the articles for sale.

Mrs. George A. Dutton is chairman of the committee, with Mrs. R. K. Miller as co-chairman. Others on the committee include Mrs. Nathaniel M. Nichols, Mrs. William E. Priest, Mrs. Jesse S. Wilson, Mrs. William N. Beiges, Mrs. Charles Burnham, Mrs. William C. Cusack, Mrs. M. H. Hinton and Mrs. Gordon Mann.

TO DEDICATE WINDOW AT EPIPHANY SUNDAY

A handsome large stained glass window, given by members of her family in memory of Miss Florence McPhee to replace the green glass above the altar in the chancel of the Church of the Epiphany, will be dedicated Sunday morning, Feb. 26, at the 11 o'clock service of morning prayer by the rector honorarius, Rev. John W. Suter, D.D., of Boston. The rector, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, will preach.

Miss McPhee, who died about a year ago, during the early spring while in Florida, made her home on Arlington street. She was identified with, and interested in the Parish of the Epiphany during her residence in Winchester was on several occasions, in an unostentatious way, its benefactor.

MRS. PIGEON SPEAKS TO YOUNG REPUBLICANS

The newly organized Young Republican Business and Professional Women's Club was privileged to have Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon as guest speaker at its third meeting held at the home of Mrs. Archibald C. Jordan, 118 Highland avenue. Mrs. Pigeon, who is a member of the Republican State Committee, gave a very vivid description of the inauguration of Governor Sullivan, and then discussed current State legislation concerning women.

All young Republican women voters are cordially invited to attend the next meeting to be held on Feb. 28 at the home of Mrs. Joseph Ryan, 5 Cliff street.

TUFTS DELEGATE

Miss Marjorie Finger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Finger of 14 Mystic avenue, a senior at Jackson College, was the delegate sent by Tufts College International Relations Club to attend a conference at Wheaton College of Feb. 18. The subject which was discussed was "The Nature of Aggression in the World, Europe, and Latin America." Miss Finger is a member of Sigma Kappa, one of the four national sororities having chapters on the Tufts campus.

CANDIDATE FOR SELECTMAN

To the Voters of Winchester:

I am a candidate for election to the Board of Selectmen at the Town Election March 6.

I seek election primarily because the duties of a Selectman appeal to me, and because I would like to serve the town in which I make my home.

I am under no obligation to individuals or groups, have held no previous office here, and have no close acquaintance with other town officers or department heads.

If elected, I will have a fresh viewpoint and impartial attitude toward my duties as Selectman, which I promise to discharge to the very best of my ability for the interest of every one concerned in the good government of the town.

UNION LENTEN SERVICE

The first Union Lenten service was held Wednesday evening, Feb. 22, in the auditorium of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, Dr. C. C. C. Hillier, the associate pastor of the church presiding. On account of the illness of Mrs. Anna M. Dunning, president of the Ladies' Aid, her representative Mrs. Russell D. Cole, welcomed those who had come to worship together and introduced the speaker, Miss Margaret Slattery, whose subject was "The Confused Mind and the Open Book."

Miss Slattery presented the modern mind as seeking and eager. By tradition it inherits a set of ideas and ideals, by education it acquires another, and new leaders and conditions disturb with still others. What is Truth? Through sound analysis she led the confused mind through chaos and cross purposes into the confidence which comes with clear thinking.

This lecture is to be followed next Wednesday evening, March 1, at 7:45 by "The Regimented Mind and the Open Book." Miss Slattery's leadership inspires large audiences and a cordial welcome is given to all. A silver offering is taken each Wednesday to defray expenses.

UNITARIAN CHURCH SPONSORS NEW SCOUT UNIT

Theodore R. von Rosenyunge, chairman of boy's work at the Unitarian Church has announced that Winchester, Mass., Sea Scout Ship No. 6 with Mr. Louis E. Gaskin as skipper has been officially launched with the following as charter members: Walter S. Taber, F. Proctor Jones, James Weaver, John Tracy, Thomas Hickey and Robert Cross.

The Ship Committee is headed by Jesse S. Wilson with Richard Fenno as secretary and treasurer and the following as able-bodied assistants: Leo W. Twombly, Fred M. Ives, Jr. and W. H. D. Twombly-Tilton.

Boy Scout headquarters has announced the appointment of Mr. Frederick W. Cole of 196 Parkway as assistant district commissioner for the Town of Winchester.

FAILED TO STOP AFTER ACCIDENT

Lawrence D. Nichols of 54 Nelson street informed the Police at 12:30 Wednesday morning that as he was driving a Chevrolet sedan east on Swanton street at 10 o'clock Tuesday night his machine was struck at the point east of the Swanton street railroad bridge by a car going in the same direction.

The operator of the second machine sped away after the accident and Nichols did not succeed in getting his registration. The Chevrolet sedan was so badly damaged it had to be towed away.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON, FEBRUARY 26, 1939

HALL THROUGED FOR FIRE-MAN'S BALL

The Winchester Fireman's Relief Association gave its first entertainment and ball in more than five years last Friday evening, attracting a capacity crowd to the town hall. Members of the Board of Selectmen and their ladies attended with other town officials and many officers and representatives of Fire Departments throughout the Mystic Valley.

One of the best entertainment programs seen in Winchester for some years opened with an overture by Herbert Marsh's Society Orchestra and continued through about two hours of rapid fire vaudeville with general Mr. McGowan as master of ceremonies.

Mr. McGowan, opening the bill with songs and gags, first introduced Anne McCormack, an attractive miss who sang and tapped into favor. Lou Fitzgibbon, from an old theatrical family, followed with xylophone solos that were heartily applauded, while Zeller and Milburn, billed as hatomanies, had a novel act that kept the crowd in stitches. The male member of this team also offered an unusual "rubber-legs" tippy dancing act that got many laughs.

Valentine, a suave impeccably garbed musician, produced large and small drinks out of thin air and did other equally mystifying feats of legodermian, being followed by petite Pauline Lawrence, acrobatic dancer and contortionist, who displayed a remarkable sense of balance and bodily control.

George Gillette, a real musical mope, was a big favorite with the crowd, first playing several familiar tunes by pinching and pricking certain parts of his long coated person and then playing large and small cecinas, tunes upon toy balloons and a bag-pipe solo with a balloon as the bag for his single pipe. He concluded his act with a well played bell solo, "The Bells of St. Mary's," in which he was assisted by the orchestra, which, incidentally, played for all the acts of the evening.

Five stappers was a fast and pleasing dancing act, featuring both Anne McCormack and Pauline Lawrence with the added attraction of a good looking man and dainty girl, in white dress suits and toppers, who offered a finished acrobatic and routine tap number.

Jack Herbert and Company, a happy fat man and statuesque girl dressed in a wicker skating act, which despite the severe handling and actual danger, was done on the stage. Aiding in this act were "Frank" Murray, high school football star and Jimmy Cassidy, who came up from the audience to be whisked by the skaters.

The show was put on by Ross Frisco Attractions under the personal supervision of James Kennedy.

Following the show, the orchestra played while "Junior" Ed Callahan and his assistants cleared the floor for dancing which continued until 1 o'clock.

Meanwhile at the Fire Station the Firemen were keeping open house, extending hospitality along with delicious refreshments to visiting firemen and other friends who dropped in to chat, examine the apparatus and offer congratulations upon a successful evening.

Chief David H. DeCoursey acted as a floor marshal for the dancing, and Deputy Chief John J. Gorman as assistant. John J. McCarron was floor marshal, Lieut. Hugh Skerry, chief of aids, and Howard Ambrose, Joseph Callahan, Lieut. James Callahan, Walter Skerry, Harry Brown and John Pearson, aids. Lieut. J. Edward

HAROLD V. FARNSWORTH CANDIDATE FOR THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE

To the Voters of Winchester:

Contrary to any rumors you may hear, I have not withdrawn from the contest but still am and shall be, until the polls close, a candidate for election to the School Committee.

I am 44 years old and have lived in Winchester for the past 21 years. I graduated from the Winchester High School in 1912, and the Lowell Textile Institute (Bachelor of Textile Engineering) in 1916. I have been a member of the Town Finance Committee and the Board of Selectmen.

It has been a pleasure to have served you in the past in these various official capacities and I would appreciate the opportunity of continuing my service to you as a member of the School Committee.

May I have your support on election day, March 6th?

I should like to take this opportunity to urge all voters, regardless of their feeling regarding my candidacy, to vote for Mrs. Caroline P. Spaulding, candidate for re-election to the School Committee. She is the only woman member of the committee, has served ably, and deserves everyone's support.

HALFORD HENDERSON AMBLER

Halford Henderson Ambler, son of Halford H. and Lillian (Henderson) Ambler, died Saturday morning, Feb. 18 at the home of his parents, 93 Cambridge street, following several months' illness.

Halford was 19 years old. He was born in Detroit, Mich., and received his early schooling in that city and in Hutchinson, Kan., returning to Winchester, Mass., to attend Winchester High School with the class of 1936. He was a member of the high school orchestra, chorus and French Club and of the track and gymnasium teams. After graduation he spent a year each at Mitchell School and at the Rindge Technical School.

Halford was one of the few Eagle Boy Scouts in Winchester, having been a member of Troop 7. He was also a member and officer of Middlesex Chapter, Order of DeMolay. He was a friendly and helpful boy and was held in high esteem by those who knew him.

Surviving, besides his parents, is a sister, Miss June Meredith Ambler, of this town.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon in Ripley Memorial Chapel of the First Congregational Church, with the pastor, Rev. Howard I. Chidley, officiating. The DeMolay ritual was exemplified, under the direction of Herbert K. Miller of Reading, by officers of DeMolay Chapter, including Arthur Bowler, master counsellor; Norman Clarke, senior counsellor; John Goodridge, junior counsellor; Ronald Taylor, marshalls; Donald Shay, senior deacon; and Robert Woodford, chaplain. Bearers were all members of DeMolay and included James Greeno of Woburn, Norman Clarke and Arthur Bowler of Winchester; Ronald Taylor, Frank C. Graupner and Advisor Herbert K. Miller, all of Reading. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

In Memoriam

It is fitting that we should pay tribute to the memory of Halford Henderson Ambler who was a member of Middlesex Chapter, Order of DeMolay. I can hardly trust myself to speak of our late brother and friend, since the mention of his name brings back such scenes of DeMolay and depression as one recalls only with pain. Along with these sad memories, however, come other recollections of a manly and fearless devotion to duty such as I have never seen equalled in a young man. In this discharge of the latter, Halford was absolutely tireless and quite oblivious of self. He was wrapped up in the love of his family and his brethren of DeMolay.

During his membership in the order he won the good will and respect of his brother officers and the affection of his immediate associates. Almost at the beginning of manhood with a life full of usefulness and promise, he was suddenly taken from us. Despite his youth, his contributions to this life and the community in which he lived, were noble in character. He will live forever in our memories.

Life is measured in deeds, not years. In thoughts, not breath. In feeling not in figures on a dial.

MRS. FLORA M. P. WILDER

Mrs. Flora M. P. Wilder, widow of David Parsons Wilder, who died Wednesday night after a short illness, was the mother of Mrs. Roy C. Semple and had made her home with her daughter in Winchester at 20 Hillcrest Parkway for the past two years.

Mrs. Wilder was born at Niagara Falls, N. Y., the daughter of Van Rensselaer and Sarah J. (Vedder) Pearson. On her mother's side her family went back to the earliest settlers of Niagara Falls and her grandfather, John Van Epps Vedder, founded Schenectady, N. Y., and built the first railroad from Schenectady to Albany. Her mother's brother, James Vedder, owned the original "Maid of the Mist" at Niagara and also gave the land that made possible the erection of the lower steel arch bridge there.

Mrs. Wilder's early life was spent at Niagara Falls. She was educated at the Keblee School in Syracuse and at Wells College in Aurora, N. Y., and after her marriage lived in the west, in Denver and Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek, returning to Niagara Falls following her husband's death in 1904.

She was a member of Buffalo Chapter, D. A. R., member of the Colonial Dames and of the National Society of New England Women. She was a delegate from her chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution to Washington during the administration of Theodore Roosevelt and was entertained by President Roosevelt at the White House.

Besides her daughter Mrs. Wilder leaves a brother, J. Howard T. Pearson of Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Services were held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Kelley & Hawes Chapel, and later at Niagara Falls where the interment was made in the family lot in Oak Wood Cemetery.

WANTED: Insignia and a Slogan for WINCHESTER COMMUNITY CHEST CAMPAIGN

In the recent Greater Boston Community Fund Campaign, red feathers were used as insignia and the phrase, "Be a Better Neighbor" as a slogan. Although both of these are excellent, the Executive Committee of the Winchester Chest would like to use something different.

This is an appeal to every person living in Winchester to send his or her suggestions for either the insignia or the slogan or both to James Nowell, 16 Stratford Road, before March 6th.

All suggestions should be signed in order that proper credit may be given for those selected by the judges.

SOCIAL REFORMS PROMISED

Great excitement prevailed at a secret meeting of the Ladies and Gents Lowland League held at the League's Westside headquarters, Wednesday, Feb. 22 at 8 p. m.

Despite great effort to keep the news of this important gathering from being broadcast, word of the League's activities reached the ears of the Star's alert reporter.

Although the agenda of the meeting included important measures for the improvement of social conditions among Winchester's West Siders, the serious nature of these undertakings has necessitated withholding details from this week's issue of the Star. Upon completion of the League's plans, disclosure of its extensive reform program will be made.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Regular Meeting

"Meet South America," is the title of the lecture to be given by Dr. Roland Hall Sharp, at the regular meeting of Fortnightly on Monday, Feb. 27. Dr. Sharp, a staff writer in the foreign department of the Christian Science Monitor, has just returned from the Eighth Pan-American Conference at Lima, Peru, and brings with him the story of that great event, as well as the story, illustrated with colored moving pictures, of his 20,000 mile trip through Hispanic America. Those who heard Dr. Sharp at Hyannis will remember him as a most interesting speaker, and eagerly await that day. This is an open meeting, to which guests may be invited at the usual door fee.

Morning Musicals

The last Morning Musical of the season will be held on Wednesday, March 1, at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Reginald Bradlee on Ledgewood road. The subject of the program will be "Modern Music," and the contributing artists include Helen Wight Cairns, pianist, who will present a group of selections by modern composers, Helen Tills Demerath, soprano who will give a group of solos by modern English and American composers and Elizabeth Stratton, soprano, who will play her own accompaniments on a guitar as she sings a group of modern Mexican songs. The Fortnightly Club, under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham, will give a group of modern songs. This being the last, will also be the open Musical.

The Fortnightly Literature Group will hold an open house and tea on Friday, March 3, at 3 o'clock in Fortnightly Hall, when Dr. Edward S. Noyes, professor of English at Yale University and editor of "Readings in the Modern Essay," the book used by the Literature Group this year, will speak informally.

The regular meeting of the Literature Group will be held, as usual, on Monday afternoon, March 6, when the subject of the afternoon, "The Biography," will be discussed. Mrs. Mabelle Long will give a paper on "The Controversial Aspects of the Biography," which will be followed by recommendations on one particular biography by several members of the group.

Among the important future dates to be jotted down in your date books are Tuesday, March 7, the spring bridge, Thursday and Friday, March 9 and 10, the sale for the Blind in the Town Hall, Friday, March 10, an unusual interesting Antiques program, Monday, March 13, the regular Dramatics Afternoon.

WINCHESTER COMMUNITY CHEST APPOINTMENTS

Franklin J. Lane and Maurice C. Bird have been appointed executive vice chairmen of the campaign to be conducted by the Winchester Community Chest in April under the chairmanship of James Nowell.

Both Mr. Lane and Mr. Bird are members of the board of directors of the Chest and both have had experience in several fund raising campaigns in the town.

In addition to these appointments, the executive committee has also appointed a campaign advisory committee consisting of Harold Bates, Frederick B. Craven, Mrs. Harold V. Farnsworth, Mrs. C. S. Taylor, Charles R. Meigs, Jr., C. Murray, Mrs. Gardner D. Pond, James W. Russell and Dr. Richard V. Sheehy.

Temporary headquarters have been established on the second floor of the Hevey Block and organization plans are going forward rapidly.

COMMITTEE OF SAFETY CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The February meeting of Committee of Safety Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held on Monday afternoon, Feb. 20, at the Home for Aged People on Mt. Vernon street, with Miss Annie B. Stott as hostess. The regent, Mrs. Sewall E. Newman, very graciously welcomed the members of the Home to the meeting.

Four alternates were appointed for the State Conference in Boston March 22-23. Mrs. G. A. Perley, Mrs. Francis E. Carlson, Mrs. William Purdy and Mrs. F. W. Harris. Mrs. Newman stated that at this conference there will be about 100 high school girls of outstanding character from Massachusetts, from which number one will be drawn to go to Washington as a guest of the National Society at the time of the Continental Congress in April. Miss Marcia Collins has been chosen from our high school and will be eligible for this honor. Miss Collins was present and played several piano selections.

The chapter voted contributions to the Girl Homemakers Scholarship, Hillside School in Marlborough, Tommaso School in South Carolina and to the support of State Headquarters.

The historian, Miss Clara R. Russell, read a short history of the chapter which she had recently compiled.

Mrs. Richard B. Coolidge, a former president of the Medford Historical Society, was the speaker of the afternoon, and her subject was "Middlesex Fells." Mrs. Coolidge is an authority on the historical events of Medford and the surrounding towns and her lecture was extremely interesting, starting with the geological formation of the district now known as the Fells, through the days of the Indians and early settlers to the present day. This region played an important part in the early history of this part of the country, and was explored as early as 1628, and was then reported as "an uncouth wilderness, full of timber." In the days of the early settlers it served as an almost inexhaustible supply of wood, not only for household use but for the necessary fires for making bricks and distilling the famous Medford Rum. A great deal was also used for shoe pegs, for building ships, for which Medford was famous 100 years ago.

It was particularly interesting to know that in 1775-76 the wood was entirely cut off Pine Hill in Medford for Washington's Army camped around Boston, some as near as Winter Hill.

It was a great privilege to hear such an interesting and authoritative account of this history.

At the close of Mrs. Coolidge's talk delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Frank E. Rowe and her committee.

TO SHOW SPRING FASHIONS ON MARCH 22

A large group of Junior Fortnightly members are working to make this year's fashion show, to be given on Wednesday, March 22, at Fortnightly Hall, more of a success than the popular previous shows.

The fashion show this year will be presented by William Filene's & Sons and will be conducted by their well-known stylist, Miss Bowry. Two professional models from Filene's will model matronly spring styles while six members of the Junior Fortnightly will show the latest fashions for the Misses.

Miss Barbara Berry and Mrs. Willard D. Chandler are active in making arrangements for the showing and others helping to make this annual fashion preview even more popular in Winchester are the club president, Ruth Renner and the Misses Nancy Robinson and Jean Syer are handling the publicity.

Assisting with arrangements are Misses Marie Poirier, Bette Ann Budd, Martha Hill. Also Mrs. C. E. Speedie, Mrs. Reginald Robinson, Mrs. George H. Budd and Mrs. Donald Ash, vice president of the Junior Fortnightly.

BAD FIRE ON HOLTON STREET

Last Friday afternoon at 12:39 the Fire Department was notified by the General Crushed Stone Company on East street that a nearby house was on fire. An alarm was sounded from Box 355 and Woburn was also notified.

When the local apparatus left the station the men could see the heavy smoke rising from the fire and as they approached Holton street the flames from the burning building were easily seen.

The men found upon arrival that the home of Daniel Rugan at 15 Holton street was the house on fire and that the flames had gotten too good a start to save the building. Eleven hundred and fifty feet of hose had to be laid to reach the dwelling and several pumps were at work, but the fire had made too much headway before the arrival of the firemen and the building was practically destroyed. The extremely high wind caused the flames to threaten a nearby dwelling, but this the firemen protected until all danger was past.

The fire in the Rugan home was thought to have been caused by an explosion in a range oil burner. Mr. Rugan who was alone in the house at the time of the fire, was not hurt, but only just in time. He had to make his way to the General Crushed Stone plant to give the alarm, permitting the fire to get a good start before apparatus from either Winchester or Woburn could respond to the call.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON LEAGUE

The February meeting of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League was held last Thursday, Feb. 16, at the home of Mrs. Ernest Dudley Chase, 3 Lakeview terrace.

The meeting was opened at 2:30 o'clock by the president, Mrs. William Cusack and after a prayer by Rev. George Driver, the business of the day was presented. Mrs. Raymond Dexter, chairman of the membership committee reported 17 new members.

Mrs. Albert B. Carter, educational secretary of the League, gave a most interesting account of the work that is being carried on at the educational office.

Mrs. T. Grafton Abbott, consultant in parents' education in division of child hygiene, State Department of Public Health, was the principal speaker. Mrs. Abbott chose as her subject, "The Home as a Factor in the Life of a Child" and gave a most interesting and enlightening discussion of the need of parent education, the training of nurses and teachers, and the function of the home, showing how such influences can prove beneficial in the life of a child.

Helen Bedford, harpist, offered a most delightful musical program. Her selections were "Dance Oriental," by Harriet Cady, "Valse Caprice," by Verdale, "The Fountain," by Albert Jaki and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

A delicious tea was served after the meeting by Mrs. Kingman Cass and her committee with Mrs. Frederick Alexander and Mrs. George W. Apsey, past presidents, pouring.

You'll hardly believe you can get two smooth writing pencils with your initials for 5c. You can, at the Star Office.

MRS. GRAHAM'S AUDIENCE DELIGHTED WITH "ABE LINCOLN IN ILLINOIS"

The current Broadway success which Mrs. David Graham and the sponsoring committee chose for her reading on Feb. 17 had the enthusiastic approval of her audience. The prolonged applause at the conclusion was a tribute to the play and the effectiveness of the reading. With accurate good taste and sincerity Mrs. Graham carried out the ideal she announced to her hearers for reading a play of this quality that was, that the reader should be as nearly as possible just a transparent medium through which the play itself might be seen and which the hearers would quite forget in the interest of what they were seeing through it.

They did see the quality of Lincoln in the years that shaped him for the great ordeal and brought him to the Presidency. They saw the courage and humility that always kept house together in that personality. They saw in what dark waters of poverty, debt, seeming failure, bereavement, and anguishing depression life plunged his early years in order to give him the invulnerability that bore him through the terrible years of overwhelming responsibility and pain. They saw shaped in him a concept of the great destiny which his country might either fail or fulfill, and his dedication to the fulfillment of that vision for America.

They saw the gathering of friends and neighbors as he was starting to Washington to take up the burdensome Presidency; they were reminded how the threat of assassination hung over his head in those days; they heard the high sadness and the affection of the farewell spoken to his neighbors from the platform of the train, a farewell that was to prove as final as his phrase suggested it might be; and they saw the train move slowly away from his prairies, from his West.

On March 3, Mrs. Graham will give the last of her readings. She then goes South for a series of lectures and readings, and the sixth play of the series will be presented by Mrs. Phyllis Thaxter.

Mrs. Graham will read on March 3 either "The Flashing Stream," a current London success by Charles Morgan or "Rocket to the Moon" by the American playwright, Clifford Odets, now on Broadway and talked of as a possibility for one of this year's awards in drama.

PAST EXALTED RULERS, WINCHESTER LODGE OF ELKS, 1922-1938

WINCHESTER LODGE P. E. R.'S NIGHT MADE RECORD

When Winchester Lodge of Elks held its annual observance of Past Exalted Rulers' Night on Tuesday evening, Feb. 7, at its lodge headquarters in Lyceum Hall it established what is believed to be a record for Elks' lodges in this state of having each one of its past exalted rulers since its inception in 1922 present to participate. Other lodges have found it impossible to have a perfect attendance at their P. E. R.'s nights, many having some of the past exalted rulers deceased.

At the local observance on Feb. 7 the Winchester P. E. R.'s performed the initiatory degree, the candidates being Police Lieutenant Edward W. O'Connell and Robert Murphy. The lodge is very proud of the fact that all of its former exalted rulers were present at the record it thereby established.

WINCHESTER WON FROM WOBURN

Tanners Outclassed Badly in Second Half

Winchester High reversed a previous defeat at the hands of Woburn High last Friday evening when its quintet won a return game from the tanners in the high school gymnasium, 23-13. The game closed the season for the locals.

Big Hyron Horie opened the scoring with a goal from scrimmage. Capt. "Charlie" Johnson followed with goals from the floor and foul line and scrappy Tony DeTeso added a floor goal to give the locals seven points before Woburn got into the ball game at all.

The tanners, however, came back to lead at the quarter 10-7, only to see Winchester erase this advantage and take the lead at half time, 13-10. During the entire second half Woburn scored only three points while Winchester hardly enjoyed a scoring spree, adding but eight to its total.

Horie with eight points led both teams in scoring. Between the halves of the first team game the Woburn seconds won a 32-27 victory from the Winchester Jay-vees. Following is the varsity summary:

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Troop 2

A few weeks ago Troop 2 had a very enjoyable meeting when Mr. Carl Loew showed movies to the troop of motor-boating, travel in the United States, a comic and the process of making candy.

New recruits for Troop 2 are John Joy, Teddy Thinsion, W. Everett, William Cole and Talbot Smith. Richard Panno and Sherwood Stockwell have passed their tenderfoot requirements while Phineas Newton has passed his second class. Three new senior patrol leaders have been appointed, besides Jim Whittemore there is now Arnold Smith, John Spaulding and Bob Harris.

Mr. Cotton, a committeeman, is organizing a drum and bugle corp. Only bugling has been started with Jim Whittemore, Harrison Wagner and Bill Wilde doing most of the bugling.

MYSTIC SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The Mothers' Association of the Mystic School has planned for the evening of March 7 a meeting of particular interest. This change from the regular afternoon schedule has been made in order that as many people as possible may have the privilege of hearing our speaker, Dr. Frederick Rosenheim, of the Judge Baker Guidance Center of Boston. Dr. Rosenheim's subject will be "The Emotional Problems of Children" and since this topic is of great importance to all who wish to avail themselves of the opportunity to hear Dr. Rosenheim and to join in the discussion following his talk. JOHN D. O'LEARY

Arlington Assessor Former Resident of Winchester

John D. O'Leary, 62, Arlington assessor and president of the Middlesex County Assessors' Association, died early Monday, Feb. 20, at his home, 55 Bow street, Arlington Heights. He had been head of a real estate and insurance business in that town for 25 years and an assessor for the last eight years.

Mr. O'Leary was born in Arlington, Emma Lennon O'Leary; two sons, Harold and Warren; two daughters, Mrs. Marion Nixon and Miss Dorothy O'Leary, both of Arlington; five grandchildren, and two sisters, one the wife of U. S. Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming, and Mrs. George W. McClellan of Arlington.

The funeral was held Thursday from his home with a high mass of requiem in St. James Church.

AMOS WILDER AT THE SECOND CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Sunday evening at 7 the evening Lenten service will mark the beginning of a series of special Sunday evening services at the Second Congregational Church, Washington street at Kenwin road. Prof. Amos N. Wilder, Ph.D., will be the guest preacher. Dr. Wilder comes of a distinguished line of scholars and writers. He is the brother of Thornton Wilder, the famous novelist and playwright. Dr. Wilder has published several volumes of poems and has written for some of the leading Christian journals. He has at present a very important book on the life and teachings of Christ in process of publication. He did his graduate study at Cambridge, England and Yale, receiving his doctorate from Yale on his research in New Testament. Professor Wilder heads the New Testament Department of the Andover Theological Seminary.

At the service of Evening Prayer this Sunday evening, Dr. Wilder will speak on a phase of religious poetry that will interest a wide sector of the public. The children's choir will sing "Lobster Jesus" by Bach and chant the service music. Mr. Jones will conduct the service. Following the service a fellowship hour sponsored by the older young people will be open to the congregation that those people may become better acquainted with the guest preacher.

We know now what our Social Security is going to cost us for 1938—that is, what we are expected to pay on top of what we have already paid. It's $5.00 a day. A "formal demand" received this week for the "completion of all contributions due for the year 1938" says so. We are now required to make this remittance, whatever it is, at once—or else. One gentleman advises us to pay it—whatever it is, at once and again. Having paid this fine every three months since it was levied, we see no reason for paying it all over again. We know we are trying to do business and we know we are providing a living for our people—so we suppose we are classed along with German Jews. The question is whether we are going to try and do business and struggle along to make a living, or give everything we take in to the more abundant life. How would you like to go fishing on a battleship?

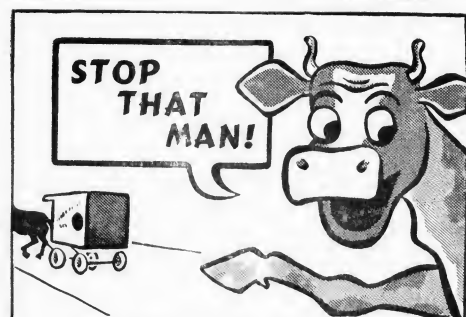

Winchester High School is offering parents of prospective college students a very real service in the "College Choosing Night" which is to be held at the high school Friday evening, March 3. Here is presented an opportunity for parents to learn all the answers, first hand from accredited representatives of some 30 colleges, practically all the higher institutions of learning in New England. In a general way parents have always been able to find out about college requirements from the principal and members of our high school faculty. There have, however, been many perplexing questions which of necessity had to remain unanswered, or answered in generalities, because colleges differ so in requirements for entrance, in the scope of instruction offered, in cost, in opportunities for student aid, etc., that no principal or faculty member can be expected to be fully informed about many matters, concerning which parents are most desirous to be informed. There can be no excuse for being un-informed this year! Any question anyone wants to put about any of the colleges represented can be specifically answered at the high school on March 3. It seems superfluous to urge any parents of prospective college students to save the date and attend the meeting, yet past experience leads us to believe that there will be some who will neglect the opportunity afforded. If so, surely they can not blame the high school authorities who are to be highly commended for giving parents of the town the chance to meet and talk with representatives of the colleges they are expecting their boys and girls to enter.

PRaise for Scouts

Dear Mr. Lane:
Mrs. Butler and I wish to express our deepest appreciation to you and the Boy Scouts for the ready and efficient manner displayed when you answered our call for assistance.
We are sorry to have caused you all the trouble and time expended, but in our anxiety to locate our lost boy, our first thought for aid was the Boy Scouts.

I was present at the Scout lodge a few moments after the whistle blew. You and all of us have cause to be proud of the Scouts and their leaders. The efficient manner in which they assembled was a revelation.

Please extend to them and accept yourself our heartfelt gratitude.
Sincerely yours,
Morris J. Butler

HALL THROWN FOR FIRE-MAN'S BALL

Noonan acted as chairman of the entertainment committee, the other members of which were Walter Carroll, Capt. George Osborne, William Carroll, Homer Davidson and Frank Nowell.
Lieut. Ray Hanscom, president of the Relief Association, was in general charge of arrangements for the evening. John J. O'Melia was chairman of the Ball committee with Edward D. Fitzgerald, secretary, and Lieut. David J. Meskell, treasurer.

Sparks from the Ball

Everyone seemed to be having a good time and nothing occurred to mar the general satisfaction of having the Fireman's Ball back on the social calendar.

To a man the entertainers complimented the crowd on its responsiveness. Jack Herbert and his partner were here last year at the Policemen's show while Jimmy Kennedy, George Gillette, Harry McGowan and the three skaters were in Winchester for the reception of retiring Police Lieutenant John Harrold several years ago.

Little Pauline Lawrence, the acrobatic dancer and contortionist, is only 17 years old. Her mother watched her from the wings and must have held her breath as she saw her daughter make a pretzel of herself on a whirling piano stool on the slanting town hall stage.

Selectmen Arthur Harris and Richard MacAdams proved not too anxious in hat-throwing when given the opportunity to assist in the Zeller and Milburn act. Mrs. MacAdams easily outlasted them and there was a girl in the south balcony who also scented a mean sombrero.

The skaters really gave "Muscles" Murray the old "heave-ho." "Franky" was very wobbly when he was placed on his feet after a vigorous spinning and wouldn't have done so well of the tackles right then. Little Jimmy Cassidy couldn't stand at all and showed symptoms of coming apart in the middle when the skaters got through with him. No girl in the audience accepted the especially cordial invitation to "have a whirl!"

The boys who generally "crash the gate" at affairs like the ball had their troubles last Friday. The firemen really covered the entrances like a second alarm.

Lieuts. Ray Hanscom and "Ed" Noonan were behind the refreshment counter at Headquarters and did all right by everyone. Chairman John O'Melia was also busy looking after the guests, of which Chief Michael Kane of the much publicized Woburn Fire Department was one.

THANKS FROM FIREMEN

To the Editor of the Star:
The Winchester Fireman's Relief Association wishes to express its sincere thanks to the people of the town for the loyal support given its concert and ball last Friday evening. It was very gratifying to hear so many pleasing reports from those who attended, and the association is most appreciative of everything done by its friends to make the affair so successful.

Concert and Ball Committee

FULL HOUSE AT BAPTIST SHOW

The repeat performance of "A Romantic Tale" by the "Household Harmonists" attracted a capacity audience to the First Baptist Church Monday evening. Jane Chandler and Helen MacDonald were the authors. Vivian Jones, the conductor, and the original cast performed. Readings were offered by Hazel Chandler, Parks and coffee and refreshments were served. Mrs. Charles Burnham was in charge of arrangements.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Eight members were absent from the meeting of Feb. 23. This is bad, not alone for our attendance record but also for the club finances. Furthermore there are opportunities for bettering the attendance record but under present conditions there is no relief for the club treasury. And so we say again—do not stay away from home meetings unless there is a real and cogent reason for so doing!

"Sail the Sergeant protest! Nicky 'Not-So-Late' Fitzgerald has again proven his efficiency as a Rotarian. Wherefore he received plenty of congratulations and good wishes as he assumed his post today.

And you will have to read the Town Report and Warrant for the March meeting if you wish to keep pace with Nat Nichols. Why not read them anyway? Thanks! Glad that you have.

Harry Winn writes that he has enjoyed his southern trip immensely and is now on his way back home. Possibly we shall see him at our meeting of March 2.

The March "Rotarian" is just around the corner and no doubt it will arrive considerably in advance of old General Prosperity. From its columns you can learn the news and news of the projected St. Lawrence Seaway. And you can get the story of the alphabet devised by Louis Braille, an inestimable boon for the blind. Also for light-hearted moments there is a delicious bit of humor from the pen of Stephen Leacock. Read the "Rotarian."

The club secretary is now prepared to handle reservations for hotel accommodations at the June Convention of the Rotary International at Cleveland. Transportation can also be arranged over various desirable routes. This club is going to send a delegate to Cleveland. Why should it not be your friend member? Think it over. Maybe it won't hurt so very much. And it will certainly bring you a great deal of pleasure and profit. It's not too soon to plan for June.

Our meeting today coincided with the 34th anniversary of the birth of Rotary on Feb. 23, 1905. President Ralph took this opportunity to make a short address with comments on the wonderful growth which Rotary has made in this comparatively short period. Ralph rightly believes that a compelling reason for this is that so many of the world's ablest and most righteous men have given and are giving freely of their time, talents and substance to the true service of their fellow men the world over. If you doubt it, says Ralph, go to your Rotary assemblies, conferences and conventions and see for yourself.

Rev. D. Grady Feagan, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Arlington and member of the Rotary Club of Arlington was guest speaker at our current meeting. His topic was "George Washington and the Obstacles Which He Overcame." Rev. Mr. Feagan described with real eloquence the many trials encountered by this great American; trials which pursued him to the end of his career; trials, anyone of which might well have subdued a lesser man than he. Yet by reason of his indomitable will and superior judgment in dealing with these difficulties he rightly earned the title "Father of His Country." Every member present enjoyed this address, thoroughly and we hope that we may soon have the privilege of listening again to Mr. Feagan.

Next week's meeting is in charge of our Vocational Service Committee, Harry Wynn, chairman. Come one, come all! This committee has ideas.

Percentage of attendance, Feb. 16, 82.5 per cent.

NOT HOLDUP MEN

In response to complaints that parties with flashlights had been seen about a garage on Foxcroft road and that some sort of disturbance was in progress about a tenement house on Wildwood street Tuesday night, Sgt. Charles Harrod and Officer John Hanlon went to investigate.

They found all quiet on Foxcroft road but at the rear of the house on Wildwood street Officer Hanlon was ordered to "hold up his hands" by a youth, armed with what later turned out to be a cap-pistol.

The boy, aged 17, was a resident of the Highlands and told the Police and two friends were playing "cops and robbers." One of his friends, a west side boy, was found by the Police in his car in Wildwood street and the identity of the other member of the trio was learned from these two. All three were taken home by the Police after being relieved of their "cap-pistols."

WINCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL "COLLEGE CHOOSING NIGHT" TO BE HELD MARCH 3

Do you know that the oldest college in the United States is in New England? Do you know that the largest women's residential college in the world is in New England? Do you know that your state supports 11 colleges? Do you know that there are dental schools, medical schools, colleges of business administration, theological school, a state-supported art school, a college for the training of librarians, all within commuting distance of Winchester? Do you know what college has furnished the largest number of secondary school principals in New England? Do you know that representatives of all of these and many other colleges are to be at the Winchester High School, Friday evening, March 3, to advise you about your child and to answer any questions you may wish to ask? Here is an opportunity that ought to be taken advantage of by hundreds of parents and students. A complete list of the colleges to be represented will be published in the Star next week.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The next meeting of the Winchester Chapter Guild of the Infant Saviour will be held on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 28 in Lyceum Hall at 2.30. Mr. Lacey of the Curtis Publishing Company, will deliver an illustrated lecture on the compiling and publishing of the Curtis Company's magazines, not forgetting the fashion department. A large audience is expected for this interesting event.

At last week's meeting the members spent the afternoon sewing. A delightful Valentine tea was served by the hostesses, were Mrs. Chesterton Powers and Mrs. Ray Gaffney of Medford and Mrs. F. C. Poirier, Mrs. H. F. Graves and Mrs. Oscar Merrow of Winchester. The beautiful old-fashioned china dolls, donated and donated by Mrs. James Murray won by Mrs. Michael Quinn of Belmont.

Our members were deeply grieved to learn of the death of Mr. Thomas J. Feeney of Woburn, which occurred Feb. 18. Mr. Feeney was the husband of one of our most loyal workers.

SAVED DOG FROM DROWNING

Dan and Bill Roop, sons of Mr. and Mrs. William J. L. Roop of Niles lane, saved their German pointer dog from drowning Monday forenoon when the animal broke through thin ice on the aqueduct at the extreme end of the Sandy Beach peninsula at Mystic Lake.

The boys went to the rescue of their pet with their own flat bottom boat. Bill jumped into the water to keep the nubby animal from sinking. A neighbor, hearing calls for help, sent word to the police and Patrolmen Winthrop Palmer and Joseph Quigley responded in the police car. The boys, however, had gotten their dog out of the icy water before the arrival of the officers, who praised their resourcefulness and courage highly.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

The Board receives many anonymous communications, some of which might be worthy of consideration if properly signed. The Board feels very strongly that unsigned letters do not deserve attention.

Hereafter, a charge of $15 will be made for the use of the town hall for rehearsals of any kind whenever admission is to be charged.

The town hall has been inspected by the state building inspector and conditions found to be "good" in all respects.

The Board's attention has been called to the fact that buses of some kind are using Bacon street contrary to traffic regulations. The police have been asked to stop this practice.

STATE NO LONGER LEADS

Arthur W. Dean Talks of Roads Over W. C. O. P.

Talking over the State's leading "Safety Station," WCOP, Arthur W. Dean, Chief Engineer of the State Planning Board, for 25 years Chief Engineer of the State Highway Department, viewed with alarm the fact that this State no longer leads in good roads and highway safety.

"Massachusetts was the first of these United States," he told WCOP's audience, in an address entitled "Freeways," "to definitely lay out and construct State highways, and for many years was so respected as a pioneer and leader that other States looked here for information to guide them in their efforts to give to the public the means of transport that the town's demanded."

He told the radio audience that a "freeway" is a "highway over which abutments have no right of light, air or access. In addition, it usually embodies a number or all of the following features: the separation of opposing lanes of traffic by a planted center strip; the handling of intersecting traffic by grade separation or rotary traffic design; long and properly banked curves; bicycle and foot paths where necessary; accelerating and decelerating lanes at all points of access, usually placed at considerable distances apart in order to avoid interruption of traffic."

Continuing his remarks to WCOP's audience, Mr. Dean, whose home is at 60 Yale street, called:

"Paramount control of all public highways is an attribute of State sovereignty and hence the people, speaking through their legislative bodies, may regulate and may entirely control the establishment of highways, whether they be county roads or state highways or city streets. It is quite proper then to conclude that with respect to the establishment of freeways over the highway that is open to access along both sides, not mentioning the advantage of convenience for the millions of people driving over the highways."

The radio audience heard the State Engineer go on:

"Unless provision is made for the establishment of freeways, the wisdom of constructing four and six-lane highways to accommodate through traffic is questionable, for it seems unwise to spend the amount of money necessary for the building of wide highways when the benefits and results to be accomplished are diverted by shutting property owners."

Quoting figures as to the desirability of the freeway type of highway, Mr. Dean concluded:

"This constitutes conclusive proof of the safety advantage of a freeway over the highway that is open to access along both sides, not mentioning the advantage of convenience for the millions of people driving over the highways."

REGENT THEATRE

New luxurious seats that present the most recent developments in seating comfort will be the next step of the Regent Theatre in its new program of greater comfort for its patrons.

These new seats, which will be installed in the very near future, are large and roomy, assuring the ultimate in enjoyment, and are of box-spring construction with leather seats and mohair backs.

A great expense, new sound and projection equipment was installed two weeks ago, bringing the acoustics and visibility up to an unsurpassable standard.

A new feature, gift night, will be inaugurated on Monday, Feb. 27 and will continue every Monday night thereafter. Twenty beautiful and valuable gifts will be given at each gift night to patrons of the theatre absolutely free.

AMERICAN BOY MAGAZINE COMPANION TO THOUSANDS

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read The American Boy Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "The American Boy seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in The American Boy."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in The American Boy Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys clubs also recommend The American Boy enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of The American Boy advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it. Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in The American Boy, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

The American Boy sells on most newsstands for 15¢ a copy. Subscription prices are $1.50 for one year or $3.00 for three years. Foreign rates 50¢ a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to The American Boy, 7420 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan. flt-2t

ANNIVERSARY SALES DAYS AT EDISON

The local Edison Shop, 2 Mt. Vernon street, celebrates the company's 33rd anniversary week beginning Monday, Feb. 27, and continuing daily through Saturday, March 4. Special demonstrations of the complete line of modern electric home appliances will be given daily by members of the Edison exclusive service staff. All merchandise items featured at popular prices during the anniversary week have been chosen for their special appeal with the approach of the spring season.

Vacuum cleaners for the annual spring cleaning task, washers, ironers, electric water heaters and similar electric conveniences for keeping the house in spic and span order are the banner items recommended with the change of season. Portable table and floor lamps will be shown to interest those imbued with the spirit of redecoration. The newest electric ranges, to beautify the kitchen and keep it cool in the summer, will also share the more for your money celebration.

Since the Edison Company's golden jubilee three years ago, the annual "anniversary days" week has become firmly fixed in the public mind. New features are added every year and the local management has made preparations for a record attendance between the hours of 8:30 a. m. and 5:15 p. m. daily throughout the coming week.

CHANGE IN ASSESSORS' BOARD DESIRABLE

EDWARD G. MACDONALD

To the Voters of Winchester:
We endorse the candidacy of Edward G. MacDonald for Assessor.

Mr. MacDonald was born in Winchester, a descendant of one of Winchester's oldest families. He was educated in the schools of this town and the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance.

He was connected with the Accounting Department of the Boston & Maine R. R. for eight years. For the past 11 years he has been with Bonnell Motors, local Ford and Lincoln dealers, a business, the success of which, depends entirely upon accurate determination of value.

We know that Mr. MacDonald will continue the policies of the Assessors' office that have been proved successful, replacing those adhered to by the present Assessors for the past 15 years, with modern and more accurate methods of valuation. We believe that a fresh viewpoint and new approach to assessing problems would prove helpful to the Board and beneficial to the town.

Mr. MacDonald has a genuine interest in the community and we feel that his business experience together with his intimate knowledge of the Town qualify him to discharge the duties of Assessor efficiently and impartially.

We urge his election on March 6.

of Louisville, Kentucky

Member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

At the Winchester Theatre last Sunday, February 26, First Church of Christ, Scientist in Winchester gave a lecture on Christian Science to an audience which filled the theatre.

Henry O. Glendon, first reader of the Winchester church, introduced the lecturer saying:

"Friends: First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Winchester, welcomes you here this afternoon."

"In the Gospel according to Mark it is recorded that Jesus said, Go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every creature. He said further, And these signs shall follow them that believe: In my name shall they cast out devils; . . . they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall be healed."

"This afternoon it is our privilege to listen to a lecture on Christian Science, entitled, 'Christian Science: The Revelation of Man's God-Given

ENDORSE MR. NEILEY FOR SELECTMAN

The undersigned voters of the Town of Winchester endorse the Candidacy of Geoffrey C. Neiley for the office of Selectman.

Mr. Neiley has lived in the town for almost 40 years, received his education in the Winchester Public Schools and at Amherst College and has been engaged in business for the past 20 years. His war service consisted of two years in the Navy a year of which was in overseas duty and he is now a member of the Winchester American Legion Post.

Since 1927, Mr. Neiley has been a Town Meeting Member. During the difficult period from 1930 to 1933 he was a member of the Town Finance Committee acting as Vice-Chairman during his final year and is just completing a three year term as a member of the School Committee.

We believe that his election to the Board of Selectmen will be for the best interest of our town and we recommend him for your support at the election on next Monday, March 6th.

MR. WINN'S CANDIDACY

A rumor has been circulated to the effect that Mr. Harry T. Winn, Chairman of the present Board of Assessors, is not interested in his re-election. The fact that Mr. Winn filed nomination papers for the office of Assessor, should be proof to the Voters that he wishes to further serve the Townpeople.

His record as Chairman of the Board, is known to all for sincerity and honesty. On a number of occasions he has been highly commended by Officials of the State of Massachusetts.

May I ask the Voters of Winchester to give their careful consideration to the valued qualifications which Mr. Winn possesses as a candidate for re-election to the office of Board of Assessors.

PRECINCT 1 DESERVES SCHOOL REPRESENTATION

To the Voters of Winchester:
It has been called to our attention that the territory included in Precinct 1 has had no member on the School Committee for over 20 years.

Is it not desirable for the various sections of the Town to have occasional representation and avoid any semblance of discrimination?

This year Precinct 1 offers in Robert Raymond Elliott a candidate for the School Committee with the highest qualifications.

We are bringing this matter to your attention for your thoughtful consideration as voters.

CAROLINE P. SPAULDING FOR RE-ELECTION TO THE
SCHOOL COMMITTEE

To the Voters of Winchester:
Mrs. William E. Spaulding of 379 Main street has served one term as a member of the School Committee and is a candidate for re-election. There is no woman remaining on the Committee and no other candidate is a woman.

Highly desirable as it is that there should be at least one woman on that Committee, the importance of re-electing Mrs. Spaulding rests on much broader grounds. She has had an extensive, well-rounded education and training. After receiving an A. B. degree from Radcliffe College in 1919 and an A. M. degree in Economics in 1920, she was employed as a statistician in the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. In addition to the last three years on the School Committee, she has had much experience with the Winchester schools as President of the Mystic School Chapter of the Mothers' Association and as Secretary of the Central Mothers' Association. Her three sons of school age have been brought up in the Winchester schools and two of them are now enrolled in the High School.

Her interest, her industry, her ability, and her experience make it clear that she should be re-elected.

ENDORSE CANDIDACY OF ALVIN M. LITCHFIELD

To the Voters of Winchester:
We, the undersigned voters of Winchester, wish to endorse the candidacy of Alvin M. Litchfield for the office of Selectman in the Town of Winchester.

Mr. Litchfield received his education in the Medford public schools and at Boston University, graduating in the class of 1928. Since that time he has conducted his own business in Boston.

He has been a resident and property owner in Winchester for the past seven years. He would welcome the opportunity to serve the town in which he makes his home. We feel sure that Mr. Litchfield, if elected Selectman, would bring to this position the business training, and the freedom of thought and ideas that are essential to the proper administration and execution of this office.

AN ENDORSEMENT

There should be no question regarding the re-election of Harry T. Winn to the Board of Assessors. Mr. Winn has served Winchester as one of our three Assessors for the past 18 years. He has always lived here, is intimately acquainted with our properties and well known to our people. He deserves the utmost respect for his work on the Board, having been always courteous, conscientious and highly intelligent. In his private life he enjoys the esteem, and the affection of many of our citizens.

On many occasions I have met with the Board of Assessors, either alone or with a prospect, and have found them ready to agree to satisfactory reductions in valuation on the basis of convincing argument and proven facts.

It would be a grave mistake at this time to make a change in the Board, if being close to a crucial period, predicted to be the "turn-of-the-tide" in real estate.

Prosperous business men get the best man for the place, regardless of money. The not-so-prosperous get the best man they can for the money they can afford to pay.

Where can he find a man of Mr. Winn's experience and ability for the pay of a part-time Assessor. In his case a high sense of civic spirit and long association with the office must be the answer.

A report has been rather widely spread recently that Mr. Winn does not want the job of Assessor. Knowing Mr. Winn, if he did not want to be re-elected, he wouldn't run. I haven't happened to see or speak to Mr. Winn for months, but I write this in the spirit of truth and in recognition of his superior work. It would be base ingratitude not to continue to ask a man as Mr. Winn in office as long as he cares to be.

ENDORSES CANDIDACY OF
ROBERT R. ELLIOTT FOR SCHOOL COMMITTEE

To the Voters of Winchester:
I heartily endorse Robert Raymond Elliott for election to the School Committee on March 6 and believe his candidacy merits your favorable consideration because:

1. He is critically interested in sound and thorough education.
2. He has a sympathetic understanding of the problems of both the student and the teacher as a result of his experience as a member of the faculty of Northeastern University Law School where he teaches several subjects and acts as faculty advisor to groups of students.

3. He has a particular interest in the Winchester Schools due to the fact that he has a child in school here.

4. He is a property owner in Winchester and as a taxpayer is interested in careful management but without detriment to the maintenance of the highest educational standards.

5. He has an excellent educational background, having received a Bachelor of Science degree from Harvard College and a Bachelor of Laws degree, cum laude, from Boston University Law School where he was a classmate of mine.

6. He is a man of high character and unquestioned integrity.

7. He was engaged for six years in legal research for the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court, during five years of which he was head of the staff retained in that work.

8. He is engaged in the active practice of the law with a type of experience which should be helpful to the Committee.

9. As an additional reason for endorsing his candidacy I should like to bring to your attention the fact that the territory now included in precinct 1, in which he lives, has had no member on the School Committee for over 20 years.

UNION LENTEN SERVICES

"The Regimented Mind and the Open Book" was the subject of the second lecture of the Lenten Services and by Miss Margaret Slattery at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, Wednesday evening, Feb. 29. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, conducted the worship service and Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell, president of the Women's Group, introduced the speaker.

Miss Slattery's presentation of this phase of modern mind was lucid and apt. More and more, thought is regimented and given to the masses to adopt without question. Dictatorial background and lack of thinking or the right to think. Far worse than the confused mind is the regimented mind.

Miss Slattery comes to us as a teacher and educator. Her course of lectures does not supersede nor take the place of the devotional worship of the Lenten Season but in building up the series she gives us the large view of living and the breadth and depth of a love which gives itself for the world. Its constructive thought is needed today more than ever in the world's progress.

In her third lecture on March 5, Miss Slattery will speak on "The Closed Mind and the Open Book." An offering will be taken to defray expenses.

WILL MODEL AT FASHION SHOW

Miss Elizabeth Archer and Miss Martha Hill, Junior Forthnightly members who took leading parts in the club's recent dramatic production, "Lady Luck," will model at the fashion show which the Juniors are staging on March 22 at 8 p. m. in Forthnightly Hall. Other models include Miss Eleanor Allen, former president; Miss Barbara Berry, Mrs. Wilcox D. Chandler, former president; and Miss Marjorie Mountain, The president. Miss Ruth Roberts, is in charge of arrangements.

TO RAZE CALUMET CLUB

The Star is informed that this spring will virtually see the last of the historic Calumet Club, the National Bank, present holder of the property, having decided to raze the clubhouse in the near future. The furnishings of the house, owned by the club, were sold at auction last fall, and with the tearing down of the building, only the site will remain of what was once one of the most powerful forces in Winchester's social life.

SEEKS RE-ELECTION

To the Voters of Winchester:
May I solicit your support for my re-election to the Board of Assessors on March 6.

I deeply appreciate the confidence shown me in past elections and would be glad of a further opportunity to serve the town.

FOUR CONTESTS ON MONDAY'S BALLOT

Interest Centered in Contest for School Committee

While there are four contests on Monday's ballot for election of town officers, unless interest shifts rapidly between today and election, interest seems likely to be centered in the contest for School Committee, where three candidates are offering themselves for the two vacancies.

For several reasons this is so. First of all there is a substantial segment of the local electorate which seldom concerns itself with an election not affecting the school government. Then again those who feel that women should serve upon the school committee will be concerned to retain the one woman now a member, Mrs. Caroline P. Spaulding of Main street, who seeks re-election. The other candidates are Harold V. Farnsworth, former chairman of the Board of Selectmen, whose home is on Central street, and Robert R. Elliott of Highland avenue, a newcomer to the local political arena and a resident of the Highlands district, in whose candidacy other residents of that section of the town are taking a strong interest.

EN KA SPRING MEETING

An early En Ka spring meeting was held on Tuesday, Feb. 28 at the home of Mrs. Chandler W. Symmes of Main street. A morning office was served between 12:30 and 1 o'clock which was followed by the business meeting. Mrs. Guy Howe, president presided, and heard reports of several committees.

In the absence of the Civic Committee Chairman Mrs. Francis Booth, a report was read by Mrs. Charles W. Weeks, secretary. How the movie, for those at the Home for the Aged, and the monthly tea, are continuing. This committee has contributed 109 hours of typing to the Boston Community Fund Campaign. The Red Cross work, which includes knitting and the making of surgical dressings, goes on and assistance is being rendered the Girl Scouts; an En Ka member now coaching a play for Group 1.

Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, chairman of the Finance Committee reported a long needed stein table has been installed at the Home for the Aged and is being put to immediate use. New slip covers have been placed in the En Ka room at the hospital.

Mrs. A. Allen Kimball, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee spoke of plans outlined for the fifth annual Spring Fair scheduled to take place on Saturday, May 20 at the Town Hall grounds. This year the Country Fair will be revived and is to be a gay spectacle with its old time charm and color. Bright bunting and striped awnings will beckon the alluring hoots. Old vehicles and a country band for dancing are to lend atmosphere to the occasion. The men will don neap straw hats and checkered shirts. The ladies checked gingham aprons with matching sunbonnets of every hue. These latter costumes which were charmingly modeled by Mrs. Chandler Symmes and Mrs. Carl Eaton in the modeling class, will be displayed in the En Ka room at the hospital.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

One of the pamphlets published by the National W. C. T. U. Publishing House in Evanston, Ill., was written by Agnes E. Volentine and is reprinted by permission from "The Young Crusader." It is called "No Drinks For Pal."

Yeah, I sure got a fine dog. Name's Pal. Raised him from a pup. He's smart. Can do tricks (come and shake hands, Pal), an' he can't be shot on the hunt. Good watch-dog, too—no one'll rob the house with him around.

What kind is he? W-e-e-l-l, think he's sorta mixture of all the best breeds, kind of an American dog. And say! he's got character.

Yeah, I know he's pretty thin, chases cats 'n' things too much. You say I'd better fatten him up on beer? No siree, Pal's a Prohibition dog. He's got too much principle to drink. And he's too smart. Too particular what he eats, too. You'd never catch him guzzling down of poison, rotten beer, or whiskey, either.

Why, if he did, it wouldn't be safe to have him 'round. He might bite my sister, maybe kill her. And how'd he tend to business? When I went hunting, he might not be fit for his part of it. An' if he was sleeping off a drunk how'd he guard the house? It'd hurt his health, too. Why, he'd soon get so no-count he'd have to be shot.

But as it is, ol' Pal's always up-an'-comin', right on the job.

No, sir, there's no danger of that dog goin' wit' them. They can talk for liquor all they please, he wouldn't lift his tail for it. Pal's got more sense. An' more character.

But say, I've just been thinking. It's funny, ain't it, that some people don't know as much as a dog?

DR. BAYARD DODGE TO SPEAK

Dr. Bayard Dodge, president of two of the American colleges in the Near East, The American University of Beirut, Lebanon, and International College, also in Beirut, is to speak in Winchester on Tuesday evening, March 14. He will address a meeting, held in the Public Library at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Winchester College Club. The address will be illustrated by beautifully colored motion pictures of the campuses of the six colleges in the Near East College Association. Dr. Dodge has been associated with the American University of Beirut for over 25 years and recognition of his influence has come from most of the governments in the Near East which have bestowed on him numerous honors. Dr. Dodge has recently been the subject of an article, first printed in the Washington Post and reprinted in the Readers Digest for February in which he is called "The Man of the Near East Renaissance."

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Education Committee

Plan to attend the demonstration of public school work at Fortnightly Hall on March 15. Invite your friends who are parents of school children. This is an open meeting for which there is no fee. An interesting program is to be given by school children and their teachers.

Preservation of Antiques—"History of Women's Clothes"

On Friday, March 10, 2:30 p. m. Fortnightly Hall, Mrs. Margaret De Wolf Lewis of Milford, will present her story of "The History of Women's Clothes" from a very early period to the present day, illustrating her lecture with Doll Models of varied types, all dressed historically correct. Mrs. Lewis is a past president of the Quinsigamond Woman's Club of Milford.

Hostesses in costume include Mrs. Roland Carter, William Wightman, Mrs. Andrew Cornwall, Mrs. Henry Harris, Mrs. J. B. Willis, Mrs. E. Adele Emery, Misses Louise and Eleanor Bancroft and Mrs. Earle Andrews, chairman. Mrs. Emery will again impersonate Queen Victoria.

Tea will be served and the meeting the last of the season will be open to the general public.

Bridge Party

The most popular event in the year is the spring bridge party, a happy get-together day, when all is gay, there are no minutes to be read, no lecture to be endured, not even the salute to the flag—unless one wants to.

This year, the big event will fall on Tuesday, March 7, next Tuesday in fact, and all signs point to a gala afternoon. Dessert will be served at 1:30 under the capable management of Ruth French, Anna Gleason, Alice Drew, Dorothy Wills, and a well trained corps of helpers. Tickets will be accounted for by Getrude Seamon and Adele Emery. Alice Winn and Elizabeth Speedie will handle the allotting of the grand sweepstakes prizes, a lovely lace table cloth and a Netherlands blanket and Vivian Gamage and Miss Thrift will assure guaranteed honesty in the door and table prizes. So come one, come all, prepared to take home at least one lovely prize.

ELKS TO SHOW MOVIES

At its meeting in Lyceum Hall on Tuesday evening, March 7, Winchester Lodge of Elks is introducing the motion picture, "Highway Patrol," directed from New York where it was featured in one of the high grade metropolitan playhouses.

"Highway Patrol" is a two hour, fast moving picture showing the work and activities of the motorcycle police. It is gripping and authentic and should prove both entertaining and highly instructive to all who see it.

With it will be shown one of the popular Harry Langdon comedies. All Elks are urged to attend and to invite their friends to enjoy these features of the silver screen. Refreshments will be served.

SWIMMING SEASON OPENED

An eye witness phoned the Star Monday afternoon to report that the local swimming season had opened at Mystic Lake with a group of boys trying out the water on the Parkway side at the old aqueduct. The boys were too far off for an actual report on the temperature, but from their yells and the splashing about the Star's informer inclined to the belief that the water was pretty frigid.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The Art Study Group has two important meetings scheduled for the coming week. In anticipation of the trip to Worcester to view the exhibit of Flemish paintings, a talk by Mr. Tyler of the Fogg Museum, has been arranged for Wednesday morning, March 8, at 10:30 in the Public Library.

Mr. Tyler's purpose will be to acquaint the members of the Art Group, and all other persons who may be interested with these world renowned pictures which have been collected from both European and American galleries and are being shown at the Worcester Art Museum through Mar. 12. He will attempt to explain the technique of these Flemish artists who first perfected the use of oil as a medium, their ideals, their subjects and characteristics, so that it may be possible to have a better understanding and appreciation of the pictures themselves.

On Friday, March 10, the Group will meet at the Worcester Art Museum at 11 a. m. The Museum is located on Salisbury street near Lincoln Square, on Route 9, a driving distance of approximately 42 miles. Mrs. Albro (Win. 6527-J) is in charge of transportation and will gladly make arrangements for anyone.

A special gallery talk has been arranged for the Winchester Group by a member of the museum staff and it is earnestly hoped that everyone will be on time. Each member of the Group will make her own luncheon arrangements; the Howard Johnson Restaurant on the Shrewsbury side of Lake Quinsigamond is suggested as a popular place with plenty of parking space.

GLEN ROAD HOME THREATENED BY FIRE

Members of the family of Mr. Theodore Atkinson, 18 Glen road, here aroused by Patrolman John E. Hanlon of the Police Department, shortly before 2 o'clock Tuesday morning to find the outside of their house ablaze.

Officer Hanlon saw the flames while on duty in the cruising car with Officer James F. Noonan. The two policemen were driving through Sheffield road at the time, Officer Hanlon going on to the Atkinson home and Officer Noonan ringing an alarm from Box 55.

Meanwhile Special Officer Walter Lord, on duty on Myopia Hill, had also seen the fire and notified the Central Station. The firemen found upon arrival that the fire had apparently started outside in a box of waste at the rear of the dwelling close to the house.

The flames had worked up the sidewalk and some of the clapboards had to be removed. The fire was, however, put out before it could work through into the interior of the dwelling.

DEMONSTRATION OF PUBLIC SCHOOL WORK

Parents of pupils in the public schools and townspeople who are interested in our school system are cordially invited to attend the demonstration of public school work to be given under the auspices of the Fortnightly. Present day teaching methods will be illustrated by children from the elementary grades, with their teachers, who will give a program of social studies about community life and how society has been developed, involving history and geography. The boys' and girls' glee clubs from the Junior High School will sing.

There will be a presentation of the work of the Guidance Department, which is a new feature in our Winchester schools. This will be an opportunity to learn about the aims and methods of this work and how it helps the individual pupil to get the most out of the school system. The meeting is Wednesday, March 15 in Fortnightly Hall at 2:30 p. m.

You'll hardly believe you can get two smooth writing pencils with your initials for 5c. You can, at the Star Office.

SALE OF ARTICLES MADE BY THE BLIND

The Fortnightly will co-operate with the board of directors of the Red Cross and other church and civic groups, to sponsor a sale of articles made by the blind in the town hall on Thursday and Friday, March 9 and 10, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. This is your opportunity to lend a helping hand to these ambitious and courageous handicapped citizens of Massachusetts, whose only aim is to be self supporting, and not victims of charity.

At a meeting of the various committee chairmen, held in Fortnightly Hall on Tuesday morning, Miss Rose Trainor, executive director of the work among the blind in Massachusetts, outlined the general plans for the sale, and arranged the table plans for each day as follows:

Thursday
The Fortnightly—Mrs. Edward R. Groveson
League of Women Voters—Mrs. Clifton S. Hall
St. Mary's Church—Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini
Guild of the Infant Saviour—Mrs. James Carr
En Ka Sorority—Mrs. Francis Booth

Florence Crittenton—Mrs. William Cusack
Florence Crittenton Jr.—Mrs. Richard Harlow
M. S. P. C. A.—Mrs. Richard Taylor
Church of the Epiphany—Mrs. Donald Heath
Crawford Memorial Church—Mrs. Raymond Barcroft
Unitarian Church—Mrs. Harry Damon
Immediate Convention Church—Mrs. M. G. Muffet
Woman's Science Committee—Mrs. Daniel Ferguson
Red Cross Board of Directors—Mrs. George A. Dutton

The general committee in charge of the sale include:

Mrs. George A. Dutton, chairman
Mrs. R. E. Miller, co-chairman
Mrs. N. M. Nichols, treasurer
Mrs. M. G. Nichols, publicity
Mrs. William Bess
Mrs. William Priest
Mrs. Charles Barnard
Mrs. William Cusack
Mrs. M. H. Hintlin

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troop 11

Troop 11 has organized three new patrols. They are the Lion which has Bill Wilde as patrol leader and Bobby Brown as assistant patrol leader, the Wolf which has David Connors as leader and his assistant is George Schaad, and the flying eagle with Phineas Newton as leader and John Maynard as assistant patrol leader. Patrol competition has been started. Drums under the supervision of Mr. Cotton, has started with the following Scouts participating: Arnold Smith, Bob Cotton, John Spaulding, Bruce Hamilton, George Schaad and Donald Spaulding.

Troop 7

Twenty boys together with four officers and three committee men met at the usual hour last Monday night. The assistant Scoutmaster John C. Casler had charge of the opening program.

An investiture service was held and the charter and registration cards were presented.

Ray Bohannon gave an exhibition on starting a fire with flint and steel, Ernest Butterworth and Martin Swan took care of the instruction period by dividing the boys into two groups, the boys boxing two compasses by placing cards with the directions in the proper locations.

After three trials one group got a perfect score. At the closing the assistant Scoutmaster gave instructions through the Junior officer for the color bearers to return the colors to the Scout room while the troop stood at attention.

REV. JOHN CLARK AT SECOND CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Rev. John Clark, chaplain at the State Infirmary at Tewksbury, will be the guest preacher at the second Lenten evening service at the Second Congregational Church. The very impressive and worshipful service starts at 7 at the stone chapel on Washington street at Kenwin road. The adult chancel choir will sing under the direction of Mrs. Anna Lochman.

Mr. Clark was pastor's assistant at the First Congregational Church while doing his graduate divinity work and has many friends in Winchester. His present work is giving him an excellent opportunity in the field of pastoral ministry to the poor and sick. His work has met with wide acclaim among the leaders in this unique ministry.

The public is welcome at these special evening services.

MYSTIC SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The Mystic School Mothers' Association wishes to repeat the invitation to all school mothers who are interested in work with children, to be present at their evening meeting on March 7. The speaker will be Dr. Frederick Rosenheim, of the Judge Baker Guidance Center, and his subject, "Emotional Problems of Children." This meeting has been scheduled for the evening for the express purpose of giving the fathers as well as the mothers of our school children, the opportunity to hear and to take part in a discussion of this important subject. In the Mystic School auditorium, Tuesday, March 7 at 8:15 p. m.

NATIONAL ECONOMY LEAGUE

The February meeting of the Winchester Branch of the National Economy League was held at the home of Mrs. Edwin E. Rooney on Feb. 24.

At the January meeting of the League, Mrs. E. O. Horner, branch chairman, reported on the immediate bills to come before Congress. These were Neutrality, Re-armament, Reorganization and Social Security. During the intervening period these bills have come up for action in Congress, and Mrs. Horner gave a very interesting report on Congressional activity in regard to them.

Mrs. Philip Woodward, N. E. Director of the League, was guest speaker. Her subject was "Government Employees." Under this title Mrs. Woodward discussed various phases of government employment such as Civil Service and the problems of patronage as related to Civil Service, tax exemption of government employees, and the rise in government pay rolls.

Some of the note-worthy points made by Mrs. Woodward are as follows: On government employment: of all persons employed in this country about 8 1/2 per cent are employed by Federal, State and local Governments and receive 12 1/2 per cent of all income received by employed persons in the country. These government workers form one of the most effective lobbies in Washington. Under the New Deal there has been an increase of from 590,000 to 860,000 Federal employees. This does not include relief workers.

In regard to Civil Service, Mrs. Woodward stated that as employment increases under Civil Service political patronage decreases. During the administrations of Presidents Wilson and Coolidge the number of government employees under Civil Service gradually increased, and reached a high point of 80.8 during Mr. Hoover's term. Today, with the increase in government employees noted above those under Civil Service make an increase of 60.5 per cent of Federal employees, in spite of the fact that Mr. Roosevelt promised to enlarge the scope of Civil Service. This, of course, makes possible greater political patronage.

Following Mrs. Woodward's talk an open discussion was held.

O. E. S.

The 178th stated meeting of Winchester chapter, 175, Order of Eastern Star will be held in the Masonic Apartments, Monday evening, March 6, at 8 o'clock.

The entertainment will be under the direction of Olive D. Hawkins, P. M.

All Eastern Star members are cordially invited to be present at our meetings.

BAKED BEAN SUPPER

The men's class of the First Baptist Church will hold a father and sons night next Tuesday. A home baked bean supper with the fixings will be served at 6:30 p. m.

The New England Telephone Company will furnish moving pictures of the recent hurricane damage at 7:30. The public will be admitted free.

WINCHESTER WON TEN OF FIFTEEN BASKETBALL GAMES

While Winchester could finish no better than third in the Middlesex League standing this past season, the team had a winning record of 10 in 15 games. Few close judges of basketball would rate the locals, when going right, below the circuit champion, Wakefield, or the runner-up, Lexington.

As a matter of fact Winchester broke even with these two schools, losing its games away and winning on its home court. The local boys gave Wakefield one of its worst shellackings of the season when it set back the champ 42-26 toward the end of the season.

At the start of the season, against the alumni, Winchester seemed set for a fine year, with three veteran performers and two second team boys rounding out a capable and experienced quintet. In the matter of replacements, however, the local boys were not so fortunate and to this weakness Coach George Lauer is inclined to attribute the failure of his boys to cop a couple of crucial games, the loss of which meant the championship.

Only two outside games were played this season, both with Woburn. The Tanners won an overtime game from the locals at Woburn and Winchester swamped its dearest rival in the return game at Winchester. On form Winchester was a hard club to lick, having a good shot in Capt. "Carlie" Johnson and one of the best guards in this neck of the woods in "Doug" Graham. "Tony" DeTeso was another guard to come very fast through the year.

Pairing with Johnson at the forward line was "Ed" Kenney, and big Byron Horie, a pretty fair shot, played center. Replacements were "Vin" Errico, "Charles" Carr and John O'Neill.

The local second team's winning record was not too brilliant, the boys taking only three of their 15 games. Many of the second's losing battles, however, were by close scores. Second team letter players include Frank Marabelli, Jim Coon, Arthur Tetreault, Lane McGovern, Ted Hultgren, Francis Farley, Craig Greiner, Harold Bowdler, Wilbur Callahan and Robert Harris.

Following is the varsity record:

Winchester	30	Alumni	24
Winchester	27	Stoneham	15
Winchester	25	Wakefield	30

METCALF UNION TO PRESENT PLAY

It is the custom of the Metcalf Union of the Unitarian Church to present a play and dance each year. On Saturday, March 4, at 8:15 p. m., the members will give "Never Trouble" a comedy in three acts, and after the play Ned Marshall and his Crimson Cell Orchestra will provide music for the dancing.

For the past month a group of young people have been rehearsing under the able direction of Mrs. Frederick H. Norton.

Members of the cast are:

Mrs. John F. Jones	Margaret Hall
Mr. John F. Jones	James Weaver
Bill Jones	Emmons Ellis
Bobby Jones	George Sexton
Mrs. Wetherby Scott	Ruth Olmsted
Marjorie Scott	Barbara Haynes
Madeline Scott	William Flavelle
Mr. Hitchcock Banning	William Flavelle

Those assisting are:

Mrs. Durling, advertising Pratt, stage; Frances Keyes, properties; Priscilla Plaz, prompter; Lora Kelly, refreshments; Miriam Mack, Stephen Holmes, Anthony Duguet, tickets.

Each summer, the Young People's Religious Union, with which Metcalf Union is connected, has a religious conference at Star Island, off the coast of Portsmouth. From the money received at this event delegates are sent to this conference, and this year it is hoped that two will be able to go.

ENGLISHMAN TO LEAD SENIOR FORUM

Mr. Basil Mathews of London, England, will be the Forum leader at the Young People's Forum of the First Congregational Church during the month of March. The young people are indeed proud to have a man of his caliber and world-wide reputation. He is in demand throughout the world as a leader and speaker on subjects of world interest.

This August, there will be held in Amsterdam a world-wide Christian Youth Conference, the first of its kind to be held. Mr. Mathews is one of the very small number of older people invited by youth for guidance, both in speech and literature, at this conference. Fifteen hundred young people will represent 60 countries and every continent in the world. It is discovered that many problems are universally felt by youth throughout the entire world. Mr. Mathews' part in this coming conference is but one link in the long chain of his activities, for whether living in Geneva, Switzerland, London, England, or Boston, Mass., Basil Mathews is always in touch with youth.

In view of this, the choice of subjects for the series of Forum talks beginning on Sunday, March 19, by Mr. Mathews, has a peculiar relevancy. He will discuss Christian Youth in the world crisis. On March 5, Mr. Mathews will take as his topic "Youth in a Besieged Democracy." This raises the problem of the relation of the nation and to the state and to the world of nations. The following Sunday, the theme will be "Youth in a Changing Social and Economic Order," when Mr. Mathews will set forth the problems of Christian activity to economic revolution, to employment, and a choice of vocation. His closing theme on Sunday, March 19, will deal with "Youth and the Goal of World Community." In these discussions, a wide variety of problems will be dealt with, not in abstract terms but as he personally has seen them in his European and American travels.

These are some of the most vital problems which young people should be facing today.

The hour of the Forum Sessions will be 9:30 and every member of the Forum should make particular effort to hear these vital problems presented. New members may register in the church office between 9 and 9:30 on Sunday morning.

JUNIOR FORTNIGHTLY

A capacity audience filled Fortnightly Hall last Monday evening when the junior women's clubs of Arlington, Greenwood and Woburn were the guests of the Junior Fortnightly of Winchester. Each of the clubs presented a one-act play to be judged for the Junior Dramatic Contest.

The Misses Alice Bursley, Martha Bell, Elizabeth Archer, Betty Ann Budd, Barbara Berry, Nancy Robinson and Marie Poirier made up the cast of "Lady Luck," presented by the Junior Fortnightly. Miss Mary Elizabeth Hall Deached the play, and the Misses Margaret Millican and Colette Gaffney were in charge of properties.

The Woburn club presented "Will O' the Wisp, Arlington, The Princess and the Page," and Greenwood also presented "Lady Luck."

The Winchester Juniors will present "Fashions by Filene's" on Wednesday evening, March 22. Filene's latest styles will be shown by two of their own professional models and six Winchester girls. A very fine musical program will be given with the fashion show. The committee planning "Fashions by Filene's" consists of the Misses Ruth Bennett, Natalie Chandler, Barbara Berry, Colette Gaffney, Martha Hill, Marie Poirier and Nancy Robinson.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The members of the Winchester Garden Club will be entertained on Thursday, March 9, by Mrs. Reginald Robinson and Mrs. John Maddocks at the home of Mrs. Robinson, 48 Wildwood street. Dessert will be served at one o'clock.

The speaker of the afternoon will be Mr. William N. Craig of Weymouth, whose lecture "Hardy Lilies and their Culture in New England" will be illustrated with slides. Mr. Craig is an outstanding horticulturist and to have him as a guest of the Garden Club is a distinct honor.

DR. ROLAND HALL SHARP DECRIES U. S. APATHY TOWARD SOUTH AMERICA

"The greatest problem facing South America today is the general apathy of the United States toward its future and its possibilities," said Dr. Roland Hall Sharp, in an address before the Fortnightly on Monday afternoon. Taking for his topic "Meet South America," Dr. Sharp, a staff writer in the Foreign Department of the Christian Science Monitor, and a member of the American contingent at the Eighth Pan-American Conference in Lima, Peru, told a graphic story, illustrated with his own colored motion pictures, of his 20,000 mile trip by airplane through Hispanic America.

"South America," said Dr. Sharp, "is a beautiful and fertile country, with a wealth of natural resources, but is overstepped outside aid in its development. If the United States does not step in and proffer that aid quickly, some European country will, and the successful bidder in this assistance problem be one of the dictator countries, it will mean an end to the friendly relations that have existed so long between the Americas." Dr. Sharp emphasized this point by quoting facts and figures on the most recent attempts by both Germany and Italy in building up tangible evidence of their faith and good will. These included pictures of the museums and rare gifts of art presented to various cities by Germany and Italy, and pictures of school children being trained to give the "Heil Hitler" salute upon leaving their class rooms at noon time.

"These Americas," Dr. Sharp concluded, "are one of the opening of the Panama Canal did not divide them, rather did it bind them more closely commercially. Every country in this hemisphere enjoys the democratic form of government and no country is, at the present time, bearing arms for the protection of that democracy. The future of South America holds much promise and the more closely it is linked with that of the United States, the more mutually advantageous it will be. The success of the recent Pan-American Conference is apparent; it is only through such friendly get-togethers that international problems will be ironed out and the paths toward mutual aid between the Americas be more firmly established."

Dr. Sharp was introduced by Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds, President of the Fortnightly, who presided at the meeting.

The Fire Department answered two alarms Monday afternoon. The first came in at 1 o'clock for a brush fire on Ardley road and the second, at 3:30 was for a chimney fire at the residence of Mr. Charles H. Kemery on Henry street.

NEW WINDOW AT EPIPHANY

Memorial to Miss Florence McPhee Dedicated Sunday

The large stained glass window in the chancel of the Church of the Epiphany, given by members of her family in memory of Miss Florence McPhee, a member and benefactor of the church, was dedicated at the 11 o'clock service of morning prayer last Sunday. The dedication prayers were read and the acceptance of the window made by the rector honorarius, Rev. John W. Suter, D. D., of Boston.

The rector, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, proffered the dedication sermon and the scripture lessons were read by Rev. William S. Packer, whose spirit of service has been so helpful to the Epiphany through the years.

The venerable Dr. Suter conducted the dedication standing before the altar, beneath the beautiful window, with its jewel-like blues and reds glowing above the subdued shades in the tapestries of the reredos and projecting its rich coloring through the chancel and transept to the nave, where, despite the bad weather, a large congregation was assembled.

In that congregation were old parishioners who, thrilling to the beauty of the fine new window, felt an answering thrill in seeing once more the rector honorarius before the altar of the church, toward the building of which he was such a vital force.

The rector, Rev. Mr. Hadley, in his dedication sermon, spoke of the soundness of church ornamentation as a stimulus to worship, and traced briefly the efforts of the church to make its places of worship beautiful from the days when early Christians traced rude pictures upon the walls of their sepulchral chapels in the catacombs of Rome, and traced briefly the efforts of the church to make its places of worship beautiful from the days when early Christians traced rude pictures upon the walls of their sepulchral chapels in the catacombs of Rome, and traced briefly the efforts of the church to make its places of worship beautiful from the days when early Christians traced rude pictures upon the walls of their sepulchral chapels in the catacombs of Rome.

Referring to the new window and to her service, she said she had been placed in the church, Mr. Hadley felt that its obvious beauty would prove more than a mere physical asset, but that it would also lift the minds of those who see it to the worship of God, to whose service the whole church is dedicated.

An appropriate musical setting for the service was provided by the vested choir under the direction of Enos H. Heald, who, in the festive "Te Deum" by Dudley Buck, and at the offertory, the anthems, "With God" by Dr. Francis W. Snow and "Open Our Eyes."

The newly dedicated window completes the series long ago planned for the chancel of the church. Epiphany, the Manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles, typifies the wisdom of God, the mission of his spirit; and the windows of the church strive to tell the story of Christianity's spread throughout the world. The tapestry over the altar depicts the first Epiphany, the wise men from afar worshipping the Infant Jesus, and since the story is so closely connected with the story of the Nativity, the new window above the altar has taken the Nativity as its theme.

In the upper section of the centre lancet an angel with a shining cross typifies the power of God. Surrounding this angel, in the top sections of the lancet, are the figures of the three kings, the heavenly host is symbolized "praising God and saying 'Glory to God in the highest.'"

Below in the three centre lancets are the shepherds, silhouetted against clear blue, symbolizing heaven. In the two outer lancets stand two evangelists, chosen as those whose gospels give the stories of the birth of Christ and the Visitation of the Wise Men; in the right St. Matthew with the symbolic angel in the background, in the left St. Luke with the winged ox.

The predella contains in small-scale the Annunciation, the Visitation, the Flight into Egypt, the Presentation in the Temple, and Christ Among the Doctors.

The architect of the church, Mr. William Herbert Burnham, working with the architect of the church, Mr. Patterson Smith, has created a window of great beauty. The design uses the rich and glowing color typical of the Middle Ages. The window has been brought into harmony with the more delicate 15th century windows of the church by means of the lace-like Gothic canopies of silvery white and gold which frame each lancet.

Example of Mr. Burnham's work may be found in this country in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York and in the Princeton University Chapel, and in France in the American Church of Paris and in Belleau Chapel.

WEEK-END FIRES

The Fire Department answered three alarms over the past week-end. The first came in at 1:45 Saturday afternoon for trouble with an oil burner at a home on Euclid avenue. At 6:20 Saturday evening there was a chimney fire at a home on Olive street.

Sunday night at 11:30 the Fire Department received a call for help from a resident of Marchant road who reported that his home was flooded. While Chief DeCoursey told the householders to leave their home, he went to pump out his dwelling, he went to the house and found that there were four feet of ice water in the basement. The fire in the house was out and some recreation equipment in the basement had been ruined by the water. The Highway Department was notified of the trouble with a request for a suitable pump to get the water out of the dwelling.

BETTY SEXTON

DANCE RECITAL TO BENEFIT SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Betty Sexton, Carmen Rooker and Margaret Gaze, Reader, at High School March 11

Betty Sexton and Carmen Rooker, whose dance recital at the high school auditorium Saturday evening, March 11, is benefiting the scholarship fund of the Winchester Mothers' Association, are qualified by training and experience to present a program pleasing to the general public and especially interesting to dance devotees, of whom there are many in and around Winchester.

Local interest will of course center in Miss Sexton, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac E. Sexton of Milbrook, N. Y., having achieved success both as an artist and teacher. She is a modern dancer of strong purpose and delicate originality, with many fine compositions to her credit, and has often been seen upon the concert stage. She has studied with Pavlov-Ukransky, Anita Peters Wright, Doris Humphrey, Charles Weidman and Hanya Holm. At Bennett she has been successful in encouraging her pupils, along with their basic dance instruction, to do original work in creative composition. Her students gradually build up their own solo repertoires and each senior, toward the end of her course, gives a full-fledged performance, in which her ideas of dance-form, accompaniment, costume and stage-lighting have full play.

Miss Sexton is a graduate of the dance department at Bennett, doing post-graduate work this year. Besides dancing with Miss Rooker and developing her own original compositions, she is taking an active leadership in her pupils, along with teaching a group of 12 students whom she plans to present in a school recital this spring. At the annual Greek play presented in the outdoor theatre at Milbrook, where performance is judged by professional standards, Miss Sexton has with unusual skill led a chorus of 15 dancers who sing and move together through a drama two hours in length.

Such success with Miss Sexton and Miss Rooker are giving in Winchester their fourth in a series. Associated with them is Margaret Gaze, a faculty member of the drama department in Bennett, who has gained wide recognition for her reconstruction of the tragic dance forms of ancient Greece. She has had professional stage experience in this country and England, acting in Shakespeare and in Charles Rann Kennedy's "Plays for Three Players."

At the high school Miss Gaze will read two groups of poems by William Blake, "The Songs of Innocence," which will be interpreted in dance form by Miss Sexton, and the "Songs of Experience," which Miss Rooker will interpret. Dance solos and duets are also included on the varied program which closes with the hearty finale, "The Fleet's In!"

There is already much interest being displayed in the recital, for which the following patrons and patronesses are announced:

WINCHESTER COMMUNITY CHEST

The agency members of the Winchester Community Chest are the Hospital, Home for the Aged, District Nursing Association, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Community Council. All are ably managed, maintain high standards of service, are successful in accomplishing those things for which they were established and have made Winchester a healthier, safer and happier town in which to live.

Because the citizens fully realize this, the work of the Fund Campaign Committee in raising the amount of money necessary to carry on properly the activities of these agencies will be easy.

Heretofore these agencies have received their financial support from subscriptions given directly to them by citizens of the town. They are now united through the Community Chest in a common campaign for these same funds which they have asked for each year.

Although this is the first year it has been attempted in Winchester, this method of soliciting funds is not new. It is economical and efficient. It lessens the burden of the individual agencies and makes possible the giving of one subscription for the support of all.

It is hoped that the citizens will co-operate in this progressive movement and will give generously of their time and money.

Winchester's WPA has been investigated, so we hear; a corps of experts visiting the town last week. Report also says that 25 more are to be added to WPA as a result of this investigation. What do you bet the President don't get that raise?

Whether fish can jump that Mystic Avenue Dam or not, and even though that now famous canoe run to Manchester Field band stand is closed, Winchester now has a fine concrete pillbox. It looks substantial and safe from the attack of enemy ships cruising up the Aberjona. One more Federal position is evidently to be open for bids—that of meter reader, or is it gunner?

By the way. Did you know the reason for that Mystic Avenue Dam? It's reported built so that the water taken by manufacturing firms from the Aberjona River can be measured and they thus made to pay the Government for its use!

After all we have written about that barefaced robbery called Social Security, they still want to use it. If we had any Constitutional rights left we would stand on them. We're getting letters now from the Social Security Commission, the tenth vice-president commissioner. According to our latest interpretation it's not money they want—just data. And how! Piles and piles of it. They might just as well forget it. Nobody's very happy about it all, and we're so far back in our home work that we doubt if we live long enough to catch up anyway.

Well—the New Deal has something to fix up again! Like Joe Kennedy's Harvard degree, the Supreme Court slipped up. Sit-downs are illegal! Pige Mne Perkins and Attorney General Murphy. Something's busted.

And still speaking of that new Mystic Avenue Dam! We interviewed Town Engineer Parker Holbrook about it Tuesday, and he admitted he didn't know a thing about it. And this magnificent engineering project under construction since last November. We noticed they had no Project Number with the blue, white and red on it. Where were the surveyors? Why—almost got pinched last summer for picking violets at that same spot.

Present indications would lead one to believe that Mondays are election days in Winchester for some time. Close followers of local politics seem to feel that the vote will be light, despite the fact that there is a contest for school committee, that usually results in plenty of activity at the polls. The fact that there is but one vacancy on the Board of Selectmen this year, and but two candidates running for it, probably responsible for what has thus far been an apathetic attitude on the part of the voters. This lack of interest is to be deplored. Any vote that is not representative is not convincing, and alike unsatisfactory to both the town and the candidates, successful and unsuccessful. We all owe it to ourselves, to the town and to those who offer themselves for public office to express our preferences at the polls. We surely have no right to grumble at the results if we do not do so.

Many people in the center wondered why the water was so high in the river this past week. It seems that the United States Geological Survey is putting in a dam at the foot of Mystic Avenue which will raise the level of river greatly, especially along Manchester Field. This dam is an expensive affair of concrete and workmen have been at work on it a good part of the winter. The survey's purpose is to install a meter which will keep a record of just how much water passes down the Aberjona every day in the year. Just what good this record will do anyone is beyond comprehension as there are no dams on the river now. When the town purchased the Whitney Mills and dams they also acquired the water rights. In the olden days an agreement was made with the Whitney family about the level of the river and a copper bolt was imbedded in the stone work of the bridge which takes the Metropolitan Parkway over the river where it enters the upper Mystic Lake. This bolt is still in place and it is said this river should never be above it as it backed the water up on the Whitney mill race. Another matter to be considered is that canals will not be dug up the river to the center or to Manchester Field without being carried along this new dam. The law also requires fish ladders or weirs be constructed when the natural flow of a river is obstructed so that the fish can get up streams but on provision is being made for one at the new dam. I would seem that Winchester should have been consulted before a dam was built in a residential section.

That Washington mummer abut, Harry Hopkins, has now extended the left hand of fellowship to business. Our great reforms, he says, are not business, but business, if it is willing to play ball, can continue to live. Immediately great rejoicing has broken out throughout the Country. The businessmen, if they are wise, will not take hold and make the New Deal a howling success. It has always been howling, but the less said about success the better. Washington reforms have been to us (if we are a businessman) just a big pain in the neck and a mass of hedge-podge foreign experiments. We see no cause for rejoicing, neither now or for the future. So many wonderful socialistic experiments have been made and so much boosting propaganda turned out, that we are dizzy paying out money and answering crazy questions. If these great reforms continue business will continue to dwindle as it has since 1932. We have no idea whatever that our taxes will be any less or even as small next year. Our rulers are not passing up any opportunity to get some money just as long as there is any to get. This nation is being led by the greatest propagandist mail ever created. Go through our mail some morning! Just so long as our two-thirds under-privileged are either working for the government or being supported by it, just so long our present state of conditions will continue. Why a great sort of rejoicing should arise out of the mouths of business just because Harry Hopkins says so, we will not crack down but will still hold the whip, is something any businessman can easily understand. After seven years of being bled white to provide funds for Washington's guinea pig ideas, business cannot be greatly deceived by any such propaganda today.

IS REFORM NECESSARY

To the Editor of the Star:
It seems to us that things have come to a pretty pass, when the "Ladies and Gents" of the West Side flats have to form a "league" for social reform in that area, as reported in last week's issue of the Star.

We of the Hills are happy to say that we have no social conditions that need investigating. While we realize that we are fortunate in being considerably nearer Heaven than those living on the flats, it comes as a shock to us to know that the situation there is as bad as the league's announcement would indicate.

Can't King Franklin forget Social Security enough to see that Social Conditions there are improved? Is there no slum clearance money left of the millions appropriated?

Situated as we are, we cannot help looking down on these unfortunate, still we are always glad to lend a helping hand.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Five members were absent from the meeting of March 2, one of whom has already made good for his absence. Wyan, winning cards from the foursome remaining.

Frank Enman, on vacation in Florida, reports that he is safe and sound and submits a price list of various fruits together with the information that sulphur water is free. We must revise our idea that people go to Florida in search of rest.

Harry Winn, en route to Winchester, visited at the Rotary Club of Charlotte.

Not Nichols has requested us to keep it quiet, so interested parties must get their information direct from headquarters.
Probably very few persons in this section have adequate realization of the tremendous damage caused by the recent earthquake in the republic of Chile, S. America. The Governors of Districts 33 and 34, Rotary International, report that six cities completely destroyed, including Chillan with a population of 60,000 and Concepcion, third in size of Chilean cities, with nearly 100,000 inhabitants. Many cities are almost as unfortunate. The dead are estimated at 40,000 and the damage at $100,000,000. Rotarians who wish to contribute to relief funds may forward their contributions to the Governor of either District 33 or 34, whose addresses may be obtained from the club secretary.

The advisability of establishing a new type of membership in Rotary to be known as "senior membership" is being discussed. "Senior membership" being defined as follows: a senior member in a Rotary club will be a non-classified member who has been in the Rotary for 25 or more years or who has reached the age of 65 after having been an active Rotarian for at least five years.

At the current meeting our club entertained and was entertained by Mr. Dana M. Cotton, Director of Guidance at the Winchester High School, as guest speaker. Mr. Cotton told us of his duties as head of this department. He has recently been established at the local High School for the purpose of aiding our young people in selecting the life work for which they are best adapted and in procuring proper training for that work. He paid high tribute to the work which Rotary is doing along this line and declared that articles in recent issues of the "Rotarian" magazine on file at the school have proved to be of great interest and value to the students in his charge. It is evident that this enterprise as pursued along the lines described by Mr. Cotton will be of inestimable worth to our young people, being in pursuance of the desire of them to pursue profitable to themselves and useful to society at large by making available to them the experience of their elders who have been successful in their life work. We shall follow this work with interest and are indeed grateful to Mr. Cotton for bringing to our attention the nature of the duties which he is performing. Next week on March 9 we shall listen to an address by a representative of the Anti-Vivisection Society of New England.

Most unbiased observers view this as strictly a three-candidates-for-two vacancies fight. The result a year ago lends added strength to this viewpoint.

The single vacancy on the Board of Selectmen finds Geoffrey C. Neiley of Yale street retiring member of the school committee, a candidate for election with Alvin M. Litchfield of Highland avenue, a newcomer to town politics, who has waged a vigorous campaign.

Much will depend upon the size of the vote cast in this contest and the same is true in that for election to the Board of Assessors, where Harry T. Winn of Swan road, chairman of the board for many years, and Edward G. MacDonald of Parker road are the candidates for the one vacancy. Mr. MacDonald runs strongly a year ago in his first political campaign, and has been active this year.

The other contest on the ballot is that for constable where four candidates are running for the three vacancies. Frederick J. Larson of Main street is the new candidate in this group, Michael J. Foley of Main street, Edward F. Maguire of Winslow road and Gleason W. Ryerson of Nichols street being candidates for re-election.

The election of precinct members as resulted in contests in four of the six precincts, with 1 and 2 having only 11 candidates for the 11 vacancies to be filled.

PROF. HANS KOHN TO SPEAK FOR SMITH CLUB

Hans Kohn, distinguished professor of history at Smith College, will speak on "The European Situation" on Friday, March 17, at 8:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium. The final lecture in the series on world events presented each year by the Smith College Club in support of its scholarship fund, and the only evening talk in the course, this will appeal to those interested in an able discussion of the subject of the day as well as to those aware of Professor Kohn's growing prestige in the teaching field and on the lecture platform.

Born and educated in Prague, Professor Kohn has had the broadening experience of living, during his teaching career, in Asiatic Russia, Paris, London, Jerusalem and the United States. In this country he has lectured under the auspices of the Institute for International Education and the New School for Social Research, and for the last five years he has taught modern European history at Smith. Author of many books and articles, he has done research in the fields of modern history of Europe and Asia, in the history of civilization, in the history of nationalism, and in political philosophy. He is an experienced commentator on public events and an authority in the field of political science and international relations. His distinguished record and his personality and clarity as a lecturer have made him so much in demand among Smith Clubs and other lecture groups that the Winchester Smith Club feels almost triumphant to be able to present him.

Chairman of the committee for the lectures is Mrs. Merton Grush, assisted by Mrs. J. Waldo Bond, Mrs. John Burchard, Mrs. Geoffrey C. Neiley, Mrs. Richard Parkhurst and Mrs. Clarence Whorf. Mrs. James R. Doty is president of the club and Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr. is vice president.

"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, March 5.

The Golden Text is: "God giveth to a man that is good in his sight wisdom, and knowledge, and joy." (Ecclesiastes 2:26).

Among the illustrations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And, behold, there was a man which had his hand withered. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath days? He said unto them, What man shall there be among you, that shall have one sheep, and if it fall into a pit on the sabbath days, will he not lay hold on it, and lift it out? How much then is a man better than a sheep? He saith unto them, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth; and his hand was restored, like as the other." (Matthew 12:10-13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following message from the Christian Science textbook: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. "Jesus walked on the waves, fed the multitude, healed the sick, and raised the dead in direct opposition to material laws. His acts were the demonstration of Science, overcoming the false claims of material sense or law" (p. 273).

WINCHESTER TAXPAYERS' ASSOCIATION

Every taxpayer in Winchester is benefited by the savings brought about by the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Associations. The Winchester Taxpayers' Association actively and energetically supports the Federation. F. M. Gunby, president of our Taxpayers' Association, feels that the following article will be of interest to every taxpayer in Winchester.

WHAT'S AHEAD FOR MASSACHUSETTS

By Reginald W. Bird
President, Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers Associations, Inc.

Massachusetts this year faces a serious situation from the standpoint of taxes.

It is vitally serious to the small home owner who may be forced into the growing ranks of the thousands who have lost their property because they were unable to pay steadily increasing tax bills.

It is equally serious to rentpayers who ultimately must dig down for their share of taxes, disguised as rent.

It is serious to merchants and manufacturers who provide employment for labor.

And it is increasingly serious to towns and cities which find more and more citizens abandoning property or tearing down old buildings rather than continuing to pay confiscatory taxes. Why has so critical a situation arisen?

In the early days of the country, government was simple. Folks were close to it and understood it. Today it has developed into a great complex piece of machinery so far beyond the understanding of the average person that he does not know what to do to help himself. With loss of understanding of government has gone loss of control.

Our democratic government today is made up of three elements:

1. Self-seeking minority elements asking special advantage at the expense of other persons.

2. The political element, whose chief desire seems to be to perpetuate itself and its party in office regardless of the expense to the taxpayer.

3. The great inarticulate majority, sitting back helplessly, neither trying to understand government nor to protect themselves. In this group individuals alone can do nothing but when organized they can have any kind of government they want.

This year Massachusetts citizens are facing some of the most difficult problems of generations.

In the last decade, the cost of government in Massachusetts—state, county, city and town—the state from $325,000,000 to over $415,000,000. That means that it is costing us more than $1,000,000 a day to be governed (not even counting Federal costs).

And that is where we begin to see the proportion of our problem.

Why are costs increasing? There are several reasons:

1. Government is performing more and more services. A new body is set up to control this or that. A health department takes in more work, perhaps essential, or perhaps not. A school department gives more evening vocational courses. The state considers creation of a new hospital. A town for the first time undertakes to collect rubbish. A city buys a private water system or establishes a hospital.

2. Government is doing more of what it has done: A city doubles its engineering staff; the state extends welfare to include old-age assistance, later drops the age limit and increases the amounts paid out. A town borrows heavily to extend its water mains farther into the country.

3. Government officials have tolerated more and more inefficiency, more and more patronage, more and more antiquated equipment, and even more and more costly corruption.

4. Salaries have been going up over a period of years.

5. Hours of work of public employees have been coming down. Usually that requires hiring additional help, and in a decade that means millions of dollars in new taxes.

Some of these new costs are necessary. Some are desirable if they can be afforded. Some are extravagant, and some must not be tolerated. But all contribute to the rising cost of government and of your taxes.

In the last 20 years, no real effort has been made by public officials to reduce the cost of government by eliminating unnecessary and wasteful expense that has crept in through acts of political expediency and under pressure from minority groups.

Today the taxpayer—and every body pays taxes—must start not by screaming about the cost of government but by intelligently diagnosing the situation and then making the necessary reductions without destroying the functions of a department whose services have become vital to the people.

That is why the third element in the community—the vast, unorganized majority which pays the bills—must organize to protect itself and to hold its government on an even keel.

That is the purpose of the Taxpayers' Associations in the towns and cities of Massachusetts—to provide a common meeting point where side by side the citizens of this state can grapple with their common problem, not as rabble-rousers but as intelligent human beings who first obtain the facts and then act on those facts logically and sanely.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

George Washington School Chapter

A most delightful tea was held Tuesday, Feb. 28 at the home of Mrs. John E. Burke, Jr. at 2 Chisholm road for the mothers of the George Washington School first grade. The first grade teacher, Miss MacDonald and Miss Hatch, the school principal were both there to meet the mothers. Mrs. Chester D. Kenney, president of the Washington School Mothers' Association and Mrs. Paul N. Shiverick, the treasurer, poured.

SKIING POPULAR

Winchester enthusiasts are getting their fill of skiing this year. According to an observer last Sunday at the Frontinac and Hucks Hill ski towns at Plimouth, N. H., it was almost an old-time Winchester day. Among those observed enjoying the sport were Duncan Ferguson, Bill Sawyer, "Bubbles" Larson, Carol Hill, Jim Cruickshank, Dick Barnard, Henry Bean, Viola Renner, Charles Howe and Dick and Janet Charles.

WELCOME WAGON HOSTESSES ENTERTAINED AT HOOD PLANT

Mrs. H. Gretchen Butler of Winchester in Group

Fifteen New England hostesses of the Welcome Wagon Service, and their supervisors, Mrs. A. Gertrude Stevens of Brighton, were conducted on a tour of the Hood Milk Plant in Charlestown Monday forenoon, and were entertained afterwards at luncheon served in the ice cream fountain school. Mrs. Gladys B. Haunford, Hood's well-known director of plant visitations, had charge of the tour and luncheon. The Welcome Wagon Hostesses greet newly-married housewives and newcomers in towns and cities all over the country, and give them information about schools, churches, banks, professional men and stores in their vicinity.

This New England group was particularly impressed with the care and cleanliness in evidence throughout the plant. After luncheon, the hostesses were conducted through the ice cream plant.

Among the hostesses present was Mrs. H. Gretchen Butler of 40 Glen road, this town, sixth from the right above, who is a Welcome Wagon Hostess for Winchester and Lexington.

NEW FORD ALMANAC FILLED WITH FACTS OF HUMAN INTEREST

Filled with useful facts and comment of general human interest, the 1939 Ford Home Almanac is now being distributed free by Ford dealers throughout the United States. Demand for the new book has been so heavy that 1,800,000 copies have been printed.

Convenient in size, the Almanac is distinctive in content. Its 48 illustrated pages are replete with historical, geographical, astronomical and industrial information.

In traditional style, the book contains an annotated calendar as its central feature. Decorated with a variety of type faces, the calendar cites a major historic event for each day of the year.

Charts and statistics were extensively treated, do not form the backbone of the text. Philosophical discussions—words of wisdom from all the ages—receive primary attention.

Typical titles from this "editorial" section of the Almanac are: "What Shall We Do With Our Earth?" "Will There Be Jobs in the Future?" "Americanism in Action." "Every Day Should Be Thanksgiving Day." "As the Farm Goes, So Goes the Nation" and "Is World Peace Possible?"

Among the other prominent features of the Ford Home Almanac are: A list of important festivals and anniversaries of the year, facts about the universe, facts about the planets, eclipses due in 1939, the giant Mt. Palomar telescope, symptoms of diseases, treatment of burns, and suggestions for building and furnishing a home.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM LOST ONLY ONE GAME

Missing another unbeaten record by a single game, the Winchester High School girls' basketball team recently concluded its 1939 schedule with five victories in six starts in varsity competition. Besides their varsity games, the local girls, coached again by Miss Rosamond Young, participated in interclass games with Lexington, Melrose and Reading, and also in a basketball play day at Newton on Feb. 3.

Once again this year the Winchester girls turned back both Arlington and Melrose, their single reverse, a real shelling coming from Watertown, 50-12. The Winchester seconds broke even in their six games played. Captaining the first team was Rita Collins, '40. Varsity players included Rose Gaudioso, '41; Myrtle Goodhue, '39; Joyce Maxson, '41; Mildred Rogers, '40; Priscilla Tapley, '40; Louise Wild, '39 and Manager Lee Clark, '40. Rose Gaudioso, with 49 points, led the varsity, Priscilla Tapley having 47.

Second team players included Helen Carroll, '41; Bette Dickson, '39; Gladys Finfield, '40; Christine Flaherty, '39; Barbara Hughes, '40; Lois Ladd, '39; Elinor Reeves, '41; and Barbara Maxson, '40; assistant manager, Christine Flaherty had 29 points and Bette Dickson had 24 points for second team scoring honors.

Following is the game summary:

Winchester	19	Alumnae	12
Winchester	26	Arlington	18
Winchester	26	Belmont	18
Winchester	12	Watertown	50
Winchester	31	Lexington	14
Winchester	27	Melrose	19
Winchester	133	Opponents	129

MRS. EMMA L. WRIGHT

Mrs. Emma L. Wright, widow of Walter Wright and mother of Walter B. Wright of 26 Forest street, died Sunday morning, Feb. 26, in the Winchester Hospital after a short illness. Mrs. Wright, who was 81, was the daughter of Alexander and Mary (Brooks) Damon. She was born in East Boston, received her education in the Boston schools and lived most of her life in and around that city. She had made her home in Winchester for about two years.

Surviving, besides Mr. Wright, is a son, Frank H. Wright of Randolph. There are also three grandchildren, Calvin Wright of Randolph, and Robert and Barbara Wright of this town. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Kelley & Hawes Chapel with Rev. Carelon Jones, pastor of the Second Congregational Church officiating. Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

Goathead's Discovery

The site of the oracle at Delphi, Greece, was discovered, legend says, by a goathead who found his herd crying and prancing wildly about a chasm from which issued a stream of intoxicating air. The priestess who made the prophecies of the oracle used to sit over this, but either the chasm itself was legendary or it has disappeared.

MORGAN MEMORIAL GOODWILL WORKSHOPS

A Modern House of Miracles

Although there are 200,000 families in and around Greater Boston who send their cast-off clothing and household goods to the Morgan Memorial, only a very small fraction of these people have ever seen what happens to these gifts of theirs in the Morgan Memorial Goodwill workshops. These generous contributors know of the idealism that is back of this great Boston enterprise in that it provides self-respecting work and wages to the unemployed and handicapped, and provides an "opportunity rather than a dole." If it were not for these gifts, Morgan Memorial would go out of business, since they furnish the raw material for the scores of departments which work upon them, salvaging, rebuilding and re-creating. Friends who do go through these huge buildings, located at the corner of Shawmut avenue and Corning street, are amazed at the miracles which are performed with their donated material: furniture is rebuilt; shoes repaired; metal wares refurbished; old fabrics, no longer fit for apparel, sorted into scores of different textile grades and salvaged to woolen mills and other users of such materials, together with waste paper. And in all this miracle-working, men and women are once more hopeful and eager, since they are being paid cash wages for the work of their hands. One can well imagine that the name "Goodwill," as applied to these workshops, is not a misnomer. In a place where so much optimism, cheer and gratitude abound, it is only natural that there should be a feeling of "goodwill toward men." In fact, a number of visitors have spoken of our Goodwill Workshops as the "Singing Workshops." An earnest invitation and a cordial welcome await all of those who will take the time to go through these interesting buildings of Morgan Memorial. Well instructed guides are always available and literature is provided which goes into detail as to the various phases of this great enterprise, which, during 1937, paid out over $7,500 every week in opportunity labor and relief.

Onion, Chive, Garlic, Wild Garden onion, chive, and garlic are merely cultivated species of these wild plants.

BETTE SEXTON
To Dance for Mothers' Association Scholarship Fund

MUCH INTEREST IN DANCE RECITAL

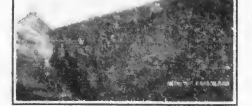

Performance by Bette Sexton and Carmen Rooker Benefits Scholarship Fund

There is much interest in the dance recital being given by Bette Sexton and Carmen Rooker Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the auditorium at the Winchester High School for the benefit of the Mothers' Association Scholarship Fund. Many dinner parties have been planned to precede the event and a very representative audience seems assured.

Miss Sexton's appearance is doubly interesting because of the fact that she is a Winchester girl and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Sexton of Wolgemere avenue. She is a graduate of the Dance Department at Bennett Junior College in Millbrook, N. Y., doing intensive post graduate work this year.

Her associate, Miss Rooker, is head of the Workshop and Laboratory of the Modern Dance at Bennett, and a dancer of note. Another member of the Bennett faculty, Margaret Gage of the Drama Department is assisting with the program reading for the interpretive dance numbers.

The recital in Winchester is the fourth in a series which Miss Sexton and Miss Rooker are giving outside the college. Standards for the dance are on a professional level at Bennett and those who plan to attend Saturday evening can look forward to a finished performance, with the added

FISHERMEN'S SERVICE

Charles E. Gleason, Vincent Farnsworth and Harris S. Richardson are the committee arranging for the annual observance of Fishermen's Sunday at the First Congregational Church on March 26 at 10:45 a. m. As usual seats will be reserved for fishermen and all who plan to attend are urged to notify any member of the committee at once.

DR. BAYARD DODGE TO SPEAK

The Winchester College Club is sponsoring the address which will be given in the public library on Tuesday evening, March 14, at 8 o'clock by Dr. Bayard Dodge. Dr. Dodge is president of two of the American colleges in the Near East and his talk will be illustrated by beautiful colored motion pictures of the campuses of the six colleges in the Near East College Association.

President Dodge is a member of the famous Dodge family which has for several generations been known for its philanthropy. He is the son of the late Cleveland H. Dodge and Mrs. Dodge, a twin brother of Cleveland E. Dodge, vice president of the Phelps Dodge Corporation. After graduating from Princeton and Union Theological Seminary, Dr. Dodge became a member of the faculty of the American University of Beirut in 1913. Ten years later he became its president, succeeding his father-in-law, Dr. Daniel Bliss, the founder and first president of the college.

Dr. Dodge is one of the most influential figures in the Near East today. Speaking French and Arabic fluently, he is able to converse with officials of European mandates and Arab states on a friendly and confidential footing. The institutions of which he is president have graduated many of our now important government officers of nearly every Arab state and have influenced educational and sociological conditions throughout the southern Near East.

Dr. Dodge is in Boston for a series of meetings sponsored by the Near East Society, an organization devoted to the promotion in America of familiarity with the Near East, its culture, life and history. The honorary committee of the Boston chapter of the Near East Society is made up of Mrs. Albert F. Bemis, Mr. Godfrey Cabot, Dr. Karl Compton, Miss Ada L. Comstock, Mrs. Robert G. Dodge, Dr. Frederick M. Eliot, Mrs. G. Malcolm Forbes, Dr. William E. Hocking, Prof. James R. Jewett, Mr. Arthur S. Johnson and Miss Mildred McAfee. Prof. G. Sedgwick Bixler is chairman of the executive committee.

Guests will be welcome.

STATE COMMANDER JOHN I. MAGUIRE VISITS LOCAL AMERICAN LEGION POST

The local Post of the American Legion has been fortunate in obtaining State Department Commander John I. Maguire as guest speaker for its next meeting to be held at the Legion Home Wednesday, March 22, at 8 p. m. Commander Maguire has had considerable experience in various affairs and is well known to any subject of interest to veterans. He is much in demand by all Legion Posts, but due to so many requests does not find time to visit many.

Commander Conrad S. Larson intends to invite all veterans known to him to attend this meeting as guests of the Post. The board of stewards has planned something new in the way of refreshments for this night. If any veteran does not receive an invitation to attend, this notice will serve as such.

All veterans are requested to reserve this night now!

ROBERT MARSHALL SYMMES

Funeral services for Robert Marshall Symmes, son of Frederick M. Symmes, will be held at 2 o'clock this Friday afternoon in Meyer Chapel of the Unitarian Church at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Symmes, a former resident of Winchester, died Tuesday, March 7, at his home, 190 Salem street, Swampscott, after a brief illness. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Adelaide Pratt Symmes; two daughters, Peggy Symmes and Louise Symmes; a son, Ralph P. Symmes of Lexington; a sister Ruth Symmes of Revere; and three grandchildren.

CLOTHES! CLOTHES! CLOTHES!

All roads lead to the En Ka Trading Post, Saturday, March 11 at the home of Mrs. Samuel Cole, 4 Woodside road.

DEMONSTRATION OF PUBLIC SCHOOL WORK

If, as a parent or tax-payer or public-spirited citizen, you are interested to know about our public schools, you have an opportunity this week to get first-hand information by attending a demonstration of public school work. Children from the elementary grades, with their teachers, will put on a program illustrating present day methods of teaching. The boys' and girls' glee clubs of the Junior High School will sing. The Winchester School Department recently proved that it is progressive by appointing a Guidance Director, whose services have already proved valuable in helping students with their individual problems. This will be an opportunity to learn about the aims and methods of this work. The meeting is held under the auspices of the Fortnightly. It is open to the public and there will be no admission fee. Parents of school children are especially welcome. The meeting will be held in Fortnightly Hall, Waterfield Building, Wednesday, March 15, at 2:30 p. m.

CHILD HIT BY CAR AT WYMAN SCHOOL

Bruce McGovern, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. McGovern of 18 Everett avenue, was struck and knocked down by an automobile in front of the Wyman School about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

According to the Police the boy ran from behind a parked car into the path of a Ford sedan, being driven north on Church street by Theodore W. Olson of 1611 Rutger street, Utica, N. Y. Olson was unable to stop his machine in time because of the slippery condition of the snow-covered road.

Patrolman Winthrop Palmer of the Police Department, who was summoned to the scene of the accident took Bruce home in Olson's car. The extent of his injuries could not immediately be determined.

MISS WULFORD SPEAKS TO LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

At the regular meeting of the Ladies' Friendly Society in the Unitarian Church, next Tuesday, March 14, the speaker will be Miss Elsie Wulford. Miss Wulford is at present living in Cambridge; but she is well known here for a long time as one of our townpeople. She has become one of the national leaders in social service adventure. In the summer as superintendent of Children's Island, Marblehead, she has been working in which those who wish to have a experience in social service compete to have a part. She will speak informally out of her experience next Tuesday and all friends are invited to hear her.

RABBI COHON TO PREACH AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH SUNDAY

Rabbi Beryl D. Cohon, of Temple Israel, Boston, will occupy the pulpit at the First Congregational Church next Sunday morning, in exchange with Dr. Charles H. Subject will be "Blind Loyalties."

Dr. John L. Lohmeyer of Winchester, will conduct the worship.

Rabbi Cohon is an unusually interesting speaker. He has recently given a series of addresses on the young people's Forum of the First Congregational Church, and has preached from the First Church pulpit.

The public is invited to hear him.

CASS ELECTED ASSISTANT TREASURER

Selectman Kingman P. Cass of 52 Yale street is receiving congratulations on his election as assistant treasurer of the Republican State Committee at their monthly meeting held March 8 at the Hotel Bellevue, Boston.

Mr. Cass succeeds Henry W. Minot of Brookline, who now becomes chairman of the executive committee. He has been active in Republican affairs for several years and since 1936 has been State Committee member from the Sixth Middlesex District, comprising Arlington, Medford, Winchester and Woburn.

FASHION SHOW AT THE WYMAN SCHOOL

On Wednesday, March 15, at 2 p. m., there will be a fashion show at the Wyman School. R. H. Stearns is providing the costumes, which will feature style for all ages from 5 to 50. Mrs. Edwin Rooney has charge of the sale of tickets. Mrs. Clifford Roberts is in charge of the models.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Ten members were absent from the meeting of March 9. It will take a lot of make-ups to convert this into an "excellent" record.

Harry Winn is in town once more unfortunately, it is bit and snatched. We expect to see him next week and hear his explanations as to how it happened. By the way, Harry's record of make-ups during his absence is "excellent."

Jim Quinn is back safe and sound from Cleveland, Ohio, where he attended a conference of educators last week.

Farker Holbrook, too, is in mood for time and we shall be missing him for a season.

Bill Hevey reports that he is in excellent health but that several of his assistants are not so fortunate. Wherefore Bill has become a long-distance operator at the well known corner. What a life! What a life! President Ralph could not make the grade today so the gavel was awarded to the competent hand of Vice President Harry.

Again we call attention to the fact that this club will sponsor another "all-Winchester" meeting on March 30, when it will entertain Rotarians residing in this town but affiliated with other clubs. We shall issue individual invitations to all such Rotarians as we can identify and would request all members to report at once to the secretary if they know of any such Rotarians.

We have recently come to live in Winchester, or may in any way have escaped the attention of the club. And we sincerely hope that any such Rotarian who may read this report will make it a point to attend this meeting whether or not he shall receive an individual invitation. Please come to the Winchester Country Club on March 30 at 6:30 p. m. where you will receive a warm welcome and have your name placed on our list of Rotarians who will receive invitations to future "all-Winchester" meetings.

Of course attendance at this meeting will serve as a make-up for absence from your own club meeting of that week.

Mr. Strickland, representing the New England Anti-Vivisection Society was guest speaker at the current meeting of our club. He presented a paper on vivisection in regard to objects of the Society and told of processes of the lower animals, particularly dogs and cats, which are used in the course of experimental research into the life of man. He pointed out that in the course of which this enterprise has been carried and it is especially revolting to be assured that a great many pet animals are lured from their homes to be subjected to various tortures which, unfortunately, are not always in the interests of science. The Society, of course, is working to correct these abuses and many of its members advocate the absolute prohibition of vivisection. In England, a system of licenses and registration has been adopted in regulation of experimental work of this sort. We understand that the New England Society is working to establish a similar system in this country.

Next week our Curtis Nash is scheduled to present a vocational talk with interesting sidelights on the practice of his profession. Remember what we have frequently stated regarding the value and attractiveness of these member talks. And we shall not be disappointed on the 16th. Be sure to come.

Percentage of attendance, March 2, 88.21 per cent.

FOUR AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

The first of four automobile accidents took place at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon when a Plymouth sedan, driven by Curtis J. Ware of 32 Woodside road skidded into a Dodge truck driven by Chester E. Nelson of 8 Park road and was plowing snow on Mt. Vernon street. At 4 o'clock an automobile driven by Florence H. Allen of 246 Blue Hill Parkway, Wilmot and George F. Osborne of 11 Clement street were in collision with a Buick coupe driven by Jeremiah Calman of 9 Alben street at the junction of Highland avenue and Mt. Vernon street. Both machines were damaged. A Ford sedan, driven by Dennis McLaughlin of 112 Arlington road, Woburn, skidded on Wildwood street at 5:50 this morning and crashed into a tree at the junction of Fletcher street, the machine being so badly damaged it had to be towed away. The driver escaped injury.

ALVIN M. LITCHFIELD

LITCHFIELD NEW SELECTMAN

Elliott and Mrs. Spaulding School Committee Members. Winn Re-elected in Close Vote

Political favorites of the past fared badly in Winchester's town election Monday when a small vote tore the form book wide open and permitted candidates new to the local arena to win election in two of the four contests on the ballot.

Only 3332 voters cast ballots on Monday, approximately 44 per cent of the 7571 registered voters in town. Close followers of town politics predicted rough going for the favorites in the event of a small vote and this prophecy proved well founded in the light of subsequent results. Few, however, excepting those with their fingers on the town's political pulse during the last few days prior to election, believed that the votes for selectman and school committee would be so decisive as they turned out, even despite the fact that the newcomers in both brackets had waged vigorous and comprehensive campaigns while the favorites had apparently at least done very little pre-election work.

While the weather undoubtedly helped to keep the vote down during the forenoon, the fact that there were but two candidates running for selectman did not help to get out a large vote. A failure to estimate correctly the strength of the winning candidate for school committee was very likely another major factor in the general pre-election apathy on the part of many voters. This year's vote was well behind the 4204 votes cast a year ago and was also behind the 1937 total of 3544.

MR. ALLEN AGAIN CHAIRMAN

Mr. James S. Allen was re-elected chairman of the school committee at an organization meeting held this week.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

The Board has requested Senator Richardson and Representative Ramsdell to oppose the House Bill 653, an act restricting appropriations of municipalities for certain purposes and providing for the distribution to municipalities of certain revenue.

Winchester has had several inquiries about what action was taken regarding early milk delivery, the latest coming from Lexington.

The last weekly pay checks for WPA workers will be received on March 24. Thereafter no payments will be made every two weeks.

The driver of the bus that has been summoned to appear in court. The bus was seen watching a truck of the street and find that except for the small delivery trucks allowed, trucking is keeping off the street.

RETIRED CHAIRMAN ENTERTAINS

After the last meeting of the Board of Selectmen the members were invited to the home of the retiring chairman, Arthur S. Harris, who had invited also the members of the previous boards with whom he had served, and also the newly elected member. The four complete boards of 1936, 1937, 1938 and 1939 were present.

There was much friendly reminiscence, bringing out many of the high lights, arguments and problems that had been solved by them during their various terms of office.

Mr. Harris was a delightful host and the evening was a fitting climax to his year as chairman of the Board.

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

The next meeting of the Better Homes Garden Club will be held on Wednesday, March 15, at 2:30 p. m., in the public library. Prof. Paul W. Dempsey of the Walden Field Station, Massachusetts State College, will speak on "Garden Posts."

The club is receiving entries for a working course in flower arrangement to be held in Winchester on the Tuesday morning of May 2, 9, 16 and 23. Mrs. Anson H. Smith of Dedham, a nationally recognized authority on the art of flower arrangement, will be the instructor. The class will be limited to 25. Inquiries should be made of Mrs. Mitchell, Win. 0672-W, or of Mrs. West, Win. 1172-W.

GET CLOSER TO YOUR NEIGHBORS!

What most men and women need in order to live a full life is to feel a definite relationship between themselves and their community. Fortunately many of our citizens already feel this relationship, but undoubtedly there are others who would welcome the opportunity of acquiring it by more active participation in civic affairs.

The Winchester Community Chest is an organization which embraces the entire town. It is a real co-operative community enterprise in which all citizens are united in a common interest. Consequently, its Fund Campaign does offer an opportunity for everyone to be part of an important and worth while activity.

The Campaign Committee is now selecting its Campaign organization, but naturally it is impossible for the members to know personally all those who would like to give their time and effort. Therefore, the committee urges these persons to volunteer their services by immediately notifying the Chairman of the Personnel Committee—Mr. John B. Kenerson, 20 Chesterford Road, Tel. Win. 1556.

Active participation in this Community Fund Campaign should not only satisfy the sense of civic responsibility of individuals, but at the same time should bring to them a feeling of pride of achievement and the joy of genuine contentment. Let us all try to get a little closer to our neighbors for awhile.

WINCHESTER HOST TO CLERICAL ASSOCIATION

Monday, March 6, the clerical association of the diocese of Massachusetts met in Winchester for its monthly conference at the Church of the Epiphany. The association has no fixed place of meeting, but comes at the invitation of the parishes that have space and equipment adequate to entertain the number who usually are present. At the invitation of the rector, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, Winchester was appointed for the March meeting.

At 12:30 luncheon was served to the visiting clergy by the Ways and Means Committee, of which Mrs. William Martens is chairman. Assisting her were Mrs. Arthur Allan, Mrs. John Bodman, Mrs. Francis Booth, Mrs. Francis Bowes, Mrs. James Cleaves, Mrs. Arthur Farrell, Mrs. Robert Hart, Mrs. Gerald Hills, Mrs. John Nichols, Mrs. Clarence Perkins, Mrs. Paul Roberts, Mrs. Henry Sawyer and Mrs. S. Walter Taylor.

To the eyes of yesterday, before road-builders and motor-builders had given us a new earth, when each mile between his rectory and his nearest neighbor's had to be jogged over by a clergyman's steady-going horse, such a frequent meeting with other clergymen would have seemed a help that could only be dreamed of. Then real miles stretched between Amesbury and Fair Haven. To many bishops still, whose dioceses are vast and where many a parish and mission still can be reached only by roads that are at the mercy of the weather, such frequent drawing together of his clergy is still impossible. The bishops of Massachusetts have been quick to use the new resources that an age of miraculous mechanism has given into their hands, and this regular and frequent voluntary conference of the clergy is an example of such a response. In spite of fog and slippery surfaced roads, about 70 priests of the diocese were present at the Winchester meeting.

WILL HOLD SALE AT RICHMOND HOME

In a crowded refugee section of Athens, Greece, the Near East Industries has created a satisfactory aid to the livelihood of broken families. Many hundreds of Christian women, exiled from Asia Minor, reproduce ancient patterns of modern articles. These will be offered for sale at the home of Mrs. Harold B. Richmond, 30 Swan road, on Friday, March 17, from 10:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The Industries is a project of the Near East Foundation and is leading in creating better relations between women and employers. Women are paid at a rate per day which will enable them to live in their own homes and care for one or two dependents, children or aged. The rate has been estimated by a group of people making a study of the time required and a comparable wage fixed.

Altogether some 200 designs are used in the articles which come to America from the Near East Industries. Among them are: wall panels, luncheon sets of raw silk, table runners—sizes 22 to 54 inches, covers, bags with carved wooden handles, purses, bridge table covers, bridge sets, handkerchiefs, kimonos, bibs, costume dolls, paper knives, Hymettus honey packed in attractive jars of Kutahia pottery. Prices are so very moderate that one may acquire a beautiful piece of embroidery and at the same time share in a practical philanthropy.

Sponsoring the sale is a group of Winchester ladies including Mrs. Harold P. Meyer, Mrs. W. E. Kingsley, Mrs. Frederick E. Ritchie, Mrs. Fred N. Stephens and Mrs. J. Herbert Wait. These ladies will aid Mrs. Richmond. Every one is invited to attend the sale.

FLORENCE CRITTENDON SEWING MEETING

Members of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittendon League who are interested in sewing are planning to meet Thursday, March 16, at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Burnham, 33 Everett avenue. All members are urged to come, bring a box lunch and help with the sewing.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

One phase of nursing which has been brought to the attention of the board of the Winchester District Nursing Association held the educational committee is that which comes under the prepayment plan. It is a comparatively new idea and has as yet been practised in but few communities, but the possibility of its becoming general seems more than possible.

The idea being that not only will the prepayment of groups toward medical and hospital care be possible but toward nursing care in the home as well. Public Health nurses have long realized that there is need in almost every community for nursing service to those able to pay a small fee.

Those who have given most attention to this problem believe that any prepayment plan for nursing should be part of a larger project which includes hospitalization or medical care because otherwise the volume of payments will not be sufficiently large to make the plan practical.

The visiting nurses of San Diego, Calif., have been giving this service on a cost basis for nearly a year. Their director reports that the number of visits allowed to any type of case is based somewhat on the plan of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. However, the beneficial Society allows extra visits in any case where the nurse considers it necessary.

This subject was presented by the educational committee to the board at their last meeting held last Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Ben Schneider on Winthrop street. The meeting was attended by the following 17 members: Mesdames Parkhurst, Pearson, Greiner, Slocum, Elliott, Schneider, McDevitt, Spencer, Pond, Nichols, Young, Clark, Kugler, Jope, Dyer, Shoemaker, Taylor, Mrs. Gormley reported for the month of February.

Founder of Osteopathy
Andrew Taylor Still, founder of osteopathy, was born near Jonesboro, Va., in 1828. He farmed in Missouri, studied medicine at Kansas City and saw service in the Civil war. In 1864, when three of his children died of spinal meningitis, he devised the treatment known as osteopathy and practiced as an itinerant physician for some years. He settled in Kirksville, Mo., in 1877, and developed a large practice. Five years later he opened the American School of Osteopathy there. He died in 1917.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

The Winchester Art Association is giving a tea on Sunday afternoon, March 12, in the Library Art Gallery from 4 until 6 o'clock, for the opening of the current exhibition of oils and water colors by Charles H. Woodbury. A. J. Philpott, art critic of the Boston Globe, will speak shortly after 4 o'clock on Mr. Woodbury's work and other art matters of general interest. Mr. Philpott is highly regarded as a critic and his address should prove well worth hearing.

The date for entering subjects for the exhibition of local talent has been changed to Tuesday, March 21, during the regular library hours, 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. The entries will be judged Wednesday and the tea for the opening of the exhibition will be given on Sunday, April 2.

At this time the Association will also sponsor a "Nut Show," which all members are urged to enter and in which any sort of art work may be entered. This show will not be in the library gallery, but in the basement of the library and already is occasioning much interest.

The annual meeting of the Association is set for Tuesday evening, April 14, and the speaker for that important occasion is to be Arthur Field, said to have been removed from the Harvard faculty for his opinions on the art of Walt Disney, creator of Mickey Mouse and Snow White.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

"Missions," an international Baptist magazine, has a department called "The Great Delusion." In the January number the article is called:

The Deluded Prize Fighter

Sincerely hoping that the liquor traffic might be reformed from within through the appointment of some directive, authoritative head, some "strong man" with powers similar to those of Judge Landis in baseball and Will Hays in the motion picture industry, Gene Tunney, noted prize fighter champion, and vice-chairman of a distilling company persuaded his company to become a member of the Distilled Spirits Institute.

Disappointed over its failure to do what he had supposed was its purpose, he resigned. In his letter published in The New York Sun, he wrote:

After six months' study I have become convinced that no help or co-operation toward self-discipline or regulation of the distilling industry can be expected from the institute. It definitely is more of a protective society than an institution for the elevation and betterment of the industry. It is without social consciousness or soul. For the present we will co-operate wherever possible with federal and state agencies for much-needed further regulation, continuing to hope that the institute eventually will have a new birth of light, freedom and action.

In all its history of thousands of years, when did the liquor traffic ever of its own accord recognize the need of further regulations or show any evidence of a new birth of light, freedom and action?

There will be a meeting on March 17 at 2:30 p. m., at Mrs. Ida Belchior's home, 22 Governor's avenue. The speaker will be Mrs. May L. Burnes of Woburn, vice president at large in Massachusetts and state chairman of the Frances E. Willard Centenary Fund of $1,000,000.

The Massachusetts quota is $24,000. More than $600,000 has been raised, and it is being used to instruct teachers in alcohol education, and for highway signs (4,000), posters, motion pictures, lectures, Willard books and special literature, and a research library. We are hoping to complete this fund this year in September.

DeMOLAY TO PRESENT PLAY

On March 11, tomorrow night, Middlesex Chapter, Order of DeMolay will present that well-known Broadway hit "The Bad Man" in the Town Hall.

Middlesex Chapter is a member of the Grand Council, Order of DeMolay and embraces the towns of Reading, Stoneham, Woburn and Winchester. It should be of special interest to Winchester residents to know that "Happy" Bowler, a Winchester youth, is the present Master Councilor of Middlesex DeMolay.

"The Bad Man" will first be presented tonight in Security Hall, Reading.

The leading role will be very capably filled by Philip Sears of Reading, while Ross Whynot and Clifford MacDonald of Boston have two of the important parts of the play. Winchester residents should make it a point to see this play as it should prove to be very enjoyable, and because DeMolay is worthy of, and deserves support.

MT. HOLYOKE QUIZ

On Wednesday evening, March 15, the Mt. Holyoke Club of Boston is presenting a "Super Quiz" program at the Simmons College Auditorium, 300 Fenway, proceeds of which will be used for the student aid fund of the club. Dr. Roswell Gray Ham, president of Mt. Holyoke College, will act as one of the nine "experts" who have been invited to answer questions submitted by club members and friends. Questions should be sent in advance to Miss Louie Bray, 37 Concord avenue, Cambridge. There will be rewards for all questions accepted for use and special awards for questions which the experts are unable to answer. Mrs. James S. Allen of 333 Highland avenue is serving on the committee.

QUEEN OF DOLLS VISITS WINCHESTER

Rosabelle, Queen of the United States dolls, is in Winchester! This charming little lady, bedecked with pearls and wearing a white satin gown with fur trimmed court train, arrived in Boston by airplane from her home in Ogden, Utah, in time to celebrate her ninth birthday, March 3, with the Doll Collectors of America, the president of which is Mrs. Earle E. Andrews of this town.

Since her arrival in Boston Rosabelle has been stopping at the Harrison Gray Otis House where she has had for companions two royal dolls from Mrs. Andrews' collection, replicas of King George of England in Scottish costume, and Princess Elizabeth.

Rosabelle, her full name is Queen Rosabelle Pingree, has come out to Winchester to be guest of honor at the Preservation of Antiques lecture in Fortnightly Hall this Friday afternoon. Boys and girls and all others interested are invited to meet her at the close of the meeting about 4:30 o'clock.

Queen Rosabelle's guardian is Miss Cleo Pierce, teacher and librarian of the Pingree School in Ogden, Utah, where Her Royal Highness lives in the school library. Miss Pierce bought her at the Doll House in Portland, Ore., intending to call her Kate Greenaway to keep that name fresh in the minds of the schoolchildren.

For three years the doll stood on the library shelf until a little boy discovered that she was watching the children, the good ones and the bad ones, through the day, and talking things over with the fairies at night, telling them to bring good dreams to the good children and bad dreams to the naughty ones.

From that time Rosabelle became enshrined in the affections of the youngsters who arrange elaborate birthday parties in her honor and pay homage to her in other ways. The Doll Queen has travelled more than 10,000 miles by airplane, and has a wardrobe trunk that holds 50 dresses made for her by Marshall Field in Chicago. Some of these dresses she brought with her to Boston and Winchester.

Her chief ambition is to help the boys and girls in the Pingree School and in other schools she visits throughout the country to understand folklore and legends. With her to Boston came a letter from Mayor Perry of Ogden with the seal and keys of the city, and another letter from the Ogden Chamber of Commerce. These were shown at Fortnightly Hall today, with two dolls sent by the Pingree school children to the Doll Collectors for their museum collection at Westfield. One of these dolls is a replica of a pioneer woman, "Aunt Susan" and the other, an Indian doll, "Fallen Leaf," made by Ivy Bird of Ogden. The Pingree children also sent with their queen a copper bowl made of Utah copper and filled with wishing stones from Wishing Beach, where it is said there is a lucky stone for every boy and girl in the world.

Queen Rosabelle's birthday which she celebrated in Boston was her ninth. She has thrice been crowned Queen of Dolls in America, once at Anaheim, Calif., once at Cedar City, Utah, and the third time at a special party originated by "Loon" Magazine. Mrs. Andrews is acting as the distinguished doll's host while she is in the east and hopes that all the children of the town will see Her Royal Highness while she is in Winchester.

Etching Defined

Etching is the producing of original pictures by drawing on a copper plate covered with an acid-resisting ground, allowing the drawing, whose lines have bared the copper, to be eaten into the plate by immersion in an acid bath; rubbing a stiff ink into the sunken lines and then taking from this, by means of an etching press, a limited number of proofs.

Troop 1

A contest between the stag, bear and flaming arrow patrols was finally won, after a two month competition, by the bear patrol. This patrol will leave Winchester Friday, March 17, on a three day hike to Camp Lane. This patrol, under the leadership of Michael Saraco and Rocco DeTe-so, went on a three day hike last January, which turned out successfully. This patrol was started recently by Michael Saraco and Rocco DeTe-so.

The following boys are members: Patrol leader, Rocco DeTe-so; assistant patrol leader, Michael Saraco; Scribe, James Miciaccio; Bugler, George Wilson; Robert Saunders, Michael Gambino, Buddy Carson.

Troop 7 met at the usual hour last Monday night. Bugler Ralph Swanson sounded the call to fall in at 7 P. m. sharp.

There were 22 boys, four officers and three committeemen present. All were in uniform excepting three boys and one officer. Richard Willis passed first aid; Addison Augusta, first aid and Gerald Buckley completed his tenderfoot requirements.

Troop 2
Troop 2 is glad to announce its annual dance which will be held on April 28. Bill Partridge's orchestra is expected to supply the music. The following committee is working to make this dance the big success it has been in past years: John Spaulding, Arnold Smith, Bob Harris, Jim Whittemore and Bill Wilde.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Dramatics Afternoon

A three act play entitled "Artichokes for Dinner" will be presented by the Dramatics Group under the direction of Mrs. Fred B. Chamberlain, at the regular meeting on Monday, March 13, at 8 o'clock. The cast includes Alice LaRose, Ruth Palmer, Dorothy Willis, Helen Allan, Christine Clarke, Lillian Palmer, Helen Reasoner and Muriel Barnes.

The Music Committee will sponsor a food sale, immediately preceding the meeting, to augment the Glee Club Fund. Many luscious goodies are promised, so come early and get the best.

Afterthoughts
The spring bridge was a distinct success—the weather was perfect, the hall gaily attractive, and the beautifully gowned club members presented the perfect fashion show as they wandered from table to table to compare notes.

The beautiful green blanket went to Irene Lane, the lace table cloth to Sue Maw, and the door prize, a choice package of Salada tea, was won by Lillian Wansker.

A great vote of appreciation is due those grand members who worked so hard to help your press chairman put over so successful a party in spite of the many conflicting parties held on the same date.

Education Day

A unique program is planned for next Wednesday afternoon, when children from the public schools, with their teachers, will give a demonstration of present day teaching methods. Music will be furnished by the boys' and girls' glee clubs of the Junior High School. There will be a presentation of the work of the new guidance director, whose services have already proved valuable in helping students. The meeting will be of interest to all club members, especially parents of school children. Invite your friends who have children in the schools. The meeting is open to the public. There is no admission fee. Fortnightly Hall, Wednesday, March 15, at 2:30 p. m.

Preservation of Antiques—"History of Women's Clothes"

This afternoon at 2:30 p. m. Fortnightly Hall, Mrs. Margaret DeWolf Lewis of Milford will present her "History of Women's Clothes" illustrated by Doll Models. This meeting the last of the season is open to the general public.

Tea will be served and the powers will be Mrs. Paul Howard, Mrs. Harriet Nutting, Mrs. Gordon Mann and Mrs. Walter Gleason.

Hostesses in costume include Mrs. Roland Carter, Mrs. William Wightman, Mrs. E. Adele Emery, Mrs. J. P. Willis, Mrs. James Harris, Misses Louise and Eleanor Baneroff and the chairman, Mrs. Earle E. Andrews.

Rosebelle the Queen of Dolls from Utah who flew from Ogden arriving in Boston on March 1 to celebrate her ninth birthday will be the guest of honor of the Antiques Group.

Mrs. Andrews is her hostess while she is in the East.

WINCHESTER ATTORNEY WILL SPEAK ON THE BIBLE

Sunday, March 12, at 5 o'clock, the Young People's Fellowship of the Church of the Epiphany will honor a fellow townsman, Mr. William Boggs, speaker of "The Bible." They will come with special interest because the speaker is a layman whose training and everyday occupation, in the practice of law, lie in a field that is supposed to tend to a critical, even skeptical and certainly realistic habit of mind.

What is this library of little books that a busy man of the present should still pay heed to them and talk with youth about them? Why should the Bible be still the best-seller of all books? What in it makes it able to march steadfastly through changing ages? What simplicity makes it translatable into the limited vocabularies of primitive peoples; and what richness and profundity tax the powers of scholars and the resources of the great English tongue to give it new and truer renderings in our own day? What unchanging, inarticulate cry in the heart of humanity does it answer that men read it by veldt camps and in palace, in remote tranquillity and within sound of the great guns?

The hearers who will listen to Mr. Boggs with most interest will be those who have thought out their own answers before they come to hear his about this book that remains a challenging fact in our modern world.

WAS FORMER RESIDENT OF WINCHESTER

Funeral services for Patrick J. Murphy, a former well known resident of this town and brother of William Murphy of this town, were held Saturday morning in South Boston. He died in South Boston Wednesday, March 8, at the age of 70 years.

Mr. Murphy served 30 years in the United States Cavalry, retiring in 1912. At the outbreak of the World War he re-enlisted and was put in command of the recruiting office in Lawrence, being discharged at the conclusion of the war with the rank of Second Lieutenant. He was employed in the Boston Custom House for 20 years.

Surviving, besides his brother in Winchester, are his wife, a daughter, Patricia, and another brother, Edward Murphy, living in Medford.

THE END OF AN INTERESTING SERIES

Friday, March 17, will bring to an end the series of contemporary plays which the Tuesday Luncheon Group has sponsored at the parish house of the Epiphany. The play will be a gay one, well befitting the date, St. Patrick's Day, and the merry tone which we have come to associate with shamrock and harp and the wearin' o' the green. It will be "Robert's Wife" a comedy that is one of the season's London successes. In this the sponsors are doing a little more than they promised. They had assured Winchester that it would hear the new Broadway plays; in "Robert's Wife" they are preceding Broadway. So Winchester lovers of drama will have a chance to make up their minds about this play without benefit of the oldest or the youngest of the critics.

For this one reading, Mrs. Phyllis Thaxter, whose series in 1938 was very popular, will return.

After the play, tea will be served by the Symmes Corner Group. It will be in charge of Mrs. Gerald Hills, Mrs. Frederick Abbott, Mrs. Frank Booth, Mrs. Einar W. Bratt, Mrs. John Hopkins, Mrs. Laurie C. Pratt, Mrs. Fred Stratton, Mrs. Clifford Townner, Mrs. C. A. Underwood and Mrs. Lloyd Wallis. Mrs. Percy Gleason will pour.

The largest audience of the season heard Mrs. David Graham in the last of her presentations, "Rocket to the Moon," March 3. The play is an example of contemporary realism in the type of dialogue and the types of human nature. Much must be perceived and felt between the lines, through the wrappings of self deception and slender self-knowledge on the part of frustrate, bankrupt, inconclusive people. But in Mrs. Graham's art they came to life, tangled, bungling, defeated, hurting each other, and yet pitiful and within the bonds of our sympathy.

VAUDEVILLE SHOW

Plans are now underway for the "Vau-Devil Show" to be presented in the high school auditorium on Friday, March 24. The Athletic Association sponsors this annual affair and it never fails to furnish the people of Winchester with an evening of unforgettable entertainment.

This year's "Vau-Devil" promises to be bigger and better than ever, with many new and novel acts in addition to some of the favorites of last year's show. Faculty supervision is in the capable hands of Miss Young, Mr. Lauer and Mr. Hayward. Arrangements are being made to engage a professional group of musicians to accompany the acts and provide a musical background for the show. Tryouts were held a few days ago and rehearsals will get underway this coming week.

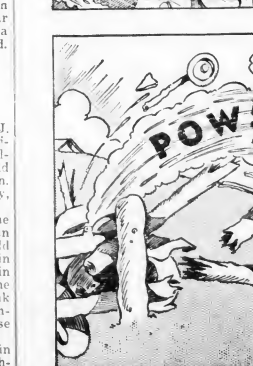

May we suggest that you set aside this date, March 24, and plan to spend an enjoyable evening at the "Vau-Devil Show."

MT. HOLYOKE ASSOCIATION MEET

The annual spring meeting of the Winchester Mt. Holyoke Association came early this year. The group met on Friday afternoon, March 3, at the home of Mrs. Walden Hersey of Woodside road to take advantage of the visit of Miss Harriet Newhall to this vicinity. Miss Newhall secretary to the board of admission at Mt. Holyoke spoke briefly to supplement her colored moving pictures of campus activities.

Mrs. Adia B. Bailey, president of the Association led the business meeting which preceded the pictures. Members of the group were able to meet the speaker around the tea table at the end of the afternoon for college news and reminiscences. Mrs. Ilazen H. Ayer had charge of tea arrangements, while Mrs. James Allen and Mrs. Charles Greene assisted at the tea and coffee urns.

RT. REV. S. H. LITTELL

TO PREACH AT EPIPHANY CHURCH

The Rt. Rev. S. Harrington Littell, Bishop of Honolulu, will preach Sunday, March 12 at 11 a. m. in the Church of the Epiphany. A southerner by birth, Bishop Littell has been at work in the mid-Pacific islands for nine years; before that, 1898-1929, he was a missionary in the district of Hankow, China, since his ordination to the ministry as a young man.

Bishop Littell has close affiliations with Massachusetts which he has often visited, having relatives here and winning many friends through his magnetic, enthusiastic personality. His visit will extend only over Sunday, March 12. Bishop Littell has always been one of the best missionary speakers and workers of the Episcopal Church.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Spring Scouting Events

A meeting of the Winchester Council was held at the home of the Commissioner, Mrs. Harold arnsworth. March 12-18 will be the twenty-seventh birthday of Girl Scouting and will be celebrated throughout the country.

On March 28 the Melrose Council is holding a training conference; Mrs. Leslie Glenn will be the speaker. Winchester women interested in scouting are cordially invited and are suggested that two committee members and Brownie Leaders would be especially interested in this meeting.

The annual Regional Conference of Region 1, the New England Region, will be held this year at Springfield, May 4, 5, 6. The main subject under discussion this year will be "Evaluation of the New Program." On May 20 in the Boston Garden a Scoutmaster will be presented by Girl Scouts under the direction of the State organization. Tickets for Scouts will be 25c.

MARRIED 50 YEARS
Stoneham Couple Parents of Former Selectman Fallon

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Fallon of 303 Park street, Stoneham, well known to many residents of Winchester as the parents of former Selectman Thomas F. Fallon of this town, quietly observed their golden wedding anniversary last Saturday evening at their home. Plans for a more elaborate celebration were cancelled because of the recent death of their son's wife, Mrs. Katherine Fallon. Their six children and eight grandchildren joined them in an informal observance during one day and were present for the anniversary dinner, at which the family gifts were presented.

The Fallons are among Stoneham's best-known older families. As a successor to his father, who operated the Fallon Milk Farm for 70 years, Mr. Fallon, with the help of his wife and sons, has carried on the business and its history under Fallon operation spans more than a century. The farm stands today as one of Stoneham's landmarks.

Mr. Fallon is a native of Winchester. His wife, who was Nora O'Connor, came to Stoneham from Ireland as a young girl. They were married at St. Mary's Church, Winchester, by Rev. Fr. O'Brien, March 3, 1889.

Mr. Fallon is a member of St. Patrick's Holy Name Society, the St. Patrick's Men's Club and Winchester Court, M. C. O. F. Mrs. Fallon is the third oldest member of the Catholic Women's Club, the A. O. H. Auxiliary and Winchester Court, M. C. O. F. Despite their ages of 72 and 73, respectively, they are still hale and hearty. Mr. Fallon still works with his sons around the farm, while Mrs. Fallon attends to many household duties.

THE DARTMOUTH WOMEN'S CLUB, INC.

It seems that some provision should be made in our limited town meeting act for those whom a majority of the town would like to see town meeting members, but who, for one reason or another can not get themselves elected in their respective precincts. There has been a tendency, perhaps entirely innocent, to make up "slates" of precinct members, and while independent candidates have occasionally succeeded in getting elected, as a general thing the group designated by the precinct leaders is most likely to be chosen. We have no quarrel with those who spend hours inducing apathetic citizens to stand for election as precinct members. They deserve a large vote of thanks! On the other hand, the town occasionally loses a valuable town meeting member through his failure to be included on the "slate" for his precinct. We are thinking specifically this year of Mr. Laraway, who had changed his residence from Precinct three to five, and who failed to be elected in the latter precinct. A town meeting without "Joe" would be like a clam chowder without clams—pretty flat! Why couldn't there be town meeting members at large sent or so, that every one could vote for? Ten more votes would do no harm and such procedure would give those interested in town affairs who aren't included on precinct "slates" an opportunity to run for town meeting member with a much better chance of election!

What is one to read in the returns from the town election on Monday? For one thing that the day seems past in Winchester when long residence, wide acquaintance and familiarity with town affairs through years of service can prevail in the face of aggressive campaigns waged in behalf of candidates little known, to start with, but who are willing to meet and ingratiate themselves with citizens for their sake. Winchester has changed not a little in the past ten, yes even five years. Many new faces are seen on the streets daily. Old names and family prestige do not mean as much as they did twenty years ago. Then what took place Monday could not have happened! We cast no reflection upon the successful candidates. We have felt from the start the current election that whoever was elected, the town would not be the loser. We do say, however, that those who want town office from now on must be willing to sell themselves to an electorate, among the members of which are many who know one candidate as little as another and who have to be shown! Those who persuade a candidate to run for office should and must be just as eager to ensure his election as they were to get him to run. The day is past in Winchester when a simple announcement of one's candidacy can mean election! There are too many recent examples to town meetings of which we know. Those who contended that increasing the term of Selectmen from one to three years would eliminate petty politics surely cannot prove it by the election this year. Not for some time has there been more maneuvering and pressure brought to bear, more political trading, than was the case in the recent campaign. Things did not turn out just as they were intended to, but then, even the laid plans often come a cropper, and usually when they do an innocent party is left holding the well known satchel. One thing was noticeable in the campaign in Winchester. The candidates, without exception, conducted their campaigns in a gentlemanly, dignified manner. Winners and losers and the community are to be congratulated for that. There should have been more contests on the long ballot and many more candidates for office. Hot battles for election are a sign of a healthy interest in municipal affairs, such as has always been and is in Winchester. The size of Monday's vote is sufficient indication that the electorate was not especially interested. This is unfortunate and in the long run cannot help being detrimental to the town and its government.

WHAT WINCHESTER'S PARK DEPARTMENT HAS ACCOMPLISHED

To the Editor of the Star:

The present playground and recreational system as it is now being carried on in Winchester is the result of many years of painstaking work and study under our Park Commissioners. This growth has been on a gradual one. Changes and additions were made from year to year so that the average person has no realization of the time, thought and careful planning that have brought this smooth functioning system into being. Many disappointments and many set backs have occurred during these years but nothing was big enough to cause the members of the Park Department and those who believed in them to deviate from their goal—that of having in Winchester as fine a system of Parks, Playgrounds and Recreational facilities as could be found in any town comparable to Winchester in size.

Let us go back over the years and see how this gradual growth has taken place, see how each year something new was added (always with the improvement of the system in mind). Its growth can be compared to the construction of a beautiful building: the foundation, that of acquiring land; the framework, that of improving this land, making it usable; the rough finish, that of equipping the land with rudimentary recreational facilities; the final finishing, perfecting this equipment so that our children are provided with the finest play opportunities for supervised play that can be found in any town of our size. And this was not brought about in a year, or two years nor even five years. Its inception goes back to the year 1893.

The Winchester Park Board was first organized on Nov. 21, 1893. Its first members were Messrs. F. C. Manchester, D. N. Skillings and Louis Goddard with Mr. Manchester as its first chairman. Work of the first years was mostly in the interest of acquiring the area of Manchester Field and the creating of this into a playground. Many of the leading citizens of the town have served on the board since its organization.

While Manchester Field was the only playground maintained by the town up until 1914, we now have four large playgrounds. Proceeding from this point, it is my purpose to go back over the years and briefly review the steps that have brought into being the system as it is now carried on. In 1910 Manchester Field and a small area near the Chapin School were equipped with swings, etc., and supervisors provided. In 1920 it was recommended that land owned by the town on Palmer street also be put in use as a playground and the area on Wedge Pond Road, used for a bathing beach, and the Park Board had as members during this year two of our present board, Mr. George T. Davidson and Mr. Frederick C. Alexander.

Nineteen twenty-one saw the dedication of the Washington street playground to Augustus M. Leonard, a World War hero, and this playground has since been called "Leonard Field." This playground was graded and put into condition as a playing field, Leonard Field and Manchester Field were maintained as playgrounds, and supervisors were in attendance during the summer. Nothing was done at this time about Palmer street.

Nineteen twenty-two saw the construction of a small beach at Palmer street and the laying out of tennis courts. It was during this year that Mr. Wadsworth became chairman of the Park Board, and from that year to the present this Board has worked as a unit always with the interests of the town and of the children of the town uppermost in its mind.

Nineteen twenty-three saw the opening of the Palmer street playground. Four double tennis courts were constructed and immediately became a mecca of tennis enthusiasts. Manchester Field was no longer maintained as a summer playground and its equipment was moved to Palmer street and Leonard Field. The instructions carried their work at these fields. The bathing beach at Palmer street was also proving very popular at this time. During this year the demand for a playground in the south end of the town was making itself felt.

Two new tennis courts were constructed at Leonard Field in 1924 and the Park Board recommended that some sort of shelter be obtained for Palmer street beach. In 1925 this was accomplished. A new building was moved from the Westman School to Palmer street. Land was also acquired during this year on Loring avenue to be subsequently known as the Loring avenue playground. During the years 1926, 1927 and 1928 improvements were made at all three fields. Loring avenue was developed, new tennis courts were added at Leonard Field and Palmer street, and tennis was fast becoming one of the most popular sports in the town. During the winter a skating rink was maintained at Palmer street.

In 1929 three tennis courts were constructed on Loring avenue making a total of 12 ideal tennis courts provided by the town on the three playgrounds. At this time the board felt that there was a distinct need for a playground for the young children of the town and it was their expressed hope that it would not be long before Ginn Field could be graded and provided with tennis courts. Not until the Park Board sought the need for safeguarding the children's winter activities. During this year they obtained an act of legislature to control winter and winter sports on ice on estates during through the ice, etc., and thereby protecting skaters.

In the years 1930, 1931 and 1932 the work was carried on as usual with baseball and tennis the most popular summer sports. Nineteen thirty-three saw the completion of a bench at Leonard Field. Swimming and life saving classes were now carried on at both beaches. Without a doubt there are countless children in our town, who because of the maintenance of these beaches have been given an opportunity to learn to swim and to earn life saving badges. Improvements were also made on the playing fields. Two new tennis courts were completed at Palmer street, a field house was erected at Leonard Field and a practice court constructed at Loring avenue. A supervisor and two assistants were now directing the activities on the playgrounds and the bath house was also provided with supervision.

A distinctive service always

Nineteen thirty-four saw the erecting of two more courts at Palmer street and the construction of three permanent asphalt courts at Leonard Field. There was an improvement to see whether players would avail themselves of the opportunity to use these courts whenever the weather permitted. And here too the foresight of the Park Board has been proven for people can be seen playing here as soon as the weather is warm enough in the spring and late in the fall months.

In 1935, 1936, 1937 and 1938 many changes were made always with the improvement of the system in mind. Tennis courts were perfected, baseball diamonds rebuilt, uniforms were provided for the playground baseball teams through the kindness of a different and put in place as a playground. It was likewise recommended that land owned by the town on Palmer street also be put in use as a playground and the area on Wedge Pond Road, used for a bathing beach, and the Park Board had as members during this year two of our present board, Mr. George T. Davidson and Mr. Frederick C. Alexander.

It has been my purpose in this paper to show that this system was not the result of any unproved, untried project but each addition and each improvement was made as the need was felt, and this slow but sure growth has been carried on over a period of 20 years. Money has been appropriated and spent wisely, and it seems to me that we should all think very carefully before making any radical change in our playground and recreational plans.

The town and the people of our town owe a great debt of gratitude and loyalty to our present Park Board, Mr. Davidson, Mr. Packard and Mr. Alexander, who for so long have given unstintingly of their time and energy to the development of our present Park, Playground and Recreational system. We owe ourselves and our children have all benefited because of their foresight. What we have here in Winchester is the result of their planning—with our interests always in mind—not theirs. They receive no compensation, just the satisfaction of knowing that theirs was a job well done, altruistic and gratuitous.

REGRETS MR. LARAWAY'S DEFEAT

To the Editor of the Star:

I assure you, Mr. Editor, that your humble servant was very sorry to learn that the voters of Precinct 5 defeated the Honorable Jonas A. Laraway, ex-chairman of the Honorable Board of Selectmen. Mr. Laraway represented Precinct 3 as a Town Meeting Member for a number of years and his defeat is to my mind, so to speak, the spark plug of our annual town meetings. For more than a quarter of a century he seldom was absent. He participated in the activities of our town meetings when Winchester had kerosene lamps instead of electric lights.

Thanks to our new form of procedure Mr. Laraway will be able to participate in the activities of our annual town meeting to a certain extent.

I certainly was amazed when I learned that the voters of Precinct 5 procrastinated.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell

Boiled Prisoners to Death
Punishment was once used by boiling prisoners to death both in England and on the continent. The "Chronicles of the Grey Friars" (1852) have an account of boiling for poisoning at Smithfield in the year 1522, the man being fastened to a chain and lowered into boiling water several times until he died.

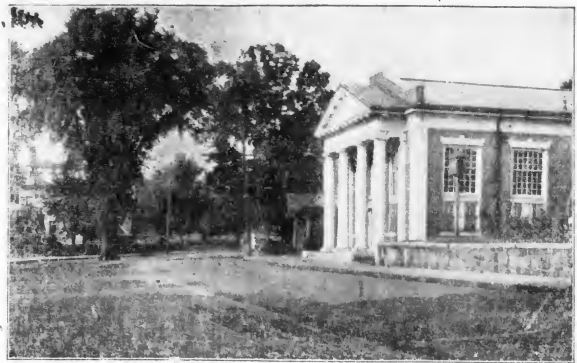

The preamble of the statute of Henry VIII (which made poisoning treason) in 1531, recites that one Richard Roose, a cook, by putting poison in food intended for the household of the bishop of Rochester, and for the poor of the parish of Lambeth, killed a man and woman. He was sentenced for treason and publicly boiled. In 1547 the act was repealed.

Lightning Through Openings
There is no scientific knowledge to support the general belief that lightning strikes buildings usually comes in through open doors and windows. Stimpson's Nuggets of Knowledge says that lightning might have a tendency to follow a draft only when the air stream is filled with smoke or vapor, thus creating a better conductor of electricity than the surrounding atmosphere. Electricity generated in the clouds follows the line of least resistance to the earth and would not turn from its normal course to run horizontally merely because a door or window was open.

Early Use of False Teeth
The use of false teeth dates from the Eighteenth century.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

A public debate between two Sophomore College English divisions at Winchester High School will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 in the school auditorium. The subject is: "Resolved: a municipal swimming pool should be installed in Winchester by mutual agreement." Affirmative debaters include Leila Jane Smith, Lane McGovern, Mary Bagdoyan and Brock Lynch. Barbara Regan, James Grimes, Joan Pentz and Daniel Root will argue for the negative. Mr. Raymond V. Hayward is the faculty member in charge.

The junior team won the girls' interclass basketball tournament at Winchester High School with an undefeated, untied record. The undefeated team won three wins in six status, the sophomores were third and the freshmen, fourth. The sole remaining basketball game to be played is the first and second team contest which is always interesting.

Winchester High School students are at present collecting pencil stubs for veterans in the Veterans' Home at New Bedford as a Red Cross project. The last school project was the collection of complete decks of cards.

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ throughout the world, on Sunday, March 12.

The Golden Text is: "Honour the Lord with thy substance and with the firstfruits of all thine increase." (Proverbs 3:9).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh in us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory; while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen; for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal" (II Corinthians 4:17, 18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Being is holiness, harmony, immortality. It is already proved that a knowledge of this, even in small degree, will uplift the obedient and moral standard of mortals, will increase longevity, will purify and elevate character. Thus progress will finally destroy all error, and bring immortality to light" (p. 492).

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB
The Ski Club enjoyed a perfect week-end at Intervale, Jackson, N. H., Monday and Pinkham Notch last Saturday and Sunday, making their headquarters at the Headlark at Intervale. Some members arrived early enough Saturday to ski most of the afternoon on the Cranmore Mountain with the new Skimobile. In the evening, the beautiful corn snow of the afternoon had frozen up but this did not prevent many from using the lighted slopes across the road from the Headlark to the lighted slopes at the Intervale tramway.

Sunday morning broke warm and cloudy, a perfect day for excellent skiing on corn snow without glare. Most of the crowd spent the day at the tramway at Intervale, some tried the Skimobile at the Eastern Slope sSki School which is under the personal direction of Hannes Schneider and some went to Pinkham Notch to ski.

The snow train arrived at noon Sunday and brought Edward Scully and Palmer Worthen of the Club, who could not get up for the whole week-end. Other Winchester skiers on the train were Charles Howe, Bronson Garner, Ted Yale, Viola Rennett, Richard Barnard and Janet Smith. The group reported a very fine afternoon of skiing at Whitney's in Jackson.

The whole week-end had something to do with apple pie and hot pudding.

At the Club meeting at the home of the Marshall Phils last Monday night, Harry G. Pollard, president of the Black and Blue Trail Smashers of Lowell and section chief for this club have been invited to spend the coming week-end at the lodge of the Black and Blue Trail Busters in New Hampton, N. H. The expense is very nominal and those wanting to go may contact Louise or Ted Elliott at Intervale 2144 before 3 p.m. today.

There will be a meeting of the club on Monday night, March 20 at 7:30 at Dick Harlow's, 71 Yale street or less elsewhere notified. Plans for the annual meeting in April will be discussed among other things.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR FOR THE GOOD OF THE WORLD

A rare treat is planned for the meeting of the Winchester Chapter, Guild of the Infant Saviour to be held on the afternoon of March 14. A moving picture of unusual interest will be shown by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company. The presentation consists of five films.

The first, "News and Views," contrasts the primitive experiments of Alexander Graham Bell with the marvelous achievements of today. The force of sleet and snow storms on the telephone plant in the Swiss Alps is shown.

No. 2, "Safe Guarding Speech Ways," is a trip through the manufacturing plant of the American Telephone Co. at Hawthorne, Ill.

The third, "Voices in the Air" is a travelogue, illustrating the part that science of communication plays in world affairs. This film is accompanied by native music.

No. 4, "Hurricane's Challenge," pictures the storm of 1938.

The fifth, "Getting Together," is an animated cartoon on the manufacture of the 273 parts of the dial phone.

The next in the series of morning lectures will be given by the Rev. Terrence S. Connolly S.J. at the home of Mrs. Michael H. Hintlin, 115 Church street and members and guests are welcome. The subject will be, "The Abbey Theater Festival and the Future of Irish National Drama." Terry O'Toole, popular Irish tenor and radio artist on Station WHIH will entertain with songs. Coffee will be served from 10 to 10:30.

READING THEATRE

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Reading Theatre, there will be another grand double feature bill. The first big feature will be "The Shining Hour" starring Joan Crawford, Melvyn Douglas, Margaret Sullivan and Robert Young.

This is a grand story and is brought to life on the screen by a great cast. The co-feature will be "Dramatic School," starring Luise Rainer, two-time winner of the Academy Award and that beautiful new star, Paulette Goddard.

Here is a store of the laughter and sorrows of stage life.

To complete a great show there will be a Popeye cartoon and News.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Prof. Bruce C. Hopper of Harvard University speaking on Russia after Munich, to the League of Women Voters and their guests Tuesday evening said: "We are in the process of dividing the earth. All rules, theories and formulas mean nothing any more, they are obsolete. Today wars are won without firing a shot. Breaking the morale of the people is the greatest worry. The Munich Conference was a crossroad, and time is now measured before Munich, since Munich. A dividing line in history! We are in an era of interpretation or Parole of countries."

Professor Hopper went on to say that the small countries in most instances were unfit to rule, therefore were being sacrificed. The following combinations seem inevitable: Britain and France; Germans in control of the Black Sea; Italian zone down to Libya; Soviet Russia and China; Japan; America and Canada.

Russia is sincere in its desire for peace and was very hurt at being blackballed from Munich. Russian resources are vast and therefore Russia as a place in the readjustment of the world. In England the generation of men lost in the war makes her greatest problem, because today she is faced with the very old and the very young. We need to be either hot or cold on a situation, thus the reason for many of the strange policies. Education is much to blame for our present situation. Situations can't be measured to determine results. History has already proved that the religion, politics of man can't be analyzed.

Moral indignation of a people is what founded America. Russia has a million youth with no past, trained only under the Soviet regime. Watch Russia's unfoldment. Will Russia join with Germany? Chamberlain thinks that they will. The bogey man of the last years has been communism, and now the Jewish problem. Anything to frighten the people while they barge in and take territory or break policies.

The greatest question in Europe today is the Ukrainian situation, the littlest of Russia's needs. We have an outlet for her products; Russia needs what she has to offer, and the barter system works very good between these countries. Russia is the only country in the world that has everything she actually needs, and she will have a large share in writing future history. Russia is new in machinery manufacture and China is old in culture, therefore this is a happy combination.

America has an important place in world affairs. In early days monasteries and churches kept the treasures of a country. Today a church or monastery is a place of security. Property, therefore many of Europe's treasures have been sent to America. We hold the historical records. We are a free intellectual nation. We aren't nothing from anyone. We have financial power and can do for posterity what England did at the time of Napoleon. The problem today is the Rome, Berlin, Tokio triangle and where it may lead.

Mr. Reginald Bradlee opened their home to the League and their guests for this evening meeting. Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, president, presided, and Mrs. George Brayley acted as secretary. The program, Mrs. John S. Dickey finance chairman, and her committee had charge of guest tickets.

The next study group of the League will be at the home of the president, Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, Lawrence street, March 14, 21, and 28 at ten in the morning, and is to be a study of the Federal Constitution, and the methods of amending.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The Drama Study Group took up the subject of playwrights at the meeting on Thursday, March 2 at 10 to Crescent road. Mrs. Theodore Brown was chairman of the program, assisted by Mrs. Malcolm Nichols and Mrs. Jameson Slocum. The discussion covered the work of such distinguished writers as Noel Coward, Clifford Odets, George Kaufman, John Steinbeck, Clare Kummer and other contemporaries. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, March 14 at 10 a. m. at Mrs. Slocum's home. Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff will talk on "Stage Designers" covering the field of scenic design, stage settings, costumes and lighting. She will discuss such outstanding craftsmen as Joe Mielzner, Donald Oenslager, Norwidge and Godefrid, who have worked on such recent successful productions as "Winterst," "Abe Lincoln," etc. and represent the modern movement toward more simplified scenery.

The History Group will hold its next meeting on Monday, March 13, at 9:45 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Austin T. Bunker, 5 Worthen road. The subject will be, "19th Century Latin America—Pan-Americanism."

PROFESSOR KOHN'S PREVIOUS LECTURES WELL RECEIVED

Interest in the lecture to be given in the high school by Prof. Hans Kohn of Smith College, on March 17 has been swelled by repercussion from his last two appearances in this region. In Winchester his talk at an open meeting of the Smith College Club two years ago left his hearers with an enthusiasm that still speaks of him. In town, some who heard him this winter at the School for Politics sponsored by the Cambridge League of Women Voters want to hear him again, enough to come out to Winchester; some who missed those meetings are anxious to repair the loss.

This will be the final lecture of the series on world events sponsored by the Smith College Club for the benefit of its scholarship fund. Seats are not reserved and the doors of the high school open at 8 p. m.; the lecture will be at 8:30 o'clock.

GROUP SETS SPRING PLAY

The Group Theatre board of directors announces the choice of Kaufmann's and Raphaelson's smash hit "First Lady" as their spring production. This play will be produced by special arrangement with Sam Harris, the original New York producer. An outstanding cast, composed of the town's leading actors and actresses, is fast being assembled. Production plans are well under way since the appointment of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Harlow of Yale street as production chairman was announced.

The board, which has been holding weekly meetings to take care of the many details connected with so important a production, announces further that those desiring guest tickets for the presentation at the end of April can get them from any member of the Group Theatre. Tickets will be available four weeks in advance.

The general meeting which was to be held on March 15 has been postponed to Wednesday, March 22. Separate announcements will be sent all active members. This meeting will be of utmost importance and all active members are urged to attend.

UNION LENTEN SERVICES

Rev. Carlton N. Jones, pastor of the Second Congregational Church presided at the third in the series of Lenten Services held at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church last Wednesday evening. Mrs. Elsie Farnham, president of the Bethany Society presented Miss Slattery whose subject was "The Closed Mind and the Open Book."

Miss Slattery first emphasized the glory of living in a country where the Book was open to all, where religious freedom and free speech gave great opportunities for using the open mind. Each of us has a closed area in his or her mind. She cited a woman whose mind was closed to the urgent need of her sister of the streets. She was "not interested in such people." Another man who denied youths' economic problems of today and refused to recognize his problems. Whole sections of our civilized America through isolation of mind and closed, eagerly the younger generation. Many mountaineers are grasping education, migrant workers are receiving care and minds once closed are receptive to new thoughts and ideas.

Miss Slattery then spoke with open minds and the open book we meet this season of sacrifice and enjoy its fullest significance.

The subject of Miss Slattery's next lecture is "The Self-Centered Mind and the Open Book." A collection to defray expenses will be taken.

EVENING BRANCH

Will Make Pilgrimage of Their Parish Church

March 15, the Evening Branch of the Church Service League of the Epiphany Parish will have a new kind of meeting. The program, Mrs. George Bryne, to conduct them in a pilgrimage about their own parish church. The devotional part of the pilgrimage, which brings out the spiritual meaning of the different parts of a church and its furnishings, is based on a pilgrimage that has been for some time an annual event in the cathedral of Chester, England.

There will also be chance for informal questions about the symbolism embodied in the Winchester church, and especially of the windows, which are now more usually in the minds of Epiphany worshippers by reason of the latest addition, the memorial window above the altar.

The pilgrimage will begin at 8:30, immediately after the evening service.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Claudette Colbert portrays "Zaza," opening next Sunday at the University Theatre. Teamed with Herbert Marshall, her suave new leading man, Miss Colbert brings to the stage the beloved entertainer who braved the censure of the world for the sake of love and suffered a cruel tragedy which every woman will know how to understand. The supporting cast includes such ranking favorites as Bob Lafe, Helen Westley, Walter Catlett, Genevieve Tobin, Constance Collier and Rex O'Malley.

"Mr. Moto's Last Warning" is the companion film.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes "Cloistered" and "Mad About Music" featuring Deanna Durbin and Herbert Marshall.

No dramatic picture ever to reach the screen has equalled in the variety of its far-flung scenic backgrounds Walter Wanger's "Trade Winds," which comes Thursday with Fredric March and Joan Bennett in the starring roles.

"Thanks for Everything" is the associate feature. Expounding the drill idea that if you could find a Mister Average Man he would be worth a million dollars to any smart promoter, the film features a cast of high and low comedy experts topped by Adolphe Menjou, Jack Oakie, Jack Haley, Arlon Whelan, Tony Martin and Binnie Barnes.

Wood Carving an Old Art

Cutting and carving wood is one of the oldest arts known. As far back as 4000 B. C. people liked to cut designs in wood with a sharp instrument, and excavations in Egypt have shown that people of that ancient time were skillful at the art.

ANOTHER JOB FOR THE AERIAL CAMERA

To fight the mounting toll of accidents, traffic authorities have found a new aid, aerial photography. Necessary apparatuses are being reported from Milwaukee where the device was recently tried out—includes one small captive balloon, controlled by ropes and guys from a passenger automobile equipped with a trailer; and one camera suspended from the balloon and operated from below by means of batteries and push button.

Result: photographs of busy street crossings giving a bird's-eye view of traffic conditions at various hours, the effects of certain regulations and causes of congestion.

Balloon Pictures Not New

Studying traffic jams from such air pictures is a modern way of dealing with the peculiarly modern problem of cities on wheels. But aerial photography, particularly from captive balloons, is an old story, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

As far back as 1861, nearly half a century before the history-making flights of the Wright brothers, the face of Boston, was recorded from a captive balloon some 1200 feet up. Wilbur Wright himself, in 1911, made a few shots of the landscape with his simple ground camera. Around that time a fire at Salem, was snapped from a plane. Published as a newspaper "scoop," it was said to be the first airplane illustration so used.

But aerial photography was slow in advancing, largely because vibration and air currents made ordinary camera use almost impossible. It was the World War that offered the proving ground for the art. Then air mapping became of age. Recognized as an aid to military reconnaissance, it provided, according to some estimates, nearly four-fifths of all enemy information obtained.

Today, making maps and pictures from the air is a highly specialized business, calling for trained men and technical equipment. Such photos are made now anywhere from a few hundred feet off the ground all the way up to the rarified atmosphere of the stratosphere. During the record-making balloon ascents sponsored by the National Geographic Society and the U. S. Army Air Corps in Nov., 1935, cameras elicited continually, a number of them operating automatically. They made vertical and oblique shots; they took pictures of the earth and the horizon they made motion pictures and color pictures.

Air Maps and Pictures Serve Many

To fill the increasing demand for more and better bird's-eye photographs, special cameras that cover ever-widening territory have been evolved with multiple lens, automatic shutters, and other modern improvements. Many of these machines are attached to the plane; some point through windows like small cannons; others are built into the floor of the ship. With the recent advent of the "photographic airplane" designed for no other purpose, Old Mother Earth may be more photographed than a Hollywood movie star!

From national governments to civic authorities, from Big Business to individual mining prospectors, many and varied are the interests served by aerial photographs. Long-range photographing is particularly useful in road planning, in flood control work, in studying soil erosion, or in locating power-plant sites. Now and then, the air picture gets into the news by solving some odd problem, as when the promoters of a stadium boxing match suddenly discovered on the eve of the bout that they had no floor plan. Time was limited, but not too short to hire a commercial photographer to fly over the stadium and take a picture. Rushed through development routine, it was ready with a diagram of the seating arrangements when called for.

Canada has made good use of the aerial photographer. With its vast open spaces such surveys are enormously helpful in forestry checks, for locating canoe trails, in mine detection, etc. One of the world's biggest radium mines was found there as a result of air pictures. Mining prospectors can now buy at nominal cost various maps illustrating regions likely to contain valuable ore.

Here, too, and oil, both private and government agencies employ bird-men who fly back and forth over a given area. Later the many overlapping shots obtained are turned over to laboratory experts, made into a complete mosaic map, and with the aid of scientific devices, studied for signs indicating the presence of natural wealth.

Air maps check up on shifting coast lines and may even settle international disputes as to boundaries. For example, several years ago the U. S. Army Air Corps, at the request of a Special Arbitration Tribunal, took a series of photographs of territory claimed by both Guatemala and Honduras. With this information at hand, an agreement was reached. Another spectacular role of the aerial camera involved the location of Maya ruins in the Yucatan, Mexico. Ancient Roman ruins in Britain have been spotted in the same manner.

GRANGE OBSERVED SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Winchester Grange, 343, P. of H., observed its 25th anniversary last week Tuesday evening with a catered banquet served to 150 Grangers and their friends in Lyceum Hall. The striking stage setting, arranged by Past Master Henry E. Drown, assisted by Anthony Gigliotti and Jackie Dewar, first baby of Winchester Grange, represented the Home, the Farm and the Grange, the slogan, "The Grange Marches On," being displayed on an attractive poster, donated by the Railway Express Company. Past Masters Elsie Lyons and Marguerite Hanlon were responsible for the most attractive table decorations.

Among the guests were the Worthy Master of the Massachusetts State Grange, Everett W. Stone of Auburn; and the following State officers: Worthy Overseer Harvey G. Turner and Mrs. Turner, Worthy Assistant Steward Lester R. Hayward and Mrs. Hayward, Worthy Ceres Mrs. Emily Blodgett and Worthy Juvenile Deputy Mrs. Bessie A. Merritt. Other guests included Past Ceres of the Massachusetts State Grange Mrs. Henrietta L. Carter and "Philip," Worthy Master of Middlesex-Essex Pomona H. Stanley Needham and Mrs. Needham and the subordinate Masters of Wakefield, Medford and Lynn with their ladies.

Worthy Lecturer Blanche V. Drown, P. M., was in charge of the program, which was opened with grace by Past Master Vincent P. Clarke and included an address of welcome by Harry E. Gardner, Worthy Master of Winchester Grange and secretary of the Educational Aid Fund of the State Organization. Helen E. Dewar, Past Master, Past Lecturer and a Charter Member of Winchester Grange, gave interesting reminiscences of historical significance.

Worthy Master Stone was presented, and in the course of his vital address urged all to join in furthering the forward movement of the Grange. He commended the local body for the excellent showing of members at the banquet and expressed his appreciation at being invited to participate in the 25th anniversary exercises. Other speakers were Worthy Overseer Turner, Worthy Assistant Steward Hayward, Worthy Ceres Blodgett, Worthy Juvenile Deputy Merritt, Master Needham of Pomona Grange, Master Birmingham of Medford and Worthy Past Ceres Carter.

Worthy Master Stone presented Silver Star pins and certificates to the following charter and 25 year members: Ethel Roberts, Mrs. Elizabeth Roberts, Mrs. Annie Gustin, Mrs. Bessie Pierce, Mrs. Helen Dewar, Mrs. Marguerite Hanlon, Mrs. Annie Gardner, Harry E. Gardner and David Mellett. A pin and certificate were also presented to Chester Phillips of Medford Grange, a guest at the banquet.

Past Master Dewar cut the anniversary birthday cake with appropriate ceremony. A musical program was presented by the Mauna Loa Melodiers, Hawaiian Orchestra of Lynn, Vivian I. Simonds, director, W. E. E. I. artists. General dancing brought the anniversary celebration to a pleasant close.

MILK THE TELL OF THE DAY

Tuesday, Feb. 28, Bishop Raymond Heron, talking informally of the Boston City Mission, with vivid concreteness, with earnestly compassionate pictures, lightened by humor and steadily illuminated by hope, made some of his hearers aware that they knew little what life is like to fellow mortals just a few miles away. Have we let our hearts and our imaginations off too easily, assuming that we were duly and sufficiently aware of the pain and need among those who are poor in money? This shepherd of Boston's poor stripped off our complacency with just one incidental detail—milk! "Now drink your milk," the half of the world that lives in our village says to its children, mother-of-factly or coaxingly, where milk is a commonplace or a dull and protested chore. And then suddenly, in ten words, Bishop Heron had us standing where the other half of Boston lives. We saw older children mobbing the "Tot Lot" in a crowded Boston area at the hour of the day when free milk and crackers were distributed, and we heard 190 children in camp cheering at the news, "Milk and plenty of it."

Next summer, if there are dollars enough, there will be two more "Tot Lots," safe play-places where very tiny children of pre-school age, learn to use their hands in playing and learn to play together. If there are dollars enough! They are scarce now, in the great need, than they used to be. The thoughtfulness of dead men and women of Boston has provided some of the money that supports the City Mission, but that endowment produces less income now than the donors counted on. Besides the purses of many generous living people have shrunk, and a check this year may perform be for only a fifth of its former worth. Always there have been many givers of small sums out of slender purses and only as the number of these now increases can the work of the City Mission for children meet manifest needs and opportunities.

Rather than outline the many types of work the Mission does, Bishop Heron shared with his hearers some typical opportunities that the morning had brought—the truant little lad of black skin who wanted a home where he "would be with people like me;" the busy father perplexed by a mother's lack of white skin whose immediate environment provided only bad company; and other people who need a Christian mind near at hand to listen and help them think their problems out.

The talk of money needs was incidental, and came out in answer to a question. Bishop Heron's purpose in his visit with the women of the Service League was not to raise money, but to raise their awareness of social need and opportunity.

Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer presided at the luncheon meeting. Luncheon was served by the Tuesday Luncheon Group, Mrs. R. P. Bennett being in charge of the committee, with Mrs. Torr Harmer assisting.

WORKING ON COLLEGE ANNUAL

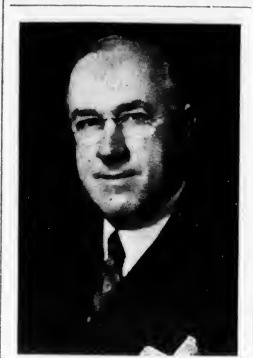

Miss Nancy J. Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth S. Hall of Winslow road, a senior at Tufts College, one of the senior members of the editorial staff of the Jumbo Book, is now working on the preparation of the college annual, which will be published in May. Miss Hall, a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Omicron Chapter of Sigma Kappa, is secretary of the Canterbury Club, literary society at Tufts, and was wardrobe mistress during the recent production of Maxwell Anderson's "High Tor," at Tufts College.

Perhaps the biggest surprise in the entire election was the defeat of Geoffrey C. Neiley by Alvin M. Litchfield in the contest for the single vacancy on the Board of Selectmen. Mr. Neiley, retiring member of the School Committee and former vice chairman of the Finance Committee, had been considered an easy winner by many of Winchester's politically minded, but was defeated by more than 300 votes by Mr. Litchfield, a relative new-comer to town, who polled 1706 votes to Mr. Neiley's 1373. Mr. Litchfield's supporters worked hard and effectively for their candidate while those who persuaded Mr. Neiley to run apparently thought there was nothing more to be done once they succeeded in getting him to consent to stand for election.

The same was true in the contest for School Committee where Robert R. Elliott and Mrs. Caroline P. Spaulding were elected over Harold V. Farnsworth, former Finance Committee member and chairman of the Board of Selectmen. Mr. Elliott's backers worked hard in his interest throughout the town and were rewarded with the high vote in the three cornered fight for election, 2,400 votes, with a high total of 2,063 in Precinct 1, the citizens of which were greatly interested in this particular issue. Mrs. Spaulding's supporters, while not so active as those of Mr. Elliott, were quietly busy and secured for her 270 votes, than Mr. Farnsworth could total her vote by 1,270 and his, 1,270. He would have been a rash man who would have predicted this result, but here again Mr. Farnsworth's cohorts were satisfied to announce his candidacy only, without working in his interest.

Harry T. Winn, veteran chairman of the Board of Assessors, withstood the challenge of Edward G. MacDonald, but his winning margin, 151 votes, was a narrow one and proved nothing so much as the fact that the MacDonald workers in Precinct 1 and 6 did not get out their vote. There was no apathy on the part of the Winn workers who galvanized into action during the last week of the campaign and worked feverishly right up to the polls' closing. Seasoned observers seem to feel that Mr. MacDonald's failure to do better in 6 was his undoing, but few, except those close to the political situation this year, expected him to come so close to winning from a political veteran like Mr. Winn.

In the other contest on the ballot the three candidates for re-election to the office of constable, Michael J. Foley, Edward F. Maguire and Gleason W. Ryerson were returned over Frederick J. Larson, who, however, made a good showing. Mr. Maguire's 2,343 was high in this contest.

Mabel W. Stinson, Winchester's popular and capable town clerk, running unopposed, polled the ballot's high vote, 2,704. The final results of the election were announced about 10:45, the registrars being not a little delayed by the difficulty in providing some of the figures submitted by the precinct workers.

In the contest for precinct representatives Patrick H. Croughwell was high in 1. Arthur R. Keen, in 2; Carl Eaton, in 3; Marshall R. Pihl, in 4; Vincent P. Clarke, in 5; and Joseph J. Tansey, in 6, Chief interest in the precinct contests on the morning after election concerned the failure of former Selectman James A. Laraway to win election in Precinct 5, to which he moved from 3 since the last election. Following are the complete returns:

CUBS PLANNING FOR BASEBALL SEASON

At an enthusiastic meeting held last week in the Recreation Center the Winchester Cubs baseball team discussed plans for the coming season. It is expected that practise will start about the middle of April, and Manager "Payson" Marrone states that the entire club roster of last year will be available this season, with several new men, among whom are Peter Provanzano, relief pitcher, and Paul Connors, outfielder, the latter reporting as soon as the high school season ends.

Manager Marrone spent some time pointing out the mistakes made by the club last season when the Cubs were defeated by both the Millionaires and the rejuvenated Town Team in the series for the championship of the town.

It is expected that this season the team will be capable of coping with much faster opposition than in the past, and it is hoped that in the event the club goes well, some sort of representative uniform idea can be worked out with the local merchants.

With "Lib" Gaudioso, "Stutz" Diminico and "Bob" Farrell, holdover pitchers from last season, ready to go again the Cubs should have few worries in the box, but more hitting strength will have to be dug up if the local boys are to get anywhere in fast competition.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

Washington-Highland Chapter

The next meeting of the Washington-Highland Chapter of the Mothers' Association will be held Tuesday, March 14.

Mrs. Harold Schiebe will give an informal talk on current books and authors.

Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes, chairman of Ways and Means, will have charge of a food sale, the proceeds of which will be used for a campership in Troop 8.

The model illustrated is the Buick Sedan, model 41 four-door touring sedan $976 delivered at Flint, Mich.*

WE'RE talking about that friend of yours who owns a 1939 Buick—You've heard plenty from him, naturally, about the fresh-as-the-morning-breeze styling of his taut and trim new Buick—and the way it perks abody up just to look it over! You've listened while he sang the praise of a ride that's like a lullaby—soft and gentle as a tender touch, but sure, unwavering, steady, in cross-wind or at speed. No doubt you've sensed his joy at those eight eager Dynaflex cylinders, that need only the gentlest sort of hint to hike you straight to the forefront—and the snug and reassuring steadiness of this low-slung, stable sleeper's gait! All of which is well and good, and not to be disputed. But has your good friend told you this:

... That Buick's prices are easily the lowest prices for the value you'll find anywhere on automobile row?

... That this far-ranging great-hearted eight—with all the sky-larking life those extra cylinders give it—still costs less than some sixes?

... That factory list figures run anywhere from $51 to $102 less than a year ago—and that they buy worlds more in self-banking Kneec-Action, Handshift transmission, 15% softer BuicOil Springing, visibility stepped up as much as 412 square inches, any number of so-called "extras" such as the Flash-Way direction signal?

If he hasn't told you this, it's plainly time to do this:

Get dollars-and-cents figures on what the model of your choice will cost delivered in your driveway!

That will prove, we think, that Buick's the car and the value of the year. And we're certain—sure it will tell you what your best friend may have forgotten—this shining star is in your reach, so why should you be without it?

MILK CHART FOR MONTHS OF OCTOBER, NOVEMBER, DECEMBER 1938

Published by the Winchester Board of Health

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

"Disbarred," with Gail Patrick, Robert Preston and Otto Kruger featured, plus "Storm Over Bengal," with Patric Knowles, Richard Cromwell and Rochelle Hudson as the stars, will open a four day engagement at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. "Disbarred" presents Gail Patrick as a young woman lawyer who unwittingly becomes the "mouth-piece" for a notorious racket, due to the cleverness and facile charm of a disbarred attorney, who sees a chance to transfer his spectacular technique to her.

"Storm Over Bengal," is a thrill-packed drama of the hill country of India and of the eternal strife and "Boer" warfare that goes on between the lancers and hill tribesmen. Patric Knowles and Richard Cromwell are cast as brothers who become estranged when they both fall in love with Rochelle Hudson.

"Zaza," starring Claudette Colbert, Herbert Marshall, Bert Lahr, Helen Westley, Constance Collier, Genevieve Tobin and Walter Catlett, will head the bill the Strand will offer next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday only. "Zaza" revolves around a beautiful and tempestuous Parisian vaudeville entertainer, played, of course, by Miss Colbert, who charms to meet a man in high society and risks a public scandal to follow wherever her heart leads her.

"Exposed" starring Glenda Farrell, Otto Kruger and Herbert Mundin, will be the second attraction on the bill starting Tuesday.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony
Director of A & P Kitchen

Meat prices are somewhat more attractive than in the past few weeks. Lamb prices have come down most, pork some and veal a trifle. Beef is comparatively steady. All young chickens, including broiling, frying and roasting chickens, fowl and duckling are low in price.

Both fresh and frozen fish are rather scarce but salt fish is plentiful and reasonable and more fresh fish is expected daily. Fresh eggs are plentiful and very inexpensive. Cheese, too, costs less than it has in several years.

Adequate supplies of vegetables and salad greens are available at reasonable cost and in fair variety though March is usually the month of greatest scarcity and highest prices for them. The fruit market is largely unchanged.

Three dinner menus follow:

Low Cost Dinner
Shoulder Lamb Chops Tomato Gravy
Boiled Rice Brussels Sprouts
Bread and Butter
Boston Cream Pie (Cake)
Tea or Coffee

Medium Cost Dinner
Baked Half Ham Browned Yams
Cauliflower with Black Butter
Bread and Butter
Raspberry Trifle
(Sponge cake with custard, Preserves and Meringue)
Tea or Coffee

Very Special Dinner
Pineapple Sticks with Chopped Mint
Roast Beef Browned Potatoes
Sautéed Mushrooms
Creamed Potatoes
Green Salad
Lemon Meringue Pie
Coffee

WAKEFIELD THEATRE TIME SCHEDULES

Wednesday only, March 15. "Secrets of a Nurse," 3:35, 9:20; "Tarnished Angel," 2:20, 8:05.
Thurs., Fri., Sat., March 16, 17, 18. "The Long Show," 2:18, 8:03; "Thanks for Everything," 3:35, 9:20. Evening show at 7:45.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Sweethearts," with Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy as the stars, filmed in gorgeous Technicolor, will headline the bill opening at the Granada Theatre today. Technicolor photography gives both singers a more vivid personality, while the up-to-the-minute story devised for them by Dorothy Parker and Alan Campbell from the Victor Herbert operetta provides the stars with comedy characterizations which should win them legions of new followers. Both Miss MacDonald and Nelson Eddy provide a musical feast in their singing of the lovely Victor Herbert melodies among them "Sweethearts," "Every Lover Must Meet His Fate," "Pretty as a Picture," and "On Parade." The supporting company includes Frank Morgan, Ray Bolger, Florence Rice, Herman Bing, Mischa Auer and Reginald Gardiner.

"The Girl Downstairs," starring Franchot Tone, Francisca Gaal, Walter Connolly, Rita Johnson, Franklyn Pangborn and Reginald Owen, will be the second attraction on the bill starting today. The story of "The Girl Downstairs," presents Franchot Tone as a gay young blade who falls lightly in love with the daughter of a wealthy old man in Switzerland.

D. 1939, at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon all and singular the premises described in said mortgage, and therein substantially described as follows: "A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Winchester, Middlesex County, on the southerly side of Marshall Street, formerly known as Road 'C' which parcel is shown as Lot 'D' on a Plan entitled 'Land in Winchester, Mass., Scale 1 in. equals 40 ft., July 1, 1927, Parker Holbrook, Engineer,' recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, at the end of Book 4996, more particularly bounded and described as follows: Northerly by said Marshall Street, seventy (70) feet; Westerly by land now or late of Randall, as shown on said Plan, one hundred forty and 20/100 (140.20) feet; Southerly by land now or late of Godfrey, as shown on said Plan, fifty (50) feet; Easterly by land now or formerly of Bertha A. Henry, as shown on said Plan, one hundred thirty-nine and 50/100 (139.50) feet, containing 825 square feet of land more or less. Said premises are conveyed subject to restrictions of record in force and applicable. Said premises are conveyed with the benefit of a right of way for all purposes in said Marshall Street in common with others thereto entitled. Hereby conveying the same premises conveyed to said Edna E. Gillett by Bertha A. Henry by Deed dated August 17, 1929 and recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 588, Page 31. The said Marshall Street is now known as Marshall Road. The said premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, tax titles, assessments or other municipal liens, $300 in cash will be required to be paid at the time of the sale and the balance to be paid within ten (10) days from the date of the sale at Room 5, 13 Church Street, Winchester, Mass. Other particulars made known at the time of the sale. Winchester Trust Company, by G. Dwight Cabot, Treasurer. Mortgagee and present holder. For further information apply to Winchester Trust Company, Winchester, Massachusetts. mar-25

To wit: The land with the buildings thereon in said Winchester in said Commonwealth, bounded as follows: Beginning at a point on the Northerly side of Ravenscroft Road; thence running Northerly on said land now or late of Arthur H. Richardson; thence running Northerly on said land now or late of Richardson, seventy-eight and 22/100 (78.22) feet; thence turning and running Northerly on land now or late of P. Urquhart, seventy-eight and 75/100 (78.75) feet and by land now or late of Doubleday, four and one-half (4.5) feet; thence turning and running Southerly by land now or late of E. The Famous Dover Castle

For centuries Dover castle, its gray walls high perched on white chalk cliffs, has been the first object to catch the eye—and the imagination—of voyagers to England. "The white walls of England," the cliffs have been called, in the phrase of Hubert de Burgh, "as most notable constable, was 'the very key and gate of England.'" The British preceded the Romans on that hill Romans gave place to Saxons, the Norman conqueror built on the foundations of all three, and since his day the castle has never been without a garrison.

Soutane, a Garment

A soutane is a long, close-fitting garment covering the body from the neck to the ankles. Fastened in the front from top to bottom by buttons, a small aperture is made in the neckband to expose the collar. This garment is worn by the Catholic clergy at the celebration of holy mass and by particular law, when at home or in the church.

NEW RECREATION SET-UP KILLED

Debate Limited at Opening Town Meeting Session Last Night

With 179 of the town's 233 precinct members present the first session of the limited town meeting last evening in the town hall defeated the proposal of the committee on recreation to change the present recreational set-up in Winchester by separating the appropriation for recreation from the general appropriation for parks and playgrounds, by employing a full time recreation director to have charge of the entire recreation program and to establish a recreation council to act in an advisory capacity to the Park Commissioners, in whose hands the administration of the new program was to be left.

The Finance Committee offered two budgets under the article, the first of which was divided into two parts, one to care for park and playground maintenance and the other for recreation. In the event the meeting failed to adopt the recreation committee, which also had the Finance Committee's approval, these budgets would be voted upon. If the meeting decided to continue the recreation system in the present advisory capacity under the Park Commissioners, the second of the two budgets, combining parks, playgrounds and recreation was to be considered.

In connection with the consideration of the matter it was voted to take up Article 20, dealing with the recommendations of the recreation committee, under which it was moved and seconded that a Recreation Council of 15 members be appointed by the Selectmen and Moderator to work with and advise the Park Commissioners in the administration of the town's recreation program.

Actually the entire debate pertaining to recreation revolved about the appointment of this council.

Mr. Davidson, speaking for the Park Commissioners stoutly opposed the Council idea and some of the recommendations of the recreation committee, saying that its members were about ten years ahead of themselves. He particularly attacked the proposal to hire a $50 a week recreation expert, stating that the town now has the services of an expert in the field of recreation whose services could not be improved upon by any newcomer at that figure. He felt that the Park Commissioners had many years of experience with the local recreation problem are capable of handling the problem better and more economically under the present set-up without the expense of an expert without a paid expert who at present could not be fully employed to advantage. He pointed to the steady growth of recreation facilities under the Park Commissioners and asked the members to permit them to continue their plans for improvement without handicap.

Mrs. Woodside favored the Council, stating that the Park Commissioners' recreation committee could obtain from experts was in favor of such a set-up. She felt a council of interested persons would do much to keep local recreation matters on an even keel, would provide balance and also much helpful volunteer assistance in the recreational field. She felt further that a council of 15 was not too large, stating that in some places they have as many as 25 members. Her arguments were concluded by expressing surprise at anyone not wanting any co-operation and aid possible in the administration of public duties.

Mr. Pecker opposed the Council idea. He stated that he had been laboring under the delusion that the Park Commissioners had been doing a good job in the field of recreation and had arrived at that apparent misconception because he had been told so by so many communities who had expressed their envy of Winchester's system and had sought advice from him as to how to proceed. He said that he had been told that he further felt that it would be difficult to hire an expert to administer Winchester's recreational activities as a full time job.

Mr. Ratindli favored the Council, stating that a broader recreation program is needed with an expert to administer it, one who would teach all branches of sport as well as tennis. Mr. Cullen opposed the council, stating that its adoption would be a distinct reflection on the Park Commissioners who had brought the town's recreation system along so well.

Mr. Bates favored the council, stating that recreation has become a complex and highly technical matter needing trained experts in the field. He assured the meeting the council's function would be purely advisory and would not handicap, but assist the Park Commissioners.

Mrs. McDonald opposed the council and wanted to know why Mr. Ratindli hadn't heard of the playground baseball league that has been a thing for several years. She also wanted to know where all those interested in recreation had been when the playground kiddies in a hall game were being set up would prove more economical and progressive than the old.

Mr. Wilde spoke in favor of the council, whose functions were purely advisory, he assured the meeting. Mr. Farnsworth favored the council. Mr. Marsh opposed, stating that adding 15 members to a board of three was too radical an innovation.

Mrs. Tansey asked the opinion of Mr. Connelley as to whether a recreation committee and for several years.

RICHARD W. MACADAMS
MACADAMS CHAIRMAN OF SELECTMEN

At an organization meeting held at the town hall on Thursday, March 9, Richard W. MacAdams was elected chairman of the Board of Selectmen for the ensuing term.

Mr. MacAdams is the senior member of the Board, having been first elected in 1937, and re-elected last year for a two year term. The new chairman is a native of Winchester, a product of the Winchester School, and a senior lieutenant in the Naval Reserve, having served in the United States Navy during the World War.

He is a former war and vice commander of Winchester Post, 97, American Legion.

Mr. MacAdams has made a special study of marine engineering and has sailed as a chief engineer in the Merchant Marine. His business connections are with the Ocean Accident Guarantee Corporation, Ltd. of which he is chief engineer in charge of the New England Engineering Department.

Last year the new chairman served on the accounts, election, police, highway and town hall committees of the Board. This year he is a member of the police and highway committees.

MRS. KATHERINE M. VALLEY

Mrs. Katherine M. Valley, wife of Frank H. Valley of 2 Elm street, died early Saturday evening in the Winchester Hospital after a short illness that followed several months of poor health.

Mrs. Valley was the daughter of Daniel and Julia (O'Callahan) Scully. She was born 65 years ago in Salem, but went as a child to Peabody, where she was educated in the Peabody schools and was married in that city on Oct. 6, 1898.

Immediately following her marriage she came to Winchester and had since made her home here, commanding the esteem of all who knew her by the strength of her character and her devotion to her home and family.

Mrs. Valley is survived by her husband, a widely known retired Postal Carrier; by two daughters, Miss Kathleen B. and Miss Helen E. Valley, both of Winchester; and by two sons, James S. Valley of Everett and Frank H. Valley, Jr. of this town.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the late residence with a mass of requiem in St. Mary's Church. Rev. Fr. Joseph Mahoney was celebrant. Burial was in the family lot in St. Mary's Cemetery, Salem.

SECOND CONGREGATION.

Prof. Daniel Evans, D.D., head of the Theology Department of Andover Theological Seminary will be the guest preacher at the Lenten Evening Prayer at the Second Congregational Church, Washington street at Kenwin road this Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Dr. Evans this year completes 30 years as a Professor of Theology.

Dr. Evans has been a career of rich teaching influence, wide in its scope and deep in its effect on the church. He will bring an inspiring and helpful message to the church and will sing the hymns with the choir and play the organ. The public is welcome to this service and the fellowship hour that follows.

MRS. EARLE E. ANDREWS HONORED AT TEA

Mrs. John Caruthers of 7 Pine street, opened her home on Tuesday, for a tea in honor of Mrs. Earle E. Andrews, who has just completed her fifth year as chairman of the Preservation of Antiques Committee of the Fortnightly, the longest, and surely the best, record of any chairman in the history of the organization.

During the afternoon several bouquets, cards and gifts were presented to Mrs. Andrews, the gift of the Antiques group being a lovely set of old silver spoons bearing her name. Mrs. Edward R. Grosvenor, past president of the Fortnightly, made the presentation in the name of the three presidents under whom Mrs. Andrews has served.

Pourers at the tea tables were Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds and Mrs. Paul H. Howard. About 60 admiring friends of Mrs. Andrews were present to felicitate her on the happy occasion.

TEA OPENED WOODBURY SHOW AT LIBRARY ART GALLERY

The Winchester Art Association gave a tea last Sunday afternoon in the art gallery at the public library. Mrs. Hollis Nickerson was in charge of arrangements for the tea and Miss Edith Caverly poured. Mrs. D. Barrett Tanner, a member of the staff at the Boston Art Museum, was the guest speaker, including in her address reference to the work of Charles H. Woodbury, who is showing a group of paintings, etchings and charcoal drawings at the library this month. Mrs. Tanner kindly consented to speak at short notice, replacing Mr. A. J. Philpott, art critic of the Boston Globe, who had been originally scheduled to speak and who had been prevented by illness from appearing.

Mr. Woodbury's exhibition is very colorful, especially so by contrast with some of the other art seen this year at the library. A veteran artist, he has long been noted for his many paintings and it is easily apparent that he sees in the ocean much that is hidden to the casual observer. His mood and impressions are translated in bright colors, purples, greens, pinks and warm light-reds, browns, in the use of which he is lavish, even in his water colors.

Mr. Woodbury is very successful in portraying sea-scape scenes of heaving water and the light translucent quality of rock dashed spray. Largest and most spectacular of the marines in the local show is Tidal Waves, a prize picture, in oils, showing heaving greenish blue combined meeting to toss their spray high in air, the spray being cleverly lightened with a bit of rainbow iridescence.

An interesting marine water color is Ledges, showing spray and spume from surf dashing on brown rocks; and Between Bermuda and Boston, a study of heaving, smoky water shot with blues, purples and white under a pale gray sky.

Spring is a large study in oils, done with great delicacy to suggest the freshness of a new season reflected in the budding foliage of tall grasses, trees painted against a background with a warm pinkish haze over the background. Changing winds are another delicately handled canvas, showing flimsy trees on a brown heaving sea.

One of the most unusual pictures is Rain Squall-Montserrat, developed in an imaginative fashion with hazy blues and greens. There is a virile quality to the water color, October Seas, showing rugged water shading from azure gray to green and purple, breaking on a partially submerged reef.

Mr. Woodbury has chosen a snow setting for a study of Mr. Monadnock, an interesting picture that is broadly painted and somewhat of a study in Thomas is full of strength and color. Breaking waves shows the artist's marked ability to paint the spray hurled high in air from greenish gray water far off shore.

For a study of difficult bit of painting well handled, and the small canvasses, Sun Spots, Early Light, A Swell and Towing are full of charm.

Besides the oils and water colors there are several etchings, crayons and charcoal studies, including battles and several quickful poses of dogs.

Mr. Woodbury's exhibition is open to the public and a cordial invitation is extended to all to view it at the library.

ROBERT BURNS ON NATIONAL COMMITTEE

The appointment of Robert A. Burns of 12 Rangely, as a member of the corporation which will conduct the national convention of Disabled American Veterans of the World War at the Second Congregational Church, Washington street at Kenwin road this Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Dr. Evans this year completes 30 years as a Professor of Theology.

Dr. Evans has been a career of rich teaching influence, wide in its scope and deep in its effect on the church. He will bring an inspiring and helpful message to the church and will sing the hymns with the choir and play the organ. The public is welcome to this service and the fellowship hour that follows.

FORMER DISTRICT NURSE ACCEPTS NEW POSITION

The many friends of Miss Hilda G. Howe will be pleased to learn that she has received an appointment as a staff nurse with the Waltham District Nursing Association, to become effective April 1. Miss Howe, who was formerly a nurse in the town's hospital, has recently completed her courses at Simmons College and is now a Certified Public Health Nurse. For the past few weeks she has been assisting with the Community Health Association of Boston.

Although Miss Howe's work will be centered in Waltham, she will be able to keep her residence in Winchester where she has many interests.

ART ASSOCIATION CORRECTION

The annual meeting of the Winchester Art Association will be held in the Library Art Gallery on Tuesday evening, April 4, at 8 o'clock and on April 14 as announced in last week's Star. Arthur Field will speak on the "Art of Walt Disney."

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Nine members were absent from the meeting of March 16.

We have been a bit discouraged because of the slim attendance at the last two meetings, after the good record we have exhibited this winter, but it appears that there were extenuating circumstances. At least three absentees have been incapacitated by illness and others were out of town. Members "under the weather" included President Ralph and Past President Warren Horsey. Past President Harry Winn is reported as improving but still confined to his bed. Meanwhile Sergeant Frank completely views the situation from the angle of Sarasota, surrounded by oceans of grape fruit and orange juice.

Today our Dick Sheehy presented a brief argument in rebuttal of the testimony offered last week by the speaker from the New England Anti-Vivisection Society. Clearly there are two sides and several angles to this question. The "lower animals," so-called, have rendered and are rendering, involuntarily, to be sure, an inestimable service to mankind. The least man can do in return is to make sure in every possible way that this service is not abused.

The Rotary Club of Boston, sponsor club for the recently organized Rotary Club of Revere, announces that Tuesday evening, April 18, 1939 has been designated as Charter Night for the Revere Club. Daniel L. Marsh, President of Boston University and Vice President of the Rotary Club of Boston will deliver the address. Whatever the outcome, it is hoped that a suitable delegation from our club will go to Revere to assist in welcoming this latest addition to our district and to Rotary at large.

Consult the secretary for reservations. Dinner ticket, $2.00.

And don't forget—our own club will sponsor another "All-Winchester" meeting to be held at 6:30 p. m. (note the hour) on Thursday March 20. All Rotarians, whatever their club affiliations, who reside in Winchester, as well as former members of this club are especially invited to attend this meeting. Our guest speaker will be Paul A. Dover, Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. We believe that every one of our members will be anxious to attend this outstanding meeting and we wish to afford them ample opportunity to arrange their affairs accordingly. Don't fail to reserve Thursday evening, March 30, 1939. This meeting, of course, will be the place of the regular noon meeting.

We were fortunate, today, in being enabled to witness another presentation of motion pictures prepared by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, presented in honor of John E. Sullivan, District Manager of the Company and member of the Rotary Club of Medford. Naturally we expect perfection of mechanical detail and yet matter of fact and deeply interesting when the company submits exhibitions of this sort for the edification of its patrons. We were not disappointed as we observed a series of films, the first of which was devoted to an explanation of the processes involved in the manufacture of telephone wires and cables and their insulation, while the second, a pictorial evidence of the herculean efforts put forth by the company in its successful endeavors to recover from the unprecedented havoc caused by the hurricane of last September.

Our public is indeed fortunate that it has been able to witness the superb communication service furnished by the Bell telephone system under the courteous management of John Sullivan and his associates.

Presenters: Attendance, March 9, 1939—73.53 per cent.

FAMILY SUPPER AND PLAY UNITARIAN CHURCH

Under the auspices of the Ladies Friendly Society, the annual Family Supper will be served, in Metcalf Hall, Tuesday evening, March 21. INTER-CLASS DEBATE

A debate between two sophomore college classes of the Winchester High School was held yesterday afternoon in the high school auditorium; on the proposition: Resolved, A municipal swimming pool should be installed in Winchester. The debate was a mutual agreement. Judges were Principal Wade L. Grindle, Mr. R. M. Keeney and Mr. J. D. Stevens, the latter two members of the English Department.

The affirmative attempted to prove that a swimming pool would be desirable, practicable, necessary and advantageous to the community. The negative tried to prove that a pool would be impracticable from the standpoint of expense, health and water and unnecessary.

Speakers for the affirmative side were Leola Jane Smith, Brock Lynch, Lane McGovern, rebutted. Negative speakers were Daniel Reop, Jean Pontz, James Grimes and Barbara Regan, rebutted.

The affirmative side was handicapped with one less debater than the negative. The negative debaters were adjudged winners.

ELECTED CLASS OFFICERS AT CAMBRIDGE SCHOOL

William Roop, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Roop of Niles lane, has been elected president of the senior class at the Cambridge School, Kendall Green, Boston. BENEFIT RECITAL PLEASED

Bette Sexton and Carmen Rooker in Interpretive Dance Programme

Bette Sexton and Carmen Rooker, respectively a post graduate student and head of the Dance Department at Bennett Junior College, Millbrook, N. Y., gave a recital last Saturday evening in the Church of the Winchester High School for the benefit of the Mothers' Association Scholarship Fund. Assisting them were Margaret Gage of the Bennett Faculty, reader, and Mary Ellen Strickland, pianist.

The programme was: Walton, "Invitation to the Dance"—Miss Sexton and Miss Rooker; Strickland, "Lullaby"—Miss Sexton; Strickland, "Fools"—Miss Sexton and Miss Rooker; Sattie, "Sarabande"—Miss Rooker; Lanfer, "Songs of Innocence" (based on poems of William Blake) with reading by Miss Gage, (a) "Innocence"—Miss Sexton, (b) "Experience"—Miss Rooker; Morley, "Foolish Angel"—Miss Rooker; Tansman-Cowell, "Exams"—Miss Sexton; Poulenc, "Inferiority"—Miss Rooker; and Macdowell, "The Fleet's In"—Miss Sexton and Miss Rooker.

For an unpleasant evening, with the threat of a big snowstorm, the recital attracted a good sized audience, the members of which with a few notable exceptions were most attentive and appreciative. Especially noticeable was the rapt attention of the children and young people present, and their responsive laughter when the dancers introduced a note of humor in their interpretations.

The attitude of the audience was a nice tribute to the sincerity of the artists, whose performance was very finished, and provided with a setting of classic simplicity which was both pleasing and very effective. Lustrous back drops of beige and excellent lighting complemented the efforts of the dancers and contributed not a little to the generally high standard of the recital.

Interpretive dancing has not been too common to Winchester, and there were undoubtedly many in Saturday's audience who could not fully grasp the dancers' intent or entirely appreciate their art. There was none, however, who could not envy these talented young women their sense of poise and rhythm or admire their remarkable coordination and body control.

The programme was effectively varied to reveal that interpretive dancing can be humorous and as free as well as a very serious art. The intensity and highly emotional quality of Miss Rooker's dancing in the "Song of Experience" was nicely balanced by the naive simplicity and happy spontaneity of Miss Sexton's performance in the "Song of Innocence." These were perhaps from an interpretive standpoint the climaxing numbers of the programme, though many found Miss Sexton's performance of the appealing "Lullaby" a charming bit, and Miss Rooker's dancing of the stately "Sarabande" was especially outstanding.

The dancers presented a striking appearance in this number, gowned in black and gold with a kerchief swathed head. Miss Sexton's blonde charm was enhanced by the simple white gown she wore in the "Song of Innocence," and she was also very appealing in the light blue suspender dress she put on for the humorous "Exams."

In the main Miss Sexton wisely avoided the intensity and emotional depth of interpretation of her more mature associate, making her approach along lighter, sunnier pathways, but there were glimpses of strength in her dancing when she indicated her desire to cope with the darker moods.

Miss Rooker, too, showed her ability to assume a lighter vein as she amused the audience with her miming of a slackwire performance in the "Foolish Angel." She was also very successful in introducing a serious comic touch to the Poulenc number, for which she wore a grotesque mask.

Of the lighter numbers Miss Sexton's "Exams" seemed most popular, perhaps because there were many in the audience for whom her clever pantomime struck a deeply responsive chord. Every one enjoyed the dancers' happy clowning in the nautical finale.

Miss Gage proved a talented reader with a pleasing voice and an easily apparent appreciation of the drama of her reading of the "Song" provided a fitting approach to the varying moods of the dances.

At the piano Miss Strickland was in complete sympathy with the dancers, satisfying their rhythmic and melodic needs most effectively. Hers was a difficult assignment since the music lacked continuity and sustained melody, yet one sensed at once her competence and the contribution she was making.

MRS. HANNAH SAXBY BLACKWOOD

Mrs. Hannah Saxby Blackwood, widow of Dr. Thomas Blackwood and for many years a resident of Boston, died Friday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Samuel Best, 16 Hillside avenue, after an illness of four months.

Mrs. Blackwood, who was in her 86th year, became ill while visiting her daughter in Winchester. She was a native of Bakersfield, Vt., and besides Mrs. Best, leaves a daughter, Mrs. Charles Bishop of Wollaston; three sons, Samuel Blackwood of Bethel Inn, Me.; Frederick Blackwood of Milton, Walter Blackwood of Toledo, Ohio; 11 grandchildren and one great grandchild, the latter living in London, England.

Funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon at the late residence with Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, officiating. Interment was in Forest Hills Cemetery.

UNUSUAL ACCIDENT

Archie Fremont, 22, of 21 Eaton street sustained a badly cut face shortly after 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon while shoveling snow in front of the First National Store on Washington street near Swanton street where he is employed.

He and James Peritzian of 73 Franklin street, Stoneham, proprietor of an adjacent shoe repairing shop were clearing the sidewalk together and Peritzian brought his shovel up and Fremont stooped to scoop up a shovel full of snow. Peritzian's shovel struck Fremont on the upper lip, inflicting a deep circular cut outward on his cheek.

The Police were notified and Officer John E. Hanlon took the injured man to the office of Dr. Philip McManus who closed the wound.

Pair—Two
Do not use "a pair of" when all you mean is two. A pair refers to two things used together, equal, or suited to each other. It is not a synonym of the word two. We talk of a pair of tongs, a pair of deuces, a pair of lovers. A cow and a postage-stamp are two objects, but they are not a pair of anything. A pair of twins would indicate four children.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

BOOK REVIEW

On Wednesday, March 22, at 2 p. m. the Book Review Committee of the Women's Guild of the First Congregational Church will hold their second meeting in the ladies' parlor. Mrs. F. Hatch will review Edna Ferber's book, "The Peculiar Treasure," and all who are interested are urged to come. At the first meeting Dr. Howard Chidley gave us an interesting outline of his reading matter for the past year which proved most enjoyable as well as instructive.

NOONAN SCHOOL NEWS

Litteria Post of the sixth grade read Governor Saltonstall's proclamation commemorating the Boston Massacre before the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades recently.

The March meeting of the Junior Red Cross Society was held Friday morning, March 10 at 11 o'clock. The meeting was conducted by Lucy Russo, president. Reports were given by the secretary, treasurer and room representatives on matters of general school importance. Just now a drive is on for greater watchfulness as an aid to increased safety on Main street and on the railroad tracks.

Following the business meeting the film, "Dutch East Indies" was shown. The fourth grade girls entertained us recently by presenting two folk dances taken from their physical education program. The dances presented were "The Children's Polka" and the "Swedish Polka" with the following girls taking part: Phyllis Boyle, Bernice Devine, Lorraine Kelley, Virginia Horn, Anna Maiulani, Mary McElhenny, Rose McGowan, Dorothy O'Connell, Elizabeth O'Donnell, Barbara Patterson, Mary Lou Veinot, Anna Zucco.

WINCHESTER BOY IN H. C. PASSION PLAY

The Holy Cross College Dramatic Society has awarded a role in the production of the "Passion Play," which will be presented at the Worcester Memorial Auditorium on Palm Sunday and Sunday, April 1 and 2, to Francis R. Mullin of Winchester. While at Holy Cross, Mullin has been an active member of the Playshop, the Dramatic Society, the Sodality, the Glee Club, the Riding Club, the Purple Key, the Boston Club, and is president of the Philomathean Debating Society.

TWO ELECTIONS IN CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH, BOSTON, OF INTEREST TO WINCHESTER RESIDENTS

Two elections taking place last week, one in the Board of Directors of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, Massachusetts, and one to the Trustees of The Christian Science Publishing Society, are of more than passing interest to the Christian Scientists of Winchester.

W. Stuart Booth, C. S. B., a Trustee of the Publishing Society, was elected as a member of the Board of Directors of the Church while Francis Lyster Jandron, C. S. B., of Detroit, Mich., was elected by the Trustees, with the concurrence of the Board of Directors, to fill the vacancy caused by the election of Mr. Booth to the Board of Directors.

Mr. Booth attended First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Winchester, several times on the occasions when his daughter, Miss Jannette Booth, sang as soloist in this church.

Mr. Jandron lectured under the auspices of the Winchester church last year.

"A native of Iowa," the Christian Science Monitor states, "Mr. Booth removed to Denver, Colo., in early boyhood. He was educated in the public schools of Denver, after which he engaged in business for a number of years. He became interested in Christian Science about 41 years ago. Since 1911 he has given all his time to Christian Science work."

"In June 1925, he was elected a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, which position he resigned in June 1932 to join the editorial staff of the religious periodicals of the Christian Science organization, as an associate editor. Mr. Booth became a Trustee of the Christian Science Publishing Society in May 1935."

"Mr. Jandron is a native of Canada. He attended school in the island of Jersey and afterward studied in England." Entering business he became assistant general manager of the Packard Motor Car Co. in Detroit, from which position he resigned to devote himself exclusively to the practice of Christian Science healing. He became a Christian Science teacher. From 1935 he was a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church."

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

The Winchester Garden Club met Thursday, March 9 at the home of Mrs. Reginald Robinson. Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. John Maddocks were hostesses for the day. On an artistically arranged serving table, American Beauty roses in an unusual white Chinese container with wind-blown arrangement gave the effect of "Gone With the Wind."

Mr. William N. Craig of Weymouth the speaker of the afternoon, had for his subject "Hardy Lilies." Mr. Craig being an authority on Horticultural subjects answered questions in relation to horticulture. Mr. Craig stressed the fact that there is a place for red in every garden; also that the Formosa Lily which can be started with seeds is becoming quite popular; and when planting bulbs, use sand below and above the bulbs.

Cranberry tops have been used by Mr. Craig for winter covering for the garden and he advocates the use of them because they never blow away by the action of the wind and can be used two or three winters.

In answering a question about orchids, the speaker said that Elizabeth Downs Wadsworth, one of our members, had the best collection of Cymbidium in the United States.

Before adjournment, members received their tickets for the Spring Flower Show.

The Police had calls to break up two fights last Saturday night, the first involving a man and woman at the junction of Mr. Vernon street and Highland avenue, and the second, a group of men in front of the Post-office. Cruising cars were sent to the spots named but no combatants were present when the officers arrived.

MRS. JOHN N. MASON

A memorial service for Mrs. John N. Mason, whose death occurred on Feb. 18, 1939, at Claremont, Calif., will be held on Saturday, March 25, at 2:30 p. m. at the Crawford Memorial M. E. Church. Mr. Cole, the acting minister, will officiate, and Mrs. Leon D. Hughes will sing, with Miss Mary French at the organ.

Emma Mansfield Mason was born June 12, 1860, at Salem, Mass., the daughter of the Reverend and Mrs. John H. Mansfield. Her family moved to Winchester in 1884 when her father became the pastor of the Winchester M. E. Church. In the fall of that year she took up her duties as teacher in the primary school, having prepared herself at Girls' High School, Boston, and Westfield State Normal School. In 1886 she married John N. Mason of Winchester, and for 40 years they lived at 26 Mt. Pleasant street. During those years she took an active part in the life of the community and the church. She was at one time chairman of the Committee of the Winchester Fortnightly Club. For 25 years she was superintendent of the primary Sunday School, and for five years superintendent of the entire Sunday School. In recognition of those years of service she was presented with a silver loving cup. The church also presented her and her husband on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary with a chest of solid silver.

In 1923 Mr. and Mrs. Mason moved to California. Though Mrs. Mason was an invalid during the last years of her life, she maintained an interest in the church, college, and community life of her new home, and made many friends there. Her husband, John N. Mason, died there in 1935. She is survived by two sons and two daughters: Leroy T. of Plainville, Conn., Edward M. of Ridgewood, N. J., Margaret M. of East Orange, N. J., and Elizabeth L. of Claremont, Calif.; also three grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. Luther Freeman, lives at Pomona, Calif.

A MUSICAL EVENT IN LENT

Sunday, March 26 at 5 o'clock the choir of the Church of the Epiphany will sing the cantata, "From Olivet to Calvary" by Maunders. The choir will be directed by Mr. Enos Held, who is regularly in charge of the Epiphany music. The organist will be Miss Dorothy Eaton, whose playing is known to Epiphany and to Winchester people through her participation in other special music events.

The choir will have its usual membership including a group of boy choristers and adult voices.

JEROME BAILEY FOSTER DESIGNS SET FOR GROUP

Preparations for the final play to be given in the fifth anniversary season of the Group Theater are well under way according to a report from Mr. and Mrs. Richard Harlow. "First Lady," which will be shown at the high school on April 29, will require much effort on the part of the members of the production committee who are already actively at work. This committee consists of the following: Chairman—Richard and Jeannette Harlow; Set Building—James Woolley; Lighting—George W. Hayden, Jr.; Properties—Doris Hills; Costumes—Frances Poiree and Edward Merriam, Jr.; Tickets—Mary von Rosenzweig; Publicity—Ernest W. Gross.

The Group was particularly fortunate in their set design problem due to the creation of an outstanding set by Jerome Bailey Foster, the prominent local architect. After Mr. Foster's suggestions were approved by the production committee a special set committee, under the leadership of George W. Hayden, Jr., developed final details of color and construction.

RILEY AND MISS LOCKHART BADMINTON WINNERS

The annual mixed handicap tournament of the Winchester Badminton Club was played in the high school gymnasium last Tuesday evening with 16 teams competing. The winners were Dick Riley and Barbara Lockhart who scored a mild upset by defeating "Pug" Merrow and Bill Stalker, the first seeded team, in the final round 15 to 7, 15 to 7.

In a consolation tournament for first round losers, Dana and Esther Sawyer won from Bill and Annette Handy in the finals by the close score of 15 to 13.

The annual men's doubles tournament of the club will be held on Tuesday evening, March 22 and the women's doubles on March 29.

LENTEN SALE AND TEA

Take Tea With the Future and Buy Home-Baked Bargains

Epiphany parish is holding on Friday, March 24, its annual coming-out party for its future church workers and leaders. From 3 to 5 o'clock who come in for the tea at the parish hall will find their sandwiches and cups brought to them by the gayest costumed and youngest hostesses ever. The tea party is by and for the primary department of the church school, and each year a new crop of little girls in the first and second grade don gay little caps and aprons and steer their sedate and careful ways from kitchen to tea table.

The coins they collect go to make heavier the mite boxes of the primary department. Giving is a fundamental part of Lenten thought, and these youngest parishioners are learning that giving depends on two things, denying and earning. Even a six year old can learn to think twice about a nickel for himself or for others when he knows that nickel would buy two whole days' keep for a child in China from hunger. And tiny folks with mite boxes do, with the help of ingenious parents, find individual ways of earning pennies. Their tea is their way of earning as a group for their Lenten giving.

In addition to the tea, Mrs. Edward F. Boyd, who is the superintendent of the primary department and the general chairman for March 24, has arranged that home-cooked foods will be on sale from 11 to 5, the chairman of the food sale is Mrs. Ralph G. Swanson. Assisting her will be:

Mrs. Stuart Eldredge
Mrs. Morris Harris
Mrs. Charles A. Hart
Mrs. Francis E. Gallagher
Mrs. Warren Lenny
Mrs. Charles H. Burnham
Mrs. David J. McKell
Mrs. Granville H. Flagg
Mrs. Emerson C. Piles
The candy able will be in charge of Mrs. Warren Shoemaker. Other members on her committee are:

Mrs. Charles E. Chase
Mrs. Francis E. Booth
Mrs. Arthur M. Jackson
A large committee has made itself responsible for the assorted sandwiches and cakes that will be served at tea. They are:

Mrs. Victor Moore
Mrs. E. Phillips Walker
Mrs. Earl O. Repepper
Mrs. Alexander J. Aiken
Mrs. Ralph D. Bennett
Mrs. John W. Bodman
Mrs. Maurice W. Tolman
Mrs. Alden P. Sherman
Mrs. Rose Crumppacker
Mrs. Thomas P. Salmon
Mrs. Paul Forsythe

The chairman of this group is Mrs. Donald B. Lovis. For young guests at the tea party, to whom a quarter looks far too big to be handed over for a plate of sophisticated looking sandwiches, there will be for sale their fast friends, hoodies. This sale will be in charge of:

Mrs. Francis E. Chase
Mrs. Guy B. Livingston
Miss Eleanor Barron
Throughout the day dotted plants will be on sale under the management of:
Mrs. Elwood S. Bartman
Mrs. Elizabeth Nichols
Miss Florence Barron

CHILD INJURED BY SNOW PLOW

Edward McLaughlin, four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. McLaughlin of 19 Lockman street, was painfully and possibly seriously injured Sunday forenoon when he fell under one of the town's tractor snowplows on which he was riding near his home.

According to the Police the tractor was being operated by William J. Carroll of 101 Harvard street who was plowing the north side sidewalk on Lockman street when the four year old boy and Earle Dominic, 8, of 48 Wendell street, got on the rear platform of the tractor.

Carroll did not know that the boys were there and completed plowing the north side sidewalk. As he reached the end of the street the Dominic boy got off the tractor but the McLaughlin boy did not, and when Carroll pulled the tractor away from a pile of snow, fell from the rear platform under the tractor.

A witness of the accident, Mrs. Heresipine Boudakian of 14 Lockman street, told the Police that Edward was dragged across the street under the tractor as Carroll started to plow the southerly sidewalk. She attracted his attention to the accident by shouting to the driver, who stopped the machine and released the boy, having to lift the blade to do so.

Edward was first taken into the Boudakian home and then taken to his own home where he was attended by Dr. Dominic Runci. The physician ordered the little boy removed to the Winchester Hospital where he was found to be suffering from a concussion of the brain, and multiple contusions and abrasions about the legs, arms and body.

SALE FOR THE BLIND A SUCCESS

The recent sale to help the Blind to help themselves was a grand success. This sale was sponsored by the Church Civic and Social Organization of Winchester, with Mrs. George A. Durning as general chairman and Miss Rose Trainor as sales director.

The proceeds of the sale go directly to the blind workers making the articles and not to any institution. Instructors for the Vision of Education for the Blind in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts call upon each worker in his home making it possible for the worker to be self supporting.

Mrs. Durning wishes to thank all committees for their splendid co-operation and support, also all persons attending the sale for their purchases. Without this splendid support this humanitarian work would not have been a success.

"Calling all neighbors"—for the first Winchester Community Fund Drive.

COMMUNITY CHEST LEADERS PICK CATCHY SLOGAN FOR APRIL DRIVE FOR FUNDS

From the many interesting suggestions for a suitable slogan to be used during the Winchester Community Fund Drive this next month the Directors of the local Community Chest picked one submitted anonymously. The slogan picked is "Calling All Neighbors." It is regretted by the judges that this slogan was handed in without a name as they would like to express their appreciation for it to the modest contributor.

When Mr. James Nowell, chairman of the Winchester Community Chest Drive, announced the decision of the judges, he stated: "The choice of a catchy slogan is a grand beginning for any drive. Even though the Drive or our local agencies do not get place until next month, the basic organization has already started to function. Our Drive starts off with a call to all our neighbors to assist in supporting those who are unable to do the comfort and security of our daily lives and make Winchester a better community in which to live." Mr. Nowell announced that the staff which will work with him to put the Drive across is fast being completed. Messrs. Franklin J. Lane and Maurice C. Bird will serve as executive vice chairmen of the local Community Chest Drive. John Kensonner will have charge of organization and personnel. Harold S. Fuller, president of the Winchester Community Chest, will be the publicity director of the Drive. Mrs. Nita Smith will be responsible for secretarial assistance.

John Kensonner revealed that the following precinct chairmen have volunteered to help in spreading the call to all their neighbors:

Precinct 1. Harry E. Damon, Jr.
Precinct 2. Arthur Thad Smith, Jr.
Precinct 3. Frederick S. Hatch
Precinct 4. Charles A. Hart
Precinct 5. Joseph W. Butler
Precinct 6. Charles A. Hart

The names of the many assistant precinct chairmen were not all in as we went to press and will, therefore be announced next week.

NEXT FRIDAY

On Friday, March 24, the Athletic Association of the Winchester High School will present its annual "Vau-Devil Show" in the high school auditorium. There will be two performances, one in the afternoon at 3:45 p. m. and the other in the evening at 8 p. m.

Rehearsals are being conducted regularly under the capable direction of Miss Young, Mr. Lauer and Mr. Hayward. The various committees have been organized and are working hard to assure a successful performance.

The acts seem to be quite varied. Among them are: a magician's act, a lumbing act, a number of new and novel dancing acts and several humorous short skits that are sure to bring down the house.

Most of the people of Winchester are familiar with the quality of the "Vau-Devil Show" and usually attend it each year. Those of you who have not seen one of these unique performances we strongly urge to come this year and bring your friends. You are all assured of a very enjoyable evening.

Starting Monday, 2:15 p. m., tickets will be exchanged at the high school and McCormack's Drug Store for reserved seats. No ticket will be exchanged for a seat after 3 p. m., March 24. All tickets remaining unexchanged will be sold at the door.

NOTED PSYCHOLOGIST TO LECTURE IN STONEHAM

Parents and teachers will have the unusual privilege of having Dr. Paul Pigors of Harvard give a series of six lectures on "Understanding Our Children." The series will be held in the South School recreation hall under the auspices of the South School Council.

The course will be organized around three main centers of interest: (1) The School Child; (2) The Pre-Adolescent and (3) The Adolescent.

The adolescent period includes our young people up to 25 years of age. To promote a better understanding of home and school relationships and responsibilities at these different periods will be the theme underlying the course. The basic behavior patterns with the psychological and social changes occurring with each stage will be carefully outlined.

Those who attend this course are invited to bring to the meeting written questions regarding their own particular problems which Dr. Pigors will answer at the same or following meeting.

These lectures will begin promptly at 7:45 Monday evening, March 29, and continue for six consecutive Monday evenings.

Those in Winchester wishing to avail themselves of this opportunity, please call the office of Miss Vida Stevens Clough, Stoneham 0522-M.

WINCHESTER GRANGE

Winchester Grange entertained the members of Middlesex-Exsex Lecturers' Circle No. 1 and Middlesex-Exsex Past Masters' Association at its meeting Tuesday evening in Lyceum Hall.

A debate was held under the direction of Worthy Lecturer Blanche V. Brown on the question, Resolved: "That Husbands Should Turn Over Their Pay Envelopes to Their Wives." The affirmative was supported by a team of past masters arguing for the negative. The affirmative debaters were declared the winners by the judges, who were Past Master Kenneth L. Middlesex, Pomona, Mrs. A. B. Palmer of Westford Grange and Dr. Robert L. Emery, past president of the Winchester Lions' Club.

An informal discussion involving most of those present followed the debate, the male Grangers present continuing to advance negative arguments until the serving of refreshments brought the meeting to a close.

UNION LENTEN SERVICE

Crawford Memorial Methodist Church

The fourth Lenten service under the auspices of the Women's Societies of various churches in town was well attended last Wednesday evening in spite of a downpour of rain. Rev. Merrill Rushton of the Baptist Church led the worship service and Mrs. Forest Young, president of the Women's League, presented Miss Slattery whose subject was "The Self Centered Mind and the Open Book."

Miss Slattery said in part that only as a mind frees itself of hypocrisy, and itself with restraint for the benefit of all, shares its intelligence and forgoes itself can it find itself and reach its highest level.

There are only two lectures more in the course. In building up the series each lecture interlocks with the previous lecture and builds a strong sane mind fit to cope with modern conditions. In a short resume next week Miss Slattery will point out the important steps in the program which prepares us for her final summing-up. A collection to defray expenses will be taken.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Crawford Memorial Church was held Thursday, March 9.

A delicious luncheon was served at 1 o'clock which was well attended and enjoyed by all. Following the luncheon, the business meeting was held in the ladies' parlor. The annual report of the officers showed that much good work had been done and the society is in fine condition. A spirit of harmony and cooperation among the members, and loyalty to the church was shown in all the transactions of the society.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. W. T. Carver; Vice President, Mrs. Norman Hitchcock; Secretary, Mrs. B. M. Burgoine; Treasurer, Mrs. J. B. Hawkins; Directors, Mrs. A. B. Bent, Mrs. Russell D. Cole, Mrs. Arthur C. Fay, Mrs. Ralph Hatch, Mrs. Frank Herrick, Mrs. Andrew Geddes.

The retiring president, Mrs. Anna M. Dunning was elected honorary president in recognition of her more than ten years of devoted service to the society.

A short entertainment was furnished by various members, the last number of which was a little game wherein Mrs. G. R. Bancroft showed how the love and good wishes radiated from all present at Mrs. Dunning and were visibly expressed in the gift of a radio for her use. Though surprised, she responded with words of appreciation and thanks.

With her ability, her fairness, her kindly spirit and her gracious personality, Mrs. Dunning has been an ideal president and she retires with the love and respect of every member. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

LAST SUNDAY EVENING AT THE SECOND CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

In spite of the blizzard and most disagreeable weather, a large audience gathered to listen to Rev. Wilfrid L. Lowe, pastor of a mission at Grand Marais, Minn., a parish consisting principally of lumbermen, Indians and fishermen. The nearest railroad is 120 miles away, with one parishioner living 79 miles from the mission. When Mr. Lowe went to Grand Marais to take charge of this mission, he was given five months to live by his physicians, but he has been there three years and is now taking his first vacation.

Mr. Lowe is the possessor of a beautiful tenor voice, and in his early manhood studied for grand opera, in fact, appeared in several, and it was during his experience in opera that he met the charming lady who is now Mrs. Lowe. As she also has a voice of unusual sweet quality, their singing, which was interspersed with Mr. Lowe's to intensify certain points or truths he wished to impress on his audience, was most pleasing and instructive, as well as restful and comforting.

After the adjournment to the vestry for the social hour, Mr. Lowe held the audience, ranging in age from 9 to 85, spellbound, answering questions and relating some of his experiences and anecdotes for over an hour. He and Mrs. Lowe closed the evening by singing the duet "Going Home," Dvorak. All we went home feeling uplifted, morally and spiritually by our contact with these two ministers of God.

LEGION NOTES

From all indications a large number of members and guests will attend the Post's next meeting to be held Wednesday March 22 in the Legion Home at 10 o'clock when State Department Commander John A. Murphy will be a guest. Commander Conrad S. Larson has sent out more than 300 invitations to veterans. This meeting will observe the 20th anniversary of the American Legion.

At this meeting various plans for Memorial and Independence Day will be discussed. It is intended this year to completely change the routine for Memorial Day, with exercises in the morning starting at approximately 9 a. m. Winchester Legionnaires will join Woburn in their exercises at Calvary and after returning to the Post Headquarters will march to Wildwood. It has been reported that Post Commander Wade L. Grindle has received his appointment as a Lieutenant-Colonel in the United States Army Reserves.

The next Middlesex County Council meeting will be held in Memorial Hall, Framingham this Sunday afternoon, March 19 at 3:15 p. m. Delegates and alternates are requested to attend this meeting and reserve their tickets for the dinner with Commander Larson.

We're calling all neighbors from April 8 to April 24.

LIEUT.-COLONEL GRINDLE

Announcement of the promotion of Wade L. Grindle to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel in the Officers' Reserve Corps is only another indication of the diversified capabilities of our high school principal. Mr. Grindle is an all-around man. Professionally he has administered his duties in a manner to reflect credit upon the community and win him the respect and admiration of both the pupils of his school and the members of his faculty. His election to the presidency of the Massachusetts High School Principals' Association and the fact that he has been president of the Middlesex County Teachers' Association attests the esteem in which he is held by his colleagues. His many promotions bespeak his success in the military field, and as Commander several years ago he gave the Winchester Legion Post one of its best administrations. Aside from these more serious vocations and avocations, Mr. Grindle is a genial host and pleasant companion. His college interest in athletics has not lessened, he is an ardent rooter for his teams and an intelligent follower of sports generally. He plays a vigorous game of golf, a good game of tennis (doubles) and an excellent game of bridge. A sense of humor with a genuinely impartial interest in, and liking for young people has enabled Mr. Grindle to keep the high school ship of state on an even keel when a loss of touch and sympathetic insight would have resulted in disaster. He is deserving of the popularity he enjoys and the esteem in which he is held by the town.

SOCRATES SAYS-

The Government to modify laws in order that business may re-employ more people—what a confession!

The Government asked: "to act as a whole." Every boy in the parade out of step 'cept my son.

Our "Good Neighbor" Policy

"Argentina has ordered a sharp reduction in purchases from the United States." "Brazil has ordered four freighters to be built in Germany" etc. etc. etc.

Our "good neighbor" voyage to South America certainly could not have been considered as a "shake down" cruise, neither should our "Hull Blamed Reciprocal Trade Treaty policy" be considered an error but some of it is—something is wrong.

New Dealers have continued to claim their failures as victories, so it may be assumed that our loss of trade in South America "was planned," as usual, to go with the wins.

National Income

In 1929, the peak of the boom, which New Dealers criticized the Bankers for, our national income was $81,000,000,000.

Now President Roosevelt says that all the country needs to balance the budget is an increased national income to $50,000,000,000.

Does he mean now that the $81,000,000,000 boom of 1929 was, after all, desirable, and that the Bankers "had something" at that?

It is well to wonder if a national income of $80,000,000,000 today would give to the Government as much in taxes as the same income would have in 1929.

In the first place, in 1929 large profits prevailed—why not do it now? It will make a great difference to government income whether an $80,000,000,000 income is spread out, or, as they call it, re-distributed, into many smaller incomes or whether it is in the hands of a few.

The question of whether it is more equitable to re-distribute it cannot be decided, for the question is, will an $80,000,000,000 national income balance the budget? This question is not one of social justice.

To balance the budget taxation on the smaller incomes must be vastly increased, and here is the hub—politicians hesitate to lower the range of the small income—what a loss of votes.

Unless spending is curtailed, or the small incomes are all heavily taxed, the budget will not be balanced, and if it is not, a collapse of our whole credit structure, with all the suffering that will mean, cannot be indefinitely postponed.

Famine, unemployment, floods, and war it is always something. If we could plow the politicians under, stop them from vote angling with the sympathies of the news, the unemployed, and labor; give direct relief to those in need; and confidence to business; we could get all that $81,000,000,000 income back again.

American citizens, regardless of their present economic condition, had better insist on national and state balanced budgets, or their plight can be even worse.

Debts

New Dealers say that our debt is no greater in 1938 than in 1929. Now in 1929 industry and individuals borrowed money because they were producing and expanding; in 1938 they did not, because under New Deal theories there is but little profit—thus they paid back their loans. In 1938 the debt is as great, but the difference is that the larger debt is Government's, and will, when paid, be done through taxes not through increased income by progress, production, and expansion.

Paying debts through taxation lowers the standard of living, while paying debts through industry increases the standard of living. It is not what you owe, but what you owe for, that matters.

Our National Income

Since 1935 our average national income per capita has actually been lower than that in England.

What really matters, and all that matters, is what a dollar will buy. Any scheme that relies simply on an increase in national income, and not on increased production of real goods, can only anticipate a lower and lower standard of living for its people.

Millionaires of the Potomac

For 1938 General Farley reports a deficit of $43,800,000.00 for the Post Office Department. Of course, General Farley may not be to blame because his Department showed a deficit of more than $43,800,000.00 in 1938—but why?

This could be accounted for by bookkeeping or, as he says, by free mail for government bureaus, congressmen, etc., but what an indictment of the very democratic party of which he is chairman!

Mr. Farley may point out that the Post Office Department has always been run with a deficit, but he scotched at the necessity of deficits. Never in the history of the Post Office Department has such a large deficit occurred, due to the enormous free mail of any administration. If ever there was a reason for an issue of "special stamps," it is to commemorate the ability of the New Deal National Administration to distribute $48,224,377.13 worth of free service with simply their own stamp of approval.

It is suggested that they get out a new commemorative issue with a picture of these "New Millionaires of the Potomac"—in red.

WINCHESTER TAXPAYERS' ASSOCIATION, INC.

To Winchester Taxpayers:

The Winchester Taxpayers' Association is a member of the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Associations which is the one organization honestly and sincerely representing you as a taxpayer of this state.

Of $77,115,000 appropriated by the legislature in 1938, at least $374,007.50 is going to be paid by Winchester people. That means $27.97 for every man, woman, and child in our town. The Massachusetts Federation devotes its efforts to targeting this very substantial interest of Winchester people.

The directors of the Winchester Taxpayers' Association are in constant and intimate contact with the Federation and personally know that it is doing a really worthwhile job. A great deal of the work is done without compensation by persons interested in lowering taxes. But it is absolutely necessary that the Federation maintain an active research department to obtain the facts with which to combat dangerous tax measures, and to expose waste and corruption in governmental agencies. This costs money.

The corrupt and wasteful spending entering into the nineteen and one-half millions appropriated for hurricane relief is now a matter of common knowledge. But until the Federation put its investigators on the trail of this dishonest spending, it was carried on unnoticed and unexposed. It was the Federation that urged the Attorney General to action, and it was the Federation's persistent exposure of this hurricane spending that brought about the investigations which are now pending and which promise to save taxpayers at least one and perhaps several millions of dollars. Already $360,000 has been saved by the invalidation of contracts made through the Department of Education.

To you, as a taxpayer, the activities of the Taxpayers' Association are important because you personally receive the benefit of them. We want you to know that the Association is doing and we strongly urge you to support it. The dues are only a dollar per year. We must have a membership of 750 in Winchester, and we rely upon you to help us achieve that goal. Membership cards may be obtained from A. T. Smith, Jr., secretary, 235 Mystic Valley Parkway.

PLEASED WITH SHOWING IN ONE AND SIX

To the Editor of the Star:

In your story of last week's town election you state in effect that my failure to be elected Assessor was primarily due to my supporters' inability to get out larger votes in Precinct 1 and 6.

As a matter of fact my supporters in Precinct 1 did an excellent job, and I was much pleased with the size of the vote given me there, really, so much so of my opponent, Professor Whittom, that I was tempted to run a year ago in the town election of those working in my behalf.

The bad weather, rather than any lack of effort on the part of my supporters, was the chief reason why some seem to think was a disappointing showing in Precinct 6.

In fairness to those who worked so hard and faithfully in the interest of my candidacy, I wish these precincts I lost to you, I suggest any misapprehension which your report may have occasioned. I know you will be glad to afford me the opportunity to go so through the Star.

AND NOW OUR SCHOOLS

To the Editor of the Star:

Town election is over and along with our congratulations, we, of the electorate, wish to remind those elected to office that they were elected as servants of the town to perform their duties to the best of their ability. It is to be hoped that the successful candidates will bear this in mind, being ever conscious of the fact that they were elected by the Winchester people to work for their best interests.

The matter of appointments by town department heads is a case in point. Particularly is this pertinent with regards the School Department in general, and the appointment of high school teachers, in particular.

It is understood by this writer that it is necessary for a prospective teacher in the Winchester High School to have a college degree, supplemented by two years of actual experience in a recognized high school. Now, many of our local aspirants for teaching positions have furthered their education at one of our local institutions of higher learning and after having received the necessary degree, have followed the logical course of returning to their local high school to secure the necessary experience. This opportunity has been denied them with the excuse that the Winchester High School cannot jeopardize its standing in the State school system by allowing teachers to teach here who are not experienced. They are, however, encouraged to go elsewhere to gather this experience.

What right has a young person who wishes to teach, and who is a resident of Winchester, to expect some other community to provide for him the opportunity to secure the necessary experience denied him in his home town?

Surely no one feels that young men and women who have been graduated from Winchester High School and later from a recognized university or college, are not qualified to teach. This writer cannot believe this in the light of the money spent by the town to provide the best possible secondary educational facilities.

It is not necessary for me to comment upon recent selections by the School Department. One selection, in particular, has been the object of much criticism. This criticism would not have been so severe had not a former Winchester High School graduate been very well qualified for the position. His qualifications, incidentally, embraced the necessary experience.

It may be somewhat an unjust criticism to point this article at the new School Board since some of its members have not had time to investigate, let alone remedy, the conditions that are prevalent. As a matter of fact, this article is not intended as a destructive criticism of past failures and unanswerable appointments by our School Authorities, but more as a constructive criticism in order that in the future, we, of this town, who are anxious to see our over young men and women succeed will see a change that will benefit Winchester and its residents.

Is it possible that it is inability to teach that has prevented the inclusion of words in everyday use, which had come from Sanskrit, Persian and other very ancient languages. It is stated that more can be learned about ancient peoples and civilizations from studying the language than anything the archaeologists can discover.

Mr. Whittom, a native of England, has been for a number of years professor of Philology at Harvard, coming here from the University of Cairo.

Those who were unable to attend on account of the unusually bad weather missed a most interesting and enjoyable evening.

You'll na dly believe you can get two smooth writing pencils with your initials to go. You can, at the Star Office.

NEW RECREATION SET-UP KILLED

Winchester's playground supervisor, Mr. Tansy could see no need for a council under the present setup and questioned the desirability of a full time paid recreational director at the present state of the town's recreational development.

The meeting was impatient for the question and it was put, the council idea being defeated on a voice vote. A second motion to separate the recreation program from the Parks and Playgrounds was unanimously defeated.

Returning to the acceptance of the budget including parks, playgrounds and recreation, Mr. Davidson moved to increase the amount asked from $19,132 to $19,842, adding $510 for outdoor recreation salaries and $200 to replace shade trees destroyed by the hurricane. After a somewhat heated debate between the Park Commissioner and Dr. Davis, Finance Committee chairman, the tree item was killed, 98 to 40. Another amendment was carried, however, increasing the original figures to $19,842, adding the recreational salary amount.

The meeting then returned to the subject of the recreation center where Mr. Davidson, Dr. Davis and Mr. Geviner of the Finance Committee engaged in a sharp difference of opinion over the amount to be appropriated. Motions were put, apparently carried, and then put again with the meeting becoming more and more confused until upon motion of Mr. Bond consideration of this part of the Parks and Playgrounds budget was tabled until the next meeting.

Aside from this one article there was no debate. The equalization of pay in the fire and police departments was voted without opposition. Consideration of the School Department budget was upon motion of Mr. Allen postponed until the next meeting.

Adjournment was at 11:03 o'clock until Monday evening. A public speaking system of microphones and amplifiers was tried out, and was apparently fairly satisfactory.

Flowers and Coins
Plenty of money has always gone into floral exhibitions, and this is literally true in England, where a florist has succeeded in getting delicate tissue with the aid of silver coins. The drops silver coins in water in which the flowers are standing. Silver hydroxide is formed and the action of the chemical changes the natural color of the blossoms, giving them shadings not possible under natural conditions. After the coloring has proceeded to a satisfactory degree, the coins are removed and a few crumbs of slaked lime or mortar are added to fix the tint.

Black Locust Trees Valuable
Black locust trees produce good timber for posts, furnish blossoms for honey, check soil erosion and enrich the land with nitrogen stored in nodules on their roots.

MEMEL, NEWEST GERMAN-BORDER SORE SPOT

Recent elections in Memel, Lithuania, resulting in reported Nazi-Party victories, swings the busy European spotlight to another German-border sore spot.

Lying along the northeast frontier of East Prussia (now cut off from the rest of Germany by the "Polish Corridor"), Memel Territory is an irregular slice of land covering an area of about 1,000 square miles, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. In general a farming and cattle-raising region, it has a population of about 150,000 people and includes the long-contested and vital Baltic port of Memel—"Klaipeda" to the Lithuanians.

An International Football Given up by Germany under the Versailles Treaty, Memel was administered by the Allied Powers for several years after the World War, continues the bulletin.

In 1924, following Lithuania's action of the previous year in taking over the area, Memel Territory—with certain autonomous rights—was legally ceded to that country in a League of Nations pact signed by Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, and Lithuania. Since then Memel has periodically rated news space as one of Europe's problem children.

Such dramatic events as it has seen since the War, however, are mild compared with the bloody past of this strip of land on the crossroads of international history.

More than 700 years ago, before the town of Memel was founded, its site was a battleground between Lithuanian tribes and invading Teutonic Knights, a military and religious order of German Crusaders. Destroying the Lithuanian fortress which stood guard against Baltic pirates, the Knights built their own stronghold, following it with the town of "Memelburg."

As an early trade center, Memel grew and prospered, but found little peace. In the 13th, 14th and 15th centuries, it was attacked and burned time and again in a three-cornered tug-of-war between Lithuanians, Poles, and Teutons, the latter winning out in the Peace of Melno in 1422.

For a short time in the 1600's, the Swedes called Memel theirs; later it was occupied by Russian troops. After sacking and burning the town they left it to the mercy of a deadly plague. But the stubborn city again survived to its feet. As a thriving Russian town, it became, until the World War, Germany's northernmost Baltic port.

MARGARET SLATTERY

Subject: "The Determined Mind and the Open Book"

"Matter" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read from the Bible, Scientist, throughout the week, on Sunday, March 26. The text is: "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain" (Exodus 20:7).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "While he yet spoke, there cometh one unto him. The name of the synagogue ruler, saying unto him, 'Thy daughter is dead; trouble not the Master. But when Jesus heard it, he answered him, saying, 'Believe only, and she shall be made whole.' And he put them all out and took her by the hand, and called, saying, 'Maid, arise. And her spirit came again, and she arose straightway; and he commanded, and she rose straightway' (Luke 8:49, 50, 54, 55).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures": "And 'Ruler Edith': 'The principle of matter is death; trouble not the Master. But when Jesus heard it, he answered him, saying, 'Believe only, and she shall be made whole.' And he put them all out and took her by the hand, and called, saying, 'Maid, arise. And her spirit came again, and she arose straightway; and he commanded, and she rose straightway' (Luke 8:49, 50, 54, 55).

The text of the Lesson-Sermon is: "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain" (Exodus 20:7).

WYMAN SCHOOL STYLE SHOW

The Wyman School style show which took place Wednesday afternoon, March 15, featured the newest in spring clothes for 1939. It was a riotous medley of color and held something of interest for everyone.

Mrs. J. Warren Shoomaker, president of the School's P. T. A., introduced Miss Beatrice White, of R. H. Stearns, Boston, and spoke in appreciation of their kindness in holding the style show originally chosen for the style presentation.

From leghorn hats semi-fitted coats, linen, silk, dotted Swiss and striped dainty dresses for the very young lady, tweed top coats, rayon suits and caps for the young gentleman to more elaborate costumes for their mothers, the style show emerged with many new fashion notes under Miss White's able presentation.

Master Donald Martin and little Marilyn Chase opened the parade of fashions across the stage and down a white covered path through the center of the room to a chair. Miss Sally Blaine and Master Carter Blaine followed and were the newest eyes of many laughs from an admiring audience.

Among the older fashions were: dark skirts, loosely fitted wool coats, and tweeds. Plats fell from shoulders to hem as displayed by Mrs. John Pearson in navy blue with turquoise trim.

Hats have veils tied in the back, hair, Stearns had supplied a white fur bow in back, worn by Mrs. John Turner. The wimple still continues to be popular. The bolero has come back. Bags are large and voluminous. Colorful accessories of bags, belts, gloves and hat trimmings match. The newest outstanding color note was called shocking pink. Mrs. Charles Burnham was lovely in a black crepe with fingerie applique, and a natural lechman and woven straw hat. Mrs. E. Arthur Tutin, Jr., a rosette dressmaker suit of Botany wool; Miss Natalie White a black Forstmann's wool coat with white piping; Mrs. Langley Keyes was especially lovely in a black Forstmann's wool coat with white piping.

Miss Louise Lane wore an aqua wool coat, double breasted, and semi fitted; Miss June Moffette, a tan rayon wool coat with velvet collar and a natural lechman and woven straw hat; Mrs. E. Arthur Tutin, Jr., a rosette dressmaker suit of Botany wool; Miss Natalie White a black Forstmann's wool coat with white piping; Mrs. Langley Keyes was especially lovely in a black Forstmann's wool coat with white piping.

Though at times evening gowns were shown for the young lady the trend for the matron is for a suggestion of sleeve. There were prints combining all colors of two or three years ago, dresses of very definite style influence. Mrs. Louis Geertz wore a pink net shot with silver embroidery; Miss Helen Butler a red and white print evening dress with unique trim; Mrs. E. Phillips Walker a red-grey and white pure silk evening dress and Mrs. Charles E. Green a white silk flowered print. Miss Betty Dickson wore a gold and brown jacket evening dress.

Music was played throughout the show by Mrs. Harold Blanchard. Mrs. Flagg Avea was the very efficient chairman for the event. Mrs. Edwin Rooney had charge of tickets, and expects to turn in a very favorable report of the ticket sale part of which goes to the Wyman Chapter contribution toward the scholarship fund.

Fajans and palms decorated the hall. Stearns had supplied a white fur bow in back, worn by Mrs. John Turner. The wimple still continues

WINCHESTER THEATRE

The Winchester Theatre's new reduced adult admission has proven very popular with our patrons.

This reduction will in no way reduce the standard of entertainment you have enjoyed at the Winchester Theatre, but it is designed for a greater field of patronage and to acquaint more people with the character of entertainment and service rendered by the Winchester Theatre.

The screen attraction now through Saturday, "The Shining Hour" with Joan Crawford and Robert Young, also "Newsboys Home" with Jackie Cooper and Wendy Barrie.

Coming Sunday through Tuesday, "Dramatic School" with Luise Rainer, Alan Marshall, also "The Storm" with Charles Bickford and Burton MacLane.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH MEN'S CLUB

Major Albert L. Edson, Commanding Officer of the 26th Division Aviation of the National Guard of Massachusetts will discuss the "Latest Developments in Aviation" before the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church on next Thursday evening, March 23, at 8 o'clock. Major Edson was trained at Randolph Field and has had 22 years of flying experience in all types of planes. As Superintendent of the East Boston Airport for the past 10 years he has been intimately associated with every phase of aviation, whether army, commercial or private, and is one of the leading authorities in New England on the subject of aerodynamics.

In war or in peace the world has definitely taken to the air. The story being written across the face of the earth by aviation is at once intensely interesting and mystifying and the members of the Men's Club are looking forward to this unusual opportunity to learn of some of the newest advancements in the design, control and function of airplanes, the trends and possibilities of tomorrow.

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

The Better Homes Garden Club has a still life exhibit featuring fruit and flowers at the Spring Flower Show which opened yesterday and continues through Tuesday in Mechanics' Hall, Boston. Mrs. Norman Mitchell, Mrs. Herbert T. West, Mrs. Frederick N. Hammerstrom and Mrs. Willard Hudson are the committee in charge of the exhibit.

READING THEATRE

One of the best, all around shows for grand entertainment will be shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Reading Theatre.

The feature picture will be "The Dawn Patrol," a great aviation epic of the World War, with an all male cast headed by Errol Flynn, Basil Rathbone and Donald Crisp. It is a tale of the heroism and tragedy that were the daily portion of the brave young knights of the air, who engaged in aerial combat over the western front during the early days of the World War.

The co-feature will be "There's That Woman Again," a delightful comedy starring Melvyn Douglas and Virginia Bruce.

Do not forget those three important dates, March 26, 27, 28, at which time "Sweethearts" starring Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy will be shown at the Reading Theatre.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE TIME TABLE

Thurs., Fri., Sat., March 16, 17, 18, "Trade Winds," 3, 6:20, 9:40; "Thanks For Everything," 1:30, 4:45, 8:05.

Lighting Through Openings

There is no scientific knowledge to support the general belief that lightning which strikes buildings usually comes in through open doors and windows. Stimpson's Nuggets of Knowledge says that lightning might have a tendency to follow a draft only when the air stream is filled with smoke or vapor, thus creating a better conductor of electricity than the surrounding atmosphere. Electricity generated in the clouds follows the line of least resistance to the earth and would not turn from its normal course to run horizontally merely because a door or window was open.

ST. MARY'S PRESENTED IRISH MINSTREL PROGRAM

The opening performance of St. Patrick's Day Irish Minstrel presented by the Holy Name Society and Ladies' Sodality of St. Mary's Parish took place Wednesday evening in the town hall with a large and enthusiastic audience.

The show was divided into two parts, the first, "Irish Laughter," being Irish in locale and written especially for St. Mary's performance by the director of the show, Leon H. Mayer. Dancing was under the direction of Doris M. Schroeder, makeup was by D. William Lynch, lighting by William D. Bright and music by Ed Hanlon's Orchestra. Mr. Hanlon Mayer, dancing was under the direction of Doris M. Schroeder, makeup was by D. William Lynch, lighting by William D. Bright and music by Ed Hanlon's Orchestra.

Following the Irish sketch came a brief vaudeville program with George Rushworth as master of ceremonies. Robert "Rusty" Donaghey, former Winchester High all around athlete, was heard in vocal solos; Marguerite Dero appeared in a fast moving dance specialty and the over popular Winchester Hill-Billies, "Slim" Simmonetta, "Swede" Ganey, "Gug" Magliacchi and "Pat" Ferrina entertained with their characteristic melodies.

Part two of the program featured an old fashioned minstrel show with Harry Boyle as interactor and Thomas Travers and Grand Knight Dana Kelley of Winchester Council, K. C., as assisting soloists. The show was brought to a spectacular finale with a striking tableau, "For God and Country," in which the part of Liberty as played by Katherine Roache, Uncle Sam by Daniel Lydon, P. G. K. of Winchester Council; and a Priest by John Murphy.

The show will be repeated tonight in the town hall and will be followed by dancing. Following are the casts and musical numbers:

VESUVIUS STILL THREATENS POMPEII

Mount Vesuvius has been in eruption again, and although the outburst did no damage to the surrounding countryside, its red-hot lava and illumination of the sky served as a reminder that the volcano is still a potential menace. It may yet undo all the work of archeologists at Pompeii.

Destroyed by Vesuvius on Aug. 24, 79 A. D., and covered more deeply by subsequent eruptions, Pompeii remains buried and forgotten for centuries, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society headquarters at Washington, D. C. Its ruins were discovered by accident in 1594 during the tunneling for an aqueduct.

Picture of Life 1,900 Years Ago

Extensive digging was begun in 1748, but chiefly to recover and sell art objects. Not until 1860 was any attempt made to preserve for the future the city's valuable revelations of life in the first century. In the newer excavations, pieces of furniture, sculpture, and household utensils are being left for exhibition in the houses where they were found.

Formerly, such treasures were carried off to the National Museum in Naples. This museum furnishes an excellent pre-view for the excavations themselves. It presents a fascinating picture of the daily life of Pompeii nearly 1,900 years ago—a city destroyed, but at the same time preserved by ashes and cinders from flaming Vesuvius. On display are charred loaves of bread, wine and oil jars, and surgical instruments in use among Pompeians when the eruption stopped them in their tracks.

Fifteen miles from Naples, Pompeii lies about a mile from the foot of the smoking, saddle-shaped volcano. Visitors usually receive two surprises. Expecting to see only a few ruined houses, they are unprepared for the many buildings which are closely built for block after block. Pompeii is almost two miles in circumference. At the time of its burial, it was a flourishing commercial center, and a fashionable resort for wealthy Romans. Cicero had a villa there. It had a population of between 20 and 30 thousand. Approximately 2,000 Pompeians perished in the catastrophe.

Pompeians Lived Much in Public

Most of the houses are roofless, their roofs having been crushed in by the weight of the volcanic stones, or having been salvaged as building material by returning survivors soon after the eruption of 79 A. D. Many of the walls are still standing, however. Frescoes on some of them are almost as fresh as if painted yesterday instead of 19 centuries ago.

HOW TO END DEPRESSIONS

Seven weeks ago the Star printed an announcement of the beginning of a second series of ten free lectures being given in Winchester on the subject of why there is an increase in poverty as the general wealth of a community increases—why we have recurring industrial depressions—why so many people who desire to work cannot find gainful employment—and a study of a suggested solution to all these problems. Every resident of Winchester is directly or indirectly interested in a solution of these problems.

At the start of the course of lectures there were several of those who did not agree with the ideas or solution proposed, but as the series progressed they were more and more impressed with the fundamental logic and practicality of the theories expounded. The course is based on the economics and social philosophy of Henry George and his book "Progress and Poverty" is used as a textbook.

In last week's lecture is the following statement:

"We have traced the want and suffering that everywhere prevail among the working classes, the recurring paroxysms of industrial depression, the scarcity of employment, the stagnation of capital, the tendency of wages to the starvation point, that exhibit themselves more and more strongly as material progress goes on, to the fact that the land on which and from which all must live is made the exclusive property of some."

"We have seen that there is no possible remedy for these evils but the abolition of their cause; we have seen that private property in land has no warrant in justice, but stands condemned as the denial of natural right—a subversion of the law of nature that as social development goes on must condemn the masses of men to a slavery the hardest and most degrading."

"We have weighed every objection, and seen that neither on the ground of equity or expediency is there anything to deter us from making land common property by confiscating rent."

"But a question of method remains. How shall we do it?"

"We should satisfy the law of justice, we should meet all economic requirements, by at one stroke abolishing all private titles, declaring all land public property, and letting it out to the highest bidders in lots to suit, under such conditions as would sacredly guard the private right to improvements."

"To do that would involve a needless shock to present customs and habits of thought—which is to be avoided."

"I do not propose either to purchase or to confiscate private property in land. The first would be unjust; the second, needless."

Those attending last week Tuesday evening were given the details of the suggested solution, which does not contain any communism, socialism, or any other isms.

Requests have been received that these ten free lectures be repeated for a third time here in Winchester, and it has been decided to start the next series on Tuesday evening, March 28, at 8 p. m. A meeting will be held each Tuesday evening for 10 weeks. The American Legion Post of Winchester has kindly consented to the use of a room at their home, 84 Washington street, next door to the public library.

The public, both men and women, is cordially invited. The lectures are non-political and non-sectarian, and do not require any previous knowledge of economics and social philosophy. If you are interested to know what is going on and to gain a knowledge of at least one explanation of what is fundamentally wrong in our world of today, you will be well rewarded for the time devoted to attendance.

COAKLEY TO HEAD LIONS

John F. Coakley of the J. F. Winn Co. was elected president of the Winchester Lion's Club at its organizational meeting Monday in Scholl's banquet hall. Following the luncheon and business session, a representative of the Wyerhauser Lumber Co. showed motion pictures and spoke upon the subject, "Men and Trees."

The complete list of officers elected for the ensuing year includes:

President—John F. Coakley
First Vice President—Leo F. Garvey Second Vice President—James Chisholm
Treasurer—Fred H. Scholl
Directors—William Murray, Robert Knox

Glasses, 5c and 10c bags at the Star Office.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Conservation Group will present Mrs. Grace Maynard in an illustrated lecture on "Homes and Gardens of Yesterday." Fortnightly Hall on Tuesday, March 21, at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Maynard appears in Colonial costume, has a delightful story to tell of lovely old homes, fine old stairways, stately doorways, gorgeous gardens, and her colored pictures are indeed an artistic triumph. An enjoyable afternoon is ahead for those Maynard.

Tea will be served by Mrs. C. Edward Newell and Mrs. Edward R. Grosvenor.

"Artichokes For Dinner"

A great tribute to the reputation of the Fortnightly Dramatic Group was exhibited by the goodly number of courageous citizens who braved the perils of the blizzard to enjoy a perfectly splendid performance of Lindsey Barbee's clever comedy about three small town girls who set forth to carve careers, individually and collectively, in the big town.

Molly Brody, Alice La Rose and Ruth Palmer played the leads, and presented a delightfully smooth-running performance that proved enjoyable to the eye as well as the ear. Dorothy Willis, as the colored maid, was superb, her every appearance increased the enjoyment of an admiring audience. The supporting cast, Helen Allan, Christine Clark, Helen Reschner, Lillian Palmer and Muriel Barnes were perfect in their parts, adding much to the humor of the various situations. Great credit is due Edith Chamberlain as coach, for the splendid play she has done, to have given Fortnightlyans this third, very enjoyable, dramatic afternoon.

TWO AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

The first of two automobile accidents in Winchester over the past week-end took place at 12:25 Friday afternoon when a Packard sedan, registered to T. Hitchcock, Jr., of 6 Marion avenue, Woburn, while heading east on Swanton street, was in collision with a Dodge sedan, owned by Julia Fitzgerald of 165 Washington street and driven by Thomas J. Bane of Lebanon street. Bane told the Police he was heading west at the time of the accident and had stopped to permit the Packard to pass his car before entering the lower gate at Boyes & Cobb. He said as the operator, a woman whose name he did not secure, applied her brakes the Packard skidded into his car, causing some damage, but no injuries. The Police got in touch with the owner of the Packard and had the operator report at Headquarters to check on her story of the accident.

Shortly after 6 o'clock Sunday evening Gordon C. Olmstead, of 16 School street, Woburn, reported at Headquarters that as he was driving a Plymouth sedan south on Main street and had stopped before entering the Lincoln Filene Station at 84 1/2 Main street, his machine was in collision with a Pontiac sedan, driven south by Harold J. Haskar of 5 Annapolis street, Dorchester. Both cars were damaged and Marion Olmstead, riding in the Plymouth, complained of being shaken up.

CLARA FOUNTAIN CARSON MUSICAL

The Clara Fountain Carson Junior Music Social Club at its Saturday meeting in the Carson Studio presented a mid-winter musical program with pupils from Medford, Woburn, Malden, Arlington and Winchester offering instrumental solo and duet selections.

Among those participating were Constantine LeBlanc, Joseph LeBlanc, Robert Barstow, Paul Barstow, Elizabeth West, Mary McDonald, Jackie McDonald, Nicholas Perros, Elaine Tebbetts, Hubert Smith, Gerald Bois, Marie Brown, James Ferras, Shirley Moulton, Herbert Sackovich, Thomas Pecora, Martha White, Wilmo White, Alice Mobbs, Gene Moore, Francis Bresnahan, Ronald McDonald, Harry Robertson, Ralph Collazo, Kathleen O'Donohy, Irma Bennett, John Trudeau and Jeanne Roache.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The managing editor of "Our Message," Grace M. Putnam, writes an encouraging word in the January number of her paper.

"This is the year of years, when we honor our leader, Frances E. Willard, more than ever before. What she said of us years ago she would probably say today. It was this:

"I have no fears for the women of America. They will never content themselves with remaining stationary in methods or in policy, much less sound a retreat in their splendid warfare against the saloon in law and the saloon in politics. The tides of the mother heart do not change; we can count on them always. The voice of Miriam still cheers the brave advance, and along the line we hear the battle cry: 'Speak to the children of Israel that they go forward.'"

WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND CHAPTER MOTHERS ASSOCIATION

The March meeting of the Washington-Highland Chapter has been cancelled on account of the snow storm.

The next meeting, which is Dad's Night, will be held April 11. Mrs. Arthur Fay and Mrs. Gleam Browning will give a tea for the mothers of the fifth grade children at the home of Mrs. Fay, 6 Fells road, Tuesday, March 21.

WHY REAL ESTATE?

Second in a series of articles by Regional W. Bird, President, Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers Associations

Real estate has been the financial foundation of government since the early days of Massachusetts. But the new functions of government and expansion of departments and personnel have year by year for upwards of a century loaded an increasing burden on property.

Real estate is destroyed by taxation and confiscated by government because the owners can not pay the tax—that is where democracy stops and autocracy sets in. The small, independent home owner of the United States has been the backbone of our democracy. If he is destroyed, democracy perishes.

Today real estate is paying two-thirds of all state and local taxes in Massachusetts, and still the burden piles on. The state, the cities and the towns face a grave financial situation. That situation has been in the making for that has sprung up overnight but it has grown rapidly worse in the depression years.

One doesn't have to look far for symptoms.

There is warning in sluggish tax collections which have fallen behind the soaring tax rates—fallen so sharply as to shake the financial standing of a number of cities and towns.

There is warning in the real distress of countless home owners.

There is warning in the blight that has throttled the construction industry since the second largest employer of labor.

And there is warning in stilled factories—where mills have failed or left the state, and new factories have hesitated to enter Massachusetts while competing states offer low taxes or even complete tax exemption.

Any property owner, any home owner, will tell you how his taxes have gone up. Take as a single example the case of one man who built a cottage in a Massachusetts city in 1914 and in that first year paid a moderate tax bill of $69. Last year his bill for that same house, grown 24 years older and shabbier, had jumped to $286.73, a four-fold increase. There are similar cases among your own neighbors.

That sort of increase unfortunately is typical of much that is happening in Massachusetts. Since 1916 the average of all the city and town tax rates has nearly doubled—jumped from $18.88 to $36.94, and still the trend is upward.

To mills competing with goods made in other states, that means sharply higher costs. Is it any wonder that the New England Council's recent survey of manufacturers showed taxes as the most important single cause of high production costs?

With higher taxes, the actual market value of property has fallen, and for thousands of pieces of property there is no market. Is it any wonder that towns and cities have had to seize and now hold 75,000 pieces of property on which the owners could not pay the taxes, and could not even sell the property?

As taxes rise, the buildings that could earn enough to pay the tax bill have been torn down—an outburst of destruction of taxable property. In Boston alone last year 330 buildings were torn down. The same is happening throughout the State. Is it surprising, therefore, that assessed values have fallen by one billion dollars since 1927? That is a shrinkage of 15 per cent in the assessed source in the state.

With higher taxes, owners of property in many cases have been unable to pay mortgages. Is it any wonder that banks in this state now own $200,000,000 in real estate?

With taxes soaring, is it any surprise that the building industry has slumped, dwindling last year to one-fourth of the $148,000,000 volume reached in 1928?

The seriousness of this problem goes far beyond the effect on individual property owners. It touches the heart of the welfare of the entire commonwealth, and led the Special State Commission on Taxation and Public Expenditures to report last year:

"Neither a campaign for the revival of the building industry nor the state's efforts to attract new industry can succeed, however vital to recovery, under existing real estate tax levies. Industrial expansion and the reemployment of our building trades craftsmen will not be realized under our present system."

Meanwhile the depression has accentuated the grave problem of unemployment and welfare relief. In ten years, welfare costs in Massachusetts have gone up nearly four-fold, not including any Federal aid. Welfare and relief now take $1,000,000 a week in state and local money alone. And that welfare load has been piled almost entirely upon real estate.

More serious, the Special Tax Commission reported the welfare burden had become to a large extent a permanent load, representing higher standards of public assistance and a liberalized public attitude. Thus, with full economic recovery, welfare will continue as a substantial tax burden.

Yet, because we are not facing this problem squarely and providing specific revenue for it, we are allowing it to crush us by resting the burden almost entirely on the back of real estate.

Mayors of some of our large cities felt as you and I did five years ago that this welfare burden was temporary, and therefore they borrowed to meet some of their welfare expenditures—a procedure that can not be continued indefinitely. But if there had been no borrowing and if property assessments were on a basis of true valuations, the tax rates in some of our industrial centers would have run to the astounding figure of $80, $90 or even $100.

The problem is one that must be faced, and faced realistically.

FOR EVERY HOME

Built for ACTION-PRICED the same way!

The model illustrated is the Buick Special model 41 four-door touring sedan $996 delivered at Flint, Mich.

FIRST time we saw the blueprints for this Buick thirty-nine we knew we had something pretty special for folks who like action in their travels.

It had eight eager cylinders in a mighty Dynaflex engine—and they could make a scared jack rabbit eat dust whenever the word was given!

It had a ride we promptly dubbed "full float"—its stout coiled springs are now 15% softer in the rear, and hooked up, in front, with Kneecap Action that banks curves for you.

It had a view, a gorgeous view, from windows and windshields as much as 412 square inches bigger—and it had style that has already altered the pattern on many another carstylist's drawing board.

So we looked it all over—and went a step further. We decided a car so plainly meant for action needed to have a price that would get action for it!

Now it isn't easy to build such a traveler—rich in reliable Buick quality clear down to the metals it's made of—and still give it a price that rubs elbows with the sixes.

But just look around, match up the price tags, and you'll find that this great straight-eight lists for less than some cars with two fewer cylinders!

It comes complete with equipment that's extra in many another instance—yet the figures still read lower than on Buick of a year ago.

So when you see this Buick you not only see the car, but the one big value of the year. That's why we're anxious to have you try Buick—it's a car with a winning way about it, and a winning price tag in the bargain!

NO OTHER CAR IN THE WORLD HAS ALL THESE FEATURES

WOULD YOU DRIVE WITHOUT A SPARE TIRE?

The wise family man needs life insurance for readjustment just as much as his car needs a spare tire. Whether it is all the protection he owns, or simply one policy in a complete life insurance program, it is likely to be the most important factor in his family's financial future—if they ever have to go along without him.

The John Hancock readjustment plan is designed with the idea of continuing the breadwinner's support for a year or more after death. It gives dependents time to prepare for living on a reduced income or for arranging to replace the breadwinner's earnings with their own.

This special protection is within the reach of every man who can earn a comfortable living for his family today. Ask a John Hancock representative about the Readjustment Plan or write for descriptive booklet.

REPORT OF BOSTON EDISON CO.

M. S. P. C. A.

Boston Edison Company today began the distribution of the pamphlet report of its operations for the year ended December 31, 1938. As announced several weeks ago these operations resulted in earnings for the year of $8,384,384, a very satisfactory showing in view of the very costly hurricane of last September.

For some years the Edison Company has sent a copy of its annual report to each employee, as well as to each stockholder, and this year the distribution is supplemented by a special letter from President Frank D. Comerford to the employees, which is in effect an annual report to employees.

Among the interesting Boston Edison facts not generally known which President Comerford brings to the attention of employees are these:

1. More than 80 per cent of stockholders, as of March 14, 1938, owning 77 per cent of the total stock, live in Massachusetts.
2. More than 50 per cent of stockholders, owning 62 per cent of the total stock, are customers of the Boston Edison Company.
3. Of the 111,187 individual stockholders, 7,384 are women and 3,733 are men.
4. Of the 16,260 stockholders, 14,020 or 86 per cent, own 50 shares or fewer of stock, and only 877, or five per cent, own more than 100 shares.
5. That the rate of return of Edison stock, based on $166.60 a share, the average price paid at the time of issue for all shares of stock now outstanding, is only 4.8 per cent.
6. That the Company's total expenditures in 1938 for payroll, annuity and insurance costs, all for the benefit of employees, were $7,585,646.
7. That the Company's total expenditures for taxes in 1938 were $6,373,461, or 19.4 cents out of every dollar of gross revenue.
8. That the Company's total expenditures for dividends in 1938 were $4,937,288, or 15.0 cents out of every dollar of gross revenue.
9. That the Company's tax bill for the year represented a payment of $1,800.97 for each employee, and $10.33 for each share of outstanding stock.

President Comerford's letter concludes with these remarks:

"The management has, therefore, a three-fold responsibility which may be summarized as follows:

1. To the Public: To render the best possible service at the lowest possible rates consistent with fair wages to its employees and a fair return to investors.
2. To the Employees: To pay the highest possible wages consistent with fair rates to consumers and fair return to investors.
3. To Investors: To pay a fair return on money invested consistent with fair rates to consumers and fair wages to employees.

"These responsibilities are all interrelated; each must be considered with due weight to the other two; and it is management's function so to conduct the affairs of the Company that there will be a proper balance between the rates charged the consumer, the dividends paid to stockholders, and wages paid employees."

"The year 1938 was a very trying one for the Company. During the first part of the year, the recession which started in the summer of 1937 continued to affect our business adversely. Then in the fall of 1938, when economic conditions had started to improve, the hurricane of Sept. 21, 1938, caused unprecedented damage to our properties. But in spite of these tremendous handicaps, the Company, by its strong financial position and by your active cooperation, was able to complete the year in a way which, considering all factors, was satisfactory."

"The management appreciates the cooperation extended by the employees during the entire year, and desires to express again its appreciation for the outstanding service you rendered in restoring service subsequent to the hurricane."

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

"Wings of the Navy," comes to the screen of the University Theatre next Sunday with a cast headed by George Brent, Olivia de Havilland, John Payne and Frank McHugh. As its title aptly indicates, "Wings of the Navy" is a story laid against a background of naval aviation.

Gay, whimsical comedy forms the background for the romantic story of "The Girl Downstairs," the associate feature starring Franciska Gaal and Franchot Tone. It is the modern, scintillating comedy romance of a scullery maid who wins a sweetheart in the lofty ranks of society. Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, the screen's most popular singing team, make their fifth appearance together, starting Wednesday in "Sweethearts," elaborate Technicolor filmization of the famous Victor Herbert operetta. W. S. Van Dyke II, who directed the singing team in their previous Herbert success, "Naughty Marietta," directed the new musical, and the distinguished supporting cast features Frank Morgan, Ray Bolger, Florence Rice, Mischa Auer, Herman Bing and Reginald Gardiner.

Miss MacDonald and Eddy portray two Broadway musical comedy stars who are husband and wife in private life.

"While New York Sleeps," the companion picture, features Michael Whalen and Jean Rogers.

MYSTIC THEATRE

A fresh and interesting departure from his previous pictures, Jack Holt's "The Strange Case of Dr. Meade" opened Thursday at the Mystic Theatre, Malden, for three days. Beverly Roberts and Noah Beery, Jr. head the supporting cast.

A timely and thrilling feature concerning espionage is the second attraction now playing at the Mystic Theatre, "Navy Secrets," featuring Fay Wray and Grant Withers.

Starting Sunday and running for four days the Mystic Theatre will present "The Great Waltz," glamorous musical drama based on the life of Johann Strauss famous composer of "The Blue Danube." Tales of the Vienna Woods and many other popular compositions. The picture stars Laine Rainer, Fernand Gravet and Miliza Korjus and an exceptionally fine supporting cast includes Hugh Herbert, Lionel Atwill, Al Shean, Minna Gombell, George Houston, Bert Roach, Herman Bing, Alma Kruger, Henry Hull, Sig Ruman and Christian Rub.

"Hearts of the North," the Warner Bros. production in Technicolor which will be the second attraction at the Mystic Theatre, Malden starting Sunday. Heading the list are Dick Foran, Gloria Dickson, Gale Page, Janet Chapman, Allen Jenkins, Patric Knowles and James Stephenson.

Due to the extreme length of these two pictures there will only be one complete show matinee and evening on Monday and Wednesday. You may see both pictures in the evening as late as 8.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

Easily the best service picture to reach the screen is "Wings of the Navy," with an impressive cast that includes George Brent, Olivia de Havilland, John Payne, John Littel, Victor Jory, Frank McHugh, Regis Toomey and Henry O'Neill, runs a seven day run at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. "Wings of the Navy" is a completely compelling production that holds the spectator completely engrossed from the first minute to the last and has him on the edge of his seat most of the time. Filmed with the complete cooperation of the United States Navy, the production has a patriotic educational side in that it gives the spectator a thorough comprehension of the extent and competence of the Navy's air establishment.

"Ambush," with Lloyd Nolan, Gladys Swarthout, William Frawley and Broderick Crawford as the stars, will be the second attraction on the bill starting today. "Ambush," is the story of a perfect crime carried out by a gang of super-bands under the master mind of Ernest Truax. With the aid of a smoke screen the gang escapes with $38,000. Gladys Swarthout is cast as a stenographer who is seduced by the gang leader, her younger brother is a member of the gang and tracks them to their hide-out.

Something new. Smooth writing pencils in attractive covers with your initials. See them at the Star Office.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Jesse James," a picture two years in the making and filmed entirely in Technicolor, will open a seven day engagement at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. The cast includes Tyrone Power, Henry Fonda, Nancy Kelly, Randolph Scott, Henry Hull, Slim Summerville, J. Edward Bromberg, Brian Donlevy, John Carradine, Jane Darwell and Donald Meek. This epic story of a lawless era is a true and stirring picture of the most colorful outlaw that ever lived. It shows how Jesse James and his equally famous brother, played by Henry Fonda, began their career of crime as a direct result of the murder of their mother by an unscrupulous hireling of the St. Louis Midland railroad, a role played by Brian Donlevy. "Jesse James" is a stirring film and its Technicolor photography adds much to the enjoyment.

"While New York Sleeps," a Roving Reporter story, with Michael Whalen, Jean Rogers, Chick Chandler and Joan Woodbury as the stars, will be the second attraction on the bill starting today.

You'll hardly believe you can get two smooth writing pencils with your initials for 5c. You can, at the Star Office.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage given by J. Hamilton Lane and Violeta Ridgway Lane, husband and wife, as tenants by the entirety, to James A. Bailey, dated July 1, 1937, recorded with Middlesex South District Deeds, Book 105, Page 35, for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same will be sold at public auction on the premises hereinafter described on Monday, March 27, 1939, at four o'clock in the afternoon, at the Court House of the County of Middlesex, said premises conveyed by the said mortgage and thereinafter described as follows:

A certain parcel of land with one single dwelling house thereon numbered 5 on Wildwood Terrace, being part of the premises shown on Plan of Land Belonging to William H. Maynard Estate, Winchester, Mass., September, 1925, Parker, Holbrook, Engineer, duly recorded in Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds. Said parcel is bounded and described as follows:

Northerly by the Northerly side line of Wildwood Terrace as shown on said plan and by said side line extended in a straight line to the line marked "Top of Slope" on said plan about forty-two (42) feet; Westerly by said line marked "Top of Slope" on said plan about forty-two (42) feet; Southerly by said line of said Town of Winchester twenty and 3/10 (20.30) feet; Westerly on said land of said Town of Winchester twenty and 3/10 (20.30) feet; Southerly on said land of said Town of Winchester twenty and 3/10 (20.30) feet; Northerly by the line midway between the Northerly side line of said house and the Southerly side line of said house numbered 4 on said Terrace. Together with and with all rights of way for all purposes in common with others having rights therein, and subject to the front and side line of Winchester to lay and maintain water and sewer pipes in said Terrace.

Being the premises conveyed to us by deed of Stuart Eldridge and Helen N. Eldridge of even date and herewith to be recorded.

Said premises will be sold subject to any unpaid taxes or other municipal liens or encumbrances whatsoever.

Terms: One hundred dollars ($100.) will be required to be paid in cash at the time of sale and the balance in thirty days.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
MIDDLESEX, SS. PROBATE COURT

To John H. Terry, Jr., Helen P. Terry, Jean Wray, William A. Purdy, Jessie P. Purdy, Anthony H. Brackett, Gladys MacAdam, William A. Young, Helen S. Young and Ralph A. White, of Winchester, in the County of Middlesex, defendants:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by said A. White, Executor, claiming that the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situate in said Winchester, bounded and described as follows:

Southerly by Kenilworth Road 241.26 feet; Easterly by said road 100.03 feet; Northerly by land now or formerly of John H. Terry, Jr., et al 100.03 feet; Northerly by land now or formerly of Jean Wray 17.00 feet; and Northerly by land now or formerly of Jessie P. Purdy et al 185.04 feet.

Petitioner claims as appurtenant to the above-described land the right to use in common with others, entitled thereto, Kenilworth Road for all purposes for which public streets are used in the Town of Winchester.

The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

If you desire to make any objection or defense to said petition or to the attorney under a written appearance and an answer under oath, setting forth clearly and specifically your objections or defense to each part of said petition, in the office of the Recorder in said Court, on or before the third day of April next.

Unless an appearance is so filed by or for you, your default will be recorded, and the petition will be taken as confessed and you will be bound to execute a deed of conveyance of the premises to the Recorder in said Court on or before the third day of April next.

Witness, JOHN E. FENTON, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this fourth day of March in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-nine.

Attest with Seal of said Court.

Several members of the club enjoyed last week end as guests of the Black and Blue Trail Smashers at their farmhouse in New Hampton, N. H., where they had first hand information as to the plan of a ski club operating its own quarters. Ken Thompson, who was one of those on the trip will give the members his report on this idea at the next meeting on Monday night (March 20, at 7:30 p. m. at Dick Harlow's, 71 Yale street.

Several other members who could not get away for the club week-end enjoyed excellent skiing in the snow storm of Sunday at Horn Pond Mountain on the slopes prepared by the Innitout Ski Runners of Woburn with some assistance of the Winchester Ski Club. This slope or trail, which for want of a better name at the present may be called the "Northwest Passage," due to its northwest exposure, offers a very snappy course which is interesting to the best and at the same time it's gradually sloping base provides ample facilities for the beginner. All it needs is a ski tow to make it an ideal local ski spot.

If the present soggy snow holds until Sunday and the weather is clear and warm, there should be as fine a sample of spring skiing locally as it will be possible to find except that it will be on a smaller scale than in the higher northern mountains.

The annual play and dance of the Metcalf Union, the young people's society of the Winchester Unitarian Church, was given on Saturday evening, March 4 and proved to be one of the most successful in many years. In fact, more than one person voted it the best ever given, which is indeed a high compliment since these plays have become traditional and have always maintained a high standard. This one, entitled "Never Trouble Trouble" aired the various difficulties of the Jones family very amusingly and in this case it was "the Joneses" who were engaged in "keeping up" with their wealthier friends. All the parts were very well taken and the play was very ably coached by Mrs. Frederick H. Norton. The stage setting was in charge of Mrs. H. L. Darling. The properties were done by Frances Keyes and Priscilla Flagg was the prompter.

Several of the cast worked many hours on repainting the scenery and Mr. Kenneth Pratt gave generously of his time on this and any other details.

Ned Marshall's orchestra furnished the music for the dance which followed and this is always an added attraction.

The purpose behind this activity is to raise money to send delegates to the annual summer conference of the Young People's Religious Union, with which the Metcalf Union is affiliated and which is held at Star Island, Isles of Shoals, Portsmouth, N. H.

Members of the cast were:

Mrs. Jones Margaret Hall
Mrs. Jones James Weaver
Bill Jones Emmens Ellis
George Jones George Sexton
Mrs. Scott Ruth Olmstead
Marjorie Scott Barbara Hayden
Charles Scott Charlotte Hall
Mr. Manning William Flewelling

Miss Shirley Somerby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Somerby of 20 Everett road, appeared in the English play "Letters" given March 15 at Edgewood Park. The school dramatic club, Curtin and Cue, which sponsored the three language plays during that evening, also gave "La Casa de Dora Paz" and "Leur Bonheur."

ANNUAL FISHERMEN'S SERVICE

At the First Congregational Church next Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock, the 17th annual Fishermen's Service will be held. If the above cut whets your appetite for the wilderness and white water, you will be in the proper mood to enjoy Dr. Child's annual fishermen's address to the devotees of rod and reel. His subject will be "The Green Gods Are Calling." Will fishermen please identify themselves to the ushers so that they may be seated in the reserved seats. Charles A. MRS. ANNA M. DUNNING HONORED

About 80 friends gathered for tea last Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Anna M. Dunning in honor of her 80th birthday. Miss Mary French, Mr. George French and Mrs. Ruth Dunning Hans of New Jersey were all present to bring fullest enjoyment to their mother on her natal day.

Mrs. Albert B. Bent and Mrs. Harris G. LeRoy presided at the tea table. Mrs. Benjamin Hill, Mrs. G. Raymond Bancroft, Mrs. George French and Miss Mary French served. A gay note was added to the party by Mr. Benjamin Hill who secured the names of all present on a card which he gave to Mrs. Dunning as her "nominations papers."

Gifts, cards and flowers in profusion attested the affection and esteem in which Mrs. Dunning is held in the community. Although her home has always held first place, Mrs. Dunning has an enviable record of service in the community as an organizer and executive. Past President of the Fortnightly Club, member of the Needlework Guild, for many years Ladies' Aid president in the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church and at present the honorary president of the Ladies' Aid, an honor never before bestowed in the history of this church, are only a few of her worthy activities. Mrs. Dunning is a sterling example of "Grow old along with me, the best is yet to be" and her first 80 years are only a prelude to many more years of gracious living.

TO PRESENT OLIVET TO CALVARY

Olivet to Calvary, a luteal oratorio by Maunders, is being sung Sunday afternoon, March 26, at 5 o'clock in the Church of the Epiphany by the vested choir of the church under the direction of Organist and Choirmaster Enos Held. Soloists are Mrs. Phillips Walker, soprano, J. Raymond Graham, tenor, Mr. Hold, baritone, and Robert H. Jewell, bass. Miss Dorothy Eaton will be the organist. Olivet to Calvary tells in simple, reverent style the story of the last chapter of Our Lord's life, from his triumphal entry into Jerusalem, through his capture and trial before Pilate, to his death upon the cross at Calvary. The music is especially tuneful, yet descriptive, and beautifully keyed to the text, making the oratorio particularly enjoyable to the average listener.

Maunders' work is first given in Winchester at the Epiphany more than 30 years ago. It has been repeated many times, yet its music and story is one of which few tire. The public is cordially invited to attend Sunday's presentation.

ATTENDED HOP AT WEST POINT

Miss Priscilla Howard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Howard of Main street, and Miss Collette Gaffney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Gaffney of Church street, motored to West Point last Friday to attend the week-end celebration of the United States Military Academy's 138th anniversary. The celebration was climaxed with the anniversary Hop, but there were many other activities, including tea dances, athletic events, movies and even a bit of mountain climbing. The week-end was the last big social event in the lives of the cadets before "June Week."

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Dr. and Mrs. Milton J. Quinn left today for New Orleans, La. Dr. Quinn will attend the convention of the American College of Physicians of which he is a fellow. They plan to visit the Doctor's parents in Missouri, returning to Winchester, April 8.

TOWN MEETING CLOSED

Pay Raise for Teachers Voted. Recreation Reconsideration Killed

An attempt to reconsider the Park Department budget, particularly with reference to the recreation item, was defeated Monday evening as 179 members of Winchester's limited town meeting concluded the current warrant at the first adjourned session in the town hall.

Soon after opening, the meeting moved to the consideration of Article 20 which had been tabled at the opening session after a lengthy wrangle to afford the Park Board and the Finance Committee opportunity to adjust their differences in the matter of the sum to be appropriated for the operation of the town's recreation center.

A motion was introduced by the Park Department asking for $4,490 for the operation of the center. Mr. Bates opposed, feeling that this amount was not enough to include trained leadership at the center for a year. He felt that the Recreation Committee had taken too much for granted in the attitude of Mr. Bates, one of its members, the Park Department and the Finance Committee, all of whom had concurred, he said, with the report of the Recreation Committee, yet had opposed its recommendation at the meeting. He felt that the problem of recreation is a complex one needing the full time attention of a trained leader, one conversant with recreational trends and procedure, and able to recruit the necessary volunteer workers to make it a complete success. Returning to the subject of the Recreation Council, defeated at the previous meeting, he was convinced that the Recreation Committee and the Finance Committee and the Park Department were not too many to assist and advise in the administration of a truly representative and efficient recreation program.

Mr. Caruthers of the Recreation Committee spoke in support of Mr. Bates, also championing the Recreation Council and seeking to clear up some mis-statements made by the opponents of his committee's recommendations. In response to several protests Moderator Hayward finally rapped the speaker to a point of order and the debate would have to be confined to the appropriation of $4,490 for the recreation center. The merits of a recreation council and paid director did not enter into the question.

Parsons suggested that those who favored a reconsideration of the Park Department budget could vote to kill the appropriation for the recreation center, whereupon it was voted in order to reconsider. Mrs. McDonald wanted to know what happened in the event the $4,490 was killed and also the reconsideration of the budget. The Moderator explained in that case there would be no recreation center.

Mrs. McDonald was recorded against killing the $4,490 appropriation and asked the meeting to support the Park Department.

Mrs. Woodside took exception to the previous speaker's statement that the Recreation Committee had exceeded its authority in considering the entire problem of recreation and read from the instructions given that committee to support her statement. She added that the committee's recommendations were made with a view to economical operation and were in the line of progressive thought in the recreational field. They had been made in accordance with the best expert advice the committee could obtain. She felt that trained leadership was vital and that the Recreation Council leadership is provided the School authorities had agreed to the use of the high school gymnasium for the basketball so much wanted by the older boys.

Once again the Moderator had to explain that the speaker was not addressing herself to the question, and at that point Mr. Parsons, in the interest of expediency, moved to lay upon the table the motion to appropriate $4,490. He did this to permit the reconsideration of the Park Department budget so that the Recreation Committee could have an opportunity to present its report and recommendations which some felt had been denied at the previous meeting.

Mr. Hayward took exceptions to this statement and felt that ample time had been afforded for argument by all and sundry at the first meeting. Mr. Symmes concurred, stating that the meeting had considered the problem for one hour and a half last Thursday.

Mrs. Woodside moved to reconsider the Park Department budget, under which three motions had been acted on at the previous meeting. Mr. Bates, stated that he had been persuaded in the interest of committee harmony not to file a minority report for the Recreation Committee but had not understood that the committee was going to add in with a budget, and had expressed himself to the committee as opposed absolutely to the hiring of a paid expert. He said that he would let the cat out of the bag and informed the meeting that the Recreation Committee had a director all slated for the recreation job in Winchester, to start at $2500 a year and advance to $4000.

Mr. Bates opposed the reconsideration; Mr. Bates and Mr. Caruthers favored it, both stating that the committee had no director in mind and no intention of paying any one $4000 per year.

Mr. Guffy favored reconsideration in fairness to the Recreation Committee, the members of which he felt had not had sufficient opportunity

ALDEN—TIBBETTS

At a candlelight ceremony, attended only by members of the immediate families, Miss Martha Thibbets Tibbets, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Edson Tibbets of Sheffield road and Mayberry Hill, Casco, Me., was married Wednesday at the Winchester home of her parents to John Malcolm Alden of Los Angeles, Calif., son of Mrs. Pearl Abelow of Chicago and the late Dr. Donald M. Alden, Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, was the officiating clergyman and the marriage was followed by a buffet supper served to the same group who attended the ceremony and a few close friends.

Miss Tibbets was attended by her sisters, Mrs. Richard Russell Hildreth of Marblehead and Miss Zoe Tibbets. Mr. Hildreth served Mr. Alden and new bride. The bride wore a family wedding gown and carried a conventional shower bouquet. Her attendants were gowned in pink and blue and carried old fashioned bouquets.

After the ceremony Mr. Alden and his bride left by motor for Los Angeles where the bridegroom is engaged in the advertising business.

The bride, a graduate of Winchester High School, achieved success on the stage and in motion pictures, appearing in such Broadway hits as "Face the Music," "Let 'Em Eat Cake" and "Say When."

Her work in the latter production won her a Hollywood contract and she has since played leading roles in many feature pictures by Warner Brothers and Columbia, including "Shipmates," "Ceiling Zero," "Honey-moon Pilot" and "Ranger Courage." Mrs. Alden is a descendant on her father's side of Governor Bradford of the Plymouth Bay Colony and on her mother's side of John and Priscilla Alden and the New England Thorndikes, commenced dancing in public at the age of seven. She studied at the Copley School of Acting under E. E. Clive and appeared in "The Mid-ship Watch" at the Copley Theatre, later dancing with the first Hans Wiener Group to appear at the Symphony Pop Concerts in Boston. In New York she studied voice with Stewart and dancing with Paul H'akon.

Mr. Alden, a direct descendant of John Alden, attended the University of Pennsylvania and was graduated from the University of North Carolina, doing post-graduate work at Harvard. He is now vice president of the Carnation Milk Company and is now vice president of Logan & Rouse, an advertising house well known in the advertising world. He is a member of the Los Angeles Town Hall and Somerset House.

UNITARIAN MEN'S CLUB

When the new Czech-Slovakian Republic was formed after the World War in 1918 an era of religious freedom dawned and two brave men, one broke away from the established church. In 1921 Dr. Norbert Capek, a Czech, sponsored by the American Unitarian Association returned from the U. S. A. to his native land to contribute to the liberal religious life according to his best knowledge and ability. Through public lectures, forums, and private conferences he worked mainly among those who were not members of any church. His message met a widespread popular need and its success was extraordinary. In 1922 he organized a "Liberal Religious Fellowship" and from that group there grew the Unitarian Church, organized in 1930 and accepted as a state-acknowledged church.

It is thoroughly organized with societies of men, women and young people. The regular congregation consists of about 100 members, meeting in the auditorium that seats only 600 so the whole service, sermon and all, is repeated Tuesday evening to a different group. Since the crisis Dr. Capek has been working to bring the Unitarian Church to life. He has worked with them. He is a great force in the church and the directing power in the Unitarian home. He has supervised all the social and relief work carried on by the church as well as extensive post office mission work through the outlying districts.

Mrs. Capek is in this country on an informal good will mission to bring greetings from her church to ours from her people to us and to give us news of their condition, their problems, their hopes and their efforts to realize these.

Mrs. Capek will speak in our Unitarian Church on Wednesday evening, March 29, under the auspices of the Winchester Unitarian Men's Club assisted by the Ladies Friendly Society. On account of the great interest in Czech-Slovakia a capacity attendance is expected. A cordial invitation to attend the supper and lecture is extended to all. For tickets notify Mr. George W. Hayden, Win. 0120.

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!—CALLING ALL NEIGHBORS

To Support Winchester Community Chest

To Village Inhabitants: Be it known that ye are hereby summoned to work and to give of pounds and shillings to community betterment starting the 10th day of April and thence continuously for a fortnight thereafter. And ye are further summoned to feast together at sundown on the evening of April 10 in the exercise room of our village school on the hill near the river. There ye will learn why ye must work to make our village happier, healthier, and safer for our children, our elders, and our sick.

Those who will benefit by the work ye do and the shillings ye give are the Medicine House, the Home of the Elders, the Village Nurse, the Indian Scouts and the Girl Squads. Fail not to heed and obey this summons for y' town's crier speaks in the name of the Chest law.

VAU-DEVIL SHOW TONIGHT

The Winchester High School has been in a state of turmoil and confusion all during the week. The reason? The annual "Vau-Devil Show," which will be presented this evening in the high school auditorium. The various committees are busy making final arrangements for what seems to be one of the most successful vau-devil shows that the athletic association has ever presented.

A check-up with Miss Knowlton and Ed Penney, the ticket committee, reveals the fact that the tickets have been going fast and will probably be sold out by tonight. There will be 18 acts in all, each one entirely different from the others. As in other years, the outstanding acts of the show will be a tumbling performance. This season's tumbling team should be better than ever for it is under the capable direction of Coach Lauer and Ken Gurnee. The latter is a former member of the high school and is now at Springfield, which has one of the best gym teams in the country.

Another thing which should prove enjoyable is being secretly planned by Mr. Bartlett of the faculty and Wallace Howard. Even Miss Young, Mr. Lauer and Mr. Hayward should be interested in seeing this act as they have the slightest idea what it is like.

Music for the performance is to be supplied by Albert Smith's orchestra. The show begins at 8 o'clock sharp.

MRS. ROBERT A. REYNOLDS HONORED AT TEA

Miss Mary Low Hodge, of Edgell road, opened her home on Monday for the last board meeting of the Fortnightly Club year, which was followed by a tea, in honor of Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds, the retiring president of Fortnightly. During the tea, Mrs. Reynolds was presented with a lovely evening bag, of Beauséant embroidery, which contained an exquisite lace handkerchief, a Cloisonné compact and a pen and pencil set, a gift from the Fortnightly Board in appreciation for the happy two years of service together.

Mrs. Ashley K. Hayden and Mrs. Jesse S. Wilson, past presidents of Fortnightly, were the guests of the tea. Presentation of the gift was made by Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, representing the board members.

PARENT TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

Judging by the rapidly with which the tickets for the dessert party are being sold everyone realizes what a grand opportunity this is to have a good time while doing a good deed. Certainly the Scholarship Fund needs no explanation, after you have eaten the delicious spring minded dessert you will be more than glad that you helped this worthy cause.

Mrs. George Manning, Lieut-Commander, assisted by Mesdames Tracy Buchee, Eugene Clifton, John C. Bello, Carl Eaton, Russell Ellis, Clarence Forz Arthur Jackson, Robert Goldie, William Keyes, Edward McDewitt, Hollis Nickerson, Richard Parkhurst, Mrs. Preston and John Wallace will serve the dessert 1:30, Friday, March 31, Wyman School.

COMMANDER McMILLAN AT HIGH SCHOOL APRIL 26

The Winchester Teachers' Club is presenting Commander Donald McMillan in an illustrated lecture at the high school auditorium Wednesday evening, April 26, at 8 o'clock for the benefit of its scholarship fund. Commander McMillan is no stranger to Winchester and those who have enjoyed his beautiful pictures and interesting comments upon them will welcome this new opportunity to see and hear him again.

UNION LENTEN SERVICE

A large audience greeted Miss Slattery last Wednesday evening at the fifth lecture in the Lenten series. Rev. George Hale Reed, pastor of the Unitarian Church, conducted the opening service and Mrs. Philip B. Sawyer, president of the Ladies' Friendly, presented Miss Slattery. Miss Slattery's subject was "The Determined Mind and the Open Book" and she traced the power of the will educated in its emotions and trained in its purpose, to its fullest achievement through growth and constructive determination. She, also, expressed her deep appreciation to those who had faithfully attended these lectures and promised for next week a short summing-up of her previous work and a heart-searching lecture on, "The Seeking Mind and the Open Book." As this will be an outstanding event, a large attendance is expected. A collection to defray expenses will be taken.

WASHINGTON HIGHLAND CHAPTER

On Tuesday afternoon, March 21, a most delightful tea was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur C. Fay of 6 Fells road for the fifth grade mothers of the George Washington School. Mrs. Glenn H. Browning was a co-hostess with Mrs. Fay. The mothers had an opportunity to meet Miss Rich, the fifth grade teacher, Miss Hatch, the principal of the George Washington School, Miss Storer, the reading supervisor, and Miss Lewis, the elementary supervisor.

Mrs. Chester Kenney, the president of the George Washington Mothers' Association poured.

SERMONS ON THE CROSS

Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Winchester will preach a series of sermons on Cross of Christ. This series will be given on three consecutive Sunday mornings at 10:45 a. m. The dates and subjects follow:

March 26—"The Shadow of the Cross."

April 2—"The Way of the Cross."

April 9—"The Victory of the Cross."

The public is cordially invited.

WINCHESTER CHAPTER GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

Rev. Terrence E. Connolly, S. J. gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "The Abbey Theatre Festival" and "The Future of Irish National Drama," at the most recent in the series of morning lectures being given by the Guild of the Infant Saviour. Father Connolly related many incidents of his visit in Ireland while attending the festival last summer, and his audience found the time all too short for such an absorbing subject. Terry O'Toole, well known Boston radio artist entertained with songs accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell of Woburn.

The thoughtful foresight of Mrs. Michael Hittling, who is still in London, made it possible for the Guild to hold the affair at her house on Church street. Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini and Mrs. E. J. Gallagher poured. Assisting were Mrs. J. J. Costello, Mrs. F. S. Evans, Mrs. D. J. Kelley, Mrs. T. A. Murray, Mrs. M. J. Quinn, Mrs. Harry C. Collins of Winchester, and Mrs. T. J. Donough of Medford. The ushers were Mrs. Peter Norton, Mrs. John S. O'Leary, Mrs. John Piccolo and Mrs. G. P. McGoldrick, all of Winchester.

The next regular meeting on March 28, will find the members sewing. This will give an opportunity to help in preparing for the coming exhibition. Tea will be served.

PICKED UP DRIVER WANTED IN SOMERVILLE

Monday afternoon shortly before 4 o'clock the police were notified to be on the lookout for an automobile that had figured in a hit-and-run accident in Somerville.

Not long after the receipt of the call Officers Winthrop Palmer and John Hanlon, on duty in the Patrol car, spotted the wanted car headed west in an untidy manner on Bacon street. They gave chase and finally stopped the machine on Everett avenue, placing the operator under arrest on a charge of drunkenness and operating while under the influence of liquor. He gave his name as Walter H. Viviani of 26 Claremont street, Somerville. He was turned over to the Somerville police.

JOHN HALLIGAN

John Halligan of 261 Washington street, widely known in Winchester as sexton of St. Mary's Church, died suddenly Tuesday, March 21, shortly after being stricken while at work around St. Mary's School. His death was wholly unexpected and came as a severe shock to his family and many friends.

Mr. Halligan was the son of Thomas and Elizabeth (O'Donnell) Halligan. He was born 54 years ago in Manchester, England, spent his boyhood in that city, but as a youth came to this country and for the past 40 years had made his home in Winchester.

Mr. Halligan was a member of St. Mary's Church, was actively identified with the parish Holy Name Society and was a member of Winchester Lodge of Elks. He had been sexton of St. Mary's for the past nine years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Ellen Gillen; four daughters, Miss Elizabeth, Miss Helen, Miss Mary and Miss Rita Halligan, all of Winchester; two sons, James of Melrose and John Halligan, Jr. of this town; a sister, Mrs. John Connehan of Lowell; and a brother and another sister, both living in England.

Elks' funeral services were held Wednesday evening at the late residence, conducted by Exalted Ruler Joseph T. Callahan and officers of Winchester Lodge, 1445.

The funeral was held Thursday morning from the late residence with solemn requiem mass in St. Mary's Church. Rev. Fr. Joseph E. McGoldrick was celebrant, Rev. Fr. Conrad Quirbach of Greenwood was deacon and Rev. Fr. Joseph Mahoney, sub-deacon. Seated in the sanctuary were the pastor of the church, Rev. Fr. Aloysius S. Malone, and Rev. Fr. James Garrity of St. Charles Church, Woburn. The entire membership of St. Mary's Parochial School with the sisters in charge attended the mass. Bearers were Francis, James and Charles McKenna, William Carroll, John Flaherty and Daniel Sullivan. Interment was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

LUNCHEON AND EXHIBITION OF STUDIO GUILD

The Studio Guild of Winchester, of which Mrs. Paul Howard is president, gave a luncheon and exhibition Wednesday at its quarters in White's Hall. The occasion marked the conclusion of Mr. Francis Merritt's services as instructor for the Guild and the return of the regular instructor, Mr. John L. Lobinger of this town. Mr. Merritt, whose home is in Lynnfield and who is instructor of art at Abbot Academy, has been conducting the Guild's classes in Mrs. Lobinger's absence.

The Studio Guild is in effect a class organized to study creative art. It has a fixed membership of 20 and a waiting list. Its members study the painting and drawing of landscapes, portraiture and still life, several pictures by members having already been sold.

Wednesday's exhibition was private and was of work done by members of the Guild this winter. From the work shown was selected entries for the Exhibition of Local Talent being sponsored by the Winchester Art Association.

Besides Mrs. Howard, the officers of the Studio Guild include Mrs. Charles A. Underwood, secretary; Mrs. William Priest, treasurer; Mrs. R. W. Pratt, custodian; and Mrs. Truman Godfrey, housekeeper.

"CALLING ALL NEIGHBORS" TO A COMMUNITY DINNER

The Winchester Community Chest will open its campaign for funds with a "dutch treat" dinner in the high school gymnasium at 6:45 p. m., Monday, April 10. It will be free informal. The food will be good, the speeches will be short and snappy the entertainment will be entertaining and the instruction will be instructive. It will be a real old fashioned all community meeting.

Every worker in the campaign organization should be present and all other neighbors are cordially invited and urged to attend. Tickets are now available and the cost is only 60 cents.

YOUTH RALLY ON PALM SUNDAY

Arrangements have been completed for a big Youth Rally for the young people of Winchester, to be held Palm Sunday, April 2, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany.

Dr. Norman Nash, newly elected headmaster at St. Paul's School for Boys at Concord, N. H., one of New England's most widely known preparatory schools, has been secured as speaker, and his message should be one of absorbing interest to all young people.

The rally is being held under the auspices of the Affiliated Youth Organization of Winchester, and is the first event of its kind ever to be held in this town. All young people are cordially invited to attend.

In charge of arrangements is a committee of young people, including Barbara Bragdon, Frances Randall, Clement Parksdale, Emmons Ellis, Miriam Nash, Edith Derby, David Riley, John Kishler, Shirley Roth, Nancy Snyder, Mildred Rogers and David Burnham.

What Price this Glory?
Less than You Think!

The model illustrated is the Buick SPECIAL model 41 four-door touring sedan $996 delivered at Flint, Mich.*

YES, it looks like a million—and if you've ever put hand to this brisk beauty's wheel, you know that it handles and travels and behaves the same way!

And it rides like a cloud, serene and buoyant, with the rough road's hard realities gentled by the "full float" action of BuCoil Springing.

But is this trim Buick the premium-priced package you might expect just from looking at it? Quite the opposite!

This year you can drive a great straight-eight—a Dynaflex straight-eight with gas-saving cyclones in each cylinder—for actually less than some sixes would cost!

This year you can ride in Buick's staunch steadiness—at lower cost than prevailed even a year ago.

This year you have a car that's complete with all the little things—dual windshield wipers, dual sun visors, Flash-Way directionsignal, Handi-shift transmission, lighted luggage compartments, locks on both front doors, even Knee-Action that banks the curves for you—and spend less, when all that's counted, than for some cars with lower advertised prices!

So open up your mind, sir! Before you decide this glory's not for you, find out what the model of your

Look into what you get for your money—you may be surprised, for instance, at the gas-mileage figures owners report—and figure out where the value lies!

For any new car's going to cost you something. And you'll be money ahead, even if it does cost a trifle more, to get the car and the value of the year.

Your Buick dealer's waiting to show you which car that is!

MARGARET SLATTERY

Subject: "The Seeking Mind and the Open Book"

"JESSE JAMES" AT THE UNIVERSITY

Darryl F. Zanuck's production, "Jesse James," the Technicolor epic of the life and times of the most colorful outlaw who ever lived, comes to the University Theatre on Sunday, March 26, at 8:30 P.M.

The picture casts Charles Laughton in the role of "Ginger Ted," a colorful and interesting characterization which handles with all the adjectives and finish which he lent to the part of Captain Bligh in "Mutiny on the Bounty." The film opens with Laughton, as "Ginger Ted," English beachcomber and renegade man, indulgently waiting his life on a small island in the Dutch Indies. Sullen, drunken and unkempt, equipped with a quick and lashing tongue, "Ginger Ted" is a source of distress to the three people, the Controller of the Island, a missionary named Miss Jones, a play prated by Laughton's own wife, Elsa Lancaster, and her brother, Dr. Jones. The narrative concerns the amazing changes which take place in the characters of "Ginger Ted" and Miss Jones as their conflicting natures battle.

"Boy Trouble," starring Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland, Donald O'Connor and Billy Lee, will be the second attraction on the bill starting Friday. This is a rollicking comedy showing what happens when the dizzy Charles Ruggles-Mary Boland home adopts a couple of kids.

You'll hardly believe you can get two smooth writing pencils with your 5c. You can at the Star Office.

Howth, Suburb of Dublin

Howth, a suburb of Dublin, Ireland, lies closely under the hill of Howth and commands a good view of Ireland's Eye and Lambay Islands.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Gunza Din," starring Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Joan Fontaine, Eduardo Ciannelli and Sam Jaffe, is the special attraction opening at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. With thousands of supporting players, "Gunza Din" presents Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen and Douglas Fairbanks Jr., as a trio of happy-go-lucky sergeants in the British Royal Engineers, stationed near the Khyber Pass. Owing to the extreme length of "Gunza Din," there will be but one feature. A selected program of short subjects, including three brand new Walt Disney cartoons entitled, "Merbabies," "Mother Goose Goes to Hollywood," and "Brave Little Tailor." An added feature will be the latest issue of the "March of Time."

By special arrangement with Radio Station WEEI the Winchester Theatre is privileged to present in person William "Bill" Elliott, the "Singing Cop," radio's most popular baritone soloist, appearing every night, March 26, in addition to its regular double feature program.

Mr. Elliott is well known to New Englanders for his daily broadcast over Station WEEI at 9:15 a. m., also for his concert appearances at Beach, N. H., during the summer. See and hear "Bill" Elliott at our Radio concert Sunday evening only, March 26.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE TIME-TABLE

Friday and Saturday, March 24, 25, Sweethearts, 2:40, 8, 9:20; White New York Sleeps, 1:30, 4:45, 8.

TOWN MEETING CLOSED

to present their recommendations and arguments. The meeting was getting impatient for the question and it was put, a two thirds vote being necessary. The reconsideration was defeated on a poll vote: yes 87; no 82.

Mr. Parsons then moved to take from the table the motion providing the $400 for the recreation center, to be expended under the Park Board. This motion was carried together with a subsequent one providing the above figure. Mrs. Woodside was unsuccessful in an attempt to have a clause introduced to provide that the money could be spent only in the event the recreation center is continued, stating that there had been criticism of the Park Board in the past for spending recreation money for other items in their department.

Upon motion of Mr. Allen the meeting then moved the consideration of the School Department motion, tabled last Thursday. Under this item Mr. Allen moved to amend the original motion by raising the appropriation from $287,969.58 to $289,203.58, increasing the salaries item $1,300 to $245,327.33 to provide step rate increases in pay for teachers.

Mr. Allen spoke at some length in favor of his amendment, stating that the School Committee in effect is morally bound to pay step rate increases since teachers are hired with that understanding. He further stated that the teachers who would suffer most if the increase was denied are the lower paid grade school teachers, the maximum for whom is $1700. He told the meeting that the School Committee had agreed with the Finance Committee earlier in the year that a financial crisis was imminent and had been willing to forego the step rate increases on the basis of the Finance Committee's estimate of a possible $5 increase in the tax rate. Now that the financial picture is much improved he felt that the step rate increases should be paid to maintain the teachers' morale and prevent desirable teachers being lured away from town.

Mr. Sargent expressed the Finance Committee's opposition to granting the step rate increases. He differed from Mr. Allen in the clearing of the financial picture, stating that affairs were in such a state at Beacon Hill that anything might happen, and that a heavy state tax might result in a material, if not a $5, increase in the tax rate. He stated that the School Committee, with the Finance Committee, had agreed last year, after money for them had been voted, and that so far as could be seen there was no falling off in morale.

Continuing, he quoted figures to show the increase in school expenses in Winchester, stating that from Dec. 1934 to Dec. 1938 the school population had increased only 13 pupils while the appropriation for salaries increased from $199,533.00 to $245,327.33. From 1928 to 1938 pupils in the schools increased about 29 per cent while the total school budget and item for personal services (salaries) increased about 46 per cent.

The entire School Committee, Mrs. Spaulding, Mr. Caldwell, Mr. Lebeck, Mr. Nichols and Mr. Elliott followed Mr. Allen to speak in support of the motion to increase, the general tenor of their remarks being that the committee was morally, if not legally obligated to fulfill its agreement with the teachers, that in the event the increase was not granted desirable teachers would be lured away to more generous communities, that teacher morale would suffer and that the Finance Committee was guilty of inconsistency when it approved a raise for members of the Fire Department and withheld an increase for the "underpaid" teachers.

Mr. Cullen opposed the step rate increase, stating the Finance Committee was in a position to advise clearly. He felt that school population is on the wane and that generally the School Committee expenditures would be beating in the light of possible economies. Mr. Nowell felt the financial picture is not as rosy as the School Committee seemed to believe, a sentiment echoed by Mr. Gunby.

Mr. Sargent stated that if, as stated by a member of the committee, the School Committee could save $5,000 of its last year's appropriation, it ought to be able to get along without the $1300 increase this year, adding the school budgets have been increasing right straight along. The figures recommended for the schools this year were only $3900 under last year's budget when $5000 was saved.

The question was finally put and the increase lost by a voice vote, which was immediately doubted by the school proponents. A poll vote won the increase, 81 yes; 73 no. This really concluded the debate at the meeting which authorized the Cemetery Commissioners to spend $4,000 from existing funds for improving the cemetery property, and accepted the Selectmen's layouts for Chesterford terrace, Felsdale close, Seneca road and Horn Pond Brook road, the latter a newly named street.

The sum of $3,600 was transferred from the Excess and Deficiency fund for the expenses incurred. Opposition to the proposed construction of a traffic circle at the junction of the Parkway and Washington street, and this motion was indefinitely postponed to see how the widening of the corners of the streets would affect that location.

The sum of $12,000 was appropriated under Chapter 90 to be expended in the improvement of High street with $24,000 to be appropriated by the State and County. Five thousand dollars was transferred from the Excess and Deficiency fund for the establishment and administration of a contributory pension system for town employees. The sum of $36,280 was appropriated for a general unemployment relief fund, and $14,750 voted to indemnify Patrolman William E. Cassidy for expenses incurred by him as a result of an automobile accident in which he figured while driving a police patrol car.

Under Article 17, $4,600 was voted to purchase a plot of land adjacent to the park reservation on the western bank of Horn Pond Brook and for the purchase of an additional water supply for the town. The sum of $2,100 was transferred from the Excess and Deficiency account to purchase for a playground a plot of land between Middlesex County land and Horn Pond Brook.

Under Article 21 a new recreation committee of six members, one from each precinct, to be appointed by the moderator, was created to further study the town's recreation problem. The town history committee and committee on economy were retained and the committee on a memorial for Spanish War Veterans was discharged.

The number of measurers of wood and bark was fixed at eight, Earle E. Andrews was elected director to serve in co-operation with the Middlesex County Trustees for County Aid to Agriculture, and the town voted to accept the Mary Emerson Riley legacy of $600, the interest to be used to buy flowers for the Emerson lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

The meeting voted that town offices should be kept open eight consecutive hours daily and not closer earlier than four o'clock, with vacation and sickness provisions, except on Saturdays when the offices shall be kept open three hours, closing not later than 2 P. M.

Under Article 29 the town voted to accept the section of the General Laws providing indemnification of town officers and employees for expenses or damages incurred while operating vehicles owned by the town, which must be followed.

It seems that the fox which James Cullen found under a fallen tree on the Robinson Estate was not killed by the hurricane. When the fox was skinned it was found to have died from a bullet wound. The town has an ordinance which prohibits the discharge of firearms within the town limits. This shooting of a fox must have been done by some of the town's underprivileged citizens about which we heard so much at the recent town meeting. If this fox had been killed in the hurricane the fox would have been valueless but it had been killed recently during the cold weather. Jim is having it made into a fur piece for his wife.

FISHERMEN'S SUNDAY SERVICE

At the annual Fishermen's Sunday service held last Sunday morning at the First Congregational Church the pastor, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, himself an ardent fisherman, preached the following sermon for the particular benefit of the assembled sportsmen, who occupied seats at the front of the auditorium:

"The Green Gods Are Calling"

I am delighted to welcome to the service again this morning my fishermen friends. It is 17 years since "Charlie" Lane inaugurated the first Fishermen's Service. As far as I know this service is unique. I know of no other such service in the country. I think it is also significant of a longing on the part of men to get away, not simply from their business and their professions, but also from the trappings of civilization, from the town to the sea.

Last week I had to go over to New York to a committee meeting. As I got in a half hour before the meeting, I decided to walk down Park avenue. Here were the skyscrapers, over me apartment-hotel or so, with tubed trees, men picking over the contents of the public waste baskets, others tramping along the streets mulling to themselves a dog on a leash with an imitation rubber bone. It all rather depressed me, in spite of the sunshine. And then came a man carrying an armful of pussy-willows, and a homely woman carrying a basket for the open spaces, green grass, the open sky, and the vista of far distances.

Man has never become completely adjusted to the city. He recoils to get away to the open country or the woods. This is probably the deepest reason why there are 12 million fishing licenses issued in this country every year. Behind each license is somebody who has heard the green gods calling, and has answered the call. Here in New England, as soon as the cotton ball clouds are driven across the sky by March winds, the call of wide spaces becomes insistent, and sets our minds on fishing camps far away. We begin to remember again the Maine woods, where the light green leaves of birch and maple, the darker foliage of spruce and pine made a delightful contrast of color, and the air was heavy with the scent of the expanding buds of balsam poplars. We remember how the wood thrush and partridge hustled their broods into the underbrush along some tote-road, and the red squirrel chattered and scolded from his perch above. Wherever a little green could enter through the old road was fringed with the delicate pink blossoms of the twin-flower of the white-shin-leaf, and in damp places moss and ferns and skunk cabbage filled the air between the bushes. There is such a tote-road running five miles from Wilson's dam at Moosehead Lake to Indian pond, which I have hiked a dozen times. It winds through the woods, one can hear the call of the Kennebec River as it gurgles around the rocks or roars over the waterfalls. Its cadence holds all the charm and mystery of nature everywhere. It is a song of the wilderness, bringing healing to tired nerves. Or stand on the dam at Wilson's and rest your eyes on the expanse of water.

CALUMET CLUB SOLD

Daniel Kelley, veteran local business man and head of the firm of Kelley & Hawes Co., funeral directors, expressors and furniture movers, has bought the Calumet Club property from the Winchester National Bank according to reliable information received by the Star this morning.

The clubhouse on Dix street has been empty since the bank sold its doors about a year ago. The furnishings of the club were sold at auction last fall and recently the bank had announced its intention to tear down the building.

Several organizations have been interested in acquiring the club property, among them the local Masonic bodies and Elks' Lodge, and there were many who felt that the town might well purchase it for a recreation center. Outside parties, it is reported, have been interested in the clubhouse for use as a convalescent home.

Mr. Kelley told the Star that he had completed no actual definite plans for the property. It is understood that a group of local physicians are interested in the clubhouse as a clinic, and it is possible that the new owner may renovate the house, re-equip it and operate it as a clubhouse to be used jointly by local organizations. The building is well built and would lend itself admirably to enlargement or reconstruction. The town will be pleased to learn that this well-known building, which was for so long the center of Winchester's social life, is not to be razed.

TO LECTURE ON CERAMICS

Mrs. Laura Woodside Watkins of Ridgefield road is giving two lectures in the evening course on ceramics at the Boston Art Museum. On April 4 she will talk on "English and American Folk Pottery" and April 11 on "American Glass."

These lectures are given in Classroom A at 7 o'clock and are open to the public upon payment of a fee.

BOOKS WANTED FOR SALE

The Public Library has received an appeal from the American Merchant Marine Library Association for books. Any having books they would care to donate to this worthy cause are asked to leave them at the library between April 3 and 8.

ART CHAMPION OF WALT DISNEY TO SPEAK IN WINCHESTER

Robert D. Feild, assistant professor of Fine Arts at Harvard who has recently come much into the public eye through championing the art of Walt Disney, creator of Mickey Mouse and Snow White, is to be guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Winchester Art Association next Tuesday evening in the art gallery of the public library.

The business meeting and election of officers of the Association will precede the lecture and will commence at 8 o'clock. Guests may be admitted upon payment of the usual guest fee of 50 cents.

Professor Feild has long been an enthusiastic admirer of the art of Walt Disney, and of his animated cartoons. He spent six weeks last summer at a personal study of Disney in the Hollywood studios and made an exhaustive study of the technique of the productions of Mickey Mouse, Snow White and other animated cartoons.

Upon his return from Hollywood, Professor Feild said, "The modern animated cartoon is perhaps the only universal art form in history. Using science self-consciously it embodies the total achievement of the human race to date and brings true movement and life into art. Disney is not concerned with the art of the past. He is creating spontaneously."

This winter at Harvard, Professor Feild gave a series of four public lectures on the art of Disney, and arranged a display of Disney's cartoons in the Fogg Art Museum at the university. Thousands of students and faculty members attended the exhibit, which included scores of interesting color sketches showing the development of the ideas leading up to the filming of Mickey Mouse, Ferdinand the Bull, Donald Duck and Snow White. The exhibit was arranged personally by Professor Feild through his friendship with Walt Disney.

Professor Feild has been a teacher at Harvard for 12 years. He is a native of London, England. He was appointed an assistant in Fine Arts at Harvard in 1927-28 and became a student, receiving his A. B. degree in 1930, with high honors in fine arts. In 1932 he was appointed instructor in Fine Arts, a position which he held until 1936 when he became assistant professor of Fine Arts. His most popular course at Harvard has been on the theory and practice of the cartoon, which has attracted students from all over the world.

UNION LENTEN SERVICE

The last lecture in the Union Lenten series was held last Wednesday evening at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church. Dr. C. C. P. Hillier, associate pastor of the church, presided. The speaker was William Carver, president of the Ladies' Aid voiced the pleasure it had been to act as hostess church for these lectures sponsored by the Women's organization of the church.

Miss Slattery gave as her last phase of the modern mind, the mind which is eager and seeking; the mind that is restless and concerned until it finds the result it desires; the mind that is open, searching, without inhibitions, a directed and controlled force which will not be denied progress and which is unconfining in its expression. The speaker, who has been seeking minds and the open Book, Miss Slattery commended us to the great vision of infinity; opportunities at this Lenten season.

REPUBLICAN CLUB

The final meeting of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester will be held at the Winchester Country Club on Wednesday afternoon, April 5, at 12:30 p. m. A gala affair, this meeting offers several attractions, not only a social and succulent luncheon, but an opportunity to vote for next year's officers and the chance to hear Mr. Henry Hutchins, Jr., speak.

Mr. Hutchins, who follows a good New England tradition as a Harvard graduate and leading barrister is a statesman before he is a politician and excels at both. He was influential in the victory of both Mayor and Governor Sullivan. A man of political sanity, integrity and astuteness, he represents the type of person most needed in modern American government. His talk promises to be interesting, practical and valuable.

"FROM OLIVET TO CALVARY"

At 5 o'clock last Sunday afternoon, Winchester had another opportunity of hearing music that has set for itself the task of expressing more adequately than it is possible for mere speech the drama and the significance of six world-changing days. The music is the setting which J. H. Maunders has made for a libretto by Shakespeare dealing with the events in the life of Jesus from the triumphant acclaim of the masses as he made his way down Olivet, to the death on Calvary, with not one of the shouting mob deadfaint in loyalty and pity. Many a musician has set himself to the same understanding, and without doubt many more will do so, for the story, like Merit, is a city built to command.

Therefore never built and therefore built forever is never completely told and so forever luring men to a new telling. It might be said that the resources of music to tell the poignant story of the contemporary eyes of a wise man might have seen it and as his heart might have felt the fickle, proud, blind nationalism of the mob, set to the music of the story, the voice that had been telling it "the things which belong unto peace," the invincible certitude of that voice commanding his new covenant, to a little group, preposterously small, of sad and perplexed men; the final hours of shame and pain and failure and death, but it is a love that never narrowed in scope, never failed.

The composer of "Olivet to Calvary" has not chosen to tell the events in that poignant and limited way, as many of that day might have seen them. He and the maker of the words tell the story in the light of all that has happened since. As their preface puts it, the cantata "recalls simply and reverently the scenes which mark the last few days of the Saviour's life on earth, and some of the reflections suggested thereby."

It was well sung last Sunday by the vocal choir of the Church of the Epiphany under the direction of Organist and Choirmaster Enos Held. Soloists were Mrs. Phillips Walker, soprano; J. Raymond Graham, tenor; and E. H. Barton, bass. Both chorists and soloists were very much in the mood, singing Maunders' beautiful score with feeling and appreciation of the context that the soloists added materially to the effectiveness of the performance. Mr. Graham's singing of the tenor passages was especially outstanding, he being the voice that climaxed the cantata, high notes in his role in clean-cut telling fashion. Mr. Held was once again called upon to fill the double role of soloist-director.

Miss Dorothy Eaton, the organist, contributed in large measure to the effectiveness of both soloists and ensemble with her artistic and wholly sympathetic playing of the descriptive score.

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

The week end saw members of the ski club at various ski centers to the north. Boston, Plymouth and the members of the Appalachian Mountain Club as well as the Winchester A. M. C. spent the week end at the bluffs and snow at Cardigan, Bubbles Larson and Carroll Miller, against Woodstock, Vt. and Will Grush rode the ski trail to Interstate.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the town clerk as follows: James Joseph Herrero of 90 Stanton street and Mary Jeannette McMinico of 38 Florence street. Bartholomew Joseph Conley of 6 Forest street and Marie Catherine Curran of 52 Church street.

DINNER RALLY TO START COMMUNITY CHEST DRIVE

The general chairman of the Winchester Community Chest Drive, Charles S. Wells, announced last night that the opening night in Winchester's first Community Chest Drive will be a big Dutch Treat dinner at the high school on Monday, April 10. The exceptionally large staff of over 500 workers will get together for a dinner meeting to start the Drive with the proper enthusiasm. The member agencies will provide informative skits during the dinner. A short, snappy, entertaining program will be part of this Community Chest "Town Meeting."

John Kenerson, organization chairman, announced that the precinct organization is fast nearing completion. The Precinct Vice-Chairmen to date are:

- Precinct 1—Fred Ives, Jr., Mrs. Clarence Newton.
- Precinct 2—Charles C. Clarke, Mrs. Sherman Salter.
- Precinct 3—Alvin M. Litchfield, Mrs. Clarke W. Collins.
- Precinct 4—Clarence McDavitt, Mrs. Edwin R. Rooney.
- Precinct 5—Theodore W. Munroe, Mrs. Harold S. Fuller.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

Mr. Stanley Parker of the State Planning Board appeared at the meeting of the Selectmen on the 27th of January. He was a member of the Town Planning Board, and advised the Board that with their approval he would like to recommend to his Board that the Town of Winchester be used as a test town for the accumulation of financial data, an important feature of which would be the separation of capital investment and expenses from yearly departmental operating expenses. He is a highly trained and efficient engineer and accountant, the ultimate result of which would be to place in the hands of the different town officials an intelligent basis for the making of a budget for a year period. As Mr. Parker explained his ideas the Board was fully in accord as to their value, and voted their cooperation, the town will be under no obligation to accept his plan, but will furnish suitable quarters for the investigators. The General Committee Room was suggested for this purpose. The Board explained that as they have no control over the departmental expenditures, naturally they would have no control over them but advised that they would endeavor to secure the necessary cooperation so that full and complete data could be obtained from all departments.

The State Planning Board has requested the co-operation of the town in obtaining information to be used in assembling financial data, which will assist in long range planning over a six year period. All town department heads have been asked to meet the state representative over the Committee Room second floor Town Hall on Thursday, April 6 at 9 a. m.

Edward F. Maguire has been granted a license as auctioneer.

BAPTIST CHOR TO PRESENT "SEVEN LAST WORDS"

The First Baptist Choir of 35 voices under the direction of Leroy P. Bezonson will present "The Seven Last Words of Christ," a Lenten oratorio by Dubois Plain Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the church auditorium. Solo roles will be sung by Sadie Roberts, soprano; Robert Rutledge, baritone. Mrs. Fred Macdonald will be the organist.

"The Seven Last Words" so called, are really the seven last sentences of Christ upon the cross. Dubois' musical setting for the Saviour's passion has long been a favorite oratorio, highly descriptive. The Baptist Choir under Mr. Bezonson has rehearsed faithfully to give an interpretation of the last words of Christ, and is expected that there will be a large attendance. The public is cordially invited.

HIGHLAND COMMUNITY MEN'S CLUB

The regular meeting of the Highland Community Men's Club was held Wednesday evening of this week at the Second Congregational Church. About 50 were present and sat down to a "chop" dinner furnished by Whitlaw Wright and his colleagues and the viands were just another illustration of "Whitlaw's" artistry.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Eight members were absent from the meeting of March 30, three of whom are out of town and three others in poor health. We expect our next meeting to be on hand for the next travelers and are also hopeful that members indisposed may recover by that time or sooner. Which should make for a better attendance percentage in April.

Irving Symmes is troubled with a painful foot which is keeping him confined to his bed for a season. We believe that readers of the "Rotarian" magazine will agree that the April issue is an outstanding product. We trust that none of our members have failed to give it thorough consideration. For instance, the debate of the month in discussion "door to door" selling treats of a subject which is of intense interest to every householder. And this is only one of a dozen or more excellent contributions to the April "Rotarian."

The current meeting was a gathering which we have all been anticipating with much pleasure, it being featured by the presence of a large representation of those Rotarians who reside in Winchester but belong to other clubs, as well as former members of our own club and many guests. The attendance was little affected by the unfavorable weather which spoiled the day. The drawing power of a real Rotary get-together. Unfortunately President Ralph was called out of town but Vice President Harry Damon carried on with his usual efficiency. Approximately 60 Rotarians and guests sat down to an excellent dinner in the sun room of the Country Club. The speaker of the evening, who was graciously introduced by a representative of the members of the Winchester School Department, was Hon. Paul A. Dever, Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Mr. Dever, as is well known, is a very pleasing and forceful speaker and naturally secured the closest attention from his listeners. He described very clearly various duties devolving upon the chief law officer of the Commonwealth and particularly emphasized the importance of the efficient performance of these duties to the end that taxpayers may be relieved of large expense. He closed his address with an eloquent appeal that our children be carefully trained to observe the principles of right living, declaring that in this way alone can the lawless conditions so prevalent in these times be prevented.

And now for April, as we hope that the Attorney General by his presence at this meeting and the many "come again" greetings which he received were unquestionably sincere. Our members are very grateful that the thinned ranks of the past month may be replaced by an attendance more worthy of our club.

Percentage of Attendance, March 23, 1939—76.47 per cent.

EMBLEM CLUB INSTALLS OFFICERS

The installation of officers of the Winchester Emblem Club was held Monday evening in Lyceum Hall following a turkey dinner served by Fred Scholl.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Lyman Matthews, of the Matthews Lumber Co. in Somerville, "Bob" Johnson and Lucius Smith of the Oxford Business School in Cambridge, left Wednesday in Bob's 1937 Buick for Chicago, where they will spend their spring vacation. Enroute they will see Niagara Falls, the Ford in Detroit, and the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Plant in Akron, Ohio. They will be the guests of Mr. James M. Flinn of Evanston, Ill., a former Winchester resident.

Miss Betsy Jones of this town was among the members of the casts of two one-act plays presented Tuesday evening by students at the Garland School of Home-making on Commonwealth avenue in Boston.

Mr. Simon Delory of Salem street, one of the town's best known fishermen, isn't indulging in his favorite sport at present, being laid up with a badly bruised and sprained wrist and shoulder. He will have to leave his family fishing gear, his grand old "Jackie" Kimball, at least until he gets the splints off his injured arm.

The final chapter in the theft of a camera and exposure meter from a family living in High street, was written Tuesday, when George Thomas F. Cassidy rounded up several Winchester boys who admitted their responsibility. The camera was returned, and the exposure meter valued at $22.50 was returned in Boston for about half that amount by a boy who secured it from the youngsters responsible for the theft.

John "Steamer" Hanlon, big full-back of the University of New Hampshire football team is spending his spring vacation in Winchester with his parents, Patrolman and Mrs. John Hanlon of Bridge street.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Worcester of Church street, with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore von Rosenzweig of Wedgemere avenue, are back in town after a trip to Cuba. Mr. Worcester is the president of the United Fruit Co., and president of the Revue Sugar Co., making his trip to Cuba a combination business and pleasure visit. While at Banes, Mr. Worcester and his family were guests of a former Winchester boy, Mr. John McKenzie of Henningway street, who is in the sugar production business there.

Miss Ruth Hensberger of Myrtle terrace is spending the week end with her sister, Miss Lucy Hensberger in New York City.

Mr. William Garbino after a few days visiting with his father, Mr. Nicholas Garbino and his sisters, at Winter street, is spending the remainder of his vacation in Mexico City and on the West Coast.

Winchester Council, 210, Knights of Columbus, will hold its annual communion breakfast in Lyceum Hall at the conclusion of the church service on Sunday morning. The guest speaker will be Rev. Fr. John E. Lyons, S.J., of the Retreat House at North Andover.

Recent arrivals at the Los Angeles Ambassador included Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Freeman of Winchester.

Mr. P. Stewart Newton returned from the Baker Memorial Hospital yesterday. For Newton's information, the Star states that he is much improved in health—since he reports that he likes to "row the Star much worse to find out how he is!"

Mrs. James C. B. Sowden, mother of Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes of Forest street, left town this week for Daytona Beach, Fla., where she will enjoy several weeks with her son, Frederick Sowden, and his family of Gardiner, Me.

Alexander "Sandy" MacKenzie, Jr. and "Dick" McNeilly have been at home this week for the spring vacation from University of Maine.

A Hudson coupe driven by Edith C. Derby of 91 Church street while going east on the Parkway, was in collision at the intersection of Washington street shortly before 1:29 Wednesday afternoon with a Chevrolet delivery sedan, driven south on Washington street by Daniel J. Doherty of 491 Revere street, Revere. The Chevrolet was owned by the Federal Yeast Company of Allston. Both cars were damaged but no one was injured.

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock the Fire Department was called to the plant of Beggs & Cobb Co., where burning dust was discovered under one of the work benches. The fire was out before the arrival of the apparatus.

WINCHESTER GROUP THEATER

Prominent Brookline Director Retained. Rehearsals Started

Rehearsals have already started for the presentation of "First Lady," the Group's spring production. All this week Beulah Page Sibley, the director, has been helping the big cast get the first bits of action and characterization set.

Beulah Page Sibley is well-known in greater Boston little theater circles for her work with the Brookline Amateurs. Her directing of that already famous little theater group has had much to do with their long line of superior productions. Prior to the work for the Amateurs, Mrs. Sibley coached the Radcliffe Idler Club and the Tau Beta Beta plays.

In keeping with the Group's policy to give the greatest number of members a chance to be active in the plays, most of the cast of "First Lady" has been picked from the active members of the Group. The size of the cast was such, however, that the Board selected some of the top-notch actors and actresses in other Winchester organizations to complete the cast. The cooperative spirit which exists between the various little theatre groups in town makes the production of a play like "First Lady" possible.

The presentation on April 29 will end the first anniversary season, and if the present enthusiasm of those connected with the play is any indication, this will prove to be one of the best productions of the Group since its inception. The truly remarkable cast, under the painstaking direction of Beulah Page Sibley will show what they can do.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In a special issue of the "Union Signal," in which many features stress the Frances Willard Centenary Year, is an interesting notice concerning a Dixie Dairy Bar Inspired by Mrs. Smith

"Why don't you open a milk bar?" It was several years ago down in Florence, Ala., that National W. C. T. U. President Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith laughingly put the question to Mrs. Paul Trowbridge on learning that the young woman, a member, to whom she had just been presented, and her husband had established a new creamery business. Mrs. Smith, with several of the state W. C. T. U. officers, was spending just a few hours in the city of Florence and of course went on her way soon forgetting her laughing proposal. But Mrs. Trowbridge didn't forget, and out of long planning has come the Dixie Dairy Bar, that already is being known all over that region.

Writing in the Alabama "White Ribbon," of her "dream come true," Mrs. Trowbridge says that interesting incidents have occurred in connection with her new venture, for she herself owns and operates the business. White Ribbons from other communities are frequent customers. Joyous is a chat as well as the delicious drinks and food that she serves. However, all her customers have not been of the same mind. She writes: "I have had several customers ask for whiskey or say, 'Oh, well, then just set out a box of beer.' I go into detail with them about our good sweet milk, buttermilk, orangeade, chocolate milk, etc., and the good food qualities in them. Most of them wind up by ordering something. I have suggested, and some form the habit of coming in every day.

"So," she concludes, "while I'm not free to attend W. C. T. U. meetings but am an active member, as I have always been, I do feel that I am doing more real, personal work than I have ever done. I have customers who have switched from stronger drinks to my milk products."

The brewers are striving hard to increase their sales in every way possible. Some of their arguments for drinking beer are answered in the "Union Signal" in the following article, which appeared in the Dec. 3 issue.

The brewers argue that "drinking good beer" is the most "promising way" to "combat the evil of too much alcohol," but the record of American history shows that the flood of so-called "good beer" failed to prevent a steady increase in whisky consumption for 40 years before National prohibition; a record which has been duplicated since repeal.

The brewers promise to clean up "undesirable conditions," but they fail to admit that it is the beer which is largely responsible for the conditions which make its sale everywhere undesirable.

The brewers point to a newly adopted "Code of Practice" which they say is "to align the brewing industry with forces working for public good." They do not, however, tell their readers that 27 years ago (in 1911) the United States Brewers Association—then as now, the parent of all beer organizations—adopted and publicized a "Code" almost identical with the one they have just formulated, a code which meant just nothing at all in the light of later events.

"The Arab World," which Arabs claim stands back of them in the long-drawn-out dispute between British-Jewish-Arab interests in Palestine, includes some 50,000,000 people living under various flags and forms of government between the Strait of Gibraltar and the Caspian Sea, according to the National Geographic Society. This belt of Arab influence and culture dates from the Arab conquest of 13 centuries ago, when Mohammed's followers launched from Arabia the westward drive for empire that was to carry the Koran—and the sword—across North Africa and even up into Spain.

Was Wed to Columbus
A Portuguese named John Goncalves Zarco founded a colony on the island of Madeira in 1420 and became its first governor. That office on the neighboring island of Porto Santo was held by one Perestrelo, and it was his daughter who married Christopher Columbus. Here enters the first connection between the "Columbian" and America.

Soutane, a Garment
A soutane is a long, close-fitting garment covering the body from the neck to the ankles. Fastened in the front from top to bottom by buttons, a small aperture is made in the neckband to expose the collar. This garment is worn by the Catholic clergy at the celebration of holy mass and by particular law, when at home or in the church.

WILLIAM SANDS

Mr. William Sands, a native of Hardenville, St. John County, N. B., and a resident of Winchester for the past 41 years, died on Sunday the 26th at the Winchester Hospital. He had been an inmate of the Home for Aged People for several months.

Mr. Sands was born June 24, 1853, his parents being Lydia McElhiney and John Sands. For many years he was connected with the George W. Blanchard Co., retiring from that firm July 1, 1937. His wife, Rebecca Love, died several years ago, and he is survived by one daughter, Miss Jennie Sands. He also leaves a brother, Isaiah K. of Woburn, and a sister, S. Jennie Sands of this town.

Funeral services were held at the home of his nieces, the Misses Cassie E. and Margaret J. Sands, 8 Park avenue, on Tuesday afternoon, March 28, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating. During the service solos were sung by Mrs. Walter West of Woburn. The burial was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

MR. RANDALL ATTENDED

P. S. Randall of Winchester, a member of the New England Retail Confectioners' Association, attended the dinner-meeting of the association held at the Hotel Westminister, Boston, Tuesday evening. This dinner-meeting was held in conjunction with the five-day candy show and pageant opening at Mechanics Building on the same day, at which Herbert W. Hopkins, president of the association, was one of the principal speakers.

At the dinner Tuesday evening, Maurice J. Tobin, Mayor of Boston, and T. R. Schoonmaker, executive secretary of the Brazil Nut Advertising Fund of New York, were guest speakers. More than 100 members from all parts of New England were present to hear both speakers, after which they adjourned to Mechanics Building for the show and pageant.

FORMER WINCHESTER BOY ENGAGED

At a luncheon last Saturday at their home in Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Townsend Senter announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Suzanne Russell Senter to Mr. Douglas Ordway Parker, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Fletcher Douglas Parker of Hartford, Conn., formerly of Winchester.

Miss Senter prepared for college at the Baldwin School and is now a member of the senior class at Smith College. Mr. Parker graduated from the Loomis School and is a senior at Williams College.

Everyone is playing Autobridge. Rounds for this fascinating game are $1 and $2 at the Star Office.

PORTNIGHTLY NOTES

A delightful program of Easter music was presented by the Fortnightly Glee Club at the regular meeting on Monday. Directed by Mary Ranton Witham, and with Lucy Wilcox as accompanist, this very attractive group of Fortnightly songsters performed capably over a wide range of songs. As an added treat, Louise Allman gave several violin selections, accompanied by Mary Ranton Witham, in her usual delightful manner. Solos by Annette Hughes, Sophia Gardner, Amy McMinamin, Sadie Horne and Marion Edwards, added much to the enjoyment of the program. At the conclusion of the musical treat, tea was served, with Alice Andrews and Madeleine Zimmerman pouring.

Literature Meeting
The final meeting of the Reading Group will be held on Monday, April 3, taking the Drama for the topic of the day. Enlightening papers on this interesting subject will be given by Mary Downes and Martina Evans. Following the regular program, plans for the next year's program will be discussed.

Art Exhibit This Afternoon
The exhibition and tea, to be held by the Art Group will occur this afternoon instead of April 7, as appears in the Year Book. Fortnightlians interested in the work of these talented members are invited to view the exhibit and enjoy a cup of tea as they admire the paintings.

"NATE" WON A DINNER
Few in Winchester will question the ability of the town's tax collector, Nathaniel M. Nichols, to track the elusive tax to its lair, and probably no one would subscribe more readily to "Nate" all around collecting ability than George W. Franklin, known familiarly as the "Squire," who, as clerk of the Selectmen, does another bang-up good job.

The "Squire," however, felt that dragging $30,000 over the counter at the collector's window during the single month of March would be rather more of a chore than even "Nate" could do, the former having learned that $50,000 less than that sum had been very high for most months of March on record.

Accordingly the "Squire" waged the dinners with "Nate" that the latter couldn't bring in $30,000 to the town between March 1 and 31 inclusive. "Nate" accepted the wager with alacrity. We learned Monday that he was $240 over the necessary $30,000 with four more days to go.

The dinners were "enjoyed" last evening at the big Rotary jamboree at the County Club. The "Squire's" statement as loser was to the effect that he was glad to buy a dinner resulting in the acquisition of $30,000 to the town!

MAYOR KANE TO BE IN WINCHESTER APRIL 11

The Hon. William E. Kane, mayor of Woburn, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Winchester Taxpayers' Association to be held in the art gallery of the public library Tuesday, April 11, at 8 p. m. The subject of Mayor Kane's speech will be "Municipal Problems." He will discuss particularly the problems with which he has been confronted as mayor of our neighboring city of Woburn and how he has met them. Due to the interest being shown by people of Winchester in hearing Mayor Kane this meeting of the Taxpayers' Association will be open to the public.

YOUNG WINCHESTER CHOOSES TO HEAR A MAN WHO HAS CHOSEN TO LISTEN WITH YOUTH

At 5 o'clock on Palm Sunday, April 2, at the Church of the Epiphany, young people of Winchester, of any church or no church, will assemble to hear a man who has recently chosen a work that will put him at a listening-post of life where he will hear continually what youth is saying and asking about life—its ways, its wages, its areas that are like settled lands, its frontiers that must still be mapped and brought under the plough and made into homesteads. The speaker who the Affiliated Youth Organization has chosen for this, its first meeting, is Dr. Norman B. Nash. He has been dealing with young men as a teacher. Dr. Nash has chosen to become headmaster of a boys' school rather than to continue work with young men who are farther along in life and whose important decision have been made.

For the half hour or so that he is speaking to them, Winchester youth people will have a chance to live inside Dr. Nash's mind, to catch something of his faith that there is still a social and spiritual West, still places for youth to go adventuring, still things on which this generation may lay shaping, creative hands.

As a result of their Youth Rally, young Winchester will see more meaning in life and feel more urgency to live by decision instead of drift. Before the address there will be music by a string quartette in which Nancy Nickerson will play the first violin, Priscilla Tapley the second violin, Jean Drake the viola and Sheila Carr the cello.

The ushers will come from several different Winchester churches: John Kishler from the First Congregational, Clement Barksdale from New Hope, Emmons Ellis from the Unitarian, Marshall Goodenough from the Methodist Episcopal, Leonard Sherman from Epiphany, David Bartholomew from the Second Congregational and David Burnham from the Baptist.

The committee in charge of the Rally emphasizes the fact that it is not just a joint meeting of organizations; it is for all people who live in Winchester and are young.

CHURCH UNITY

The group of Winchester women who heard Dr. Eliza Kendrick, professor emeritus of Bible at Wellesley College, Tuesday afternoon, March 28, fitted her subject, "Church Unity." For among her hearers were individual members of practically every Christian body in Winchester.

Miss Kendrick began with a question addressed to each individual mind and left for each, which probably many of her hearers will find a hard question to answer, and a very hard one to get rid of.

Briefly she reminded us of the trend to division—the centuries when men felt that loyalty to a certain truth required them to go apart and to assemble about them those who were in perfect agreement. So divisions multiplied in our United States most rapidly of all times and countries.

GEO-GRAPHIC FACTS

Lithuania, the little Baltic Republic which recently celebrated its 21st birthday, is paradoxically one of the oldest countries in Europe says the National Geographic Society. For 1500 years her people have called this region their home. During the Middle Ages, as the Duchy of Lithuania, she ruled over a vast territory from the Baltic Sea to the Black Sea. Eventually Lithuania fell under the sway of Czarist Russia. On February 16, 1918, amid the confusion of the conflicting interests set in motion by the World War, a duly elected Council proclaimed the restoration of the independent State of Lithuania, founded on democratic principles.

TWENTY-ONE APRILS

To the Editor of the Star:

This is 1939. This is the year, the twenty-first. It is the year that they might have come of age—the sons and daughters of the boys who died in France or on the way.

Among those boys there were not many that I knew well. Most were older. But some I had seen frequently, some daily, and one or two whose tracks criss-crossed mine for months at a time were almost like brothers. They were part of what was Winchester to me.

Many of us—and we too are young—will remember them: Mahlon Dennett, "Bill" Noonan, "Gussie" Leonard, "Chet" Tutin and "Cupid" Lane. There were more, but those are the boys I knew in the order that I knew them. Dennett, least, for he was, I think, the oldest, and Stuart "Cupid" Lane best.

It is of them I think more than of those who came back when my mind now turns to Winchester, for again the ghostly roar of guns comes down the breeze, and it were well for us to remember.

Three were killed in action—Dennett, Noonan and "Toots." Tutin crashed on French soil when his plane somehow went wrong and when the war—this is the sad part—was all but over.

Throughout those happier school years before the war came on, there was no trail that marked those boys as heroes-to-be: diffident Dennett, jovial Noonan, quiet, hard-working "Gus" Leonard, and big, good-humored "Toots."

Of the five, noisy, devil-may-care "Stew" Lane, the one nearest me in age and the one that I knew best, was perhaps most the born or natural soldier and the one who would have been most at home in the thick of gun-fire. Yet poor "Stew" Lane, among the very first to step up, never saw France. Impatient for action, so eager that he switched from the Navy to the Marines, rugged of health, it was given him to be stricken at home in the big frame house on Lawson road, on furlough, with a quick winter sickness brought on by injuries in a service football game, and to die in the Naval Hospital at Chelsea.

Winchester without "Cupid" Lane, the one that I knew best, was permanently different. He was only a boy himself (I doubt if he was 20) but he had always been the man to me, and self-appointed guardian and protector to two or three of us fledglings (Russ Sumner, Frankie Block and George Bird) who, in the early spring of 1917 had, against his stern advice, trailed him, a few weeks after his own enlistment, into the Navy. Russ and I split from the others in those first Navy Yard duties at Charlestown. We were soon eager to get off yard details and away to sea. One day, I recall, we had a chance to ship out as firemen on a coal burner and started on the way to push our transfer papers through. But "Cupid" heard of it and stopped it. "You two wait!" he said, and headed off our plans in ways that left us nothing else to do.

He was our mentor in matters of conduct and associates. If he put thumbs down on a man we liked or one who impressed us (and no doubt we were both gullible and impressionable) we saw no more of that man. Whom to cultivate and whom to avoid, on those courses he diligently steered us and all those courses were good. Then, just before we went out, we saw him alive for the last time when, to get sooner into the thick of things, he had just doffed the blue of the Navy for the khaki of the Marines.

Perhaps those boys were more fortunate than they could know, for it often seemed to me later that the hard lot lay with those unable to join the fighting forces—with those who had to stay home: the women, the older men, the young with physical shortcomings—and the girls, probably most of all the girls. There were the jealousies and slanders that flared recurrently while those on active service were away. Those five boys happily missed all that.

And again, they were fortunate to miss the trials of homecoming and what followed. For many a man came back wanted mostly to be left alone—to pick up the old threads gradually until he could once more find his way about. To them, home was mostly a place to lick their wounds—no process to be put on public show. It was so hard to make your well-wishers understand. Fortunately those five that they missed all that.

But above all, they could be thankful that they could disclaim any part in the wanton dissipation of their victory's fruits, opportunities and responsibilities.

For nearly half a decade now, sharp unrest has stirred the world. In truth, it does not seem that affairs at any time since the Armistice have really settled down. Each day brings nearer the rattle of sabre in scabbard until we almost envy the five we knew who, with the others, had gone beyond all that 20 years ago.

They have been spared the sorry sight of a country too cowardly to carry through the responsibilities it assumed at the cost of lives like theirs.

For our politicians have forgotten or ignored some salient points: that we were a party to the Peace and the Treaty of Versailles; that, if the provisions of that treaty have not been enforced, the fault is more ours than that of France or England; and that it fits all us ill to deride our old Allies for failure to do what we should have done ourselves.

If the Prussian again runs wild, it will be because we have dimly failed in our simple duty to ourselves to our Allies and to our own boys who died.

BRYANT & STRATTON

The Board of Governors of the Alumni Association, at a meeting held Tuesday evening, March 14, with President Robert Sanford presiding, voted to establish a fund to be known as the Bryant & Stratton Alumni Association Scholarship Fund for worthy students who would otherwise have to forego the benefits of a practical commercial education. This, of course, will be in addition to the Loan Fund for deserving students which the Association has been operating for years.

On April 3 a new class in Shorthand starts to which young men as well as young women will be admitted. While there is no decrease in the demand for properly qualified women stenographers and secretaries, there is a distinct increase in the number of calls on the School's Employment Department for men with a knowledge of Shorthand. This is why more and more men graduates of high schools and colleges are including Shorthand in their specialized courses at Bryant & Stratton.

Among recent graduates of the school are: Richard Adams, Westboro; Mary McIsaac, Arlington; Elizabeth Law, Somerville; Yolanda Abuzzese, Boston; Arthur Pearce, Jr., Milton; Thomas Lewis, Waban; Robert Miller, Lynn; Clement Philbrook, Littleton, N. H.; and Mona McDonald, Jamaica Plain.

While the School offers no courses in Journalism, any student interested in writing has an opportunity to be appointed to the staff of the Bryant & Stratton Journal. This gives the young man or woman practice in reporting news items and in writing articles, all of which are criticized in a constructive, friendly manner before being approved. Formal instruction in Business English, Vocabulary Building, and Correspondence, as well as informal instructor-criticism in all spoken and written work, gives the student sound practice in how to use English correctly and effectively.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR NOTES

There will be a meeting of the governing board on Wednesday, April 5 at the home of the president, Mrs. James H. Carr.

The next regular meeting will be held in Lyceum Hall on Tuesday, April 11.

The annual spring bridge will be held on Wednesday, April 12, at Fortnightly Hall. Dessert will be served at 4 p. m.

The chairman of the various committees are as follows: Mrs. James H. Carr, general chairman; Mrs. John J. Gorman, cards and tallies; Mrs. Wm. T. Connell, decorations; Mrs. E. G. MacDonald, refreshments; Mrs. Walter J. Henry, tables; Mrs. C. L. Doherty, tickets.

DARTMOUTH POP CONCERT

Plans are rapidly being completed for the Pop Concert and Dance which the Dartmouth Women's Club Inc. is giving Friday evening, April 14, at the Hotel Vendome in Boston for the benefit of the Dartmouth College Scholarship Fund.

Reservations for the gala event are now being made and among Winchester patrons and patronesses are Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Saltmarsh, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Elwell, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Gleason and Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Dingwell.

IN B. U. SCARLET KEY

George T. Welsh, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Welsh of Cambridge street, was on last Saturday evening initiated into the Boston University honorary society of Scarlet Key, election to which is on the basis of prominence in scholastic, organization and class activities at the university. Welsh is a member of the graduate school student government. The initiation took place at a banquet held at the B. U. Women's Building on Commonwealth avenue in Boston.

HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL MEN OUT

Baseball at Winchester High School got under way this week when Coach George Lauer issued his first call for candidates to do preliminary conditioning work in the gymnasium. Outdoor practice is of course out of the question just yet awhile.

On paper the locals would seem to have the nucleus of another winning club with seven of last year's regulars ready for duty plus several boys who got into some of the varsity games.

Big "Artie" Jonsson, tall left hander and number one pitcher in the Mystic Valley a year ago, has graduated and is now toiling for one of the Boston Bees' farm teams. He will be missed, of course, for school boy hurlers with "Art's" stuff don't come along in the small high schools so often.

Winchester is, however, well fortified in the box this year with "Dond" "Charlie" Johnson, "Artie" equally fork-handed brother, and "Al" DiMinico, orthodox hurler who is very steady and has loads of experience. Add to them, "Bob" Farrell, who appears to have more stuff than either, and you have quite a pitching staff; much better than any other club in the Middlesex League at least is likely to possess, and pitching is just about 80 per cent of a successful schoolboy ball team.

Outside the box Winchester looks pretty well set. Capt. "Ned" Kenney was the best shortstop in the Middlesex League last year and should be better this season. "Red" Carr is a second baseman with a year's seasoning as a regular and "Tony" DeTeso is another infielder who was a regular a year ago, playing mostly at third base, but who is a capable key-stone sacker. Horie and Connors are veteran outfielders, though both have weaknesses. Horie in the field and Connors at the bat. There is no experienced catcher available, though DeTeso is a good backstop, probably much better than Fiocciello was a year ago. There seems no first baseman around in "Junie" Donghey's class, but Garcia played the initial sack a bit last year and may develop. Rallo, Murdock and Marchella are other infielders, and "Chief" Geoghegan is a promising candidate for the vacant outfield berth. All in all Winchester seems to have what it takes again this season.

Following is the schedule:

Those who work so hard to raise funds for scholarships with which to send young people to college must get quite a lot of inspiration for further activity from the intercollegiate gold-fish swallowing that seems so much the vogue among college boys just now. Laying ourselves open to being adjudged hopelessly reactionary and wholly out of touch with the more progressive schools of modern thought, we still are willing to admit our rather strong feeling that college students might find something just a bit better for which to compete.

SOCRATES SAYS-

WHY DEMOCRACY?

A democracy is the most complicated form of government devised; hence, it is the most difficult for people to understand. In order to have it work with the greatest success people must know what it is, all about—for they decide what it is to be done.

Other types of government—absolute monarchies, Fascism, Communism, etc., are the simplest forms of government, and they are easy for the people to understand. In order to have such types work with success, people do not know what it is all about. They are told what to do and they do it—or else.

Now the question that the people of the world (this civilization) must determine is—do they want what it has taken centuries of struggle and warfare to obtain—individual freedom, with the right to worship God in their own way, the right to bring up their own children, the right to work, to save, and to progress, with the fruits of their labor their own; and the right, through representation of their own free choice, to make the laws that control every second of their lives and their children's lives?

The other side of the question is—no individual freedom, religious persecution, state control of their children, public works, little if any opportunity to progress economically as individuals, and no rights in the law making that controls them—just be the wards of the state, with their sole existence to further the might and conquests of the state—the individual of little concern.

The dictator way of centralized control is the easy way, at first, for the lazy, for the individual who is without ambition, or who cannot understand what it is all about when he wakes up from the circus speeches, bands, parades, and bonfires, and finds himself regimented as a cog, an ant in the hill of state, the struggle for independence starts all over again—but it takes centuries each time it happens.

Let no citizen be fooled by promises—just so far as bureaucracy, central control, and breakdown of our Constitutional progress, then just that far have we departed from our freedom as laid down by the spiritually-minded founders of our country.

A government of people, by people, for people, is complicated—it requires the full interest of the people, for it is themselves that they govern. Any time a people lose confidence in themselves, some leader takes advantage of the vulnerable situation and tells the people, first, what should be done—later, he tells them where they get off and what they must do—have we lost confidence in ourselves?

Here in America an elected official is a servant of the people, hired by the people, and paid a salary by the people, which is paid for out of taxes on every necessity of life that the people buy. Let no public servant ever be considered a leader, for in America the people will do the leading, and be governed exactly by the definite laws that representatives of their own free choice enact.

There is no theory of "abundant life" that cannot be adopted by the people of our democracy through the exact means and under our form of government as laid down in our Constitution. Any scheme to circumvent orderly constitutional government in America should be viewed with suspicion and concern by citizens, for once such a procedure is allowed the journey towards central government is made easy.

INTELLECTUALS

Professors training in a classroom, sheltered as they are, subsidized by the very capitalist system that has endowed their institutions and made possible their job, very frequently develop damaging tendencies and go far afield in teaching their subject. Their very position developed from their authority, are created traits of intolerance and impatience. Understanding and patience should be the principal results of culture—not a frustrated urge to move more rapidly than society as a whole can follow.

Life is too complicated—economies do not and never can respond instantly to any yardstick that intellectuals may decide desirable.

The first duty of those who guide and instruct the young is to establish a firm foundation of the exact history of their particular subject; then to stimulate imagination, and induce all to struggle for improvement; finally turning out citizens so cultured that they have great tolerance for those more fortunate, and all complete understanding of the slow upward progress of the human race. Otherwise, too rapid economic and political changes result of a revolutionary nature, and progress is actually retarded longer than if the slower and surer route had been followed.

Intellectuals who simply gain academic training because they can the better enjoy life, and perhaps increase their own economic condition have no place in society, nor have they even repaid society which made their educational progress possible. Their schools and colleges have been either wholly or partly made possible by public taxes or endowments. The tuition they or their families paid are but a small part of the cost.

Intellectual education carries with it grave responsibilities, and it is this knowledge of what these responsibilities are that professors and teachers must stress; not that knowledge in itself is of any value—it is the use that comes from it that only matters. There is very little difference in human intelligence—the difference, if any, rarely comes from academic training, but what does result from culture is exact knowledge of what has occurred before, then if a person has, what we will call lack of a better description, "native ability," the best use will be derived from a trained mind.

Intellectuals, regardless of how profound may be their knowledge, will simply go over the top, drift, flounder, become cranks and egoists unless they are endowed with "native ability" at the start. This theory may account for the great number of untutored minds that have led the world, not only in government, but in the very arts and sciences. There can be no worthwhile brain trust, for those who really lead and accomplish results are individualists, not centrally regimented intellectuals turned out by mass production to goose-step up a one-way street.

Debt

President Roosevelt says that the aggregate public and private debt today is no greater than in 1929—(what does this show?)

In 1929 we had a national income of $80,000,000,000 with the same "aggregate public and private debt" that we have today with our $64,000,000,000 national income. When and if the New Dealers will allow our budget to be balanced and strive to give the private industry confidence enough in them so that they will re-borrow that $30,000,000,000, re-employment and prosperity might return. The $80,000,000,000 national income of 1929, the President says, is necessary.

The aggregate debt may be the same in 1938 as it was in 1929, but it is being borrowed for reform and not for employment by politicians and not by industry. If the public debt is to keep increasing, say to $70,000,000,000 (said to be safe by some), and if private borrowing by some strange impulse also increase to the 1929 level, where would interest rates go? What would happen to values of government bonds—and how high would tax rates go because of high interest rates on the public debt?

It would be impossible to have democracy and have the entire debt a public one. It is impossible to have prosperity with as low interest rates as exist today; yet New Dealers seem not to worry about increasing public debt over private debts, and they even say that low interest rates are desirable and here to stay. Someone had better figure this out before it is too late—the economists cannot agree.

Was it the plan to spend the entire surplus of the nation and have everyone look to the state? When the time comes to pay the private debt, state socialism will be a fact—through "evolution."

"Be Kind To Business" Week?

"Eat an Apple Week," "Health Week," "Strive Week," "Fish Week," "Kind To Dumb Animals, etc. etc. etc. and etc. etc. etc." "Florida Ship Canal Week," "1000 Mile Forest," "Housing Project for Birds," "Hunting Torries Week," "Baiting Utilities Week," etc. etc. etc.

There is a growing theory in the United States that industry and business, although almost as outmoded as drinking troughs for horses, should be recognized at least for a "short spell" (if not to revive it), at least in some commemorative manner—perhaps by speeches or even a "special stamp" issue.

The idea, distasteful as it may be to New Dealers, college professors, certain labor leaders, parlor Bolsheviks, and Congress, should be tolerated, if for no other reason than the fact that the spending of our surplus billions was made possible by industry.

We have heard yearly, since 1933, that business could "breathe" for a few days, but it has never been allowed to, nor will there be any relief worthy of the names till after 1940—so let's establish a "Be Kind to Business Week" on a permanent basis—designate a definite week every year, preferably just before elections. Have the President and every bureaucrat make public breath-taking, business-like speeches daily for one week—get every business to run at least half time for the week—let the banks have floats on the Potomac—let business men out of their cellars for that one week—no statements in red to be issued—no tax day payments to fall the week—no strikes from 7 to 7:15 on the first day of that week; in fact

attended by a capable staff to serve your best interests.

let's have a good old fashioned "horse and buggy" business week once a year—everyone to have a pay envelope from private industry.

Let's go—let's establish a "Be Kind to Business Week" once every year. The other 51 weeks let's be resigned and live by taking each other's washing. Let's not just talk about it—let's do it. Write your Congressman now!

SHOULD NOT FIGHT ON FOREIGN LAND

To the Editor of the Star:

As a native son of a Civil War veteran I desire to summarize briefly in a few words the activities that are anticipated and contemplated in Europe at the present time. Certainly all I know on the subject is what I read in the newspapers, like the late lamented Will Rogers.

Now please listen: The League of Nations has collapsed. It was of doubtful use anyway. The United States of America gave wealth and men in order that democracy shall not perish from the earth, but when the last war was terminated and ancient Europe was secure, when our Uncle Sam sent the Allies the bill they would not pay, England, France and Italy refused these debts. Europe owes us millions, but Finland paid with gold and check as she agreed to do; the only nation of them all who kept her promise.

Now then Europe desires more money to start another fight. They call us cousins over there when they desire to get in right. They are jealous of each other and their notes are sharp and sour. Like the Japanese invaders they are thirsting for more power. If Europe desires another war that is their affair, and if they want another loan let them get it over there.

The records show in Washington that indebted there they stand, and I hope and trust that the splendid youth of this great nation shall not fight on foreign land.

Very truly yours,
Patrick Henry Craughwell

SOMETIMES PEOPLE GET "LOST" IN BIG CHURCHES—AS WELL AS SAVED

To the Editor of the Star:

The small, unpretentious church whose minister knows every attendant and visits his people (not only at funerals and weddings) and knows each parishioner's financial situation, their physical and spiritual needs, may best be relied upon to satisfy our hunger for spiritual comfort and fortify us to meet the daily battle of life.

The cordiality of your greeting or reception does not depend upon the size of your pledge or contribution, but warmth and goodwill exude and irradiate from the moment of your entrance, and you are made to realize that WELCOME means something more than just the lettering on the doormat. The sermon is interesting, instructive and inspiring. You sense that the preacher has experienced what he teaches. The music or singing, usually by a volunteer choir, rendered with feeling and understanding is restful and soothing to the tired and discouraged.

The pastor is more often than not a man not seeking "larger fields" (i.e. more money) but is a Christ-like man who seeks only the good and welfare of his flock and the community. Money is a secondary consideration; His life text is, "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and all things else shall be added unto you."

If you know of such a "small" church why not visit it some Sunday and see if your views agree with ours.

DREDGING WILL CHANGE APPEARANCE OF LAKE

To the Editor of the Star:

How many residents of Winchester know what is going to be done to the Mystic Lakes when dredging starts as soon as the ice goes out?

Plans call for the filling in with a suction dredge of a large part of the upper lake. That section between the dam and the lower lake, toward the Mystic Beach is to be all filled in and perhaps used in the future as a parking space when it has dried out. This will materially change the whole appearance of the lake. In that section in front of the Winchester Boat Club, it is to be dredged out to the depth of seven feet and the material used to fill that section on the east side between the old aqueduct and the so-called island. This particular section will not change the contour of the lake much and will without a doubt be a good thing as it will get rid of a very shallow section of the lake. Residents have a right to know just what is being done to our town.

TREES THREATENED BY DAM

To the Editor of the Star:

Something should be done about the flooding of the bases of the trees along the edge of Manchester Field by the new dam recently constructed by the United States Geological Survey on the Aberjona River at the foot of Mystic Avenue. It is a well-known botanical fact that if the bases of trees, with the exception of willows, are flooded for any length of time they die. These trees look too beautiful to lose that way. The new dam also backs the river up on the dam at the Main street bridge owned by the town. Such a disaster has been the subject of many successful law suits in the past.

READING THEATRE

Friday and Saturday at the Reading Theatre there will be one of the best, if not the most talked about, pictures of the year. "They Made Me a Criminal," starring John Garfield and the "Dead End Kids." Here is a picture that the whole family cannot afford to miss.

The co-feature will be "Mr. Moto's Last Warning" starring Peter Lorre.

There will also be a News, a short subject featuring Clyde McCoy and his orchestra and a "Porky" pig cartoon. Being the family and enjoy a fine show.

So many requests have been coming in for another good "revival" show that we are happy to announce, that on April 7 and 8 we will have two more pictures on the same program that are being requested. They are "Imitation of Life" starring Claudette Colbert and Warren William and "Magnificent Obsession" starring Irene Dunne and Robert Taylor. Don't forget the dates.

Buildings is a population equal to that of a small town. Besides 434 members of the House and 96 Senators, some 3,000 men and women are regularly employed as officials, clerks, stenographers, carpenters, gardeners.

There is a capitol physician, a special police force, and a corps of page boys, from whose ranks many have graduated into executive jobs and Congressional seats.

More than 400 rooms in the Capitol Building have been set aside for offices and shops. Press rooms, typewriters, telephones, and telegraph, are also available for news-paper men. There also are restaurants and barber shops in the building.

Into this building each day pours a flood of mail. The Capitol maintains two branch post offices, one for the Senate, the other for the House. About 100,000 pieces of mail may pass daily through the hands of postal clerks in the Congressional units.

Tons of Paper Used

In correspondence, reports and speeches, tons of paper are consumed annually by this branch of the Government. During the last fiscal year the Public Printer issued, on request of Congress, more than 7 million publications. In the basement of the Capitol are machines that bind up waste paper for sale, when there is a market.

Where so many famous people have gathered the restaurant in the Senate Restaurant, for example, (both House and Senate have their own dining rooms, with near-by tables for the public) bean soup is always on the menu—a result of the request of a member some 20 years ago.

Congressmen sometimes treat restaurant guests to food specialties of their native States. Not long ago a 500-pound elk was presented to the Senate Restaurant, with the compliments of Senator Wheeler of Montana.

Or the convenience of Members of Congress and other officials, an un-

Senators in a hurry to get special service in the public elevators by ringing three times. "Fire-bell" speed is also accorded those wishing to use the Capitol's monorail subway. Washington's only underground line which runs between the Capitol basement and the Senate Office Building.

Two floors below the Rotunda is a room seldom seen by the tourist. In this small whitewashed chamber, reached by winding corridors and narrow steps, it was once proposed that the remains of George Washington should rest. Before the plan was finally abandoned in favor of Mount Vernon, a "keeper of the Crypt" was appointed—a non-working job held, according to some accounts, for half a century.

Kept in this room today is a glass enclosed catalogue (a temporary casket), used for those who lie in state in the Capitol.

U. S. CAPITOL IS WORKSHOP AS WELL AS SHOWPLACE

The United States Capitol Building where, on March 4, President Roosevelt held ceremonies marking the 150th birthday of the first meeting of the U. S. Congress under the Constitution, is not only a national showplace but also a Government workshop.

Latest examples of "odd jobs," accomplished by the Capitol's army of workers, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, is a five volume index of the files of the House of Representatives from the First through the Seventy-fourth Congress. In it, for the first time, are listed a number of priceless documents believed to have been destroyed during the War of 1812.

Historic Papers Found

The project was started a year and a half ago in the housecleaning that followed the restoration of the old air-conditioning apparatus. Out of dusty nooks and corners came such long-lost papers as the original Declaration of the War of 1812, early Treasury reports and Acts of Congress, crumpled simply in their own parcels and boxes, and "filed" decades ago in storerooms in the House wing of the building.

The vast amount of routine activity required in the upkeep of the Capitol, both as a historic shrine and as a law-making establishment, is apt, to pass unnoticed by the average visitor while seeing the great domed Rotunda, Statuary Hall, and the Senate and House Chambers.

On duty in the Congressional unit, which includes Capitol, Senate and House, are the two House Office

"Unreality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, April 2.

The Golden Text is: "Remove far from me vanity and lies; give me neither poverty nor riches; feed me with food convenient for me." (Psalm 139:19.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "We are of dust, and we are returning to dust. The spirits whether they are of God; because many false prophets are gone out into the world. We are of dust, and we are returning to dust. The spirits whether they are of God; because many false prophets are gone out into the world. We are of dust, and we are returning to dust. The spirits whether they are of God; because many false prophets are gone out into the world."

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following: "We are of dust, and we are returning to dust. The spirits whether they are of God; because many false prophets are gone out into the world. We are of dust, and we are returning to dust. The spirits whether they are of God; because many false prophets are gone out into the world."

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. Because Truth is infinite, it should be known as nothing. Because Truth is omnipresent in goodness, it is not. Because Truth is the Master, it is not. But the greatest contrivance of unbelief. The greatest wrong is but a supposition of people of the high rate of 300,000,000.

NEW PATRON DRIVE AT WINCHESTER

The Winchester Theatre has designated the weeks of April 2 and April 9 as their "Bring a New Patron" Weeks. Manager Carter is soliciting all patrons to bring a new patron during these two weeks to acquaint them with the character of entertainment and service rendered by the Winchester Theatre.

Having kept faith with our community we have earned the right to your support and patronage. With the co-operation of our satisfied patrons the success of this drive will be assured. There are many folks in our community who have never enjoyed the very fine appointments that only the Winchester Theatre can offer. If you are one who has never attended, why not visit us during these two weeks and be convinced? After doing this we will rest our case as to your future patronage.

Mr. Carter will be pleased to welcome personally all new patrons during this drive, if you will make the fact known to him.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The University's spring review of yesterday's parade of hits continues through next week with a complete change of program every day.

On Sunday, April 2, the program includes "Manhattan Melodrama" co-starring William Powell and Myrna Loy and "Roberta" featuring Irene Dunne, Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire.

Monday's program features Errol Flynn in "The Green Light" and Claudette Colbert and Charles Boyer in "Tovarich."

"The Life of Emile Zola," starring Paul Muni, and "I Met Him in Paris" featuring Claudette Colbert, Melvyn Douglas and Robert Young will be shown on Tuesday, April 4.

"Naughty Marietta," co-starring Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy and Joan Crawford, Franchot Tone and Robert Young in "The Bride Wore Red" will be screened on Wednesday, April 5.

"Alexander's Ragtime Band," featuring Tyrone Power, Don Ameche and Alice Faye one of the 10 best pictures of 1938, and "Desire" co-starring Marlene Dietrich and Gary Cooper will be shown on Thursday, April 6.

Two outstanding favorites, "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," co-starring Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur, and "Theodora Goes Wild," with Irene Dunne and Melvyn Douglas will be shown on Friday, April 7.

On Saturday, April 8, the program includes "Boys Town" featuring Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney and "Test Pilot" co-starring Clark Gable and Myrna Loy.

MALDEN STRAND THEATRE

"St. Louis Blues," starring Dorothy Lamour, Lloyd Nolan, Jerome Cowan, Tito Guizar, Jesse Ralph, William Frawley, Maxine Sullivan, Cliff Nazarro and Matty Malneck and his Orchestra, will headline the bill opening at the Strand Theatre in Malden today. With hit songs, gay comedy and the local color of the Mississippi, sprinkled about in liberal quantities, "St. Louis Blues" tells a romantic story of a Broadway celebrity who runs away from fame, glamour and applause to find real love aboard a Mississippi show-boat. Such modern gadgets as contract obligations, short wave radios, de luxe trains and publicity agents all have their part in the plot. "St. Louis Blues" is replete with songs of every variety, all the way from Maxine Sullivan's swing version of the classic "Love Lamour" to five new screen hits written especially for the production by Hollywood's ace composers, including "Blue Night Fall," "Kinda Lonesome For You," "Jun-jun," "I'll Go For That," and "Let's Dream in the Moonlight."

"My Son Is A Criminal," a novel story, with Alan Baxter, Jacqueline Wells, Gordon Oliver and Willard Robertson as the stars, will be the second attraction on the bill starting today. Willard Robertson is cast as a retired chief of police, who cannot understand why his son, Alan Baxter, does not want to follow in his footsteps and become an officer.

Now on sale at the Star Office—the Bantam Educational Toy Typewriter $12.45 with case.

OUR FELLOW DRIVERS

By Mueller

"See, she's doing 72 miles an hour. I'd open her up but I've got poor tires and my brakes don't hold."

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Idiot's Delight," starring Norma Shearer and Clark Gable, will open at the Granada Theatre in Malden today. Clark Gable plays the part of a hooper in vaudeville who meets an actress on the same bill in Omaha. They have a brief romance and then go their own respective ways. The next time they meet it is in Europe where Norma poses as a countess with a munitions maker as an "angel." The supporting cast is one of the best seen in recent films. Edward Arnold is seen as the munitions maker. Charles Coburn is cast as a scientist. Joseph Schildkraut portrays the commander at the frontier post when war breaks out. Burgess Meredith has an important role as an idealist in the group of travelers who are caught in the conflict.

"Persons in Hiding," based on the book by J. Edgar Hoover, with Lynne Overman, Patricia Morrison, J. Carroll Naish and Judith Barrett as the featured players, will be the second attraction on the bill starting today. This picture opens on an intensely exciting note as J. Carroll Naish, a desperate gangster, holds up a beauty shop in broad daylight. Hounded by G-Men, the fugitives are shown in a mad flight across the country which brings the film to a surprising ending.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE TIME TABLE

Sunday, April 2, "Roberta," 3, 6:20, 9:50; "Manhattan Melodrama," 1:30, 4:50, 8:20.
Monday, April 3, "The Green Light," 3:10, 6:25, 9:40; "Tovarich," 1:30, 4:45, 8.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony
Director of A. & P. Kitchen

Fish are more plentiful than during recent weeks thanks to good fishing weather. Meat prices are firm at moderate levels. Poultry, with the exception of turkeys, is low in price. Eggs are abundant and very inexpensive. This is a good time to use them freely in a great variety of ways. Cheese is cheap and an excellent food. Butter continues to be very reasonable in price.

Green Beans are again plentiful and together with peas and spinach comparatively inexpensive. Small heads of iceberg lettuce are cheap. Asparagus is now coming to market more freely.

Citrus fruits and pineapples are the best fruit values available at present.

Three dinner menus follow:

Low Cost Dinner
Broiled Chopped Steak with Onions
Baked Potatoes Stewed Prunes
Bread and Butter
Coconut Custard Pie

Tea or Coffee
Moderate Cost Dinner
Stuffed Roast Chicken Baked Yams
Green Peas
Bread and Butter
Orange Souffle with Fresh Shredded Pineapple

Ten or Coffee
Very Special Dinner
Orange, Grapefruit and Pineapple Cup
Roast Beef with Yorkshire Pudding
New Potatoes Green Beans
Avocado Salad
Rolls and Butter
Lemon Meringue Pie

Observe the Horn Dance

A horn dance is a medieval dance celebrated during the week at Abbots Bromley, a village on the borders of Needwood forest, Staffordshire. Men, each wearing a deer's skull with antlers, dance through the streets, pursued by a comrade who bestrides a mimic horse, and whips the dancers to keep them on the move.

SEVENTH ANNUAL HIGH SCHOOL VAUDEVILLE SHOW DE-LIGHTS AUDIENCE

On Friday evening, March 24, after a successful afternoon dress rehearsal before some 500 grade students the seventh annual high school vaudeville show, packed the high school auditorium to the last seat and gave the enthusiastic audience two full hours of real entertainment. This year's production, while not valuing greatly from the previous shows of the past six years, revealed a higher degree of finish and perfection in individual acts and in continuity of program. The pauses between acts were very brief and the program was arranged cleverly to vary the order of dancing, singing, and specialty numbers.

Encores were out of the question because of the number of acts on the program, and yet the audience demanded an encore on more than one occasion. It was not to be denied after Brock Lynch, accompanied by Miss Elva Morgan on the piano, topped his way to the high spot of the evening. His encore, which was offered as an extra later in the evening, was a remarkable exhibition of this young dancer's versatility, consisting of several clever imitations of professional favorites. Only slightly less insistent was the demand for an encore of "Five Little Peppers," a student orchestra of five boys: Joseph Becker, Elbert Smith, Joseph Talone, James Weaver and Charles Livingstone, whose three numbers, including an accompaniment for Lillian McAduliffe's pleasing solo, "Deep Purple," would have been followed by an encore if there had been time enough. Their final number took the house by storm.

The entertainment opened with a colorful chorus of dancers, coached by Mrs. John T. Phelps and accompanied at the piano by Mrs. A. B. Corthell. These attractively costumed girls gave a very finished and delightful exhibition of ballet dancing; from that moment on, the success of the program was assured. The Emmerson Ellis, who had intrigued his school mates last December with a comic recitation at the football banquet, gave a new version of Sazie Smith alias Sally Silvers, who confidentially revealed some of her most intimate feelings about her athletic hero, Frank Marabell, to the delight of the younger members of the audience.

But Horn, a diminutive bit of thistle-down, followed with a very pretty tap-dancing number, and was in turn followed by the "Mountain Playboys," Charles Gaine, Pasquale Ferraina, Cosmo Simonette and Guy Migliaccio, picturesque dressed in cowboy costumes, and chock full of mountain music and clever patter. One of the most artistic numbers on the program was provided by Jean Rooney, another of Mrs. Phelps' pupils, accompanied by Mrs. Corthell, in the "Waltz Romantic," a very charming bit of ballet dancing on tip toe, and surely deserving of the burst of applause which it received.

Once more a very popular favorite was repeated in the number entitled on the program "Free Wheeling," which proved to be a clever and colorful roller skating act featuring Miss Grey, Katherine Sullivan, Peter Hickey and George Hobb. Miss Gray easily took the honors in this act with her skillful dancing on the rollers.

Among the several tap-dancing numbers on the program one of the best was the duet number which followed the roller skaters. In "Flying Feet" Ruth O'Connell and John Grady, dressed in effective black and white costumes, gave a fine performance, accompanied by Miss Freda Miller at the piano.

Edward Welch and David Bartholomew were extremely entertaining and natural in their bit of black magic, and had the audience mystified with the dice box and the egg in the bag trick.

With a clothesline adorned with vandy-colored clothing as a background, and with small washboards as musical instruments, Claire McGrath and Rachel Kimball followed with an amusing tap dancing number entitled "Monday Morning."

Miss Ethel Kerrigan, accompanied on the piano by Miss Freda Miller, sang "Dream Girl" in such an agreeable manner that more than one member of the audience may have indulged in vain dreams about dream girls and such.

The final number before the intermission was the popular acrobatic act featuring high diving, tumbling, and breath-taking somersaults by the following athletes: P. Cabot, W. Calahan, P. Caluffo, S. Holmes, J. Hopkins, J. Spaulding, H. Hopkins, R. Joy, R. Lynch, A. Melargini, F. Migliaccio, T. Preston and S. Pilkington. Considerable credit should be given for their fine performance to the few days of extra coaching given by "Ken" Gurney of Springfield College, himself a previous star in earlier vaudeville shows at the school.

We have already told you how good the "Five Little Peppers" were with Miss Lillian McAduliffe, who followed the short intermission, and of Brock Lynch's fine performance in "Tops on Taps."

They were followed by Eleanor Randall in "It's Scotch," a realistic but all too brief demonstration of the Highland Fling in full Scottish costume, accompanied by Mrs. Corthell.

number, with Marie Cucolo as the solo dancer of the group. Supporting Miss Cucolo were Rachel Kimball, Claire McGrath, Louise Wild, Norma Crowley, Mary Crowley, Rita Collins, Helen Butler, and Shirley Reynolds. Mrs. Corthell accompanied at the piano.

"Small Fry" was the title on the program of the next number, a mystery number, in that no one seemed to know beforehand just what it was all about. Wallace Howard and Mr. Edward Bartlett, alias Bing Crosby Vallee, presented a duet of two numbers that literally brought the house down and all "Small Fry" was received with a fair amount of applause, the two songbirds swung into a somewhat personal string of original verse. A dealing intimately with the amorous difficulties of several of the members of the student body, and the reception of this group of tidbits was vociferous. The climax was reached when Mr. Howard brought the affair to a close with a surprise verse dealing with his colleague, whose embarrassment added no little to the enjoyment of the audience.

The final number of the program was the "Sports Review" an original and comical ballet imitation by 12 boys and girls dressed in different sports costumes, from football uniforms to scanty swim suits. Their graceful and perfect rhythm won the whole-hearted applause of a responsive audience, and with the finale brought the performance to a close. The members of the "Sports Review" were Jean Clement, Christine Flaherty, Myrtle Goodhue, Margaret Greene, Rita Collins, Betty Dickson, Douglas Graham, Francis Murray, Bernard Vespucci, Thomas Millan, Anthony DeTeso, Frank Marabell and Richard McCormack.

From the point of view of good entertainment the show was a real success. From the point of view of a successful exhibition of co-operative effort the production was a notable outgrowth, giving over 150 boys and girls an opportunity to apply in a practical way their individual special talents. Financially the show was distinctly successful, clearing $250 for the school athletic association.

A large share of the credit for the success of the project is due to Miss Rosamond Young and Mr. George Lauer, of the high school faculty who were directly responsible for planning, organizing and rehearsing the many acts, and to Miss Ethel Knowlton who had charge of the tickets and advertising and whose committee accomplished that rare success of a complete sell-out of the house.

Other members of the school faculty gave of their time generously in one way or another before and during the show.

No small share of credit is due to Mrs. John T. Phelps and Mrs. A. B. Corthell for their generous co-operation in making possible such effective numbers as the "Daffy Down Dillies," the "Dress Parade," "Waltz Romantic" and "It's Scotch." It is difficult to conceive of a successful performance without these numbers.

How Lightning Affects Trees

Although lightning frequently strikes trees, there is usually no damage to the trees or else the injury is limited to the path of the electrical discharge, occasionally stripping off a narrow piece of bark or splitting the trunk or limb. However, in rare cases the lightning may be accompanied by St. Elmo's fire which gives a flaming or brush discharge from every twig and leaf. In such cases the tree usually dies within a few days or, if the St. Elmo's fire should miss part of the tree, it may kill the greater part and several years may elapse before the remainder of the tree succumbs.

'Ride on a Rail' Punishment

One form of disciplinary punishment for soldiers in the early days consisted of sentencing them to ride what the men called the wooden horse. The sentence came from the commander and the men carried it out. They made the offender straddle a bent sapling and then tossed and jolted him until he was quite willing to say "Uncle" to each man in the company—or say whatever it was they said in those days.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

March 29, 1939

Friends of the Hospital:

The Hospital is now a member of the Winchester Community Chest and will receive its maintenance funds from the chest campaign to be held April 10th to April 24th.

The establishment of a Community Chest is a progressive step forward and our directors are pleased to have the Hospital included in such a movement. It is economical and efficient and will allow the directors to give more of their time, effort, and thought to the constructive consideration of the other activities of the Hospital.

This is the first united action by the various social agencies in the town, and we urge all friends of the Hospital to give the Campaign their generous support.

In order that the Hospital may continue to render its usual service to its patients, it will be necessary for everyone to give at least an amount equal to the sum total of his gifts last year to all the agencies.

We have appreciated your past co-operation and gifts, and we now hope for your continued confidence. Please support the Chest.

Sincerely yours,
ALBERT K. COMINS,
President

WINCHESTER DISTRICT BOY SCOUTS

March 26, 1939

Friends of Winchester Boy Scouts:

Those active in guiding the Boy Scout Movement in Winchester are enthusiastic about the Winchester Community Chest. It will not only conduct a united drive for funds for the agencies, but more important, it will bring all the agencies closer together in a joint effort for civic improvement.

Boy Scouting in Winchester is supported entirely by public subscription, having no other source of income. Winchester citizens have been generous with money and time and the Winchester District Committee thanks the citizens for this support.

In the campaign of the Winchester Community Chest to take place in April we again ask your support. This year is the first year of this united drive and WE MUST NOT FAIL in our effort to get 100 per cent quota.

Scouting is not for the underprivileged exclusively. The overprivileged boy of today as well must learn to be prepared. Scouts who learn and practise the Scout Laws will make better citizens of tomorrow.

Respectfully,

FRANKLIN J. LANE,
Chairman

Winchester District Boy Scouts of America

THE HOME FOR AGED PEOPLE IN WINCHESTER

March 29, 1939

To the Friends of the Home for Aged People:

In the interest of co-operation, and for economy in effort and expense, the Directors of the Home for Aged People in Winchester voted to combine with other philanthropic agencies in the formation of a Winchester Community Chest. We believe that this will meet with your approval.

The Winchester Community Chest is about to canvass the Town for contributions, and we ask your support of the Chest and assure you that only by your continued generosity it is possible to maintain the same standard of care in the Home in the future as has been done in the past.

Cordially yours,

CHARLES R. MAIN,
President

The Home for Aged People in Winchester

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

March 28, 1939

Friends of the Nursing Association:

We wish to thank all of those who have contributed so generously in the past to the support of the Winchester District Nursing Association. This year no bills for dues will be sent out, as this organization has joined the Winchester Community Chest. As you are probably aware those organizations that become part of, and receive funds from the Chest, do so with the understanding that they will make no separate drive for membership.

With this in mind we earnestly hope that you, and others who have been so loyal in the past years, will give generously to the Winchester Community Chest. The greater the amount that is raised, the greater will be the share for the Winchester District Nursing Association, thus allowing this organization to carry on the splendid work and service, that has been so helpful to the Town of Winchester.

Very truly yours,

MRS. BEN R. SCHNEIDER,
President

WINCHESTER COUNCIL OF GIRL SCOUTS

March 27, 1939

Friends of the Winchester Girl Scouts:

When the Winchester Community Chest was formed in 1938 the Winchester Council of Girl Scouts was proud and happy to join this new organization.

The Girl Scout Council realized that the formation of a Community Chest was a progressive move and was advisable for many reasons. In the first place a multiple number of drives for Winchester organizations brought hardship to the many loyal workers for these drives. In the second place a number of drives brought unnecessary trouble to the many generous givers in Winchester. In third place, and most important, now, more than ever before, concerted effort in all endeavors is required. No one organization by itself can hope to accomplish a thorough and complete job. Each organization must realize that its endeavors are merely a part of a larger endeavor by all such organizations and the formation of all in a community into a Community Chest is the logical move.

Winchester has been noted for its generous response to appeals of all kinds and it is hardly necessary to urge in this town that the citizens answer the appeal about to be made by the Community Chest by subscribing a sum equal to, or greater than, the total of the sums that they have given in the past to the various individual organizations.

The Winchester Council of Girl Scouts requests of its many friends their whole hearted and generous support for the coming Community Chest Drive.

The Council is grateful for your past support and confident of your continued interest.

Very truly yours,

MRS. HAROLD V. FARNSWORTH, Commissioner

WINCHESTER COMMUNITY CHEST

pense of Moosehead Lake till you pick up the Spencer Mountains, and Spencer Narrows in the foreground, and on beyond to Mount Katahdin in the blue distance, while the waters roar and the timbers tremble beneath your feet where the Kennebec is born, and if you do not feel the ecstasy of open spaces and sense the power of nature's forces, then the wilderness has no voice for you.

As a matter of fact, I am beginning to think that fishing is only a secondary consideration in this matter of getting away into the wilderness—a mere excuse to escape from business. I note that there are men who go on these fishing trips who never wet a line, and still seem to have a marvelous time. I'm not sure but what a fishing trip is not a great illusion, promoted to snare money out of the pockets of people who are a little insane. No fishermen is quite right in his head, anyhow, or he wouldn't sit in a canoe all day long without a nibble, still hoping against hope that he'll get a strike. He's just cheerful, happy idiot, for the most part, kidding himself along. As soon as you set off with your guide you're in a world of make-believe, as strange as "Alice in Wonderland." As you push off from shore you ask him what the prospects are. He cocks his eye at the sky, takes on a look indicating heavy thought, and shakes his head dubiously. Either the wind isn't in the right quarter, or the moon's phase isn't right, or it lies too far on its back, or the frogs didn't sing right last night, or a dog barked at the wrong time—or something else. I've never known a guide who wasn't a pessimist about the weather—it's never exactly right.

Then there are the superstitions about bait. We laugh at that magnificent old patron-saint of fishermen, Isaac Walton, when he says that if you want a bait that will be a sure "killer" for carp, you take: "The flesh of a rabbit or cat, cut small; and bean-flour, and mix these together with sugar or honey, and pound them in a mortar then work them all together in your hands into a paste, and mix with them a little white or yellow wool." and there you have it! But although fashions in fishing change, the superstitions linger. If you don't believe it read your sportsman's magazines and examine the supply of artillery with which some of your friends go into the woods. Some of them have enough patent tackle to stock a sporting-goods store! Of course it's a harmless, though rather expensive, delusion, and it's good for business, and increases the sportsman's hopes. And of course fishing is based on hope. Take that away, and a fishing trip would be as dreary as the morning after!

The guides have also a few new wrinkles to suggest, as to the latest fly, that will break the heart of any salmon that spies it, to the new type of spoon that can be seen by a fish a mile away, and which furnishes an absolute irresistible attraction to his majesty, the trout. Not that I'm decrying science in fishing. I remember too well the better luck of expert fishermen.

But the fish don't come, so what's to be done about it? Well, you've been out all forenoon and it's now lunch-time, so you fore-gather with your guide, and your friends with your guide, at some spot on shore where there is an outdoor stove built of rocks, and the guides prepare the lunch. At home your appetite has been a little queasy lately, but it has a wire edge on it now, as you see the salmon grilling against the coals and the bacon-fat dripping down over it, and your mouth begins to water. You will eat a slab of salmon as large as your head, topped off with a juicy steak, potatoes, onions, pie, three cups of coffee, and some chocolate bars. After this you're gorged like a boar-constrictor that has swallowed a pig, and only one step from complete coma. Your eyes are glassy, and you have just sufficient strength left to light your pipe, and stagger off to a grassy knoll and lie down. In such a state of bliss you'd trade off your home for a jack-knife with a broken blade! You don't notice the time it takes the guides to cook their meal, wash up and pack up, and when again you put to sea the sun is sloping down into the west, and fresh hopes assail you that the fish will bite at sunset.

And this brings me to the strange question as to the wilderness appetite, and what the doctor back home tells you mustn't eat, reinforced by the hawk-eyed attention of your wife. After he has found out all the things you like to eat, he forthwith ruthlessly strikes them off your diet-list, leaving you only some tasteless mess that has no appeal whatever. If you break over, your stomach is sure to set up a ruckus because it is like a spoiled child that knows its power. But when you get into the woods you can eat flapjacks and steak and fried potatoes and liver and bacon for breakfast, and not a whimper from your stomach, because it knows it's far away from its allies, your wife and doctor, and had better behave. It has found its master again, and acts like a little man. This reign of peace in "the department of the interior" is sometimes worth the entire cost of a fishing trip! It shows that the anarchy within has been temporarily subdued.

Of course psychology accounts for a lot here, just as it does in other aspects of fishing. You'll usually find, for instance, that the deep woods fisherman is a rather gregarious animal. He likes company. There wouldn't be much fun going down to Maine alone on a fishing trip. To be with one's friends on such a holiday adds 100 per cent to the pleasure for most fishermen. When night comes down, and the fires are lighted, and you all get together in one cabin to talk over the day's experiences, or drift off into small talk about everything in general, and a few things in particular, tongues limber up and you get to know more about a man in three days than you would back home in three years. There is such a thing as a fishing fraternity, just as there is a class-spirit in college. And this is one of the by-products of a fishing trip with a group of friends. Some of my staunchest friends have been the result of various fishing-trips.

Psychology, again, plays a part in the memories that abide in a fisherman's mind. One would naturally think that the prize fish one got would linger longest in retrospect. As matter of fact, it's often the fish that got away that haunts one, and furnishes a lure to go back again. I am thinking now of a headland in Kezar Lake where I hooked onto a big salmon that broke my tackle and got away. I never fish past that headland but what I have a lingering hope that he'll strike again, although probably some other fisherman got him long ago. At least, it's no fish there, but it gives me, without regret, for he is now part of a delightful recollection. Each of us has such memories.

Then there are the little unusual incidents that stand out and give us pleasure because of the humor in them. I remember once going down the tote-road from Moosehead Lake to Mike Marr's and seeing a fisherman sitting on a log and fishing in the Kennebec. I asked him how many he had, and he pointed behind him and said, "Five." His language was sulphuric when I told him there were no fish there. A mink had been carrying them off to her den as fast as he unhooked them!

I remember a fisherman fly-casting for trout off the wharf at Marr's. His reel suddenly began to sing, but there was no activity in the water. He had caught the camp cat on the back-cast, and the cat had run up the hill and hid under the cook-house.

I remember two smart-Aleck fishermen who set off from that same wharf to give us novices an exhibition in fly-casting, as they said it should be done. They both began casting, and it wasn't long before one had his fly in the other's nose, and almost lifted him out of the boat!

I remember the yearly deer on Moose River that was rescued by a guide from beside her dead mother when she was a day-old fawn. She followed the children to school down river, like Mary's little lamb, and when the children went into school, went on to Rockwood in quest of further excitement, or back home to play tag with the dog.

One never knows when some enchanting surprise is awaiting him around the corner, as when, for example, the late Ed. Rourke, of Woburn, who had always wanted to see a bear in its native haunts, came on one at a bend of the road in the woods one day, and was so scared his hair didn't flatten down for a week!

It is these things that throw into proper perspective the results of a fishing trip. It may be that the fellow who comes back with the fewest fish has the most delightful memories. And these outlast the fish. Of course we all want to get fish. There is a thrill in the first strike of the season that jerks one into seventh heaven, and makes all the world look rosy, especially if you land him! Some unknown author wrote trenchantly of what it meant to him.

"When the back-flow crawls to the tumbling falls.

Where the mist on your face is cool;

When the fly drops true where the white breaks through

At the edge of the dimpled pool;

When the rod you like knows the sudden strike

And is bent like a rapier's steel;

And the silk line sings through the agarite rings,

And you hear the hum of the reel;

When a green-white flash and a silvery splash

Ends the arc of the falling leap,

And your fish goes down where the depths are brown

And the rods of the cedar creep;

When the sullen wait in the deeper space

Brings the rush to the upper blue;

And you too! him back, slow, tack by tack,

And the tensioned line holds true,

And you get your wish, and land your fish—

That's Heaven enough for you!"

All these things bring an enrichment to life, that is too apt to become humdrum if one stays long in one rut. But there is something deeper and more suggestive than all this, which I find in the out-of-doors, especially when I survey the mess that men have made of their world. It is a consciousness of law and order and beauty that I always pick up as I become conscious of the processes of nature undisturbed by the hand of man.

The migratory passages of birds, for example, are, I think, a great consolation to men whose minds continually search for an established order and progression in the universe. The knowledge that whatever we may make of ourselves in the moment of our existence, the stars will continue in their appointed courses, seasons will move in their confirmed order, the birds will continue their biannual migrations, carries with it a sense of ultimate security which the works of man alone fail to convey. . . . Knowledge of the integrated pattern of the universe in which the birds share, of the final cosmic autonomy, whose imposed limits no organism may transcend, secures us from the nightmare of anarchy, which we see in the world of men.

And so I come out of the woods each year more optimistic than when I went in because I have become conscious of a Supreme Being. No matter how stupid and selfish and avaricious man may be, he cannot wreck the universe. No ultimate calamity has befallen the world yet. There are limits to the madness of man. And so I leave you with a picture of Nature, sent to one of our fishermen last year, by a Canadian guide. He says:

"How lovely is Nature's Cathedral in springtime. Its altars are fresh and green. And Nature's great candles are lighted anew. Under its blue sky are the iridescent colors of green and silver and gold; as through those forest windows, centuries old, there wafts the incense of pine, and cedar and tamarack. Like the distant melody of a mighty, dreamy organ, the rhapsodies sung by birds, and the musical murmuring of the soft, warm wind in the tree-tops, echo back the anthems of Summer's Coronation. And, like a reverie—when the glory of the day is far spent, and evening shadows lose form; your great Cathedral of Nature is transformed by the pale-faced moon, and stands majestically in silhouette, while blinking stars scintillate like lantern lights in the silence of moonlit waters. The nightingale blows taps. The owl hoots his nocturnal call. And the Cathedral's sexton is tired. So he bids goodnight to your great Cathedral, to peacefully slumber and to rest and to dream—for the day is done."

Part of the new Seed Department just completed at LITTLE TREE FARMS' BIG GLASSHOUSE.

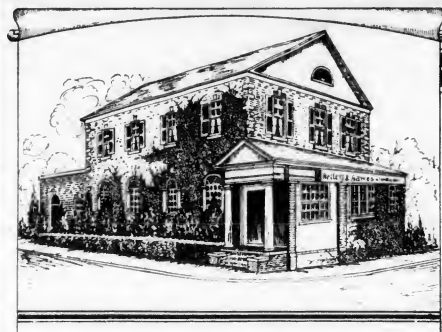

Recent visitors to Little Tree Farms at Framingham Centre report great goings on for weeks past. A small army of carpenters, electricians, painters and other folk have been busy as a hive of bees at swarming time inside the big, glass Country Garden Store getting it ready for the Spring Fair that opens this week. Not only has the whole interior been freshly painted in a color scheme that is very effective, but new fixtures have been installed and with them, loads of brand new merchandise specially priced for the Fair. The result is so attractive it is easy to phoebey that hundreds of visitors from this and neighboring towns will go to see it in the next week or two and take advantage of the many timely bargains on display.

One of the most interesting sections is that devoted to their new line of "Country Garden" seeds, with a trained seedsmen of note in charge ready to answer all questions on the important subject of what, where and when to plant flower, vegetable and grass seeds. The tool section, which has been greatly enlarged to display their new lines of hand tools, sprayers, etc., is well worth a visit for itself alone, and the same holds good for the House Plants and garden gift ware display of attractive pottery and glass.

In the Annex the Nursery department puts on a fine show of evergreens, shrubs and shade trees where the customer can select these plants in comfort, regardless of the weather outdoors, and thus be able to take quick advantage of the planting season which is now fast under way. As the weather grows warmer this display will expand into the big sales yards adjoining and be greatly increased in size and variety.

Whether you go to buy or just to look around and get the feeling of spring again, a visit to the Spring Fair will more than repay you for your trouble.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Bishop James Cannon Jr. has an article in the Watchman Examiner of Jan. 5 headed the Campaign Against Alcohol. It is too long to be given in full here, but some quotations may be of interest.

"In my closing words to the Methodist General Conference at Birmingham I stated I hoped to give as much of the rest of my life as possible to a persistent, aggressive and, I hoped, an increasingly successful warfare against the liquor traffic. I was glad to see the General Conference approved by rising and applauding. Since the General Conference I have been preaching nearly every Sunday, but beginning with Oct. 1, I began to carry out the purpose as expressed above. I gave the first three Sundays of October, to address week nights in between, to addresses in Eastern and Northern Pennsylvania, making 15 addresses, besides a prohibition address at the Baltimore Conference. I also made a prohibition address at the Virginia Conference, and carried out a program of addresses every Sunday somewhere in Virginia, continuing until the meeting of the National Anti-Saloon League Convention at Columbus, Dec. 14-18.

The reception of my message has been such, judging from my experience of nearly 50 years in this warfare, that I am convinced the sentiment of the people is crystallizing rapidly, that the day is not far distant when we will have a return to dry districts dry counties, dry cities and dry states, and Congress will pass legislation to prevent liquor advertising, to protect dry territory and will finally be given power to control and to prohibit the liquor traffic. I am not making any prophecy as to the number of years before society secures once again protection from the selfish and covetous men who are willing to manufacture and sell that which "will steal away their neighbors' brains." But the liquor traffic contains inherently the seeds of its own destruction. It needs no counsel, it recognizes no warning or restraint. Out of 7000 elections on the liquor question during the last two years in various sections of the country the drys have carried 5000."

HURRICANE IN WORLD AFFAIRS

Rev. William S. Packer Finds Lack of Christianity Promoting Chaos

Failure to follow the Master's teaching is responsible for the chaotic conditions prevailing in the world today, said Rev. William S. Packer, honorary curate of the Church of the Epiphany, during his sermon in that church last Sunday morning.

Mr. Packer, who is widely known as a journalist and member of the editorial staff of the Boston Globe, preached from the new testament passage likening those who hear Christ's teachings and heed them to the man who built his house upon a rock, firmly placed and strong to stand the stress of wind and wave. Those who hear His words and heed them are not like the man who built his house upon the sand, an unstable foundation permitting the house to be destroyed when the wind blew and the waves dashed against it.

Referring to the hurricane of last September, Mr. Packer found the world we know to be in a hurricane state making last fall's demonstration of the elements insignificant by comparison.

This world chaos has been caused, he said, by the release of elementary human forces slumbering in the state we call society, aroused at last by the dissatisfaction bred of discontent, poverty and oppression.

That our own national condition is better than that in some foreign countries is because these elemental human feelings are less to be found in our society than abroad. If we permit them to increase and become acute, we too will face a social and economic hurricane such as that which is sweeping the world elsewhere.

That hurricane, said Mr. Packer, has been aroused by society's failure to follow Christ's teachings embodied in the Sermon on the Mount. World chaos has resulted from man's indifference to the plight of his neighbor, from his lack of will to follow the Master's admonition to feed the hungry, clothe the naked, minister to the sick and visit the afflicted.

Let any society or nation perceive and follow these Christian tenets and its national life will be founded upon a rock, solid, substantial and enduring. The nation following the way of the oppressor, in the same premises, will ultimately destroy itself.

Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Epiphany, conducted the service of morning prayer at the church.

Wagner of Crescent road, all members of the Skating Club of Boston, are participating tonight and tomorrow night in the club's annual Ice Carnival "Let's Go" being presented at the Boston Garden for the benefit of the Convalescent Home of the Children's Hospital.

TO HOLD LADIES' NIGHT

Plans are already underway for a gala Ladies' Night to be held on Saturday evening, April 22, under the auspices of Mystic Valley Lodge of Masons in the Arlington Masonic Temple on Academy street in Arlington Center.

Following a reception at 6:15 dinner will be served at 6:30. An entertainment program will be presented from 8 until 9 o'clock and will be followed by general dancing. Gordon Seabury's Paramount Orchestra will play during the dinner and for the general dancing. Two talented entertainers, Miss Queenie Dunedin and Miss Ruth Tingley, will assist. T. Parker Clark is in charge of the committee in charge of arrangements.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

A rally of the scout troops of Winchester, sponsored by Troop 3, was held at the Congregational Church Monday evening, March 27. The parents of the scouts were invited to be present.

After the customary opening ceremonies had been conducted by assistant scout master Millican of Troop 3, Mr. Grosvenor took over the rally as master of ceremonies. Competitions between teams from the various troops were held in knot tying, carries, compass, Morse and Semaphore code signalling, antelope race, fire by friction and fire by flint and steel. Judges in the contests were district commander Clayton Colcord, assistant district commander Frederick W. Cole, and Henry B. Brown, assistant scout master of Troop 6, Worcester. Ninety-seven scouts from Troops 1, 2, 3, 5, and 7 were present and took part in the events.

The outcome of the competitions were as follows: Troop 3 won the rally with 41 points; Troop 7 was second with 36 points; Troop 1 was third with 20 points; Troop 2 was fourth with 16 points; and Troop 5 was fifth with 8 points.

Before the closing exercises were held, the awards for the best and demonstrations won by the Winchester troops at the Scout Exposition were presented by assistant district commander Cole. These awards were as follows: Troop 1, blue ribbon for Scout Laws and First Aid Carries; Troop 2, blue ribbon for second class requirements; Troop 3, blue ribbons for model tents and for camping; Troop 5, red ribbon for marksmanship; Troop 7, blue ribbon for knot tying and red ribbon for signalling. Mr. Lane, chairman of the district committee presented the awards for first, second and third places in the Winchester rally after which Scout executive Nelson spoke briefly on the success of the rally and the desirability of holding such rallies more often.

TAXPAYERS DAY

Every person interested in cutting our State Budget should attend the State Budget Hearing to be held in Mechanics Bldg., Tuesday, April 4 at 10:30 a. m. This time all advocates of reduction in the State Budget will be heard. This is going to be more than a hearing, it is going to be a demonstration. Thousands of taxpayers from all over the Commonwealth will be there. If you believe the State Budget, as presented to the legislature two months ago was too large you should be present at this hearing.

O. E. S.

The 179th stated meeting of Winchester Chapter 175 Order of Eastern Star will be held in the Masonic Apartments Monday evening, April 3 at 8 o'clock. All Eastern Star members are cordially invited to attend.

After the luncheon, a treasure auction will be held where glorified white elephants and interesting articles donated by friends will be sold. Those who wish may play bridge in the parlor.

DUDLEY MURPHY PIONEERING IN FILM PRODUCTION

Dudley Murphy has been home again for a few days. He doesn't get to Boston often now because he has a business that keeps him hurrying in other parts of the country, especially Hollywood and New York.

Dudley Murphy is a man with an idea, an idea he isn't half so much interested in selling to some rich man as he is in selling to the public.

That idea is simply: one man directing and producing his own pictures, and being able to turn out better work than an assortment of experts who only see their own function in the production of a film, and often don't care about the idea.

Murphy has flirted with the idea a long time. But it wasn't until he saw a chance to re-open one of those Long Island studios and establish his own production unit that he realized it could be done.

That was almost a year ago. At the same time there was a story going begging for the films. It was "One Third of a Nation," and it had been liked as a play.

Murphy assembled a company of players and camera-men in the Long Island studio, and, working from a knowledge of the production that included acting, directing, reviewing and writing, made the story into a film.

Coming to 'Twain's'

"One Third of a Nation," co-starring Sylvia Sydney and Leif Erickson, was at the Paramount and Fenway theaters Thursday. That's why Murphy was in town. The managers of the Paramount house wanted some of the press crowd to see him and talk about his theories of the screen.

Most of Murphy's theories are as far away from the Hollywood formula as Long Island is from Los Angeles. They're the sort of dreams of better things that a man gets when he's tired of treading the groove. With Murphy they take a twist that leads to originality, a word taboo in the Coast factories.

What does he want to accomplish? Well, Murphy is a champion of the independent producing unit, a ribbon that can go anywhere to make its product. By the ability to set film stories in their natural surroundings he thinks he can get away from the Cinderella attitude and the repetition that epitomizes Hollywood efforts.

He sees a great field, unplucked, ripe with subjects of genuine interest. He thinks he can get away from the conscious. Others are satire. Still others debunk, like the next production which will be a laugh at exhibitionists such as models.

Murphy would like to move his technical equipment into New England when he's established and get an authentic atmosphere for a narrative of Boston life. It can be easily done, he thinks. The independent producer isn't confined to one locale as his Hollywood co-workers are. It wasn't hard in New York. The fire department co-operated, making many of the stunts of the "One Third of a Nation" real. And Murphy was able to rent an apartment in the lower East Side, where he lived for four months, getting all the phases of life in the neighborhood. The Housing Department made him an inspector, his badge giving him the right to enter any house in the district.

Films Do Well By Him

So the film business is all right by Dudley Murphy. He is now in Boston, attended Huntington School and studied electrical engineering at Boston Tech. He didn't know when he went off to war to fly and drop bombs on submarines in the North Sea that he would tire of engineering.

But when the war was over, and it was time to think about renewing that education, Murphy went to Los Angeles and got a job as assistant to the dramatic editor of a newspaper. With the movies almost next door, it was easy to learn something about them, and, in his mind, to do something.

Murphy wrote scenarios, acted a little, assisted on camera work and direction, staying in Hollywood several years. Then that dull routine began to pall, and Murphy was back to do something new. He found lots of help. The proximity of Broadway meant that there were actors who would be glad to play parts. He had already made the professional contacts with a big studio which would release the picture. The rest was work, getting the technical assembly in running order. Now it's all done. Paramount will take care of the exploitation. And another original force is making itself felt in the unoriginal business of making movies.

John Gibbons in the Boston Transcript writes: "Dudley Murphy, [Ed. Note: Mr. Murphy is a former Winchester boy, son of the eminent artist, Herman Dudley Murphy and brother of Carlene Murphy Samoiloff of this town.]

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Troop 7 of the girls scouts has been working on a project which will be held March 31. It is to be a bazaar consisting of two plays: "Murder at Large" and "Queen Elizabeth's Court."

There will be on sale, white elephants, candy and articles from the arts and crafts group. Tickets may be obtained from members of Troop 7. There will also be badges awarded to many girls. Virginia Olivier, Troop 7.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The History Study Group will meet on Monday, April 3, at 9:45 a. m. at the home of Mrs. George Wilson, 29 Pierpont road. The subject of discussion will be "Latin America up to the World War."

PUPILS OF MRS. PHELPS IN RECITAL

The pupils of Mrs. Cora Cortell Phelps presented a dance recital Saturday afternoon to an audience of more than 200 parents and friends in the town hall. The occasion was doubly significant for Mrs. Phelps who was observing her 25th anniversary as a teacher of the dance, having taught for 10 years in New York and for the past 15 years in Winchester.

Her pupils presented a finished and pleasingly varied program, including class and group dancing and solo numbers. Mrs. Arthur B. Cortell was the accompanist.

Patronesses were Mrs. Gerald Barrett, Mrs. H. E. Berquest, Mrs. James Campbell, Mrs. N. M. Christianson, Mrs. Eugene Clennon, Mrs. Theodore Elliott, Mrs. Stuart Eldredge, Mrs. Melvin Engle, Mrs. E. F. Gallagher, Mrs. Theodore Godwin, Mrs. Kenneth Hall, Mrs. Winfield S. Hanson, Mrs. Torr W. Harmer, Mrs. M. H. Hintlian, Mrs. Robert Maher, Mrs. Clarence Newton, Mrs. Edwin Noble, Mrs. Alfred Pierce, Jr., Mrs. Denton W. Randall, Mrs. Edwin Rooney, Mrs. Howell Stillman and Mrs. Clifton B. Watkins. David G. Berquest, Eugene Clennon, Gordon Clennon, Lionel Gale and John R. Gallagher were ushers.

PUBLIC AWAKENING

After 60 years of mild persistence of the ideas of Henry George, the famous economist and social philosopher, a sudden and far reaching interest in his writings, concerning what is wrong with our business world has come to life.

Already over 20,000 persons have enrolled to take the course of the Henry George School of Social Science, with headquarters located in New York City. Branch classes are being held in over 200 cities in the United States.

Last Tuesday evening Winchester started a third series of ten lectures this evening, based on the course of study used at the New York City. Those attending the Winchester classes have been deeply interested in obtaining a knowledge of why we have increasing poverty in the midst of an increasing wealth of the nation—why we have so much unemployment—why we have recurring industrial depressions and stagnation of capital. It will naturally take time to bring about the necessary action of correction, but the first step is being taken—and by the people themselves.

A cross-section of the American public has evicted and not to continue to sit idly by and let the other half do it. Apparently they have come to the conclusion that if the remedy is to be discovered and put into practice, the citizen must take an interest and start doing something.

A branch class of the school is established here in Winchester to study the causes of depressions and a suggested solution. The first meeting of the new series began last Tuesday evening, March 28 at 8 p. m. A meeting will be held each Tuesday evening for ten weeks, omitting May 30.

The public, both men and women, are invited to attend these lectures. The Winchester Post of the American Legion has kindly allowed us the use of a room at their home, 84 Washington street, next door to the public library, for these intensely interesting sessions. There is no charge for tuition. The Henry George School is a non-profit, non-political, and non-sectarian organization. The conductor of the meeting gives a time without compensation, prompted only by his deep interest in spreading the teachings of Henry George.

WINCHESTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Winchester Historical Society will be held Thursday, April 6 at 8 p. m. in the Winchester Public Library. Election of officers for 1939 and 1940. Miss Cora A. Quimby will give a report of the gifts received by the Society during the past year.

The speaker will be Mr. Richard B. Coolidge of Medford, whose subject "The Brooks Estates, 1660 to 1939," will be of great interest to all who enjoy learning about the early history and land marks in this vicinity.

A cordial invitation is extended to nonmembers of the Society, especially to the Girl Scouts who may be interested in the subject of this lecture.

The attention of the members of this Society is called to the spring meeting of the Bay State Historical League which will be held on Saturday, April 15 at 2:00 p. m. in the November Club House, Andover, as guests of the Andover Historical Society.

Boiled Prisoners to Death

Punishment was once used by boiling prisoners to death both in England and on the continent. The "Chronicles of the Grey Friars" (1652) have an account of boiling for poisoning at Smithfield in the year 1522, the man being fastened to a chain and lowered into boiling water several times until he died. The preamble of the statute of Henry VIII (which made poisoning treason) in 1531, recites that one Richard Roose, a cook, by putting poison in food intended for the household of the bishop of Rochester, and for the poor of the parish of Lambeth, killed a man and woman. He was sentenced for treason and publicly beheaded in 1547 the act was revealed.

STRATEGIC KIEL CANAL TO BE IMPROVED BY GERMANY

Business is so good on the Kiel Canal, according to reports from Berlin, that Germany is planning to enlarge her strategic inland waterway from the North Sea to the Baltic. Not only will the canal be considerably widened to accommodate the Reich's biggest battleships, but modern locks will also be installed to facilitate quick and easy passage.

Opened in 1895, the Kiel Canal runs across the narrow neck of the German part of the Jutland peninsula as it stretches toward the Danish frontier," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. "It connects the mouth of the Elbe River, flowing in to the North Sea, with Kiel Bay, an arm of the Baltic.

A World War Axis Between Naval Bases

Germany enlarged the Kaiser Wilhelm (now Kiel) Canal just before the World War. Finished in 1914, the improvements were undertaken in order to permit dreadnoughts and other big vessels to pass from one sea to the other without having to sail around the Danish peninsula and islands that stretch between. Some authorities say that the war was delayed until the completion of the project.

During the struggle the Kiel Canal was a 62-mile axis linking the German naval bases of Kiel on the Baltic and Wilhelmshaven on the North Sea. In this canal the German fleet was bottled up during much of the war as a result of British sea strategy. From its retreat the fleet issued in 1918 to fight the English forces in the battle of Jutland, off the coast of Denmark.

Long before the World War, however, Kiel Canal figured in international affairs. In connection with the war between Russia, Austria, and Denmark in 1864, the German Chancellor Bismarck was reported to be particularly anxious to obtain the territory needed for an inland waterway which would take the place of the long route around Denmark. The land was won from Denmark. In 1887 construction of the canal was begun, to be completed eight years later.

Short Cut on International Trade

Traffic on the Kiel Canal has increased from less than four and a half million tons in 1900 to more than 24 million tons for the fiscal year ending March 1, 1938.

Between the grassy banks of this winding sea lane pass ships of many nations, carrying such assorted cargoes as timber, grain, eggs, and coal. Side by side are seen the flags of Britain, Sweden, Denmark, and Lithuania—the Hammer and Sickle of Soviet Russia and the Swastika of Germany. For the Kiel Canal represents tremendous savings in navigation time and distance to Baltic seaborne nations. In some cases time saved amounts to more than 40 hours; navigation distances to hundreds of miles. For the past two years Germany has been complete mistress of her inland seas. According to the Versailles Treaty, the Kiel Canal was to be an international lane, open to ships of all countries at peace with Germany. In November 1936, however, Germany resumed sovereignty over it, later passing regulations whereby foreign warships are required to get special permission through diplomatic channels in order to use the canal.

CASH REGISTERS IN U. S. A. RING UP "TRIBUTE" FOR PERAK

Thousands of cash registers all over the United States reverberate faintly but continuously in the treasury of Perak in British Malaya, halfway around the world, as millions of shoppers make purchases of toothpaste, tin-folled confections, cigarettes, canned goods, and particularly automobile tires.

Probably every American family pays "tribute" to the Sultan of Perak, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Three-fourths of the tin an three-fifths of the rubber used in the United States today comes from British Malaya and a fat share of the totals is produced in the Kinta Valley of that state, and it is also one of the three states having the largest rubber acreage.

Dutch Began Exploitation of Tin

A new Sultan is now collecting the American "tribute." Abdul Aziz has just been installed on the throne. His domain, which is under the protection of Great Britain, is one of the four Federated Malay States near the southernmost tip of Asia. It is about the size of Massachusetts but has only one-fifth as many inhabitants as the Bay State. The population consists of Malays, Chinese and East Indians, and a sprinkling of other nationalities.

The Malay states are the greatest source of tin in the world, deposits which attracted the civilizing agencies of Europe and converted the jungle savagery into a well organized society. Back in 1650 the Dutch built a tin "factory" or trading station on the Perak River and from then onward tried to monopolize the exportation of tin from Perak. In 1818 the Sultan signed a free-trade treaty with Great Britain and shortly came under British protection, but the British had little to do with the affairs of the state until after 1870. About 50 years ago the British introduced rubber trees into British Malaya, from seed smuggled out of Brazil, and today rubber trees practically cover Perak and other Malay states. In Northern Perak 60,000 irrigated acres devoted largely to rice; coconuts and oil palms flourish in the south. Some tea and coffee are grown in the states, and a little tobacco.

WESTLAND PARK

LOCATED ON WESTLAND AVENUE OFF HIGH STREET, WINCHESTER

Attractive house lots containing from 15,000 sq. ft. to 40,000 sq. ft. Many of these are beautifully wooded and afford a wonderful panoramic view of Winchester's lovely homes and lakes, with the hills in the distance and now and then a glimpse of the Custom House or the gilded dome of the State House.

Close by is the attractive spot that was purchased in 1938 by the Town for a school house site. All in District "A" Zone where all lots must contain at least 15,000 sq. ft., assuring a distinctive residential location.

We will gladly assist you in your selection of a lot.

Town Engineer and Mrs. Parker Holbrook have returned to their home on Mt. Pleasant street after a vacation in Florida. Mr. Holbrook, who is unable to get away during the summer, takes his vacation at the close of the winter season. As usual Winchester experienced one of its worst snow storms just after he had left for the South.

Renton's Creamery, 612 Main street, Winchester, is open every night for your convenience.

John S. Adams, son of Prof. and Mrs. Arthur S. Adams of Golden, Col., is in Winchester visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Adams of Mystic avenue. He is in school in Philadelphia and is spending his spring vacation here.

April first means playing jokes. "Jokes" of course, mean Barbara's Card and Joke Shop, 654 Main street.

Miss Mary Speers, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William J. Speers of West-gemere avenue, and Miss Margaret Shaughnessey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Shaughnessey of Webster street, are enjoying the spring recess from their studies at the Erskine School, a junior college in Boston.

Initiated pencils, smooth writing, good looking. Two for a nickel at the Star Office.

Friday night at 6 o'clock Patrolman Archie T. O'Connell arrested a man whom he found trying to start an automobile jammed against the stone wall on Grove street just beyond the curve in the road this side of the Medford line. He was locked up charged with drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor, giving his name as Emmett L. McCarthy of 143 Sharon street, Medford. The car had to be towed away. In court Saturday morning he was found guilty and fined $50.

Something new. Smooth writing pencils in attractive colors with your initials. See them at the Star Office.
